

Mrs L. L. Greene,

Kindness of Jan

Merion Hall^①
B. N. C.

Dearest Mother, —Forgive the long lapse of time since my last letter. I have not had five minutes for either sleeping or eating since Sunday.
Rehearsals for the play have taken all the evenings as well as most of the afternoons except for the few hours devoted to the watch games. The first game was Friday and the boys got here in good time to see it

Van insisted on pinning a big red 1905 flag across his chest much to the delight of the girls. They wanted to cheer the "gentleman mascot" but their timidity forbade.

The whole thing seemed a revelation to Louis who is acquainted only with the Styl^d Lady that Keats and Shelley adored in their poetry. At the reception there was an unusually "large sprinkling of the male element," so the boys did not feel as if they were the only pebbles —

Your loving daughters
Anne.
