in Hoc Signo Vinces

Today's issue of The College News, by courtesy of the undergraduates, is edited and published by the alumnae in behalf of the Faculty Two Milion Dollar Campaign for Salaries. With such unity of spirit as is typified in the very printing of these words, Bryn Mawr enters the field to defend her standards by doubling her present endowment.

It is by far the greatest undertaking which has fallen upon the college since its foundation in 1884. There is as much hazzard to be faced as in those pioneer days. Then it was a feat of creation; cient shield of Venice, awarded her by now it is a struggle to save the soul of the college. Bryn Mawr will cease to be the Italian Red Cross, and the White Bryn Mawr if its quality of education deteriorates.

President Thomas, as her life work, Mrs. Slaughter has an article on D'Anhas made the college what it is. The come when the alumnae in their turn the "North American Review." must give in thought and time and wealth what they owe in gratitude and loyalty.

The trustees of the college, the faculty, the executives and the staff may all resign, severing their last connection here, but the alumnae are Bryn Mawr. They must take upon themselves the final responsibility for raising the endowment.

The annual meeting and round table this week-end is a dedication to the task which lies ahead. Scarcely more than 250 of the 4000 who owe allegiance to Bryn Mawr will be able to be present. But by mail and personal contact each one of them will be brought into the army of women who, wherever they are. this year will show their appreciation and their loyalty to the college.

B. M. MEMORIAL TO ANNA HOWARD SHAW BACKED BY LEADING SUFFRAGISTS; MAY BECOME OFFICIAL MEMORIAL OF NATIONAL SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION

Ermine Tippet, Diamond Crescent and $20 bill of Dr. Shaw's Given by Miss Anthony to Committee to Help Fund. Campaign Handbook to be Ready by February

$17,126 PLEDGED TO DATE, $100,000 TO BE RAISED BY JUNE; ST. LOUIS LUNCHEON AT $100 A PLATE NETS CITY'S QUOTA

What Bryn Mawr meant to Dr. Anna Howard Shaw has been recognized by suffragists and other believers in education for women to the extent of $17,126 in pledges toward a memorial to her in the Bryn Mawr Department of Politics. This memorial will be part of the $2,000,000 Endowment Fund.

The cherished wish of the National Shaw Memorial Chairman, Edna Fischel Gellhorn (Mrs. George Gellhorn) '00, of St. Louis, to open the campaign with a dinner at which Ex-President Taft should be the guest of honor, was denied by the orders of Mr. Taft's physician, who would not allow him to make the trip. The opening of the campaign was consequently deferred until Mrs. Slade's visit in December.

A one-hundred-dollar-a-plate luncheon in honor of Mrs. Slade, was given at the St. Louis Club December 17th. The guests, twenty-eight in number, included prominent suffrage workers and members of the Bryn Mawr Club. A spirited appeal by Mrs. Slade brought in pledges amounting to $15,000, the entire quota of the St. Louis district for the Two Million Dollar Fund.

Illinois Suffrage League Endorses B. M. Memorial

Backing from the National Woman Suffrage Association for the Bryn Mawr Memorial will be secured, it is hoped, at their convention in Chicago, February 10-17, when a motion will be introduced to make it the official memorial of the association. The only rival project known is a memorial at the Woman's Medical College, Philadelphia. Valuable advance work for Bryn Mawr has been done by Mary Foulke Morrisson (Mrs. James W. Morrisson) '99, of Chicago, who has obtained the endorsement of the Illinois Suffrage Association for the Bryn Mawr Memorial Chair.

A stirring appeal to suffragists throughout the country to honor Dr. Shaw by contributing to the Anna Howard Shaw fund has been drawn up by Mrs. Gellhorn, and will be sent out shortly. On account of the recent appeal issued by Mrs. Catt for extra funds for ratification the Bryn Mawr letter has been temporarily held back. A test copy sent out to the Indiana Suffrage League brought an instant and extremely cordial reply.

Edith Wyatt Author of Campaign Book

"Dr. Anna Howard Shaw's Connection with Bryn Mawr," an attractive campaign handbook by Edith Wyatt ex-'96, will be ready by the Suffrage Convention in February. Material for this has been collected by Susan Follansbee Hibbard (Mrs. William G. Hibbard) '97, Dr. Shaw's close friend, Miss Lucy Anthony, Professor Kingsbury, and Isabel Foster '15.

Several personal belongings of Miss Shaw's have been turned over by Miss Anthony to be used in the campaign as the committee sees fit. Among them are an ermine tippet which Miss Shaw purchased in Sweden-her one luxury, which she always kept carefully wrapped in a piece of cloth; a diamond crescent pin; and a twenty-dollar bill, given her by the first woman bank president of Rochester, which Miss Shaw kept for luck.

Every Woman Student Asked to Contribute

Subscription blanks will be sent out to schools, colleges and universities in order to give every woman student in the country the chance to contribute. Every donor will have his or her name enrolled in a set of bound volumes to be kept on exhibition in the college library.

Stickers pasted on the subscription blanks will differentiate the Anna Howard Shaw pledges from those to the general fund. Whatever is raised for the Shaw memorial will be credited toward the whole Bryn Mawr quota for the district.
