Dearest Mother,

It took me but a short time yesterday to make up what I missed and then I strolled down to the English readers. She and I planned a more stupendous piece of work which will take me the rest of the year to accomplish. It will either bring me a High Credit or a Failed Rather risky. I am going to write the long Essay on Ruskin's Ideas and the two shorter ones on his Style.

The weather is balmy and lazy. It seems as if in a little while the flowers would begin to reach for the sunlight.

I expect to hear from my "Lantern" attempt today.

Louise Lewis has announced definitely that she will

3
not return next winter. Poor thing! She is coming out in society and dreads the thought She is perfectly miserable over it. I told her my plans and she invited me to visit her and make trips to B.M.C.

That will be fine. I have not told anyone else. Last winter Avis & I planned my course from the Barnard Catalogue until a late hour. Today I am going to talk to some of my faculty friends

4
I must go now

Your loving daughter

Anne.

Love to Grandmother
