BIG INTERNATIONAL WAR WORK OF Y. M. C. A. TOLD BY MR. EDDY

Need of Money and Trained Women to Carry on Work at the Front

What the Y. M. C. A. huts, fronted with their red triangles, mean to the men of the Allied armies, and to those in the Allied and enemy prison camps, was vividly told by Mr. Sherwood Eddy, the noted Y. M. C. A. preacher, at a meeting in Taylor Monday afternoon. Mr. Eddy has just returned from a tour of the Western battle front, and is already on his way to Russia.

The speaker described the Student Friendship Fund, which is being raised by American students to benefit men in the Allied armies and the European prison camps through the Y. M. C. A. and to aid the Hostess Houses of the training camps at home and abroad through the Y. W. C. A.

Trained women, well rounded physically, mentally and morally, are needed by the Y. M. C. A. abroad, according to 10-4 VICTORY OVER ALL—PHILA-

Over $1,000,000 of this fund has already been raised, Vassar giving $15,000 and Wellesley $16,000.

"If I don't win another battle I'll win a moral one", General Pershing is quoted as saying to Mr. Eddy when they were mapping out the war work of the Y. M. C. A. together.

OWN ADAPTATION OF SCOTCH SONGS ON WARLICH'S PROGRAM

Artist Born in Russia and a United States Citizen Despite German Name

LIEDER SINGER'S REPERTOIRE HAS RANGE OF FIVE TONGUES

A number of stirring Scotch folk songs which he has adapted to modernized harmonic settings will mark the climax of Reinhold Warlich's concert in Taylor Friday evening, December 7. Mr. Warlich worked out these adaptations during the past summer in collaboration with his friend and associate, Fritz Kreisler. His skillful re-creation and sympathetic interpretation of the old ballads have attracted a great deal of favorable comment.

Writing of his political and civil status, Mr. Warlich says:

"Having a German sounding name, and through my friendship and close artistic affiliation with the Austrian violinist, Fritz Kreisler, people thought I was a German. . . I was born in Petrograd, Russia, as the son of the Director of the Imperial Russian Court music, now of the 'Orchestre Nationale;' my father is a Russian citizen and a general, and I have two half-brothers, one an officer in the Russian navy and another a prisoner in Germany who was, before the outbreak of the war attached to the Russian Consul General in Berlin as consulting civil engineer and taken prisoner by the Germans after outbreak of hostilities.

"I came to this country as quite a young man and became a citizen in 1901, dividing my time between this country and Europe. I was chauffeur for the French Red Cross during practically the first 14 months of the war and returned to this country in November, 1915, to take up my concert work again and raise money for different charities in France.

Two good stops by her after the second Bryn Mawr goal. checked All-Philadelphia's come-back Throughout the half the fighting was hardly farther from the Philadelphia cage than the 25-yard line. A hit to the left by the Philadelphia goal-keeper gave Varsity a corner, G. Hearne, right wing, hitting in instead of the halfback. After the ball had been rushed down the field and back again she scored the third Bryn Mawr goal. B. Schurman went in here for M. Bacon at center half.

The All-Philadelphia right wing, Miss Zimmerman, worried the defense, but passed into center, where a hard stroke by M. Strauss '18 checked the visitors' advance. The fourth Varsity goal, shot by M. Carey '20, center forward, followed good interference by B. Weaver '20, right half.

All-Philadelphia then turned the tables and scored their second goal toward the end of the first half, leaving Bryn Mawr ahead, 4-2.

An All-Philadelphia goal and another for Bryn Mawr, shot by K. Bickley '21, came in quick succession. Here A. Hawkins '07 was put in at left half for Philadelphia. After a long run, M. Carey hit in the eighth Varsity goal and fell flat after it into the cage. K. Bickley scored another almost immediately.

Gatling Shows Head Work

The most breathless moment of the game came a few moments later. Miss Cheston manoeuvred the ball past both half and fullbacks and rushed down on the goal. R. Gatling took the one possible chance, and stepped out ten feet from the goal to meet the attack; Miss Cheston was blocked, but Miss Zimmerman, catching up, struck the ball on the rebound and put it in the goal. This was All-Philadelphia's last point. M. Tyler added the tenth goal to Varsity's count and time was called with All-Philadelphia bearing down on the Bryn Mawr circle.
