TO THE STOCKHOLDERS.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS is held in Race Street Meeting House, Philadelphia, on the first Third-day in Twelfth month, at three o'clock, P. M. Public notice of this meeting is given in one or more newspapers published, respectively, in Philadelphia, New York, and Baltimoré.

It is desirable that Stockholders should be furnished with the Annual Catalogues, and all other publications issued by the authority of the College. This has been but imperfectly done, as we have never had the addresses of many Stockholders, and those of others have been changed since their names were entered upon the lists. That a list, corrected to date, may be kept at the College, STOCKHOLDERS ARE REQUESTED TO FORWARD TO THE PRESIDENT THEIR NAMES AND ADDRESSES IN FULL, GIVING THE POST-OFFICE, COUNTY, AND STATE.

As there is a scarcity of Catalogues of former years, Stockholders having copies in their possession, will oblige by forwarding them to the College.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

Every applicant for admission must submit to the President satisfactory testimonials of good moral character; and students coming from another college must present certificates of honorable dismissal from the institution left.

Examinations for admission will be held on Third-, Fourth- and Fifth-days, the 12th, 13th and 14th of Ninth month, 1876. Candidates must present themselves at the college at two o'clock, P. M., on Third-day, the 12th of Ninth month.

To secure places, applications for admission for the next scholastic year should be made, as early as possible, by letter to the President.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class will be examined on the following subjects and text-books, or their equivalents :

Latin.—Harkness's Grammar; Harkness's Reader; Harkness's Composition, first thirty lessons; Cæsar's Gallic War, first three books; and Virgil's Æneid, first two books.

French.—Magill and Paulin's First Lessons; Magill's Grammar Magill's Introductory Reader.

Mathematics.—Arithmetic; Algebra, to Equations of the Second Degree; Davies' Legendre's Geometry, first three books.

English.—English Grammar and Spelling; Modern Geography, Descriptive and Physical; Ancient Geography (Baird's Classical Manual); Physics (Rolfe and Gillet's Natural Philosophy); Barnes's History of the United States; Anderson's History of England; Smith's History of Greece.

Candidates for advanced standing must first be examined for admission to the Freshman Class; then in all the required studies already gone over by the class for which they offer themselves, and in as many elective studies as they would have pursued if they had entered at the beginning of the course.

Especial attention is called to the importance of a thorough preparation in the studies required for admission. The want of this is a serious source of embarrassment to future progress, and is rarely repaired by subsequent study. The work is arranged for those only who enter the classes thoroughly prepared.

Students are not considered as regular members of the College until, after a residence of at least four months, they have been admitted to matriculation on satisfactory evidence of good moral character. Before this they are students on probation.

COURSE OF STUDY.

The course of study in this department has been very carefully arranged with reference to general culture; and it is also believed to be the best foundation for a subsequent technical course of education, in any department which may be chosen. Those whose time and means will permit are earnestly advised to add to this course, after graduation, the last two years of one of the departments of our scientific course. It will be observed that a due proportion of scientific studies are introduced as essential parts of the classical course.

The MODERN CLASSICAL COURSE, for completing which the degree of BACHELOR OF LITERATURE is conferred, is the same as the following, except that a fuller course in Modern Languages, and one in Anglo-Saxon, may be substituted for the Ancient Languages.

The studies of each class in any course are among the electives for students of that class in any other course, if they are prepared to pursue them, and pass the necessary preliminary examination.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

The conditions of admission to the Scientific Department are the same as those for admission to the Classical Department, except that Latin is not required, although a knowledge of Latin accidence and a sufficient knowledge of the construction to read easy Latin Prose is earnestly recommended. It is also very desirable that all applicants for admission to this department should have had at least one year's instruction in Free-hand Linear Drawing.

COURSES OF STUDY.

The Scientific Department comprises two distinct courses, leading to two degrees; the Chemical Course and the Engineering

Course, in both of which care has been taken to secure general culture, and not to make students of this department merely chemists or engineers.

CHEMICAL COURSE.

This comprises four years, and is intended to prepare students to fill positions as teachers or analytical chemists; and to provide such a general knowledge of chemical science, and its applications to the arts, for those who wish to take up the special problems of technical chemistry as will afford a good basis for their subsequent investigations.

The Laboratory has been fitted up in the most approved manner, to accommodate twenty-four students at a time; each desk being provided with running water, gas, and sink. The Laboratory is heated by steam, and furnished with hoods, sand, steam and air baths; furnaces, balances, spectroscopes, &c., suitable for carrying on all ordinary Laboratory work.

Students will be charged only for chemicals and apparatus actually used up. No charge is made for gas.

A partial course in medical chemistry has been arranged as an elective for the benefit of those who intend to study medicine after graduation.

ENGINEERING COURSE.

This course, which, for the first two years, is identical with the chemical course, is intended to furnish a good foundation in Mathematics, Physics, Mechanics, and Drawing, for the student of Civil or Mechanical Engineering. Its graduates will be prepared to become immediately useful in the office or field, in subordinate positions, and after a fair amount of practice to design and take charge of important works. The course is also open to those students whose time is limited, and who do not intend to graduate, by whom partial courses in Surveying and Draughting can be pursued with great practical advantage.

The College is well provided with the necessary field instruments, and each student is made familiar with their uses and management. The Draughting room is well lighted from above, and is provided with the Worcester Adjustable Drawing Tables, models, drawings, &c.

A machine shop is being prepared, by means of which each student may become practically acquainted with the uses of the various tools, and learn to avoid errors in designing by being required to execute, from his own drawings, parts of structures or of mechanism.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

SITUATION.

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE is situated on the West Chester and Philadelphia Railroad, ten miles from Philadelphia. Cars leave the depot at Thirty-first and Chestnut Streets, West Philadelphia, ten times daily.

POST-OFFICE ADDRESS AND CITY OFFICE.

The Post-Office address is SWARTHMORE, DELAWARE CO., PA. Express packages may be sent to this address, or, if small, may be left in care of Friends' Book Association, 706 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

LIBRARIES.

The Libraries of the College now contain over two thousand volumes. Each department of study is supplied with a good and steadily increasing library of reference. The General Library is accessible to all the students, according to the rules established by the Faculty, and is open once a week during term-time for the delivery of reading books, and daily for the delivery of books of reference needed by the students. It is open at all times to teachers and members of the household.

Friends' Historical Library of Swarthmore, founded by Anson Lapham, which contains a small but increasing collection of Friends' books, photographs of representative Friends, and manuscripts relating to the Society and its history, is at all times accessible to teachers, students, and members of the household.

PHYSICAL CULTURE.

Regular daily exercise in the open air is required of all the students, for which the extensive grounds connected with the College afford ample facilities. The gymnasium, which is well supplied with suitable apparatus, is open every day for the voluntary exercise of the boys. It is devoted to the exclusive use of the girls at certain hours daily, and they should be provided with dresses suitable for this purpose. Their exercises here consist almost entirely of the so-called light gymnastics, and can be safely and profitably undertaken by any one in good health. All are advised and encouraged to avail themselves of the privileges of the gymnasium.

RELIGIOUS EXERCISES.

While care is taken to inculcate the doctrine that religion is a matter of practical daily life, and is not confined to the observance of set forms or the promulgation of religious tenets, the regular assembling for religious purposes is carefully observed. On First-day morning a religious meeting is held, attended by students, teachers, and members of the household, and occasionally by visiting Friends. The meeting is preceded by First-day school exercises, consisting of the recitation of passages of Scripture prepared by members of the different classes, and the reading of a portion of Scripture selected for the exercises of the following week. The daily exercises are opened by a general meeting for reading selected portions of Scripture, or other suitable books, and imparting such moral lessons as circumstances seem to require, followed by a period of silence before entering upon the duties of the day.

VISITING AND LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Parents and guardians are especially requested not to visit their children at the College on the FIRST DAY OF THE WEEK nor to ask permission for them to leave the College more than once a month.

Leave of absence cannot be granted without a written request of parents or guardians, while requests should, in all cases, be accompanied by reasons satisfactory to the Faculty.

Students may be visited, on week-days, by parents or guardians, or by near relatives or others approved by parents or guardians; but general visiting is discouraged. Students must not be interrupted in their studies or recitations at any time.

All persons who are interested in education, and who are desirous of examining the methods of instruction and discipline at Swarthmore, will always be welcome, and should, when convenient, visit the institution between the hours of 8 A. M. and 12 M.

COMMENCEMENTS AND VACATIONS.

The College year begins on the second Third-day of Ninth month, and closes with Commencement day, which occurs on the third Third-day of Sixth month.

Students are not admitted for a period terminating earlier than the current college year, but, when vacancies exist, may enter at any time during the year, if prepared to join existing classes.

Besides the summer vacation there will be a vacation of one week at Christmas.

OUTFIT.

Although no form of dress is prescribed for either sex, such simple attire as is appropriate to school-life is earnestly recommended. Ear-rings, bracelets, necklaces, and elaborately trimmed dresses are prohibited.

Students should be supplied with six towels, six napkins, two clothes-bags, a wrapper, slippers, an umbrella, and the requisite toilet articles. Girls must also be provided with gymnasium dresses. Every article must be marked with the full name of the owner.

USE OF TOBACCO.

The use of Tobacco being strictly prohibited, those addicted to its use, unless prepared to renounce it entirely, should not apply for admission.

EXPENSES.

FOR RESIDENT STUDENTS the price of board and tuition is $350 per year, of which $200 is payable in advance, and $150 on the first of First month. A proportionate deduction is made to those students who enter after the opening of the college year.

FOR DAY SCHOLARS the price is $200 per year, of which one-half is payable in advance, and the remainder on the first of First month. The day scholars dine with the resident students.

Books are furnished for the use of students without expense, but they buy their own stationery and drawing implements. Students in Practical Chemistry pay for the chemicals which they use in the laboratory. No additional charge is made in case of sickness unless extra expense is incurred.

THERE ARE NO EXTRA CHARGES.

The price being made as low as experience shows to be compatible with prudence, while many of our expenses are annual in their character, and teachers and other officers, at fixed yearly salaries, must be engaged in proportion to the students entered, we cannot, in case of withdrawals, return the full proportionate amount paid without loss. When the connection of a student with the College shall terminate before the end of the period for which payment has been made, by sickness, or any other cause, approved by the Faculty, the student may have the privilege of sending an approved substitute, for the unexpired term, or may apply, in writing, to the Treasurer, and a return will be made at the rate of $25 per month, from the date of said application or written notice that the place is vacated.

PAYMENTS.

Payments are to be made by check or draft to the order of ROBERT BIDDLE, Treasurer, 511 Commerce Street, Philadelphia.

PREPARATORY SCHOOL.

GENERAL STATEMENT.

This school is intended to prepare students for the Classical and Scientific Departments of the College, or to furnish a good practical education to those desiring a shorter course. Most of the studies pursued are required of all, but few being optional, as experience has clearly shown that young students make much more satisfactory progress when pursuing a regularly required course, even for a single year, without any idea of graduation, than when they select all their studies for themselves. The course of study in this school, while it is an essential preparation for the two departments of the College, is also believed to be the best training for those whose means and circumstances require that they should finish their studies in the Preparatory School, or before reaching the end of the College course. Attention is invited to the course of study as here arranged, and the various Preparatory Schools among Friends throughout the country are requested to conform to it, as far as practicable, and prepare students to enter our Freshman Class, either in the classical or the scientific course. To secure this end, a thorough mastery of the elementary principles of the subject taught, and not a mere knowledge of the text-books required, is most earnestly recommended. Subsequent study can rarely, if ever, atone for deficient preparation.

ORGANIZATION.

This School is at present divided into three classes, A, B, and C. Classes A and B are divided into classical and scientific sections, preparing for these respective departments in the college.

GOVERNMENT AND INSTRUCTION.

The students of the Preparatory School are under the same general management as the College classes. With a few exceptions, the same general rules are applicable to both, and the students of this school receive instruction from teachers employed especially for this purpose, and also from professors and instructors of the College.

EXPENSES, ETC.

The expenses of students of this school are the same as those of students of the College classes, and the various remarks under the head of GENERAL INFORMATION* in the College Catalogue are applicable alike to the College and the Preparatory School.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION TO THE PREPARATORY SCHOOL.

Applicants for admission must be at least thirteen years old, and should submit to the President, from their last teacher, satisfactory testimonials of good moral character.

Examinations for admission will be held on Third-, Fourth-, and Fifth-days the 12th, 13th, and 14th of Ninth month, 1876. Candidates must present themselves at two o'clock, P. M. on Third-day, the 12th of Ninth month. To secure places, applications for admission for the next scholastic year should be made, as early as possible, by letter to the President.

Candidates for admission to class C will be examined as follows:

In Elements of English Grammar, embracing a knowledge of the Parts of Speech, and their uses; Reading and Spelling; Geography of the United States; Arithmetic, through Decimal Fractions.

None who are not sufficiently advanced in their studies to undergo this examination should present themselves for admission.

Candidates for the advanced classes of the Preparatory School will be further examined in the studies of the classes below that which they propose to enter.

MANAGERS' REPORT.

The Managers take great pleasure in reporting to the Stockholders that Swarthmore has completed another successful year, and has entered upon the seventh year of its existence under most favorable auspices. Notwithstanding the pressure of the times we can again repeat the words of the last report, that the financial crisis which has produced so marked an effect upon the fashionable and expensive schools throughout the country has but slightly affected our current receipts. Increasing stability characterizes the institution, but few changes having been made in the general plan of organization, and the corps of Professors and Instructors remaining nearly the same as last year.

The whole number of students in the College and Preparatory School for the present year is 238. They are classified as follows :

Resident Graduates	1
Seniors	13
Juniors	9
Sophomores	28
Freshmen	40
Preparatory School, Class A	53
" " Class B	56
" " Class C	38

As announced the Third Division of Class C has now been dropped, and the size of this class, in proportion to the whole number in attendance, is considerably smaller than heretofore. The increased age and advancement of the students entered for this year render it probable that in a very few years this class can be dispensed with altogether.

To this end the various Friends' Schools now being established throughout the country are likely to contribute, as there is a prospect of completing, at an early day, a regular organization of these schools, with courses of study so arranged that those students who desire to do so will be prepared to enter the Freshman class of the College. This will enable many friends to keep their children at Swarthmore to complete the course and graduate; and this in its turn will have an excellent effect upon the Preparatory Schools themselves, as they can more readily obtain well educated teachers from among the graduates of Swarthmore, teachers familiar not only with the course laid down for these schools, but also with that required in the College. No surer means can be taken to increase the usefulness of our College, and make it fully subserve the important end for which it was established, than encouraging among Friends everywhere, properly organized Preparatory Schools.

An arrangement has now been made to confer the degree of Bachelor of Literature upon those students who shall have completed our modern classical course; that is, a course of study in which the Ancient languages may be omitted, a fuller course in French and German, English and Anglo-Saxon taking their place. In this course at least one year's Latin is encouraged, though it will not be required to obtain the degree. This change will open the way for many who do not wish to study the Ancient languages, and whose tastes and inclinations do not attract them to the study of the full scientific course. Since the opening of the College, several young women have left us without completing their studies, who would almost certainly have stayed to graduate had this arrangement then existed. The plan proposed is not without precedent: Cornell has such a degree for such a course, except that the one year's Latin, instead of being advisory as with us, is made obligatory; and the University of Minnesota also gives this degree for a corresponding course.

An additional inducement for young women in particular to take a full course of study with us, is the constantly increasing demand for those who are thus educated, to fill important positions in our newly established Friends' Schools.

Anson Lapham, of Skeneateles, New York, has, during the past year, purchased two perpetual scholarships, for which he has paid the sum of $10,000, which will be found acknowledged in the Treasurer's Report.

Our friend Deborah F. Wharton has recently placed in the hands of the Committee on Trusts, Endowments and Scholarships, bonds to the amount of $5000, the interest of which is to be used to reduce the expenses of education for young persons whose circumstances are limited, especially those intending to teach in Friends' schools. This, with other donations previously received, enables the College to take several students at a reduced rate; and it is hoped that additional funds will be placed at the disposal of this committee for educational assistance. It will be found to be one of the richest in results of any of the means yet tried to advance permanently the interests of higher education in our Society.

The attention of the Stockholders is directed to the increasing need of the College in the Department of Physics. It will doubtless be remembered that this subject has claimed attention in several of our previous reports. A Physical Laboratory and a Work Shop have been in contemplation from the beginning. A temporary change in the gymnasium, now being effected, will supply this need until proper and permanent provision can be made. A large and increasing number of our students are turning their attention to a preparation for scientific and industrial pursuits. To meet the wants of this department, a separate building will be required, fully equipped with all the modern appliances for the pursuit of scientific studies and original investigations.

The Library has been increased during the past year, chiefly by the addition of such works of reference as have been found most essential in the different departments. A large Library Room has been fitted up and prepared for the reception of books; and in the selection of these great care is taken to add those which will be of permanent value. A large and well selected library is of prime necessity in every literary institution. It is not a mere luxury, to be added when means permit it, but the very life of the institution is dependent upon it. We cannot better express our deep conviction of the need of this invaluable aid in all literary work than by quoting the following words of Taylor Lewis:—"A large library is an indispensable requisite for a College. It should be the chief attraction for all its better class of students; but it should be a bibliotheca indeed, not a mere circulating library filled with the transient literature of the day. It should contain the most rare and the most precious productions of past ages. It should represent the world in space and time. It should be a place for study and for writing, furnished with every accommodation for those purposes, with its regular hours of the day and evening, during which all should have access to its advantages for reading and for conversation, but with no license for withdrawing books from their places of security." That our library may reach this ideal condition as soon as possible should be our constant aim.

The Friends' Historical Library, founded by Anson Lapham, has grown somewhat since our last report, and, in addition to the books contributed, it has been furnished with several interesting historical pictures by a friend of the library and of the College. There is yet ample room upon its shelves for a large increase of Friends' books and works connected with the history of the society. All books and other objects presented to this Library will be properly accredited and arranged in a fire-proof room devoted exclusively to this purpose, and it is hoped that, by continued contributions, the collection will become more valuable and interesting from year to year.

The nucleus of a Students' Library has been formed by the four literary and scientific societies of the College, and they have recently been furnished with cases in which to deposit the books which they contribute. In the course of a few years this Students' Society Library will doubtless become an important and interesting portion of the educational facilities of the college.

A course of lectures upon the History of Art, or History as Illustrated by Works of Art, was delivered during the past winter, in addition to the lectures provided in connection with the regular courses of study, and referred to in the last report. Various other lectures upon different subjects have also been delivered during the year, the expenses of which have been defrayed out of the library fund.

The change in the system of teaching Free-hand Drawing, referred to in the last report, has been carried out successfully during the present year, and drawing is now required of all the students in the Preparatory School. The great value and growing importance of this study are too obvious and well known to need to be enlarged upon in this report.

The Museum of Natural History has been steadily increasing under the care and direction of Dr. Joseph Leidy, who continues his lectures as heretofore in this department. It is believed that there are few if any collections in the country, of the same size, so eminently practical, the object from the first having been so to select and arrange the specimens deposited as best to furnish the means of illustration in all the departments of Natural History, and not to make it a mere collection of curiosities.

We reiterate in this report, our judgment upon the experiment of the co-education of the sexes, which has been carried out so thoroughly and so successfully at Swarthmore from the beginning. There is but one opinion among those familiar with the daily working of the college, and that is decidedly favorable to the system. Indeed the wonder, among all familiar with the internal affairs of Swarthmore for the past six years, is that any objection can be raised to a system so natural and so fruitful in good results. Character, refinement of manners, scholarship, culture in the best and highest sense, morals, all those things which go toward making life truer, nobler, purer, better and more worth the living, are developed and strengthened by it. Co-education has certainly proved, with us, all that its most ardent friends and supporters hoped for it in the beginning; and, we have long since ceased to regard it in the light of an experiment.

The gymnasium has been refitted and lighted for exercise in the evening since the last report. It is well managed, and is answering admirably the purposes for which it was erected. It has been used during most of the year, at stated periods, by the girls, in separate classes.

There has been no serious sickness since the last report, and since the opening in Ninth month last the health of the students has been excellent, the nursery having been almost entirely without occupants. The regular hours observed in retiring and rising, and in taking their meals, the excellent quality of the food provided, the periodical and systematic exercise in the gymnasium and in the open air, and the careful adjustment of their studies to prevent overwork, are among the efficient means taken at Swarthmore to secure this desirable result. In the matter of health, there is no necessity whatever for making any distinction of sex, that of the girls and boys, and of the young men and young women having been so nearly the same, upon an average, that there is no appreciable difference between the sexes in this respect.

It has been a source of great satisfaction to observe that the fundamental principles of our religious society are rendered familiar to the students of Swarthmore, both by precept and example, and made the basis of the system of general management there pursued. All are encouraged to manifest that spirit of peace and good will so eminently characteristic of Him who is our great exemplar, a spirit recognized in the name by which our religious organization is known to the world. The government at Swarthmore is mild and parental; a government of influence rather than of authority. Increasing care is taken to deal with offenders in the spirit required by our discipline, and with the most beneficent results. The students are thus taught gentleness, forbearance and forgiveness of injuries; and that this teaching is not without its legitimate fruit, all familiar with the bearing of the students of Swarthmore, both toward their instructors and toward one another, will bear abundant testimony. A larger proportion of our instructors than heretofore, are members of our religious society. Several of these are graduates of the College, and have shown by their work, and by the general influence which they exert upon their classes, the excellent effect of the training which Swarthmore affords.

Numerous and important material improvements have been made since last year. Indeed, no previous year since the opening of the College has been characterized by so much progress in these respects. Some of these changes were begun at the time of the last annual meeting, and have since been completed, while others have been commenced and carried out during the course of the year. Among the most important of these improvements are the following:

The negotiation for the purchase of the West Dale property, pending at the time of the last report, has been completed. The sum of $26,000 has been paid for this property, and for repairing the house, and fitting it up as the residence of two of our Professors. Of this sum, $18,000 have been contributed by the friends of the College. About $800 have also been expended in the improvements of the farm. The President's house has been completed, and is now occupied by his family. About $11,000 have been expended in the erection of this house and the laying out of the adjacent grounds. New gas works have been constructed during the year, and are now in successful operation, furnishing the College with gas fully equal to that of any of our cities; these works, and the changes in the college needed in consequence, required the expenditure of about $11,000. During the past summer vacation the oiling, painting, carpeting, and additional furnishing in the college, cost about $4000. The changes in, and additions to the library, already referred to, including the fitting up of the students' library, have cost over $1000. It will thus be seen that during the past year large sums have been expended in what may be regarded as permanent improvements of the College property. We have been enabled to make this large outlay principally through the liberality of interested friends, who have always been found ready in time of need.

While the receipts of the College for the past year have fully paid the current expenses, in the same sense in which that statement has been made in the previous reports, it should always be borne in mind that this cannot be said to be strictly the case unless the receipts are sufficient to furnish a fund for repairs, and also to enable the College to make successive improvements in the means of teaching and illustrating the several departments. The building and the furniture, through the constant care and oversight of the building and furnishing committees, have been kept in thorough and excellent repair: the high ground upon which the College has always stood in these respects, should characterize it in all of the departments.

In conclusion, we must not lose sight of the fact that the permanency of the institution, as a seat of liberal learning, depends largely upon its being so completely equipped with all of the facilities for instruction as to enable it to keep fully up to the ever increasing demands of the age in which we live. To this end, and to aid in the education of those Friends (especially if designing to teach) whose circumstances do not permit them to enjoy the advantages of a full course at Swarthmore, it is hoped that the friends of the College will see the necessity of establishing a large permanent endowment fund at an early day.
