MAY-DAY HONOURS ANNOUNCED

President Thomas' Speech

We meet in Chapel to-day to continue your celebration of May Day by the announcement of Faculty May Day honors. But let us first think for a moment of the celebration of May Day. As far as we know it was celebrated in a rather modest way in ancient Rome by a procession on May. Day to the grotto of the nymph Egeria. The real celebration of May Day began with the Northern Teutonic peoples to whom the first of May symbolized the passing of the cold, intense winter and the coming of the short and wonderful spring and summer of the North. The mediæval May Day games and revels, the worship of the old Teutonic goddess of love, the dragon slain by the Siegmund Beowulf and other Teutonic heroes of myth and saga all seem to belong to the coming of summer. In the revival of the May Day games that are now taking place everywhere, escelebrate May Day. Your Bryn Mawr May Day revels were the first of the many revivals of this old custom. Indeed in a sense the tower of Rockefeller Hall was planned so that the College students could follow the custom of Magdalen College, Oxford, and sing to the sun on the first of May. It is carved on Buell, of Madison, Wisconsin; B.A., Uni- guages: Beatrice Allard, of Boston, Masboth sides with our coat of arms.
