Dear, Dear Aunt,

I had a lovely long letter from you this morning, one from Mother, and the paper with the pictures of my

Dear little debutante friends.
It was great to get so much mail at once! But tell me, tell me, WHAT did Mother write to K. B.? How could she hint that I want to know

Hal Harris obscurely enough not to say too much, & broadly enough to have any effect?
What, oh! what did she say?!

I am a fool and an idiot. Last night I bought a copy of the Bryn Mawr song book, which has class songs, college song, athletic songs, oral songs, etc. from way back. I want it, I know, but Heaven only

knows what possessed me
to spend $3.50 then, for it.
I repeat, I am a fool. It was a hasty impulse in a rash moment.

I had an English quiz.
I enclose a copy, to get rid of it.
Now I'm going to take gym., and get it over with.

This afternoon I did fifty pages of a hundred, I must read for Latin, a life of Cicero, describing the times. That quiz comes next week, the very last.

⑨ period before we're out for Thanksgiving.
It'll be awful, for we're expected to know so much beside the mere translation, which is bad enough in itself. And I never have time to review. I'm overwhelmed & almost swamped with work.

Mother asked about the oculist.
In the first place it was a she. I hate lady doctors on principle. She just tested my eyes, & asked questions, that's all.

Tuesday night

Gym. to-day wasn't so bad. It was a dill much more like what I've had before. I never described my gym. suit,

④ Did I? It looks like this:

Cap & Gown

We usually wear our white collar outside our gowns. It makes them infinitely more becoming.

If I don't forget, I'll put more illustrations in my next letter.

Last evening Mrs. Brinton telephoned. She said she's coming out to see me soon, & is going to have me in there, which is all very nice indeed of her.

Now I really must stop and study, and try for a change to get to bed before eleven. ⁽³⁾

What did Mother write? I'll pray that it may be effective, for of all things I most desire that. As I said, it is not unusual for girls to be crazy about her. I wonder why it struck me, for I've never had such a crush before, never. Anyway, we're not sloppy + muddy about it. I honestly + truly admire her, + that's why I want to know her. But what did Mother write to K. B.?

Very, very lovingly
Katharine

P.S. Don't think because I said I was an idiot to buy that song book tree, that I am quite!

bested now. I'll get along be-ootifully till Dec. 1. (6)

P.S. PRIVATE for Aunt:

Please, please, help me about Mother's Christmas present! If you can, find out what she wants, & let me know. Or perhaps you'd have to get it.
Anyway, please tell me.

Give a kiss to the angel cat,
and to the other pussies.
