TO TIE IN MEDIOCRE GAME

Varsity Breaks Through Opponents' Lead After Messy Scrimmage

Disorganized scrappy playing on a somewhat slippery field resulted in a 4-4 tie between Riverton and Varsity last Saturday. Though Riverton held the lead throughout the first half, neither team exhibited speed or headwork and at the end they were deadlocked.

At right wing Miss MacMahon proved the swiftest of her team, dribbling the length of the field with one hand on her stick, and passing to the center for the first goal of the game. This play was repeated and a second goal made by Miss Mac-Mahon herself. Varsity, rushed off its feet at first, gradually got its bearings, and clever clearing by E. Anderson at right wing and a pass to D. Lee at center earned Varsity's first goal, bringing the score to 2-1 in Riverton's favor at the end of the half. F. Begg and V. Brokaw on the left were rather weak and frequently shot into the opposing fulls.

A continual hammering at Varsity's goal, in which G. Rhoads made some quick saves, gave Riverton another tally at the start of the second half. On one of these E. Anderson once more sped down the field, but the forward line failing to follow in, the ball was lost to the visitors who again made it good. A period of open scrapping all over the field followed in which there was fruitless lunging and poor hitting.. A. Nicoll, changed to left inside, combined with F. Begg for a Varsity goal. H. Rice, at fullback, frequently extricating the ball from Riverton's attack, dribbled almost up to the twenty-five-yard line and shot the ball to A. Nicoll who pushed it in. Varsity often played out of position, but in a corner at the end F. Begg shot in the goal that tied the score.

FINANCE DRIVE REACHES THREE THOUSAND MARK

The approximate returns of the Christian Association finance drive carried on from Wednesday to Friday of last week is $3032. This is less than the final total will be, as several pledges, notably the nonresident students', are not yet in.

The totals for the various halls are about as follows: Radnor, $329; Denbigh, $517.50; Merion, $352.50; Pembroke-East, $748; Pembroke-West, $705; Rockefeller, $381. The total amount raised for the foreign students' relief is now about $1024, though it is hoped that more will come in.

Latin-American Coming Here

Dr. Victor André Belaunde, professor of international law and political science at the University of San Marcos, Lima, Peru, is to lecture here under the auspices of the Spanish Club on December 17. His subject will probably be "Economic Conditions in South America," according to C. Baird, '22, president of the Spanish Club, who further added that the lecture will be in English.

It is held by members of the Spanish Club and of the faculty a very great privilege to have Dr. Belaunde at Bryn Mawr, because of his reputation as a scholar and as an authority on Latin-American literature and institutions.

Senior Banner Hung on Gym

Victorious in the second game of the first-team hockey finals, the Seniors hung their dark blue banner on the gymnasium yesterday afternoon, for the first time in their College career.

Close scrapping on the slippery field left the score 0-0 when the whistle blew at the end of the first half. M. Tyler, who consistently did good work for the Dark Blue, broke the dead-lock with a clean goal shot from the circle's edge. Rushing the ball through the massed defense P. Smith shot the final goal of the game.

PRESENTED BRITISH WAR MOTHER PLANTS TREE ON BRYN MAWR CAMPUS

Lunches in Pembroke With Escort of Retired British Officers

Mrs. Amelia McCudden, the British war mother who came to attend the burial of the unknown soldier in Arlington Cemetery November 11, visited Bryn Mawr last Wednesday. The wife of the British consul general, Mrs. Campbell, and Mrs. Bellac, president of the Philadelphia War Mothers, accompanied Mrs. McCudden's party, which is composed of Miss Kathleen McCudden, Miss Blanche Phillips and Captain Moyses Stevens, Lieutenant's Frederick Kersley and Gordon Stuart Ellam, retired British officers.

"Mrs. McCudden was very simple and direct," said one of her Bryn Mawr hostesses, "and spoke quite naturally of the three sons and the husband she lost in the war, in whose memory she wears a fourstarred brooch." Mr. McCudden while not in active service worked under the British Government during the war and while travelling from work in the railway carriage he was pushed to the door, and finally crowded out and thrown under the wheels.

After leaving Brun Mawr the British party was taken to see the English hockey team play.

"I am sorry they beat Bryn Mawr," said Mrs. McCudden, "but I hope we will see them win today."

"I like America very much," Mrs. Mc-Cudden said to a News reporter, "and I would like to stop here if it weren't that I have another son and daughter in England. I expect to go back in another week or two. Our trip was to take about a month from the time we left home." At lunch Mrs. McCudden was delighted with

FIRST ALUMNAE MEETING UNDER NEW PLAN HELD

Seven Districts Represented

The purpose of the Alumnae Association, "to unite all alumnae and former students in a body anxious to work for the good of the College and further its interests in every way," was excellently answered in the first large council meeting which took place in Chicago last week, according to Miss Margaret Blaine, '13, secretary of the Association.

"The council was eminently successful in representing all parts of the country; councillors were present from each of the seven districts. One of the most important questions discussed was the relation of the alumnae to the college and how they could give it the greatest service. A feeling of confidence that alumnae could best be represented and take part in the management of the College through the alumnae directors, was expressed and a motion was made that any alumnae or group could express interest or criticism by tending a report to the Executive Board of the Association to be transmitted by them to the alumnae directors.

"The budget plan, including the expenses of the alumnae office and council meetings, Markle, Jr.), '13, has a third son, George dormitories of colonial design, to be "until the snow flies" at Wellesley by was approved.

"A definite program of local organization was submitted for discussion; it embraced the plan of having a uniform name for all the local organizations, the Bryn Mawr Association of—whatever the place might be. And it was decided that wherever there were sufficient alumnae the local association should have, besides three officers, chairmen of the four committees-membership, scholarship, publicity and a committee to tell the alumnae of the work of the American Association of University Women. These officials should compromise the Executive Board, which will act for the Association between the two large meetings in the spring and fall, and will prepare a scheme for raising the $500 local Freshman scholarship. It was recognized that there was a great need for more scholarships to be awarded for scholarship and financial need and it was recommended that all local organizations should help in some way to increase these scholarships.

"An interesting meeting was held on Saturday morning to meet the school principles of the private preparatory and high schools in Chicago. Entrance examinations were discussed and a strong feeling was shown that it should be made easier to prepare for Bryn Mawr examinations in the public schools. Dean Smith told about the undergraduates and how the College was helped by the preparatory schools. In the afternoon Dean Smith and Miss Friedman told the alumnae and outsiders about the Summer School and after the meeting the councillors voted to support it another year as fully as possible."

How Were X-Rays Discovered?

CIR James Mackenzie Davidson visited Professor Roentgen to find Out how he discovered the X-rays.

Roentgen had covered a vacuum tube, called a Hittorf or Crookes tube, with black paper so as to cut off all its light. About four yards away was a piece of cardboard coated with a fluorescent compound. He turned on the current in the tube. The cardboard glowed brightly.

Sir James asked him: "What did you think?"

"I didn't think, I investigated," said Roentgen. He wanted to know what made the cardboard glow. Cnly planned experiments could give the answer. We all know the practical result. Thousands of lives are saved by surgeons who use the X-rays.

Later on, one of the scientists in the Research Laboratory of the General Electric Company became interested in a certain phenomenon sometimes observed in incandescent lamps. Others had observed it, but he, like Roentgen, investigated. The result was the discovery of new laws governing electrical conduction in high vacuum.

Another scientist in the same laboratory saw that on the basis of those new laws he could build a new tube for producing X-rays more effectively. This was the Coolidge X-ray tube which marked the greatest advance in the X-ray art since the original discovery by Roentgen.

Thus, scientific investigation of a strange phenomenon led to the discovery of a new art, and scientific investigation of another strange phenomenon led to the greatest improvement in that art.

It is for such reasons that the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are continually investigating, continually exploring the unknown. It is new knowledge that is sought. But practical results follow in an endless stream, and in many unexpected ways.
