Clerical work is done for the Social Service Department under Miss Kingsbury. Her assistants will teach typing, filing, cataloguing and general office work to all those who have signed for clerical work. The department is at present investigating the problem of married women in industry. Students will assist in the correspondence and in the preparation of typewritten syllabi, no printed material being available.

Miss Kingsbury is in great need of workers immediately. Everyone who can is asked to volunteer her services for typewriting and other general office work.

MISS FRANKLIN LOAN CAPTAIN

Dr. Marion Parris Smith, who twice last year led the Liberty Loan team to arships granted by the Young Women's victory, has resigned as head of the Liberty Loan Committee in order to give more time to a piece of government work in which she is engaged.

The new head of the Liberty Loan Department, elected by the War Council, is Miss Marjorie Franklin, Fellow in Economics at Bryn Mawr, 1914-15, who is this year taking one of the sections of the Minor Economics Course.

Miss Franklin worked this summer in the New York National Bank of Commerce on War Revenue legislation, covering both financial and legal ground. Last winter she was Instructor of Politfore was in Washington in the Tariff Division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Would not this disappointment be lessened if members of the faculty could find time to give occasional open lectures, on subjects connected with their regular courses? Much as professors are said to dislike giving a "bird's-eye view" of a subject, they might be willing to give a general lecture, if, instead of the ten minutes of morning Chapel, they had an hour or two, in the afternoon or evening, at their disposal.

In this way the older students might gain a general impression of other subjects than the one or two in which they are majoring, and underclassmen be guided as to the courses they wish to take up. Best of all, each undergraduate would become acquainted with many of the Bryn Mawr faculty who at present, unfortunately, exist for her only on the front page of the catalogue.

BATES HAS RECORD SUMMER

More Student Workers Than Usual For the first time in years, according to F. Clarke '19, chairman of the Bates Committee, enough workers volunteered for Bates House last summer to entertain and keep house properly for the total of 300 guests from Spring Street. Thirtythree workers, including Bryn Mawr students and their friends, under the direction of Miss Virginia Deems, set a new record for the Long Branch vacation house. Fewer business girls were entertained at Bates this summer than in previous years, as an effort was made to confine the guests principally to mothers and children. Clean-up Week in June was followed by the arrival of members of a

Ladies' Missionary Society. Next came the kindergarten and nursery children, and later groups of Italian and American mothers and their babies.

Miss Deems was assisted by Miss Virginia Lancaster, a graduate of Agnes Scott College, South Carolina, and E. Wlliams '20. Miss Dora Gray and Miss Ruth Anderson, also of Agnes Scott College, spent the entire summer at Bates. Miss Walmer of Denbigh acted as housekeeper. The other workers were:

The order in which members of the Freshman ministry will take their turn at presiding over the class was determined by lots drawn by the Junior Committee. E. Anderson, chairman last week, is succeeded this week by M. Tyler, who will be followed in order by K. Gardner, P. Smith, and C. Stuart.

REQUIRED EXERCISE

BEGINS MONDAY

Following the vote of the mass meeting held last spring, the Health Department this year requires every student to sign up five periods of exercise a week, two of which represent Physical Development drills. These periods must extend over at least four days, thus allowing only one day a week when two periods may be signed.

Required exercise begins next Monday.

A tentative scheme for simplifying the collection of money in college by having a monthly pay day has been worked out by the War Council and will be submitted to a mass meeting as soon as one can be called. The schedule recommended is:

QUARANTINE RULES EXTENDED

Three new rules were added to the influenza quarantine regulations by the Health Department last Saturday:

1. No visitors from off the campus are allowed to enter the halls of residence.

2. Students are not to visit any private. house, whether on this side of Montgomery Avenue or not, without special permission from Dean Taft.

3. No meetings, except necessary academic and religious meetings, shall be held on the campus.

The Health Department does not consider the influenza epidemic in college as really serious, but is taking every possible precaution against its becoming dangerous.

Any student whose parents are sufficiently worried about the influenza situation here to want her to come home will be allowed to do so, provided she keeps up with her college work at home, it was announced Monday.

WAR CHEST RECOMMENDED

A recommendation that the college, as a whole, subscribe to the Five-Counties War Chest will be made by the War Council at the next mass meeting. The War Chest includes practically all the big war charities, so that a monthly subscription to it obviates frequent collections for different causes. Subscribers are asked to give "one day's pay a month" or onethirtieth of their income.

FIRST CHINESE SCHOLAR ENTERS

Sooner Than She Had Planned

Fung Kei Liu '20 is the first student to enter Bryn Mawr on the Chinese Scholarship. Fung Liu came to America from the Canton Christian College a year ago and entered the Shipley School. She expected to take two years to prepare for college, but passed off all but five points last spring. F. Liu was at the June Conference at Silver Bay and attended the Bryn Mawr Delegation Meetings. She went from there to A. Macmaster's tutoring camp and has now passed off all but two conditions.

Miss Donnelly is chairman of the Chinese Scholarship Committee and Mrs. Smith treasurer. The fund is made up from gifts from alumnæ and friends of the college.

DR. BARTON'S TEXT

"The world is being made over: God manufacturers. invites you to be fellow workers with Him in the new creation," was the challenge of Dr. Barton last Sunday in the first Chapel service of the year.

Dr. Barton indicated in a convincing way some of the forces of righteousness now at work. We should not have believed, four years ago, that the men and women whom we then knew would have been capable of the generosity, the heroism, and the Christ-likeness which they have since shown, he said.
