Dearest Annie;

I was very tired & very restless this evening & could not settle down to my work, so I spent part of the evening in a very peculiar condition of glimpses in a dream-like way of the house in London & looked at the house where Betty Sharp lived on Curzon St. just three doors from the one where Lord Beaconsfield died. I don't know how to describe the very faint recalling the fact that Betty

(2) lived when he wrote Isaac & Prudence's Family Hair, a most ~~and~~ pleasant looking house now inhabited by a certain Mr. White & Mrs I went to the City, looking for the outside of a few things, and going into St. Paul's In a few moments I went to St. Clement Davis where the service was nearly over about a dozen small little choristers
as many men were singing in a congregation of about a dozen or fifteen men of them a very respectable & intelligent looking beppo - Dr. Shuster's place was empty & although it was impressive -

The afternoon I spent in talking to Alice & Mary Hulton. WM of whom we had heard - & did not find Alice & he rest in lying down as I was still very tired - He had meant to be on a Canterbury pilgrim age yesterday, so they had Bank Holiday but Alice's not being well, wrote it up, much from particulars

From disappointment, as I have been there only once then, in 1874, my holidays occurring here

On Thursday night I expect to leave for Bayreuth taking the boat p. Karmel & Auber, as it gives a much cheaper and quicker, but it is not a long trip. If the connections were not all right I might not reach B. at 2.33 on Sat. afternoon.

The spring from home at Antwerp is a little more at

Cologne

What a disgraceful blessed sheet that you must have it, in my hand looks so much

Thursday, 6th West Monument Street (Baltimore)

I am so sorry that I have missed the steamer again, but I have been wretched with headache all day day & in consequence of the self ready to go off, wh. I do not wish to I go via Harwich & Antwerp & dread the whole long journey, but perhaps my next letter may be more cheerful

Yr. letter of 28th pm B.M.

(The one with wh. you were so discontented with wh. I am not so, has just come, but it is all that I can manage to get ready to get off, or I must say goodbye - I hope yr. next letter will be Baltimore on Sunday - Love yours May 18.

6 Thanks to letter (yours) wh. I received - I have very much interest
