SALVAGE DRIVE HERE NEXT WEEK

Collectors Look For Goodly Group of Sorely Needed Metals, Rubber at Curb of Each Home

Letters of instruction for a local Salvage Campaign next week have been circulated by Burgess John H. Pitman chairman of the Swarthmore Council of Defense.

Former Councilman T. E. Hessenbruch is chairman of the salvage drive which has been organized at the request of the Conservation Division of the State Council of Defense.

The collection of waste material will include cast iron, steel, brass, copper, aluminum and alloys, also rubber. At this particular time tin cans, paper, rags and grease will NOT be collected.

Each senior warden is requested to instruct his wardens in the method of collecting the articles which are to be placed by householders along their individual curbs next Monday and Tuesday nights. The clean-up night south of the railroad will be Monday and north of the railroad, Tuesday. In both cases the salvage material should be at the curb of each home by 6.30 P. M. It will be called for by truck sometime between that time and dark.

Every warden is asked to visit each householder in his district and seek his cooperation in scouring his home for any possible salvage and placing it along the curb in proper time for collection. Wardens are also asked to actively cooperate at the designated collection hours in seeing that the material is placed near the curb and that unsought material is not deposited with the articles needed at present. Truck crews will assist in loading heavy pieces such as radiators, furnace parts. It would help if wardens notified Mr. Hessenbruch of the Defense Council of the location of such pieces.

Frequent clean-up drives are deemed inefficient. Local authorities feel confident that a considerable amount of material can be collected if each resident makes a concentrated effort to do his share in the drive.

Elect Two Teachers

At its recent meeting the Swarthmore School Board elected two teachers to serve as substitutes for the men who have been called into the Naval service. Under the School Law, regular teachers have been granted military leaves for the duration of the war, and new teachers, therefore, act as substitutes in their places until their return to teaching duty.

Robert M. Sauter of Spring City has been elected to teach the classes in industrial arts shop. Mr. Sauter is a graduate of West Chester High School and Millersville State Teachers College and has his Master of Education degree from Temple University. At Millersville he specialized in industrial arts teaching program and at Temple in guidance and education. Since his graduation in 1936 he has taught at the Spring City Junior-Senior High School, having charge of the work in industrial arts shop. One of his hobby interests is music and for several years he has played in the West Chester Symphony Orchestra, playing violin. He is taking over the work of Benjamin Cook.

To take over the work of J. A. Christian who has been commissioned in the Navy, Annie Ross Jenny (Mrs. John H. Jenny) has been selected to teach high school mathematics. Mrs. Jenny is a graduate of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute from which she has her Bachelor's and Master's degrees and has also had graduate study in administration and government at New York University. For six years she was teacher of mathematics and guidance at the Burlington, N. J. High School and for three years guidance director at the Regional High School at Springfield, N. J.

Local Swimming Events

Need Storage Case

The Red Cross Auxiliary Group is looking for a book case or cabinet in which to store supplies. The preferred size would be about 3 feet in width, and 4 feet in height; but a lower one could be used for storing sterile supplies, toys, games, etc. for the use of children. Anyone who would like to give away anything of this description is asked to call Margaret Allan — Swarthmore 0362 — between 8:30 and 4:30.

QUILTS AWAIT WOOL LININGS

Old Blankets, Other Salvage Solicited for Legion Women's Patriotic Summer Effort

The salvage and quilt-making campaign of the American Legion Auxiliary will continue until the third Monday of September when the Auxiliary's first regular fall meeting will be held. The group earnestly solicits the assistance of local women in its summer patriotic work. In the alternate Tuesday and Wednesday sewing each week at the home of Mrs. Oscar J. Gilcreest, 318 Harvard avenue, several quilts have been finished for contribution to worthy local appeals in the near future. Two are completed except linings which cannot be made until some helpful souls donate sufficient old wool blankets or pieces of woolen material.

Such woolen goods, packs of playing cards, small sized magazines like Readers Digest and rummage of all kinds if left in the vestibule of Mrs. Gilcreest's home will find their way into patriotic service of some kind. The Philadelphia Naval Hospital especially welcomes the magazines and cards as well as games, puzzles, stationery and pencils.

In a second conference with the local USO representative the Auxiliary's Americanism chairman received a message of thanks from the soldiers stationed in this area for the magazines and cards recently sent them from Swarthmore folk. The service men snapped these gifts up so readily there were not nearly enough to go around. They remarked the attractive appearance and fine condition of the cards presented them.

FALL GARDEN CONTEST

A Community Garden Contest will be held as usual this year and will be open to all gardeners in Swarthmore. The contest is sponsored by the Woman's Club and entries may be listed any time by contacting Mrs. Albert Shenkle, 350 Vassar avenue, telephone Swarthmore 3081-J.

Gardens will be judged around September 14 and prizes will be awarded. Judging will be on the following points: design (layout of entire property), maintenance (neatness of beds, borders, etc.), lawn (general condition), plants (suitability and contribution to enjoyment of those who use the garden, and effective arrangement).

Red Cross Wants List of Cots, Blankets

The shelter committee of the Red Cross Disaster Committee is anxious to make a survey locating all local cots and blankets which would be available in case of emergency. Those having such items to contribute for use if needed are asked to call Mrs. Edward M. Bassett, telephone Swarthmore 1010.

Mr. Richard H. Willis of Park avenue is leaving today on a month's business trip to Detroit and Chicago.

COUNTY DRIVES HARD FOR BOND AND STAMP SALES

This county is still going over the top in the sale of War Saving Bonds and Stamps. An analysis of the returns for the last few months in regard to Delaware County's quota shows that 25% comes from the sale of "F" and "G" Bonds, 25% from individuals who buy directly from the post offices or banks, and 50% comes from industries where there is a Pay Roll Savings Plan in effect. Industry continues to show new interest.

Industry has put its shoulder to the wheel with 50 out of 135 major business and industrial organizations signing 90% or better of their employees to systematic buying of War Bonds. Twenty-four of these have 100% of their employees signed up for purchase of Bonds or Stamps each pay day. Ten of these are investing 10% of their pay envelopes each pay day to further the cause. The committee considers special mention should be made of the fact that the Sun Shipbuilding Company is proud of the record that 97% of its 23,000 employees are on a 10% payroll deduction basis.

Minute Men Flags continue to make their appearance in all corners of Delaware County, signifying the desire of everyone to participate behind the line.

School District Costs Jump $16,000 in Year

Analysis of Village Expenditures for Public Education Reveals 8% Increase

The annual financial report of the School District of Swarthmore for the year ending July 1942 has been completed for reporting to the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg by the secretary of the board, Hilda Lang Denworth. This report summarizes the complete financial condition of the School District for the fiscal year 1941-42.

Mrs. Denworth's report shows that the total expenditures by the School District for the year just closed amounted to $207,391.58, of which $168,980.47 was for current expenses involved in the operation of the schools, $24,884.14 for debt service, and $13,526.97 for capital outlay. The total was $16,041.86 greater than last year.

The current expense costs include six items: A. General Control $6,069.59; B. Instruction $128,044.80; C. Auxiliary Agencies and Coordinate Activities $3,685.33; D. Operation of School Plant $19,157.12; E. Maintenance of School Plant $4,718.40; F. Fixed Charges $7,305.23.

Considered from the percentage point of view it is noted that the school dollar was spent in the following proportions during the past year: For General Control 3c; Instruction 61.7c; Auxiliary Agencies 1.8c; Operation of School Plant 9.2c; Maintenance of School Plant 2.3c; Fixed Charges 3.5c; or a total of 81.5c for current expenses. In addition to this 11.9c was spent for Debt Service, and for Capital Outlay 6.6c.

The unusually large proportion of funds derived from sources other than local taxes is strikingly illustrated in an examination of the sources from which school income is derived. Speaking again in terms of the dollar, the largest source of income was from local taxes, although this source provided only 58.4c of the entire school dollar, of which 55.7c was from property taxes and 2.7c from per capita taxes. In addition 5.8c were derived from delinquent taxes assessed in previous years. The next largest source of income was the State appropriation which amounted to 14.5c, and non-resident tuition provided 12.9c, sale of real estate 3.1c, balance on hand from previous years 4.5c, and other sources .8c.

The levied tax rate was 23 mills on the dollar for school purposes, plus $3 per capita tax assessed on 2370 adults. This tax, with penalties, totalled an amount of $133,572.96, of which 95% was collected. Of the uncollected portion $5,395.04 was returned to the County Treasurer for collection, $778.05 were exonerated per capita taxes and penalties. $699.30 in uncollected per capita taxes were not exonerated because it was legally impossible to do so, and therefore this sum had to be paid to the School District by the Tax Collector out of her private funds.

The total assessed value of the real estate of the School District on which the tax was levied amounted to $5,465,075.

The excellent financial condition of the School District is shown by the large margin of assets over liabilities. The assets of the District are: Buildings and sites $737,431.89; textbooks and equipment $67,020.85; unpaid property taxes $22,062.68 which is $5,000.00 less than a year ago; tuition receivable $1,876.01; general fund balance $8,872.78. Total assets $837,265.21, an increase of approximately $55,000.00 over a year ago, due in part to the increased values resulting from new appraisals.

Against these assets there are liabilities of only $239,019.53, distributed as follows: bonded indebtedness $239,000.00 and accounts payable $19.53.

A ten-year study reveals that the net assets today are $598,152.68 as against $376,402.88 ten years ago, or an average annual gain during the decade from 1932 to 1942 amounting to $22,174.98. This figure shows excellent property management on the part of the Board during the depression years, due to careful maintenance and wise extension of school plant.

The complete report shows a number of other items of which the most interesting relates to insurance. There is carried on the school property, valued as indicated above, a total of $676,832.78 of fire insurance.

Mrs. Leslie Clarke of Wallingford has been entertaining her mother Mrs. N. O. Newcomb of Cleveland, Ohio for the past month. Mrs. Newcomb will leave for her home next week.

SERVICES WED. FOR V. S. POWNALL

Former Postmaster and Originator of Local Taxi Passes as 72 Birthday Nears

Vincent S. Pownall passed away last Sunday, August 2, at his home on North Sprout road. He had not been in good health since October 1941 when he resigned as a director of the Swarthmore National Bank and Trust Company due to serious illness.

Born in Christiana, Pa. on August 12, 1870 the son of Joseph D. C. and Mary Stables Pownall he graduated from Ohio Northern University with a C.E. degree and went with the Pennsylvania Railroad Engineering Corps. Later he took over his father's business in Christiana and in 1896 he opened the Pownall Wholesale and Retail Hardware business in Coatesville.

On February 16, 1898 he married Bertha J. Walton daughter of William and Elizabeth P. Walton of Highland Township, Chester county.

In 1908 he sold his Coatesville business and moved to Swarthmore. After a needed rest his great energy and pleasure in meeting and helping people brought him back to a business life. Starting with the purchase of the old Swarthmore Service Company whose business included hauling, moving, plowing gardens and the like, he also ran two horse-drawn hacks with James (Jimmy) Devine as head driver. Later he sold the horses and equipment and turned the old barn into a garage, introducing the first station wagon taxi to this borough under Jimmy's care. He served on Borough Council.

Mr. Pownall enjoyed building and built several houses. He ended his public career as postmaster, retiring shortly after the close of the Hoover administration, having served through the Harding and Coolidge terms in the White House. He then moved to North Sprout road just outside Swarthmore, in Springfield township where he had built a new home and greatly enjoyed his lawn and garden.

Besides his widow two daughters Ruth (wife of Charles Russell of Ogden avenue) and Mary (wife of James Tierney of North Sprout road) survive. Interment in the Friends' Burial Ground at Ersildon, Pa., followed services at the Friends' Meeting House there on Wednesday afternoon.

CALL FOR GARDEN PRODUCTS AND CANNERS

Plans to make this year's local civilian canning project an even greater success than last year are underway. Anyone having excess fruit or vegetables is urged to telephone Mrs. J. V. S. Bishop, Swarthmore 0627-J, in order that they may be preserved for use next winter. Women who can give a bit of their time to the actual canning process are also sought.

In the 1941 canning project in the Woman's Club House nearly 2000 jars of fruits and vegetables, and glasses of jelly resulted from the contribution of materials which in many cases would just have rotted on the ground and been wasted. Some of these were sold with the resulting $168 going to Red Cross and other local aid, while the remaining canned goods was distributed to needy in this section through relief agencies.

Borough Scouts at Camp

Richard O'Kane, Robert Hulme, and Steven Spencer with Scout Leader James Fitzsimmons have returned to their Swarthmore homes after spending last week at the Boy Scout camp, Camp Delmont. WE DIDN'T SAY IT, but Ralph Page in his daily column in the Philadelphia Inquirer said "Cooperatives' system of buying and selling may offer the solution of the economic problem." In the same provocative article he said "The question is why don't we all look into this (Cooperative Movement) and get busy? Here is a way for people to save themselves from either monopolists or the bureaucrats, the squeezers or the planners, whichever terrifies them the most."

Presbyterian Church Notes

Supplying the local Presbyterian pulpits this Sunday as guest preacher at the 11 o'clock morning worship service will be the Rev. Ray Freeman Jenney, D. D., LL.D. A graduate of Springfield College and Union Theological Seminary, Dr. Jenney served in the first World War as a chaplain and was wounded three times. He was for six years director of the Christian Association at the University of Pennsylvania, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Knoxville, Ill. and is now pastor of the Park Central Presbyterian Church, Syracuse, N. Y. He received the degree of D. D. from Knox College, and his LL.D. from James Milliken University. He has published a book of sermons titled "Speaking Boldly" and has contributed numerous articles, essays, and sermons to religious periodicals. In 1941 he was Vice-Moderator of the 152nd General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. He is widely known for his courageous support of many progressive social movements and has served as labor conciliator for the Carrier Corp. in Syracuse.

During August while he is away on vacation, if the minister is needed or in case of emergency persons are asked to call Elder H. Lindley Peel, 107 Columbia avenue, telephone Swarthmore 1729; Elder George M. Ewing, 112 Columbia avenue, Swarthmore 0509; or the church office, Swarthmore 0672.

The surgical dressing group will meet each Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the beginner's room of the Parish House. All women of the community are urged to join this group.

This church has charge of the flowers for the Philadelphia General Hospital from August 1 to August 31. Mrs. H. G. Griffin is in charge of this work. Anyone who can supply flowers, half pint jars, or an automobile to deliver the flowers, is asked to call Mrs. Griffin, Swarthmore 3072. Flowers should be delivered Thursday evening or Friday morning of each week. The committee has asked for children to volunteer to make bouquets every Friday morning.

ONE TOUCH OF NATURE

Grown-ups almost invariably lose the art of lying in the grass. They regard the world from either the sitting or standing position, when their range of vision automatically includes objects in the horizontal range. It is awkward for them to tilt their heads backward for a good look at the sky, whereas the details of Earth itself have been relegated wholly to foot-duty.

Consider the lost advantages of childhood in this regard. A child, lying with its tummy against some hidden tree-trunk patch, knows all there is to experience about growing plants—their smells, textures, etc., as well as their suitability for cover during a game of hide and seek. The horizon, moreover, is perfect for concentrated mental peace: it is totally uniform in its content. Beyond these weed stalks are more weed stalks, and beyond those lie still others of the same. Why, then, seek another place to hide or play? Mounted on adult legs, this tot's head would be troubled with visions of a protean jumble that stretched without order to an illogically irregular horizon. Small wonder that grown-ups worry about incongruities that may exist beyond their immediate scope.

Lying on its back the child sees heaven as simply as the mere looking at an object. In later years we may rant interminably of heaven this and heaven that—but no one gets very far in the argument, for heaven was lost long ago, along with pigtails and bare feet. No one remembers that heaven has never sanctioned imprisonment on a printed page,—that although heaven is all around us, it always jumps out of books when you close them, moreover, is perfect for heaven's face directly, when it is spotless like a clean sheet of writing paper about to be chronicled, or already paraphrased in various cloudy characterizations of the day's history.

I remember a patch of very fine shade-lawn grass under a small black locust tree on my great-uncle's farm. This grew at the crest of a hill and was always kept meticulously mowed. Lying under the tree I could see only three things—the smooth grass, the small tree and the sky. My whole existence then seemed as simple as the simplified illustrations in a child's picture book. How often, since, I have seen some meadow that invited me back into the same relaxed experience! But now there is always some disturbing element in the environment. The ground is harder and more uneven than it used to be. The grass these days has a lot of sharp sticks in it. The sun has acquired a hostile glare, and all the trees drop sticky sap or cloth-staining fluids on the one reclining below.

But worst of all, my head has grown near the size of a mountain. No matter how deep it sinks in the grassy pillow, I can ever see distant events looming toward the feeble green brook.

C. BROOKS WORTH.

Who needs safe deposit protection?

Men or women who have personal papers with either actual or sentimental value, can hardly afford to be without a safe deposit box. Valuables kept at home are often misplaced. Sometimes they are destroyed by fire. And occasionally they are stolen. Some things can never be replaced; others can be, but only at the expense of much inconvenience. More About Scrap

The country will soon be asked by Donald Nelson to assist in a universal drive for scrap iron—all metals such as copper, brass, lead and zinc and also grease to secure glycerine therefrom. The main article that is desired is scrap just now. All the nearby mills must have a stock pile by the 1st of December of 50,000 to 60,000 each. The country must secure for the steel mills of the nation 5,000,000 tons per month to keep going. When the drive starts with over $1,000,000 subscribed privately for advertising, the public must respond. Those unformed will say—why was so much scrap shipped to Japan, but how many know how much and when it was shipped. All who will help will be asked to contribute as I have many, many times since I have been asked to advise the War Production Board of this district on salvage items. So much idle oratory and misinformation has been rampant late throughout the country in the past several months as to the mythical tonnage of American iron and steel scrap sold to Japan in recent years, that the facts may prove interesting.

In the 11-year period from 1929 to 1940 inclusive, 10,000,000 tons was shipped to Japan—only enough to keep our furnaces going two months at present capacity going 100% as against 65% in 1937. During that 11-year period one and one-half million tons was shipped to Canada; nearly three million to Italy; nearly four million tons to Great Britain. The grand total of export of scrap for that time only amounted to less than twenty million tons. The following countries getting the remainder of that not above noted: Belgium, China, Germany, Mexico, Sweden and Poland—the latter getting the largest tonnage. The total tonnage exported was just enough to supply us now for four months, and it is unfortunate to be magnified so greatly after what has happened. At least 50% of this material if saved in this country, over this period—until now would have rusted away and as it was of a poor grade, that our mills would not buy at that time; it was shipped from the interior of the country. The freight rates to the ports prohibited that. From 1931 to 1936 appeals were made to the steel mills to use their surplus cash to keep this tonnage in the interior of the country. The Government was considering subsidizing certain interests to bolster the market up to production costs to keep the stock here for a stock pile, but the rollings of 1936 invited the United States Mills to pay production prices and exporting naturally stopped.

Japan's shipments were trifling until 1934; whether we should have put a ban on them or not, I am not the judge, but I later to see the public so misinformed about this one natural shortage. The real shortage of scrap started over twenty years ago when the rollings of the steel mills changed with the public demand, slowly. Before that time, steel output was in heavy material and scrap rusted away and could be reclaimed. At that time and since then rollings and output were of thin sheets up to 35% per year. This stock went into "tin cans," drums, boxes for radios, refrigerators and washing machines, furniture, auto bodies, bottle tops, etc. Most of this tonnage, if discarded has rusted away.

The Frigidaria Co. had to rent a large farm to dump their trade-ins and they dumped some twenty or thirty thousand there. One plant making bottle tops used 30,000 tons per year. This is all wasted, as well as many other small items made of steel. The only item that has been salvaged consistently, made of light sheet in quantity, has been the auto body and that had to wait until large hydraulic presses, costing from $25,000 to $45,000 each, to install were made and the steel mills, reluctant to use the compact heats, excluded from these machines.

Therefore, we must try to overcome that waste by carefully gathering up any items of iron or steel that can be spared for use now. At that time and since then, the relative small amount that was exported over the 11 years, to countries, both friends and foes. The whole total to both shipped amounted to about 5% used in this country over that period. There was then plenty for all our demands here, as well as a surplus. Very truly yours, J. V. S. BISHOP, 2218 N. Junett St., Tacoma, Washington, July 31, 1942.

An Ensign's Appreciation 2218 N. Junett St., Tacoma, Washington, July 31, 1942. Editor, The Swarthmorean, Swarthmore, Pa. Dear Mr. Toland: I received the July 10 issue of The Swarthmorean today and was glad to be able to see a home town paper. As I am to be in Tacoma for several months of duty I'll be able to receive mail direct at the above address and get better mail service until I put out to sea.

So I'll be very obliged if you use this address until further notice. I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to the Swarthmore Business Men's Association and you for the issuance of this service to me. Very truly yours, ENSIGN PAUL K. PAULSON, JR.

THROW YOUR SCRAP

At its meeting last week the School Board received a request for a sabbatical leave of absence from Mrs. Horace Husnicker, teacher of first grade in the Rutgers Avenue School. Mrs. Husnicker has taught in the Swarthmore Schools continuously for a period of seventeen years, and under the Pennsylvania law she is entitled to a sabbatical leave of absence, which she plans to use in study at the University of Connecticut. Mrs. Husnicker and her husband have recently moved to Mansfield Barracks, Connecticut, where he is on the staff of the Mansfield State Training School. The Board granted her request, which is effective for the school year 1942-43.

SALVAGE DRIVE NETS 25,000 LBS.

Scrap Collection Yields Badly Needed Iron, Steel, Brass, Lead, Rubber, Aluminum

25,000 pounds of scrap netted by the first two days of the salvage drive was piled by midnight Tuesday on the borough's local salvage depot, according to Salvage Chairman T. E. Hessenbruch's preliminary figure. Additional cars were pouring in at the Defense Council Office Wednesday so that the report will be increased by next week's accounting.

A unique sight in this neatly kept village were the curb heaps of old faithfuls discarded by local households with patriotic intent. Two borough trucks with crews worked from 6:30 to 11 P. M. Monday night south of the railroad and Tuesday on the north side loading the miscellany of iron beds, water boilers, washing machines, radiators, floor lamps, lighting fixtures, lawn mowers, pipe, pots, pans, and any number of small articles, all of which will swell this country's fighting power. Seven capacity truck loads were gathered Monday evening, six on Tuesday, two additional loads were picked up Wednesday.

The first miscellaneous salvage collection for war purposes in this borough this year's canning project by a quiet efficiency, a general cooperation on the part of Swarthmoreans who had their donations well sorted and promptly piled at 204-J immediately and a gratifying yield for this non-industrial town.

Salvage Chairman Hessenbruch and his committee wish to thank the people of Swarthmore for their splendid cooperation, and the Air Wardens for the time-consuming personal calls on the residents of their districts which produced such a good start on Swarthmore's drive for scrap iron, steel, brass, copper, aluminum, lead, and rubber.

It is hoped that any persons who were away and any others who have brought to light more of the acutely needed scrap will contact Chairman Hessenbruch (Swarthmore 044-J) immediately so that this borough's final total may add the war to a real extent.

Two Letters From Bataan Arrive After 5 Months Travel

Mrs. Katharine J. Pierce reference librarian at the college received two letters Wednesday morning from her son Captain Henry J. Pierce who was stationed on Bataan with the 45th Infantry. The letters are dated March 1 and 6, the latter evidently written in haste since there was no signature of Swarthmorean (044-J) immediately since April 1 although she was informed in May by the United States Government that he is listed as "missing in action."

In a paragraph of the letter dated March 1, the writer says that he had been in the middle of the Japanese line. We found him 7 days later.

A paragraph of the letter dated March 6, says that he was in the middle of the Japanese line. We found him 7 days later.

Sgt. Laurence Manson Smith who last week was listed as a Corporal has in that short time stepped up in rank.

Leaves for Quantico

Captain A. J. Herr chief of the Swarthmore Borough Police has resigned that position. He left Monday for Quantico, Va., commissioned a first lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Thatcher of Ogdenville accompanied by their son Albert and daughter Edith spent the week-end at their cabin on Eastern Shore, Maryland.

Mrs. Geoffrey Dolman of Ardmore spent last week-end in Charlotte, N. C. with her husband Lieutenant Dolman who is on maneuvers in North Carolina at the present time.

IS IT POSSIBLE that we are fighting another war for a way of life that we really do not want? We are fighting for what we like to call "the democratic way of living"—Americans sing that our way of life is "of the people, for the people, and by the people"—This is the simple meaning of the democratic way of life.

Regardless of anything else that might be said about it THE COOPERATIVE MOVEMENT is simply the extension of this democratic way—into the field of business.

When Americans understand this clearly they support Co-ops, because they realize that the Cooperative Movement is an essential part of the fight to preserve and extend the democratic way of life.

DR. JOHN MAXWELL ADAMS

Presbyterian Board man, resident of Wallingford, to be heard at Swarthmore Church the next two Sundays.

Presbyterian Church Notes

Dr. John Maxwell Adams of Wallingford will address the local Presbyterian congregation Sunday mornings, August 16 and 23, at 11 o'clock.

Dr. Adams' work as director of university work for the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, involves the supervision of the services of 77 university pastors maintained at 53 state schools, the study of individual problems of local universities, and cooperation with educational administrators. He is the contact officer between the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education and voluntary religious organizations on the campuses of 53 Presbyterian colleges. It is also his responsibility to enlist the interest of pastors, faculty and other laymen in the opportunities for church work among students.

Born in Greensburg, Indiana, he attended Wabash College and McCormick Theological Seminary now the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of Chicago. He did post-war graduate work at the University of Edinburgh. In November, 1940, Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y., conferred upon him the Doctorate of Divinity.

Before he became director of Presbyterian university work his work had been of an educational nature. He was a teacher on the faculty of the Women's Christian College and Meiji Gakuin, in Tokio, Japan, a university pastor at the University of Oregon and pastor of Northminster Presbyterian Church near the campus of Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

Dr. Adams is a member of the joint committee for the United Christian Youth Movement, and Chairman of the American Provisional Council of the World's Student Christian Federation.

During August while he is away on vacation, if the minister is needed or in case of emergency persons are asked to call Elder H. Lindley Peel, 107 Columbia avenue, telephone Swarthmore 1729; Elder George M. Ewing, 112 Columbia avenue, Swarthmore 0509; or the church office, Swarthmore 0672.

ONE TOUCH OF NATURE

Many people have asked me what to do when young birds fall out of their nests before they can fly. Or perhaps they do not simply fall out—too often they are thrown out by Starlings, while less frequently they may be blown out or flooded out by adverse conditions of weather.

My friend Geoffrey Gill editor for the Eastern Bird Banding Association has recently prepared a statement on this very subject. Its general mood reminds me of the profusion of First Aid "Don'ts" that has recently become so familiar to us. He says it is best not to interfere with these unfortunate fledglings except in the rare instance when an entire nest has not only been dislodged but may be safely replaced with its contents at the original site.

The young of our common garden birds—Robins, Chipping Sparrows, Thrashers and so forth—mature in an amazingly brief time. Incubation varies from about ten to sixteen days, depending on the species' size, and fledging requires only an approximately equal time after hatching. Thus a baby bird that is ejected from its nest at the age of nine days will be able to fly within a very short period. It is therefore better to depend on the parents' instincts for feeding and sheltering their homeless offspring than to bring our own imperfect techniques into play. Our interference, moreover, will usually cause the parents such anxiety that their cries notify every cat in the neighborhood that game is afoot, and these predators are not slow in responding to the advertisement.

"What's it good for?" "Guns, tanks, and maybe part of a plane"

In the attics and cellars of homes, in garages, tool sheds, and on farms, is a lot of Junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis.

Scrap iron and steel, for example. Old radiators, lengths of pipe, refrigerators, garbage pails, broken garden tools. . . It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel, with most impurities removed—and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

Even in peacetime our Nation relied on scrap to provide about 50% of the raw material for steel. Now production of steel has gone up, UP, UP, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined.

But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; the necessary tanks, guns, and ships cannot be produced.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead, and tin.

America needs your active assistance in rounding up these materials. The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Will you help? First—collect all your waste material and pile it up. Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee.

If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer. Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

JUNK MAKES FIGHTING WEAPONS

One old radiator will provide scrap steel needed for seventeen .30 calibre rifles.

One old lawn mower will help make six 3-inch shells.

One useless old tire will provide as much rubber as is used in 18 gas masks.

One old shovel will help make 4 hand grenades.

MATERIALS NEEDED Scrap iron and steel. Other metals of all kinds. Old rubber. Rags, Manila rope, burlap bags.

Waste Cooking Fats—Strain into a large tin can and when you get a pound or more, sell to your best dealer. NEEDED ONLY IN CERTAIN LOCALITIES: Waste paper and tin cans, as announced locally. NOT NEEDED at this time: Razor blades—glass.

Girl Scout News

Delaware County Girl Scouts in making their first annual report disclosed that $4205.50 was the net profit the County Girl Scouts realized this past year from the sale of Girl Scout cookies. This is the largest source of income to support the scout's character building program in 43 communities in Delaware County. $3000 was received from local contributions to the United Charities Campaign; $200 from the Chester Community Fund. 2665 girls, ages 7-18, have benefited from Girl Scouting this year in the county.

Two hundred ninety seven Brownies (7-10) in 17 troops help mothers knit, make hospital disposal bags, learn to care for their belongings, and develop hobbies.

Sixteen hundred and six Intermediates (10 to 15-year-olds) in 77 troops learn simple cookery, salvage waste, give first aid, serve neighborhood agencies, teach songs, stories, games to others.

One hundred sixty-two Girl Scouts Seniors (15-18) in 8 troops and 3 Marine Ships (Swarthmore, Drexel Hill, and Lansdowne) are on call for service such as child care, carrying messages, preparation of food indoors and outdoors, group recreation—jobs that free adults for other defense work.

Two hundred twenty-three trained Girl Scout leaders and assistant leaders, 559 Troop Committee members, 54 Council and Standing Committee members, make a total of 836 Registered Adult Leaders who administer the Girl Scout program in Delaware County.

116 Adult volunteers received Group Leadership Training in 4 courses of 10 1/2 hours each, a training required for all leaders.

98 leaders received 5 hours outdoor training.

102 Troop Committee members received training for their part as community sponsors.

Pathologist in Akron

Former Swarthmorean Dr. and Mrs. J. Howard Smith are moving from Portville, N. Y. to Stow, Ohio, a suburb of Akron where Dr. Smith is pathologist at the Peoples' Hospital.

The Smiths' daughter Emmy-Jo has been the guest for a week of Barbara Kent daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Kent of Riverview road and was entertained on the Kent's boat at Georgetown, Md.

Mrs. Smith who has visited friends here for the past week drove to Portville Monday morning with Emmy-Jo and her son Stephen who has been visiting one of his former chums Milton Hobbs of Park avenue for the past month. There she will see her household goods through the final stage of reclamation after being submerged in the recent flash floods in that vicinity and leave to join Dr. Smith in Akron on August 15.

Emmy-Jo who graduated from the Portville High School in June plans to enter junior college at Mars Hill, N. C. this fall and pursue the pre-nursing course which she hopes to complete at Western Reserve later.

Mrs. Herschel C. Smith and daughters Frances and Evelene of Wallingford are vacationing at Bay Head, N. J. for several weeks.

Group Wisely Saving Now Abundant Produce Toward Winter Need

Every Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock in the dining kitchen in the Swarthmore Woman's Club basement a small group of local volunteers meets to preserve currently ripe excess fruit and vegetables against the needs of the coming winter.

Jenny Replacement Arranged; Virginia Engle Will Teach Social Studies and English

The School Board has completed plans for carrying on the work of John H. Jenny local High School bandmaster and teacher who was recently commissioned a lieutenant in the Navy and is now stationed at Cornell University at the Communications School. It is planned to have the instrumental work carried by Richard Fish who began the band and who has been assisting with it in the four or five years of the musical organization's existence.

Beginning on Labor Day last year this same group preserved almost 2000 jars and glasses. This month the project has a month's head start. The material is at hand and women workers are needed to come out and help save it from being wasted.

The kitchen is always open on Wednesdays as well as on any other days when materials are offered. All necessary sugar is being supplied free of charge through the Philadelphia schools in consideration of the project's co-operation with them.

Members of the Civitan Defense and Canteen workers are given credit for hours spent at the cannery kitchen at the Woman's Club.

Any woman who can give time in short or long periods is needed at once and is asked to contact Mrs. J. V. S. Bishop, Swarthmore 06Z-1. Jelly glasses and Mason jars are urgently needed for the work.

Girl Scout News

Delaware County Girl Scouts in making their first annual report disclosed that $4205.90 was the net profit of the County Girl Scouts realized this past year from the sale of Girl Scout cookies. This is the largest source of income to support the scout's character building program in 43 communities in Delaware County. $3000 was received from local contributions to the United Charities Campaign; $200 from the Chester Community Fund. 2065 girls, ages 7-18, have benefited from Girl Scouting this year in the county.

Two hundred ninety seven Brownies (7-10) in 17 troops help mothers knit, make hospital disposal bags, learn to care for their belongings, and develop hobbies.

Sixteen hundred and six Intermediate (10 to 15-year-olds) in 77 troops learn simple cooking, salvage waste, give first aid, serve neighborhood agencies, teach songs, stories, games to others.

One hundred sixty-two Girl Scouts Seniors (15-18) in 8 troops and 3 Marine Ships (Swarthmore, Drexel Hill, and Lansdowne) are on call for service such as child care, carrying messages, preparation of food indoors and outdoors, group recreation—jobs that free adults for other defense work.

Two hundred twenty-three trained Girl Scout leaders and assistant leaders, 559 Troop Committee members, 54 Council and Standing Committee members, make a total of 836 Registered Adult Leaders who administer the Girl Scout program in Delaware County.

Adults Trained
116 Adult volunteers received Group Leadership Training in 4 courses of 16 hours each, a training required for all leaders.

187 experienced leaders received program training.

98 leaders received 5 hours outdoor training.

102 Troop Committee members received training for their part as community sponsors.

Pathologist in Akron

Former Swarthmoreans Dr. and Mrs. J. Howard Smith are moving from Portville, N. Y. to Stow, Ohio, a suburb of Akron where Dr. Smith is pathologist at the Peoples' Hospital.

The Smiths' daughter Emmy-Jo has been the guest for a week of Barbara Kent daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Kent of Riverview road and was entertained on the Kent's boat at Georgetown, Md.

Mrs. Smith who has visited friends here for the past week drove to Portville Monday morning with Emmy-Jo and her son Stephen who has been visiting one of his former chums Milton Hobbs of Park avenue for the past month. There she will see her household goods through the final stage of reclamation after being submerged in the recent flash floods in that vicinity and leave to join Dr. Smith in Akron on August 15.

Emmy-Jo who graduated from the Portville High School in June plans to enter junior college at Mars Hill, N. C. this fall and pursue the pre-nursing course which she hopes to complete at Western Reserve later.

Mrs. Herschel G. Smith and daughters Frances and Evlene of Wallingford are vacationing at Bay Head, N. J. for several weeks.

Passes Difficult Course

Charles R. Russell local garage owner received notice Tuesday night that he was one of seven who had successfully passed the four year course in navigation and the use of the Navigator with the United States Power Squadron of Wilmington, Del.

Lt. Kent Named Aide

Lt. Russell H. Kent, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Kent of Riverview Road, has been appointed aide to Brig. Gen. William K. Harrison, Jr., assistant Commander of the 78th "Lightning" Division, now being organized at Camp Butler.

Lieutenant Kent, who received a degree in mechanical engineering from Cornell University five years ago, joined the 78th Division here July 9, immediately after completing the Officer-candidate course at the Engineer School at Ft. Belvoir, Va., and being commissioned a second lieutenant. He was chosen from a group of several officers who were considered for the position of aide to General Harrison.

Before Lieutenant Kent entered the army in March, 1941, he was employed as an engineer for the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company in Chester. As a member of an aviation engineer regiment the Lieutenant was stationed at Langley Field, Va., and later Mitchell Field, L. I., until he was selected as an officer-candidate.

Publishes Book
Dr. Paul F. Gemmill of Thayer road recently published a book called Economics: Principles and Problems. This book is a revised edition of a book on General Economics published by Dr. Gemmill in 1937, which has been used in a large number of colleges and universities.

Dr. Ralph H. Blodgett of the University of Illinois collaborated with Dr. Gemmill in the publication of this book.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The opinions expressed below are those of the individual writers. All letters to the Swarthmorean must be signed and sent to the Editor. Letters will be published only at the discretion of the Editor.

Enjoys Army Life

Headquarters Detachment
24th Q. M. Regt. (Trk.)
Fort Dix, New Jersey

Dear Editor:
Even though I am located but 40 miles from Swarthmore and able to get home quite often, I am still intrigued by the sight of "The Swarthmorean" in my Monday morning mail. It is just like meeting an old friend from the home town. The July 31st issue was especially interesting, and I imagine a lot of boys in the Service were also surprised to learn where other Swarthmore boys were located. I, too, would like to sincerely thank you and the Business Men's Association for sending the paper to me.

Army life has proved interesting in many ways. I have had a chance to pursue several hobbies in which I had been interested in civilian life, but never seemed to find the time to devote to them. Another soldier and I write the column "Chit-Chat, etc." appearing on page 4; another of my hobbies is aired on page 3 column 5 of the enclosed Fort Dix paper. One is always surprised to find out what a small world this really is. I have met several Swarthmoreans here, or people who have met Swarthmore boys at other camps. Another slogan the Army should use is "Join the Army and see your Country," for I find that many boys have been practically all over the 48 states.

Thank you again for your generosity. Very truly yours,
(Sgt.) LESLIE duBOIS POLK.

Bolsters Scrap Drive

Dear Editor:
I note that you did use my letter and I hope it will help the "scrap drive" that is on now.

I am sorry there was one mistake, which changed the interpretation somewhat. However, it may have been mine and not yours. The word "slowly," following the word "demand," should have followed the word "away." This is about two-thirds down in the article.

I meant to show the people that heavy material, which was probably 95% of the steel rollings 20 years ago, would remain as scrap today, while the thin material had largely disappeared.

I thank you for this publicity and I hope it will help.

Very truly yours,
J. V. S. BISHOP.

"With retail price ceilings established, why do Speare's Lower Prices benefit me?"

PRICE CEILINGS on the same merchandise are not necessarily the same in all stores. For ceilings are placed at the highest prices at which the various items were sold in March.

Because of our Lower Price Policy our prices are, and have been, consistently low every month!

By placing big year-round orders, by eliminating unnecessary expenses we have been able to cut costs without sacrificing quality . . . and to provide you with all the fine things you want at far lower prices.

CARL S. CLEAVES DIES SUDDENLY

General Electric Supervisor Succumbs in 55th Year at Home on Cornell Avenue

Carl Schurz Cleaves died very suddenly Tuesday night, August 18, at his home at 314 Cornell avenue.

A native of Staben, Me., Mr. Cleaves was born on December 23, 1887 the son of Melvin Pineo Cleaves and Alice Gardner Cleaves. He graduated in civil engineering at the University of Maine in 1912 and entered the employ of the Great Northern Paper Company for whom he supervised the building of a number of well known dams in Maine and in Canada. Later he was connected with the Old Town Supply Company. In 1926 he moved to Swarthmore to supervisor with the General Electric Company in Philadelphia. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, fond of sports and an active member of the Swarthmore Tennis Club.

On October 20, 1915 he married Catharine Gould MacLeod of Old Town who survives him. Other survivors include five children Elizabeth (Mrs. Nicholas Turkevich) of Philadelphia, William Gardner, Florence MacLeod, Adelaide Alice, and James Hill Cleaves; four brothers and a sister George M. and Elmer M. of Bar Harbor, Me., Dr. H. Franklin of Seattle, Wash., William L. and Olive J. of Swarthmore.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon in Trinity Church, Swarthmore, which Mr. Cleaves had been a member.

Palbearers were Ralph E. Bold, James M. Milne, and Charles M. Fairbanks associates of Mr. Cleaves at general electric and Donald Murray Livingston, A. B. Chapin, and James B. Hindle local friends.

The family accompanied the body to Bar Harbor where interment in the family lot will take place tomorrow, Saturday.

Services at Bar Harbor will be held in Saint Saviour's Church.

Warren A. Tyson Buried Saturday

Gantner, pastor of Trinity Church, Swarthmore conducted the Episcopal last rites for the investment broker and former amateur golfer. A champion of this county who died suddenly of coronary thrombosis in Philadelphia while en route to his office Thursday morning of last week. Burial was in the Tyson family plot in the Cambridge cemetery, Providence road.

Born at Village Green on November 13, 1884 the son of Alfred Tyson and Elizabeth Baker Lewis, he married Isabel Smith of Aston Township on October 18, 1910 and came to Swarthmore to live seven years later. The Tysons lived at 121 Rutgers avenue until they built their present home on Harvard avenue.

Having been in the brokerage business for 34 years Mr. Tyson had headed his own firm since 1922. He was a director of the Consolidated Machine Tool Corporation of Rochester, N. Y., the Wolverine Power Company in Michigan, and the Langditch Collieries, Inc., Scranton. He was a former president of the Springhaven Club where he had served as a board member for nearly 40 years. He was a member of the Union League.

Since he had enjoyed exceptionally good health of late and taken great pleasure in his golfing and in a new tomato garden at his home, Mr. Tyson's death was a tremendous shock to his family. His wife who has been serving as a nurse's aide at Chester Hospital Blades, was notified of her husband's death by a letter from one of her husband's partners soon after the broker had collapsed and almost immediately been pronounced dead.

Besides Mrs. Tyson a son Ensign Warren A. Tyson, Jr., now stationed at a Navy Yard in South Boston, Mass., survives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hickson and family moved last week into the former Raymond house at 318 Dartmouth avenue. Mr. Hickson has been transferred from Washington, D. C. to Philadelphia with the emigration department.

COOPERATIVES ARE GROWING

They are Growing in America—among farmers and urban people—in the oil business the fertilizer and milling business—in the fields of finance and insurance.

Co-ops are Growing in the Food Business. We have more than 200 grocery outlets here on the Eastern Seaboard.

Co-ops are Growing in China. Behind the lines of warfare Chinese Industrial Cooperatives have made more than one million blankets for Chinese soldiers. Co-ops are one of the most hopeful movements in the new and democratic China.

The Swarthmore Co-op is Growing. Last year our lowest weekly volume of business was in August. This year our weekly volume in August reached a new all-time high.

Co-ops are Growing Because more and more people of discernment know that we live in a revolutionary period. Business as usual is finished. A people's business, a democratic business, this is the order of the day!

"The Army-Navy Award flag, as an official flag authorized by the War and Navy Departments, has a significance and dignity which make it preferable to other flags for display with the American flag."

AUTOCAR

Awarded Army-Navy E

"for high achievement in the production of war equipment"

The Army-Navy E . . . a flag to fly above the plant and a lapel-pin for every worker . . . is awarded to Autocar "as a symbol of outstanding contribution to the war-effort and to the future of America."

In the words of the War & Navy Departments, the Army-Navy Production Award "stands today as our fighting forces' joint recognition of exceptional performance on the production front . . . of the determined, persevering, unbeatable American spirit which can be satisfied only by achieving today what yesterday seemed impossible." It symbolizes "an awareness that our fighting forces and the men and women of American industry are partners in the great struggle for human freedom."

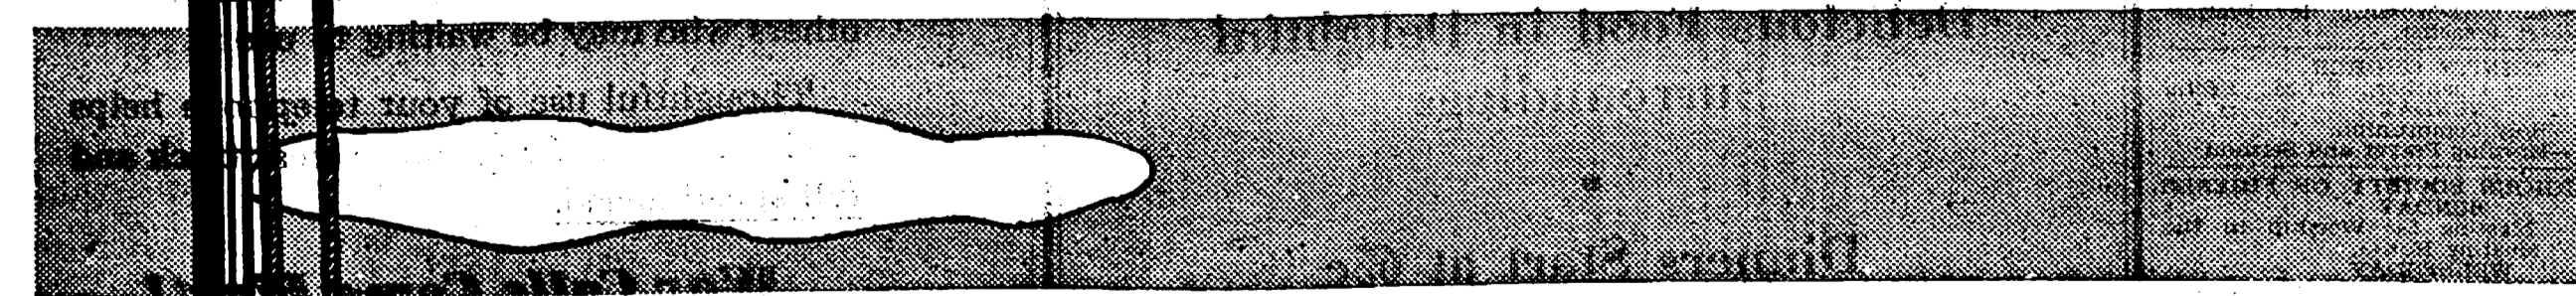

For the Ordnance Department of the Army, Autocar manufactures large quantities of armored half-track vehicles, including reconnaissance cars, and carriers for field-guns and anti-aircraft multiple guns. In addition, Autocar makes equally large quantities of heavy, four-wheel-drive tractors for the Quartermasters Corps. For the Navy, Autocar builds specialized vehicles, principally for use at naval airports, and heavy-duty trucks for general-purpose hauling at naval bases.

Autocar, on behalf of its loyal men and women, is proud to accept the Army-Navy E for production in war-time. It pledges to retain its head-start in providing the implements of freedom, and to build a better-than-ever Autocar for your own use when peace comes.

OPA OFFICIALS HERE

Officers of the Pennsylvania Office of Price Administration moved into Delaware County this week and began a sweeping inspection of the manner in which local retailers are complying with the various requirements of the General Maximum Price Regulations.

Participating in a nationwide "August for Compliance" drive ordered by Price Administrator Loom Henderson in all areas in which adequate educational work had been conducted, the OPA representatives are visiting retail establishments of all kinds in Delaware County. In the presence of the retailer, they are filling out a comprehensive report on the degree of compliance found in the establishment.

Merchants are called upon to demonstrate that they have posted their ceiling prices on all cost-of-living commodities as defined in the regulation, and that they have posted them clearly, correctly, and at the point of sale.

They are required also to produce their base period price records for examination, state whether they have filed with the State OPA office as required their lists of cost-of-living commodity prices, and show their familiarity with various pricing methods for new merchandise.

The compliance reports covering all of this information will later be filed with the legal department of OPA in Philadelphia.

All merchants visited by the OPA are being invited to attend an entertaining as well as informative forum and clinic to be held in each section as it is covered by the survey. A slide film, a dramatized presentation of merchant-customer relationships under price regulation, and exhibits of proper price posting methods will be features of these clinics.

The program is in line with Price Administrator Henderson's statement that "while we are going to continue our educational efforts," OPA enforcement officers are "going to move in on those stores that are taking the law lightly," adding this step as "a necessary protection for honest storekeepers, who are legion, and the buying public."

Clinics and forums scheduled in Delaware County next week, each beginning at 8:30 o'clock in the evening, are the following:
Monday—Darby High School, 7th and Spruce Streets, Darby.

Tuesday—Chester High School, 9th and Fulton Streets, Chester.

Wednesday—Upper Darby High School, Lansdowne Avenue and School Lane, Upper Darby.

Thursday—Media High School, State and Monroe Streets, Media.

ONE TOUCH OF NATURE

Toxie's parents built their nest in the very center of a dense hawthorn tree, near the trunk about three feet from the ground. I would never have discovered it except for Brown Thrashers' bright yellow eyes. Peering into the dense tangle in my interminable search for nests, I suddenly noted that my intrusion was being regarded by a most wild and defiant orb. Then gradually I identified the rest of the creature belonging to the baleful sphere: rather than gryphon or serpent, it was a brooding bird sitting deeply in its capacious cupped nest.

For two weeks I paid daily visits to the hawthorn tree. During this time the eggs hatched and the three young Thrashers grew rapidly. Finally I judged the babies to be old enough for banding, and forthwith I approached the nest with my pliers and numbered aluminum rings. Heretofore I had looked at the family from a respectful distance. Now I parted the branches and extended my hand toward the bristling babies.

In a flash one of the old Brown Thrashers dashed at my clutching fingers, so unexpectedly that I involuntarily jerked my hand backward and impaled my arm on several of the long thorns. With that the Thrasher settled over her hedgehogs, ruffled out her feathers, and glared at me with every appearance of terror and fury. The other parent meanwhile hopped among the thorns about a foot from the nest, uttering soft complaining cat-calls.

Not to be intimidated by a pair of Brown Thrashers—not to be frustrated as the result of a gashed arm—not to betray the zeal which impels me to band birds for the United States Fish and Wildlife Service—I once more extended my hand cautiously toward the nest, this time keeping a wary eye on the courageous parents. Poor things—they dashed repeatedly at my hand and arm, until I almost succeeded in catching and banding them. Had I only brought along my salt shaker, I could easily have sprinkled their long tails.

I quickly banded two of the fledglings—the two smallest ones. As I reached for the third, it made a great leap and plumped down to the ground. For the next half hour I pursued it through the thorny underbrush. It could scarcely hop, but only a few inches progress would invariably bring it to a new thicket, whereupon I had to work my way out of the old one and calculate a new approach.

At last I seized the bird, banded it, and replaced it in the nest. Plot! Out it jumped again, and another half hour went by before I caught it a second time. That bird simply refused to stay in its nest. At last I decided to take it home. Toxie's mates, having remained in their nest, it was possible that the adult Thrashers might not look after their roving son. Anyhow, this baby showed such spirit that he might be an interesting bird to raise by hand—C. BROOKS WORM.

The story of Toxie will be continued next week.

Keystone Term Ends

The largest summer session in the history of the Keystone Secretarial School will close Friday, August 21. Students in attendance represent 19 different colleges and universities and 32 different high schools located in five states.

The majority of the pupils in attendance are studying shorthand and typewriting for use in college. A number of the pupils will return to various colleges where they have had from one to three years' training. A larger group than usual will continue to study at Keystone during the fall term.

After a vacation of one week, the fall session will open on September 1; September 8 is an alternate date for the convenience of those who cannot enter on September 1. Intensive courses will be featured during the coming school year for those who are anxious to prepare quickly for Civil Service and other positions.

THINK before you call! Telephone lines are crowded with important war messages. Before you call, think whether the call is really necessary. Think what you're going to say so that calling back will be unnecessary. Think how you're going to say it so that your conversation will be brief. If you're on a party line, think of the others who may be waiting to use it. Thoughtful use of your telephone helps to give important war calls a clear track and full speed ahead.

452 Service Stars

A red, white and blue service flag with 452 stars, in honor of Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania employees now with the armed forces of the United States, is displayed at the Bell Company's building at 512 Welsh street, Chester.

Service flags are on display at a number of other telephone company buildings in Eastern Pennsylvania, including the general headquarters building at 1835 Arch street, Philadelphia. At a formal presentation of the flag at the general headquarters building July 17, Philip C. Staples, president of the Bell of Pennsylvania, recalled that at the close of the first World War, the Bell service flag had 1276 stars. He added that the total represented by today's flag is fast going up.

August 13 Downpour Sets Little Crum on Ruinous Village Tour

The two-hour downpour on the evening of August 13 sent the Little Crum on the rampage in this village—such a rampage as it has not enjoyed since August, 1928.

Normally a harmless, gurgling creek which lends itself graciously to the informal gardens lining its banks the Little Crum on the offensive flooded North Chester road north of Swarthmore avenue; caused considerable erosion in the basin of the old Emmons Pool; flooded Swarthmore avenue below the junction of Princeton and Elm; played havoc with several houses on Benjamin West avenue (flooding the George Wagner home there, 19 inches above the first floor); overflowed Dartmouth and Oberlin and explored the Joseph Reynolds Garage and playroom; flooded Swarthmore avenue again at Cresson lane and Yale above Dickinson; tore its path through the properties on the north side of the Dickinson avenue circle; and thumbed its nose at Swarthmore by flooding Michigan avenue at the Calvert and Belford pools.

Twenty three calls were received at the Police Station reporting flooded cellars and dangerous washouts of roads and the Fire Company was called out at 6:52 P. M. to pump out the flooded underpass. Its four pieces of apparatus manned by regular and auxiliary firemen were all in service until 12:30 P. M. and one worked until 3 A. M. The badly washed out northeast bank of the underpass attests the fury of the draining waters but the youngsters who

TAUGHT SECRET OF GOOD GOVT

Local L. W. V. Hears Last of Study Group Talks by Vernon O'Rourke

"The sine qua non of good county government is the development of a strong two-party system," said Vernon O'Rourke at the final session of the Swarthmore League of Women Voters study group on county government held at the home of Mrs. Daniel R. Goodwin on Walnut lane last week. He continued, "It is not enough to rely on the traditional type of reform movement which, although it may be temporarily successful, stings once and dies. It takes a politician to catch a politician. It takes a strong 'out' party to keep an adequate check on the 'in' party. It is sometimes argued that the candidates of the out party are as weak as those of the party in power. Thus, it is declared no real choices are open to the electorate."

Mr. O'Rourke emphasized the point that even where this is the case it is highly desirable when a one-party system obtains (and this is true in over half of the more than three thousand counties in the United States) to vote frequently for the candidates of the out party. No party in power will do its best when its opponent is so weak in vote-getting power that the ins have no fear of being voted out of power.

"A strong, vigorous opposition party is the only safe, long-run, device for securing a constant improvement in the quality of local government. This fact can be proved by only a cursory study

JUNK RALLY AUGUST 31st

Plea to Residents to Discover and Hand in Needed Scrap Materials

This week-end Swarthmore residents are urged to scour their homes from attic to cellar, garages, storehouses, places of business or any other possible source of materials for next Monday's local junk rally. Those who were away or for some reason prevented from making an exhaustive search in response to the salvage collection here several weeks ago, are especially requested to do so now.

This time the articles are to be taken by the donors to the lot on Cresson lane at the foot of Amherst avenue. Cast iron, steel, brass, copper, aluminum, alloys, and rubber are particularly needed to make up for dangerous shortages of these stuffs in the war effort.

Every home will disclose many items of these materials which can easily be spared. Soles of old tennis shoes, rubber balls, leaky hot water bottles and such are good for what decent rubber they retain; radiators, furnace parts, old tools, scissors, pots and pans, and battered metal household ware of numerous kinds are right under our noses and would be of far greater value in the government salvage heap than cluttering up the average home and trying tempers with their impaired usefulness.

Over 25,000 pounds were collected in the drive earlier this month. That was not too discouraging for a purely residential area the size of Swarthmore, but certainly the town can still do better. A final report of the month's collection in weight will be given when the results of next Monday's offering is seen.

THANKS FOR PATRIOTIC ISSUE

Congratulations to The Swarthmorean and its patriotic advertisers for cooperating with the county and national campaigns to boost the sale of United States War Stamps and Bonds. This novel issue of the paper devoted exclusively to promoting sales of Stamps and Bonds can not fail to be an important factor in our all-out effort to supply America's fighting forces with the material things required for Victory!

Walter H. Weaver, Chairman Delaware County Committee for Sales of War Savings Stamps and Bonds.

ONE TOUCH OF NATURE

Story of Toxie—Continued From Last Week

It is illegal to possess our native song birds—or parts thereof—either dead or alive. A bird bander's federal permit states, however, that licensed banders may retain their captives long enough to band them and subsequently to release them in safety. So far as Toxie, my pet Brown Thrasher, is concerned, I could not safely let him go until he was able to fly and to take care of himself in all particulars essential to the survival of yearling Thrashers.

Hence I drove home quite happily, holding Toxie in one hand and steering with the other. I was glad to feel that I was legally entitled to the charge of seeing Toxie successfully into his first full-feathered dress. He received his name on that short ride. The scientific name of Brown Thrashers is Toxostoma rufum. Upon reaching home, I immediately introduced my ward to the family. "Folks," I said, "meet Toxie. Toxie, this is it."

These amenities were over in no time at all, for everyone, particularly the children, adopted Toxie at once. We happened to be singularly petless at the time, our horned head having recently died, and all of us must have been thirsting for some troublesome animal to make us forget our own troubles.

Sending Valerie to hunt up the toad's cage, I went into the kitchen to prepare Toxie's first meal. Chopped hard-boiled egg yolk, chopped lettuce and bread crumbs were soaked in milk. A teaspoonful of orange juice and several drops of cod-liver oil were then stirred into the mixture. The consistency of the mash was such that I could pick up gobs of it with a pair of blunt forceps, the latter simulating mother's mandibles more closely than anything I could think of.

Anyhow, the system worked beautifully. Toxie soon learned to lift his gaping beak whenever he saw the forceps, and within all too few days he seemed to be practically grown up—C. Bbookox Worox.

Red Cross to Open Surgical Dressings Room Here Tuesday

Mrs. Clayden Lists Assistant Instructors in Announcing Borough Hall Workroom Will Open 2 Days Weekly to Make Needed Supplies

The Red Cross Surgical Dressings Room on the second floor of Borough Hall will open on Wednesday, September 2, at 10 A. M. After that time the room will be open weekly on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M. and all dressings here instead of in Media. The room is centrally located within walking distance of all sections of the borough. If enough workers offer their services, the Red Cross will open the room a third day each week.

Members of Borough Council by their greatly appreciated permission for the use of the room by the Red Cross for this purpose have made possible Swarthmore's discharge of its true share of the war. The American Red Cross which has accepted the responsibility for carrying them out carefully. The Red Cross requires workers to wear a white uniform or a white Hoover apron and a white head covering.

Each unit of the Armed Forces of the United States as it takes its place in the farflung battle line of the Allied Nations carries a supply of these Surgical Dressings. Some travel a long distance and considerable time elapses before they can be sterilized. Meticulous care is important in their preparation. The Swarthmore Branch of the American Red Cross wish to thank the following persons for loans or gifts toward furnishing the room: Mrs. Walter A. Schmidt, Mrs. Russell H. Kent, Mrs. Percival Armitage, Mrs. Richard Haig, Mrs. George M. Karns, Mrs. Charles M. Fairbanks, Mrs. H. Bardwell Lincoln, Jr., Mrs. Sewell W. Hodge, Mrs. Arthur Robinson, Mrs. Thomas E. McCabe, Mrs. E. M. Bassett, Mrs. Charles B. Shaw, Mrs. Glenn R. Morrow, the Harold Ainsworth Post of the American Legion, the Hollyhook Shop, and the Toggery Shop.

Women are asked to remember that even two hours time given to this work can accomplish needed work. For any other information Mrs. Clayden may be contacted at Swarthmore 0753.

Bomb 'em with JUNK

JUNK NEEDED FOR WAR
Scrap Iron and Steel

Let's blast Japan—and Germany—and Italy—with the chain lightning of destruction that can be built from the scrap in our cellars, attics and garages, on our farms and in our places of business.

Scrap iron and steel, other metals, rubber and waste materials. It will all be used to make tanks, ships, planes and the fighting weapons our boys must have. It is needed at once.

Send it to a Junk dealer—give it to a charity or collection agency—take it yourself to the nearest collection point—or consult the Local Salvage Committee. . . . If you live on a farm, and have found no means of disposing of your Junk, get in touch with the County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

1-C-23 U. S. M. C. New River, N. C.

Dear Editor:

I just received my copy of "The Swarthmorean" of July 31. In the "Letters to the Editor" column was a very interesting and amusing letter written by my brother Charles F. Seymour. That letter inspired me to write to you because I being a Marine must not be outdone by any dogface (the name applied to all soldiers by all Marines) even though he is my own brother.

In his letter he very cleverly hinted that he wanted all his friends in Swarthmore to send him some cake. By this time he has probably received an ample supply of cake from a good many people. Naturally those people thought that it would do a lot for the morale of the soldier.

That word "morale" in my opinion is a very misleading word. I believe that it is used by the soldier merely as an excuse to get more candy and cake. They write home for these "sweets" and the home folks gladly send them because they believe that it will help the "morale" of their soldiers.

There is no such thing as "morale" in the Marine Corps. Just the fact that a man is a Marine is all he needs for "morale."

In the Marine Corps no one ever writes home for cake, etc., because we don't need such things. Perhaps some of you have read the article about the Marines at Wake Island and the home folks gladly send them because they believe that it will help the "morale" of their soldiers.

WE MUST MAKE THE MOST OF WHAT WE HAVE

War has jammed telephone lines with the greatest flood of calls in history. We cannot add to our facilities, for the materials needed to do so are going into planes, tanks, ships and shells. We must make the most of what we have.

So, don't make unnecessary calls.

Don't call "Information" for numbers that are listed in the directory.

Before you call, think what you're going to say so that calling back will be unnecessary.

Keep your conversations as short as possible—especially on party lines.

If your call can wait, make it in the "off-peak" periods—between noon and 2 P. M.; between 5 and 7 P. M.; between 9 P. M. and 9 A. M.

Your cooperation will help to keep the lines clear for important war calls.
