Growing Business District Calls for Merchants' Department in Association

MEETING LAST NIGHT

One of the problems facing the Swarthmore Business and Civic Association at the present time is: How can the Association represent both the civic and business interests of the Borough without giving more attention to one than to the other.

At this writing, before the monthly meeting held last night at the Strath Haven Inn, H. Roger Coleman, president of the association, indicated that this matter would be given careful consideration.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Association held recently it was reported that some of the retail merchants of the Borough were finding fault with association for not meeting the problems of the local stores. On the other hand these merchants felt that the meeting of the Association were usually featured by addresses of a civic nature and that such questions as how more business could be kept in Swarthmore and how the stores would be made more attractive were never considered.

To this criticism the members of the executive committee expressed the feeling that none of the retail merchants of the Borough had ever gone out of their way to bring their problem before the Association and that the programs of the Association were of a civic nature largely because those present were more interested in civic problems than in retail business problems.

E. M. Buchner, treasurer of the Association, a prominent retail merchant said that he felt there were not enough merchants in Swarthmore to create a separate organization for the consideration of business problems.

"I have been active in the Business and Civic Association for some time.' Mr. Buchner declared, and I believe that the business men will be better off if they create a bureau within the B and C. Association to take care of their own problems than if they try to create an entirely separate organiza-

Vincent Pownell, another member of the executive committee of the Association, also declared that he believed the problems of the retail merchants could best be solved by a retail merchants' bureau within the B. and C. Association.

Mr. Coleman said that he had always made an effort to have the merchants feel that they were welcome at all times at the meetings of the Association and that their problems would be given the careful consideration of the entire organization. He said that he would be willing at any time to try to work out a plan for a seperate bureau of the local retail merchants which could meet and talk over local condi-

"I feel that the local merchants need some sort of an organization such as the B. and C. Association to bring together and get them acquainted with each other," Mr. Coleman said. "With so many new merchants coming into the Borough, we feel that it is a very definite responsibility to bring them all together so that we are all acquainted here and working for each other's welfare as well as for our own."

LOCAL ECONOMICS SUBJECT AT B. & C.

Letter to Association About Swarthmore Avenue Paving Forwarded to Council

PROFESSOR FRAZER SPEAKS

Association held its January meeting last Thursday night at the Strath Haven Inn. It might be said that the program was divided into two parts, both dealing with the same general subject. The main speaker was Professor Herbert Frazer, head of the economics department of Swarthmore college, whose subject was "International Economics." The second part of the program consisted of a discussion of "Swarthmore Economics."

Professor Frazer's address was extremely interesting, particularly his analysis of the economical causes of the World War. But even nine billion dollars in international trade does not hold the interest that is created when some $75,000 of Swarthmore taxpayers' money is under discussion.

The reading of a letter from Louis Cole Emmons addressed to the members of the association comprised the second part of the program. Mr. Emmons' letter contained complete details of his charges made at a previous meeting that more money had been paid for the paving of Swarthmore more work than usual on the part of the day morning. avenue between Yale avenue and the Baltimore pike than was necessary.

Following the reading of the letter Charles Smith moved that it be sent to council with "A respectful request for a reply at their earliest convenience." After considerable discussion, the motion was seconded by Mrs. Emmons, and passed by a vote of seven to three. The three dissenting votes were cast by Howard Buckman, Elric Sproat and not registered. There were ten new neers of Swarthmore. Miss Grace Marot.

The letter is published in full in this issue of the Swarthmorean although it was not turned over to Borough Council until the middle of this week. There is some thought that it should not be published until council has had an opportunity to discuss the contents and make a reply to be published at the same time.

However, due to the discussion which the matter received at the B. and C. meeting, and the apparent work which Mr. Emmons has gone to to get the details of the case we feel that the communication must be published at this time.

MRS. J. V. S. BISHOP GIVES BOOK REVIEW AT CLUB

Mrs. J. V. S. Bishop furnished the program of the Swarthmore Woman's Club this week, when she gave a detailed report on the book, "The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism and Capitalism," by George Bernard Shaw. Mrs. Bishop was introduced by the president of the Club, Mrs. Jesse H. Holmes. The program was held under the direction of the Book Review Committee of which Mrs. J. A. Perry is chairman.

Mrs. Bishop made her report particularly interesting showing just how the book's contents applied to every woman present and to the women of the United States even more than to those of England.

She said that the women of the country would be responsible to a great extend for the progress of socialism in the future because socialism could be brought about successfully only through the education of children.

The book is one of the heaviest that Mr. Shaw has written in sometime but Mrs. Bishop showed by her very intelligent report that she had read and analyzied it very carefully.

Following the report, a general discussion was held and the women present showed their interest in the subjects of Socialism and Capitalism by asking numerous questions.

SWARTHMORE MAN AUTHOR OF PLAYE CLUB PRODUCTION

February Program Written. Directed and Produced by Swarthmore People

IS WESTERN THRILLER

A new era in the development of the Players' Club was inaugurated on Monday, February 4th, when "Bilked," a four-act drama, was produced under the direction of the author, Roland G. E. Ullman.

It was the first time in the history of the Players' Club that a play of more than one act has been written by a member and produced before the club.

The programs sent out in advance stated that "Bilked" was a drama in four acts by Julian Ellis. Between the third and fourth acts, Mr. Thomas W. Andrew announced to the audience that it would probably be something of a surprise to them to know that Julian Ellis not only was a member of the club but had been for ten years, but that it would be no surprise to the audience when he told them what the author's full name was.

When the author answered his curtain call he explained that he was actually using half of his name, the middle half; his full name is really Roland Julian Ellis Ullman.

The play started with a vigorous, dramatic first act, in which Elsie Andrews is being given the third degree in a prison cell by the district attorney and the sheriff, in an attempt to make her confess having poisoned her hus-

The failure rises from uncertainty to assurance, and wins the case in a dramatic fourth act.

The part of Elsie Andrews was taken by Eliza Katharine Ullman, who handled the highly emotional scenes with a skill that carried conviction and had her audience sitting on the edge of their chairs more than once. D. Malcolm Hodge, as the district attorney, did one of the finest pieces of "heavy" acting that the club has seen. INSPECTION IS INVITED

The Plumbing and Heating Exhibit being held during the month of February at 16 Park avenue by Woodward. Jackson and Black, opened last Saturday and has attracted a large number of interested visitors throughout

The exhibit not only makes it possible for the people of Swarthmore to see the most improved heating and plumbing appliances now being installed in modern homes, but is held just prior to what is expected to be a very active building program in this community during the coming spring and summer months. During the first week of the exhibit the building has been open every evening until 9 o'clock and Charles Black reports that many builders as well as residents of Swarthmore who are interested in improving plumbing and most eminently satisfactory of all. During the past few years, Woodward, Jackson and Black have installed plumbing and heating fixtures in approximately fifty per cent of the new homes built in the borough. Among these have been the homes built by George Gillespie and Co., including the Blue Star Home, and homes built by Carrol Thayer, Charles Fischer, Charles Durnall, and H. T. Hurford. All of these men have built several homes during the past year.

Woodward, Jackson and Black was organized in 1920. Mr. Woodward died shortly after the firm was incorporated but the names of the three men have always been used. L. W. Jackson, who makes his home in Springfield, is now president of the organization and Charles Black is secretary and treasurer.

There are many reasons for the ease of steering the new Ford

THE new Ford is exceptionally easy to steer because of the well - proportioned weight of the car, the steelspoke wheels, the co-ordinated design of springs and shock absorbers, the size and design of the steering wheel, and the simple mechanical construction of the steering gear.

The Ford steering gear is of the worm and sector type used on high-priced cars and is three-quarter irreversible. In simple, non-technical language, this means that the car responds easily and quickly to the steering wheel, yet there is no danger of the wheel being jerked from the hands of the driver by ruts or bumps in the road. A light touch guides the car, yet you always have that necessary feel-of-the-road so essential to good driving.

Strength of materials and careful workmanship give unusual stability to the Ford steering gear and housing.

The steering worm, for instance, is splined to the steering worm shaft and is from your car over the longstronger, of course, than if a single key were used to hold

During the first week of the exhibit the building has been open every evening until 9 o'clock and Charles Black reports that many builders as well as residents of Swarthmore who are interested in improving plumbing and most eminently satisfactory of all. WILL IMPROVE GARAGE

The purchase of Wells and Patterson, Buick and Chevrolet Sales and Service, by John L. Patterson, who formerly conducted the business jointly with Elliot Wells, places that business solely in the hands of one of Swarthmore's best known and longest established automobile men.

In 1921 Mr. Patterson established the local Ford agency in the building which is now occupied by Sanberg Motor Sales on Dartmouth avenue. At that early period about the only other automobile man working in the borough who is still established in business here was Porter Waite.

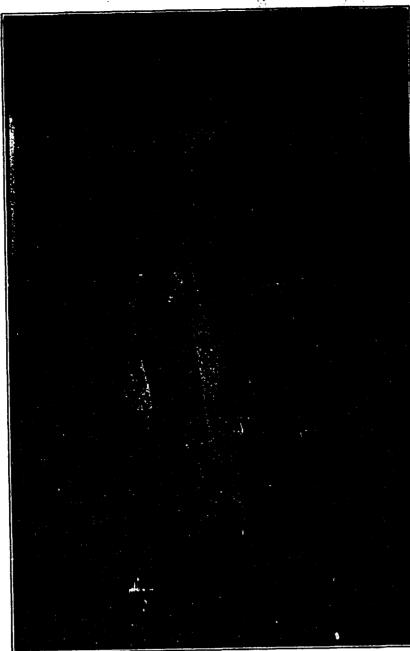

The following year Mr. Patterson entered his new place of business on South Chester road at Fairview road. Here he conducted the Ford agency very successfully and in 1927 sold out his business to enter a partnership with Elliot Wells.

Wells and Patterson was established in the spring of 1927 at Dartmouth and Lafayette avenues and offered sales and service for Buick and Chevrolet. The purchase of the business by Mr. Patterson insures that its future growth will be steady. A complete car washing service has just been installed and garten which is conducted daily at the other improvements will be made in the near future.

Takes Over Complete Ownership of Wells and Patterson, Chervolet-Buick

WILL IMPROVE GARAGE

The purchase of Wells and Patterson, Buick and Chevrolet Sales and Service, by John L. Patterson, who formerly conducted the business jointly with Elliot Wells, places that business solely in the hands of one of Swarthmore's best known and longest established automobile men.

In 1921 Mr. Patterson established the local Ford agency in the building which is now occupied by Sanberg Motor Sales on Dartmouth avenue. At that early period about the only other automobile man working in the borough who is still established in business here was Porter Waite.

The following year Mr. Patterson entered his new place of business on South Chester road at Fairview road. Here he conducted the Ford agency very successfully and in 1927 sold out his business to enter a partnership with Elliot Wells.

Wells and Patterson was established in the spring of 1927 at Dartmouth and Lafayette avenues and offered sales and service for Buick and Chevrolet. The purchase of the business by Mr. Patterson insures that its future growth will be steady. A complete car wash- pices of the Swarthmore Pre-Kinder-

The Community Library

Swarthmore Needs This Educational and Social Institution to Uphold Its Position As a Desirable Community

By HAROLD BARNES President of the Swarthmore Public Library Association

It seems a shame that Swarthmore, bearing the marks of one of the most distinctive communities in America, the home of more people listed in Who's Who than any other community of like size in the United States save one, a leader in intellectual persuits of all kinds, should be without a community library, when every little Borough and community within miles around boasts this great social and intellectual asset.

"After the church, and the school, the free public library is the most effective influence in America," Theodore Rossevelt is reported to have said. And yet the people of Swarthmore have gone without such an institution for Certainly it should be unnecessary to more than call the attention of the people to the fact that a free public library is now being organized.

Not long ago a small group of Swarthmoreans gathered on the second floor of Borough Hall. With them they brought saws and hammers and nails. Lumber and other materials were provided and before the evening was over-Swarthmore had a library.

Now we are turning to the residents of the Community to ask that they support this movement. We wish to emphasis that above all else, the library is to be free, whether you take a membership or not, you will be as welcome to come to Borough Hall and read the books as the person, who takes a membership for every member of his family.

But the success of Swarthmore's Library will depend entirely upon the amount of support we receive from the residents of the Borough-in other words from the memberships that we receive.

Books Already Donated

Hundreds of people have donated books and the shelves of the library room are full to overflowing, but the Swarthmore Library must be more than a collection of books donated by people, who have no further use for them, it must be a service. Consequently we are anxious to raise enough money to hire a competent librarian, who can make it his or her duty to see that the library really fills the need Mrs. Roy C. The success of the Children's Library, the story hours eld every other week in conjunction with this movement, indicate how even the smallest library movement can be DRAMA SECTION PROGRAM FREEDLEY MAKES REPLY community.

This week, an effort is being made to visit every home in Swarthmore to secure membership in the Swarthmore Public Library Association. If anyone has been missed that is only because the Knave was we hope that they will get in touch with Claude C. Smith, the treasurer of the Association, and offer their membership to him.

So much has been written about library movements and their far-reaching effect on the communities in which they have been founded that I feel it would be more effective to quote some writers and speakers on the subject than to add anything further than I might have to say. * * * * * * * * *

I choose free libraries as the best agencies for improving the masses of the people, because they give nothing for nothing. Thy only help those who help themselves. They never pauperize. They reach the aspiring, and open to these the chief treasures of the world-those stored up in books. A taste for reading drives out lower tastes. . . After the church and the school, the free public library is the most effective influence for good in America. The moral, mental and material benefits to be derived from a carefully selected collection of good books, free for the use of all the people, cannot be over estimated. No community can afford to be without a library.—Theodore Roosevelt.

The library is vastly more than a collection of books; it is a social, civilizing, moralizing force.-W. H. P. Faunce, president, Brown University.

The library is . . . the noblest exponent of the American spirit. It is the most vital, indispensable public utility in town. It means beauty, happiness, intelligence and well being, the prosperity and thrift of its community.-W. F. Seward, librarian, Historical Society, Binghamton, N. Y.

CLASS PLAY AT THE HIGH SCHOOL THURSDAY Keep Swarthmore Clean

New Ordinance Provides Borough with Authority to Clean-up Private Properties at the Expense of the Owners

By BURGESS CARROLL THAYER

Swarthmore-noted since its founding for the beauty of its avenues, its college campus, and its well kept lawns, should be protected in every way possible so that its present attractiveness is neither marred nor destroyed.

With the rapid growth of the Borough, pieces of property have fallen into the hands of speculators living outside the Borough, ground suitable for dumping has disappeared, until today the Borough Authorities must take into their own hands the care of vacant lots, outlying properties and alleys.

Where a few years ago, a cartload of ashes or rubbish dumped here or there in a vacant lot or an alley made little impression on the general appearence of the Borough, today, there are so few places entirely hidden from the public eye that even a bucket-full of tin cans dumped almost any place is sure to be an eyesore to a number of persons.

For the past few months the Borough has been without adequate dumping grounds. As a result men employed to haul away ashes and rubbish have found it easier to drop their load in a shallow place on some vacant lot or in an alley than to make a trip outside of the Borough.

Public indignation has rightly made itself felt through the Business and Civic Association and through the protests of individuals for sometime. Complaints have come both to myself and to members of Council on numerous occasions but we have been powerless to clean up certain obnoxious conditions except to prevail upon the civic pride of the owner of the property. Often this has not been enough. Members of Council and myself have at times dug down into our own pockets to pay for having certain places cleaned up.

With conditions as they are and dumping grounds of an inadequate nature, an ordinance has been drawn up by Borough Solicitor Albert N. Garrett, providing for the health, cleanliness and safety of the Borough by prohibiting the accumulation of rubbish on private grounds, by regulating the mowing and removal of grass and weeds, and by providing for a more systematic method of collection of rubbish.

Ordinance Long Desired

This ordinance has long been a pet hobby of mine and now at this very appropriate time before the usual Spring cleaning, I am pleased to see it presented to Council and expect to do everything I can to have it passed.

My love for this Borough and pride in its appearance as well as the responsibilty of my position will cause me to enforce it at all times to the best of my ability.

The first provision of the ordinance prohibits the accumulation of rubbish and refuse matter. The second provision is that owners and occupants of private grounds shall mow or cut grass and weeds as often as necessary to prevent them being noxious, or detrimental to the health of the people of Swarthmore, or a fire hazard.

The most important provision is the third one which consideration and make a reply. It makes it possible for the Borough employees to enter upon the property of anyone disregarding the first two provisions and cut the grass or remove the rubbish at the expense of the owner, plus 20 per cent. The Borough may file a municipal claim or charge therefor against the owner of the property and collect the same by action of assumpsit.

Further provisions of the ordinance state that no person, firm, or corporation shall engage in the business of removing refuse without a license, that rubbish or refuse shall not be dumped upon private grounds within the Borough or within private streets, alleys, or driveways.

The Ordinance was presented at the meeting of Borough Council last week and seemed to meet with unanimous approval. Several suggestions were made and these are being added to the original draft by the Borough Solici-

When the Ordinance is passed there should be no excuse for Swarthmore not being the best cared for Borough in the State of Pennsylvania. Council is now making arrangements to secure additional new dumping grounds and everything will soon be in readiness for a good house-cleaning, which we hope will last forever.

We Delight to Honor

It has always been a pleasure to the people of Swarthmore to read about the success and accomplishments of their fellow-townspeople. Two Swarthmore men figured prominently in the papers during the past week, one Dr. J. Russell Smith, who gave a series of lectures in Cincinatti and another, Dr. Frank Aydelotte who was the principal speaker at the Academy of Music, when the Philadelphia Award was given to Eli K. Price.

Dr. Smith is also the author of a new book which was reviewed very favorably in the New York Times Book Review Section last week. The title of the book is "Tree Crops." A Permanent Agriculture. It is published by Harcourt, Brace and Co., Illustrated, 333 pp. $4.

The reviewer says of Dr. Smith's book:

If, Dr. Smith declares, agriculture were to test the plant kingdom in its relation to human use as carefully and patiently as industry has tested cement it would be found that "the natural engines of food production for hill lands are not wheat and other grasses but trees."

A recent editorial on "Ten Years of Prohibition" may present the matter in our city correctly, but it does not do justice to the land-at-large. The United States census reports of 1926 show the alcoholic death rate per 100,000 population. New York and Maryland are the wettest sections. Their rates are 7 and 7.6, respectively. New York's rate in 1920 was 1.2, while 1910 and 1916, both pre-dry years, had rates of 6.6 and

The figures show further that the dry States averaged 2.5 and the wet ones 4.5 in 1926. Twenty-three States, with a population of 26,000,000, lost only 455 by alcoholism in 1926, as compared with New York's 788. Freedley declared, and an entirely new |_____ base had to be built.

The chairman of the High mittee further pointed out that the cost of grading for the road was a large item not included in the original estimate of the State Highway Department; that the cost of such things as the bridge construction over the quarry on Mr. Emmons property and extra work in front of the property of Chester Spencer were not included in the

It all right for Mr. Emmons to make allowance for this work and say that the concrete bridge built over the quarry in front of his property should not have cost more than $3,000, but it actually did cost nearly $5,000," Mr. Freedley declared.

Mr. Freedley stated that he did not think the charge of James Hanna & Sons, who did the work, were high, but that this firm actually did the rock excavation work at a loss. He also said that Michael J. Mahoney, contractor, who had done a great deal of street work in Swarthmore, would have liked very much to have had the job, but that the firm of James Hanna was preferred because of their equipment for that particular piece of work. "Everything in connection with the the building of this road was handled in an above-board manner," declared Mr. Freedley. "The awarding of the contract was delayed for some time while all of the details were discussed at meetings of Council, and these meetings were open to everyone. I am perfectly convinced that the cost of the road was not exorbitant. Specifications differ with every job. There is always grading, curbing, draining, which cannot be determined in advance. And I do not want a missunderstanding that the tax payers of Swarthmore are having to pay for the entire cost of this road. Part of the cost was assessed fairly on the property owners along Swarthmore avenue as is done in the case of all street improvements in the Borough.

Councilman, J. Kirk McCurdy brought an end to Mr. Freedley's informal discussion of Mr. Emmon's letter, by declaring that further explaination would be a waste of time.

J. Horace Walter said that he felt the matter could be brought to a satisfactory close by a letter explaining the items in Mr. Emmon's communication. - At this point H. Roger Coleman, president of the Business and Civic Association, took the floor and explained that he thought a letter entailing the points mentioned by Mr. Freedley would be very satisfactory to the B. "This letter was passed in to Council with no desire to make charges,' Mr.

Coleman declared. "We just want an explaination.' "We have no desire to create a fuss out of this situation either," replied Mr. Walter," but there is a limit to the endurance of criticism, and fault finding which is forever being made by irresponsible persons."

In addition to the memberships secured, the workers, who are under the general supervision of Roland L. Eaton, said that there had been many contributions mostly for amounts around ten dollars and that the several contributions of a hundred dollars are expected.

Mr. Eaton disclosed Tuesday night that several very desirable persons have applied for the position of librarian and that the service of the library and the completeness of its books would be dependent upon the amount raised in the present campaign.

GREATER HUDSON

and Motordom calls for LARGEST HUDSON output

Already in response to the public's demand, production of the Greater Hudson has been increased, and then increased again - by far the largest schedule Hudson ever found necessary.

In theirown words, by their marked and recorded ballots, motorists by tens of thousands are telling us the Greater Hudson is truly the greatest of all time.

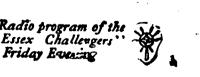

Voting in every Hudson salesroom in the country, these enthusiastic multitudes have piled up the most convincing endorsement in Hudson history. Perhaps even more important, they have bought these beautiful new Hudsons in such numbers that we must make thousands more of them to insure prompt delivery.

Every experience and suggestion of the world's largest 6-cylinder ownership is incorporated in the 64 improvements of the Greater Hudson.

> As co-authors of these creations the 1,000,000 Super-Six owners are naturally first to want to see, inspect and drive them. It is particularly interesting to observe their special satisfaction in the numerous body improvements. In comment, these important developments in body design and appointment, fully equal the more dramatic qualities of the more than 80-mile-an-hour performance.

They definitely set Hudson apart from like-priced cars, just as Hudson performance stands alone among all cars.

Come, see and drive the Greater Hudson. We believe one ride will make it the car of your choice.

Already in response to the public's demand, production of the Greater Hudson has been increased, and then increased again - by far the largest schedule Hudson ever found necessary.

In their own words, by their marked and recorded ballots, motorists by tens of thousands are telling us the Greater Hudson is truly the greatest of all time.

Voting in every Hudson salesroom in the country, these enthusiastic multitudes have piled up the most convincing endorsement in Hudson history. Perhaps even more important, they have bought these beautiful new Hudsons in such numbers that we must make thousands more of them to insure prompt delivery.

the world's largest 6-cylinder ownership is incorporated in the 64 improvements of the Greater Hudson.

As co-authors of these creations the 1,000,000 Super-Six owners are naturally first to want to see, inspect and drive them. It is particularly interesting to observe their special satisfaction in the numerous body improvements. In comment, these important developments in body design and appointment, fully equal the more dramatic qualities of the more than 80-mile-an-hour performance.

They definitely set Hudson apart from like-priced cars, just as Hudson performance stands alone among all cars.

How Swarthmore Class A Rating for Fire Insurance Saves the People of Swarthmore Thousands of Dollars Each Year

By DR. JOHN BYERS ROXBY Chairman of the Membership Committee of the Fire and Protective Association

When a newcomer buys a home in Swarthmore one of the first things he does is to secure fire insurance or have his insurance on his previous home transferred.

In the process of doing this he learns that Swarthmore is listed in Class A by the National Underwriters' Association and that consequently he is entitled to the very lowest possible rate of insurance.

Perhaps for a moment he wonders how it happened that Swarthmore has this rating and then he is likely to forget the matter entirely until there is a fire in his own home or next door and he learns from observation that Swarthmore's Class A rating is due to the splendid equipment and the superior efficiency of the Swarthmore Fire and Protective Association.

Not long ago the Borough of Swarthmore received a letter from the National Underwriters' association, whose representatives drop in unexpectedly at any moment to inspect the company's equipment, stating that Swarthmore was the only borough in Delaware county, Chester county, Bucks county, and Montgomery county with one exception, to have a Class A rating.

This Class A rating is given the borough because we have the necessary amount of apparatus for a community of this size and because the inspectors of the Underwriters' association can stop at the fire company in Borough hall and find the equipment ready to meet all specifications at all

In order to keep this rating Borough council has just purchased a new 1000-gallon pumper and hose truck to replace an old piece purchased 15 years ago which would no longer deliver the rated capacity.

But all of the apparatus in Borough hall was not purchased by council nor all of the equipment on the different trucks. The Fire and Protective association is the best organized and the best financed organization in Swarthmore. The association not only has purchased part of its equipment but takes care of its members in times of need.

The association is luade up of two groups of members: active firemen, who pay $2.00 a year membership dues and ride the trucks to the fires; and active members, who pay annual dues of $5.00. The company has no salaried employees. Every man who drives a truck or goes to a fire is a volunteer.

Now the association is planning ways and means of securing additional active memberships. There are today 288 active members and there should be at least 500. More money is needed to finish paying for a piece of apparatus purchased by the association.

I do not believe that the people of Swarthmore have decided they cannot afford $5 a year dues in the association. The Underwriters' association estimates that the people of in four acts by Henry Arthur Jones, Swarthmore save $25,000 a year by keeping this borough in kept the audience in a continual state the Class A rating. Swarthmore has just fifty times as much of merriment and every detail of the protection for each home in the borough as the homes of performance bespoke loudly the work Philadelphia have.

I believe that the people of Swarthmore are unacquainted with the Fire and Protective association and have not joined because they do not know their membership is desired.

Consequently I am writing this article and I believe it will be interesting to add at this time the exact apparatus which makes up the Swarthmore fire fighting equipment.

First, there is the latest piece, a 1000-gallon pump and hearts of the audience as well as into hose truck combined, capable of pumping 1000 gallons of the affections of the young men on the water a minute. This truck carries approximately twelve stage. hundred feet of hose. It is powerful enough to pump four streams of water through 21/2-inch hose line. It was placed in commission in January and cost the borough $12,500, less the price, nearly $2000, which was paid by the highest bidder for the old pumper.

The old pumper was a 750-gallon pump in service in the borough nearly fifteen years. The replacement was a necessity because the old piece would no longer deliver the rated capacity. The fire underwriters require apparatus that will be efficient and in order to maintain the Class A insurance rate the new pumper was ordered.

The second piece of apparatus purchased by council is a ladder truck known as a city service truck, carrying ladders in assorted sizes up to 50 feet. Also this machine carries all sorts of impliments for fire fighting including an oxygen helmet for use in reaching persons trapped in a smoke filled building. A chemical tank of 35 gallon capacity with chemical hose is mounted on this truck.

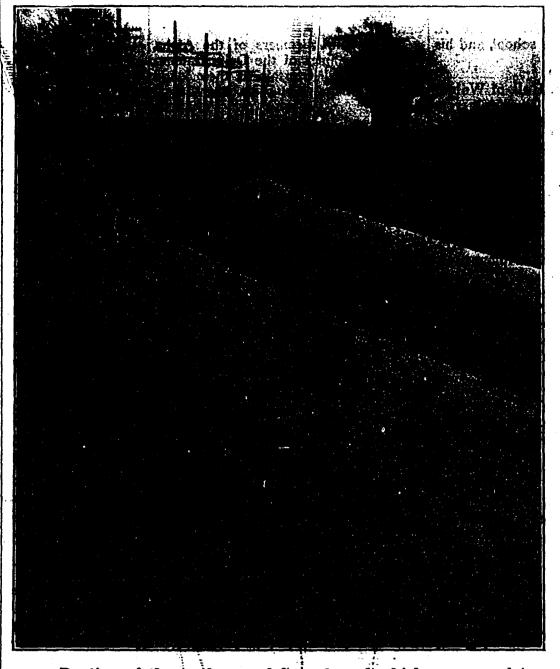

This ladder truck has been in the borough service nearly eleven years and originally cost $6,000.

The third purchase was a fire truck known as a triple combination. It mounts a 600-gallon a minute pump, a chemical tank of 35-gallon capacity and a hose body with 1000 feet of 21/2-inch hose. The price was $9,800. This piece was bought in 1923.

The three foregoing trucks were all purchased by council and are therefore borough property. The fourth piece of apparatus is what is known as a chemical truck. On this chasis is mounted a 550-gallon a minute pump which may be used, after the chemical is exhausted, as a reserve pump or in an extra long fire hose line it may be used as a booster, to aid another pump.

There are on this truck four chemical tanks, two of them of 35-gallon capacity each and two of 40 gallons each. These (Continued on Page Eight)

What of Borough Hall?

Architect Has Made Survey of Old Building and recommends that it be Renovated at Cost of about $70,000.

AN INTERVIEW WITH DONALD FOLSOM, PHILADELPHIA ARCHITECT

Regardless of the number of persons who find the appearance of Borough Hall not to their liking, no one has given the subject more thought and careful consideration than the men who gather at stated intervals to sit around the coun-

Council has realized the inadequacies of the present borough hall for some time, but the utilization of all available funds for other improvements has made it impossible to take up this project until the present time.

Now, architects have been authorized to make recommendations of how the present building can be enlarged, remodeled and completely renovated at a moderate cost.

A study of the building has been made by the firm of Folsom, Stanton and Graham, of Philadelphia, who designed the Woman's Club house of this borough. This firm has also done some work on the borough hall before. They have laid out a plan of alteration and enlargement of the present building which in view of the interest in the subject I shall describe briefly.

It is recommended that the exterior of the building be changed to an English type of architecture, the exterior. to consist of plaster, half timber and stone. The English atmosphere will not be difficult to create because of the construction of the building as it is at present.

The main alterations as proposed by the architects would consist of two new wings. One would be at the front facing Dartmouth avenue where the west entrance and porch is now located, and the other would replace the present wooden garage in the rear of the building.

The front wing where the Dartmouth avenue entrance is now located would be two stories in height. On the ground floor, on a level with the room now housing the fire apparatus, would be the police headquarters. There would be a roll room, toilet room with showers and bath, two cells, and a garage for the police car.

Directly over this room, and entered by a door on Park avenue, would be the room for the public library. This room would have a high ceiling with open timbers adding dignity and English atmosphere; there would be a balcony running around three sides of the room so that the stacks of books could run all the way to the ceiling, the floor would be devoted to tables and chairs and there would be a delightful bay-window facing Dartmouth avenue. The library would communicate with the main corridor of the building as well as with Park avenue.

The new rear wing would contain a fire proof municipal garage on the lower floor to house the borough's trucks and a complete living apartment consisting of living room, kitchen, bed room and bath for the caretaker of the building on the second floor.

The other most important change in the exterior of the building would be on Park avenue, just east of the main entrance. At the present time there is a narrow stairs down to a room formerly occupied by the police department. The plans prepared by the architects show a stone court running from the street down to the level of the basement room thereby eliminating the need for the narrow steps now existing. The entire front of this room would be a small retail store or office of some kind.

Other alterations on the ground floor would include new doors to the part of the building housing the fire apparatus and the rebuilding of the porch of the Park avenue entrance. The alterations on the first floor would consist of creating first of all a council chamber which the people of Swarthmore should not be ashamed of. The plans call for the placing of this room at the end of the present main corridor which now consists of rooms occupied by the fire department. A new room for the fire company would be built on the west side of the corridor directly over the room housing the apparatus on the ground floor. This new room for the fire company would overlook Dartmouth avenue and would be connected by a stairway with the appa-

To return to the council chamber, this room would be large enough for a large table at the end nearest Lafayette avenue with a slightly raised platform for the desk of president of council and another desk for the secretary.

The table for the members of council would be separated from the rest of the room by a wooden railing and the balance of the room would serve as an auditorium for visitors. About 40 seats could be placed in the room.

The present room occupied as a council chamber would be turned into the borough offices. Here the secretary would have his desk, along with any other borough employees such as the borough engineer, etc.

The front room of the building now occupied by the police department would be available as an office, or could be taken over by the borough if needed in the future.

The entire building would be renovated and put in first class condition as indicated by the plans of the architects. A new roof of slate or fire proof material would be added, the entire building would be painted outside and in, new floors would be laid where necessary, replastering would be done, new toilets would be installed and the building put in excellent condition.

It has been estimated that the total cost of remodeling the existing building along the lines just described, as well as adding the two wings and making all necessary improve-

YOUNG AMERICA CLIMBS THE MATTERHORN

February 22, 1929

This summer I had the good luck of being counted in on a party of six Swarthmore men, who made a rapid and inexpensive tour through Europe. Although we were only abroad thirtysix days, we were able to see something of Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, France, and England, and as we were all young college lads, our experiences were many and varied.

While in Switzerland three of our group, namely, Ned Lippincott, Howard Wood, and I, climbed the Matterhorn, and we have since concluded that that adventure stands as the greatest experience of our lives. I love to repeat the story, for as the thrilling scenes of our hardships flash through my mind's eye. I feel myself living all of it over again, but this time without the slightest feeling of discomfort.

We lunched at the great peak standing in a proud blaze of Lac Noir Hotel and form here the glory high above all the earth. guides pointed out a tiny brown cabin about one-quarter of the way from the base, which was our goal for the night. As the afternoon wore on we got up above the vegetation line. When we reached the hut, crowded with mountain climbers of all nationalities, and enjoyed food and rest after the hardships of the day, we fairly retime there was a drop of several thousand feet below. veled in the glory of no longer being eyed as American tourists. I hate above all else to be branded as a spendthrift tourists and here on the Matterhorn we had at last found the place where we ourselves were just as tired and dirty and ate just as greedily as the most hardy mountaineer. We were truly "next to the life."

The sleeping quarters consisted of mattresses placed in rows along the floor of the loft, and although the beds were hard, and we had only three old blankets hetween us. for my tired bones it was as sweet and restful as any feather bed back at home.

About 12:30 we began the climb by the light of a lantern. Howard and I were reped to one guide and Ned to the other. I had always heard of Alpine climbers being tied together with ropes, but considered it more of a thing to do rather than a real mecessity. From that moment on, however, I found the rope to be a veritable staff of life and wished for many more. Up to this point our guides had been entirely subordinate to us. but from this time on until the danger was passed. their comamnds were abrupt and harsh. and we didn't waste a moment in trying to carry out every order they gave.

Our first touch of real climbing came soon after we left the hut. The guide. who was leading the whole party, went out on a narrow ledge and told us to follow. On our left was the steep wall of the mountain with no places for hand holds, and to our right was a black chasm whose actual depth we at least didn't care to investigate. We finally made it all right, but as it was a first really dangerous move we felt a peculiar quivering sensation in our knees for some time afterward.

.It was a good bit below freezing, and our hands began to ache from having to clutch hold of the icy rocks on almost every move we made. At above 2:30, however, the first signs of dawn

YOUNG AMERICA CLIMBS

This summer I had the good luck of being counted in on a party of six Swarthmore men, who made a rapid and inexpensive tour through Europe. Although we were only abroad thirtysix days, we were able to see something of Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, France, and England, and as we were all young college lads, our experiences were many and varied. While in Switzerland three of our group, namely, Ned Lippincott, Howard Wood, and I, climbed the Matterhorn, and we have since concluded that that adventure stands as the greatest experience of our lives. I love to repeat the story, for as the thrilling scenes of our hardships flash through my mind's eye. I feel myself living all of it over again, but this time without the slightest feeling of discomfort.

The sleeping quarters consisted of mattresses placed in rows along the floor of the loft, and although the beds were hard, and we had only three old blankets between us, for my tired bones it was as sweet and restful as any feather bed back at home. About 12:30 we began the climb by the light of a lantern. Howard and I were roped to one guide and Ned to the other. I had always heard of Alpine climbers being tied together with ropes, but considered it more of a thing to do rather than a real mecessity. From that moment on, however, I found the rope to be a veritable staff of life and wished for many more.

Our first touch of real climbing came soon after we left the hut. The guide, who was leading the whole party, went out on a narrow ledge and told us to iollow. On our left was the steep wall of the mountain with no places for itand holds, and to our right was a black chasm whose actual depth we at least didn't care to investigate. We finally made it all right, but as it was a first really dangerous move we felt a peculiar quivering sensation in our knees for some time afterward. It was a good bit below freezing, and
