LISTS FILM LIKES OF G. I., CHILDREN

Anticipate Madonna Program Next Tuesday

High army officials and top-flight schoolmen see eye to eye upon at least one subject—the tremendous value of visual education. Dr. Charles F. Hoban, Jr., who as a Major during the war was Chief of the Film Distribution Branch of the Army Pictorial Service and is now Special Assistant to the Director of Visual Education in the Philadelphia Public Schools, spoke before the Woman's Club on Tuesday for both army and school.

Dr. Hoban, who was introduced by Mrs. R. M. Kilgore, chairman of Motion Pictures, first emphasized the importance of films as entertainment and morale-builders to the army and then brought out their educational value both in the army training program and in that of the schools.

The major studios, he said, performed a fine and patriotic service in providing the armed forces—free of charge—with film entertainment. In all theaters of war, at least three new feature films were produced per week, many of them appearing abroad long before they were shown in this country.

Most of the theaters were of the most primitive kind. On Ascension Island, a strip of volcanic rock 10 miles long by five wide, the stage consisted of a pair of posts with a screen stretched between them, while rows of sandbags placed on shallow terraces dug out of the hills, formed the seats. On the Anzio beachhead, there was a similar theater, showing films between air-raids.

Good Critics

What kind of films did the G. I.'s like? No war pictures it was often said, but this was not true, Dr. Hoban asserted. They did not care for the Hollywood version of war—this was too unlike the facts as the G. I.'s knew them—but authentic war pictures, they liked immensely. In fact, the weekly combat film reports which were sent to the theaters of war, were the most popular of all pictures produced. "Westerns" they turned thumbs down on—"westerns" were not true to life and the soldiers knew it. But musicals, especially with Betty Grable or a row of bathing beauties, they doted on, the lighter and fluffier the better.

Training films, which might be described as educational in contrast to those which were solely for entertainment, were used in large quantities and were extremely valuable in giving men a broad orientation in regard to the war. A series, produced by Frank Capra, under the heading, "Why We Fight", treated such subjects as: "Prelude to War," "The Nazis Strike," "Divide and Conquer," "The Battle of Britain," "The Battle of Russia," "The Battle of China."

WELCOME VISITORS

Mrs. Catharine J. Pierce, Reference Librarian at Swarthmore College and her son Major Henry J. Pierce returned to Durham, N.C. Wednesday after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Shaw of Park avenue since Friday of last week.

Major Pierce arrived in this country in October after being a prisoner in Japan three and a half years. He spent a month at the Moore General Hospital, near Asheville, N.C., recuperating prior to joining his mother, who is on a year's leave of absence from the college, and who is visiting her sister Mrs. C. A. Andrews of Durham.

Major Pierce plans to return to North Carolina State College in the near future.

SANTA'S COMING

Santa asks The Swarthmorean to tell every boy and girl who wishes to see him that he'll be there on Christmas Eve. Parents may begin at once to call Swarthmore 0900 and give the name, age, and address of all children who want Santa to awaken them with the cheery call which has echoed through Swarthmore for the past 58 years.

Such scurrying as Mrs. Santa and Santa's other helpers are about to get everything ready for Santa's visit. Until 5 p.m. on December 21 calls inviting the jolly old fellow to stop will pour in from parents. Then Mrs. Santa will start to figure out Santa's route and a long, winding one it is. Mrs. Santa must plan very carefully so that Santa will get everywhere. So, you see, you help Mrs. Santa very much when you ask your father or mother to phone your name in early. And that is why your name must be called in.

Each year Santa's calling list is new because boys and girls do grow up (worse luck) or move to new places. So if you wish him to visit you, looking and sounding like the jolliest Christmas ever, ask your parents to call 0900 soon. Then on Christmas Eve, because you know he's a friendly old saint, light your porch so that his entrance will be a welcome one. The first thing you know, his bells will ring and he'll be there.

But remember, he can't be everywhere all at once, and he has so many boys and girls to see, and he must follow Mrs. Santa's route so that he won't miss any of you. Even if you hear him in the neighborhood and he doesn't stop at your house, don't be discouraged. He'll be there. And then what fun you'll have!

HOLD ANNUAL PARTY

The community and friends of the Legion Auxillary are asked to come at 2 p.m. to a Christmas Bridge Party in the Legion Room on Monday, December 10. A silver offering and a grocery article is asked for admission. Refreshments will be served and a table prize offered. There will be aprons and a few fancy articles on sale, also an exhibit of gifts for needy families in our area.

Mrs. L. L. Hedgepath, Mrs. Walter Thorpe and Mrs. Alban Eavenson attended the Auxillary County meeting in Chester on Wednesday last taking a box of clothing for the child welfare of overseas families in our state.

The demand for stamped Christmas cards at Coatesville has been satisfied, therefore, the cards thus far received will be sent to the Philadelphia Naval Hospital, where conditions are crowded and from which an appeal for these cards has come. They may be left with Mrs. J. Gilcreest, 209 Vassar avenue.

If any store owners or individuals have posters of any holiday occasion and wish to send them to Coatesville, they may be left with the Christmas cards, as they are freely used at this hospital.

DECORATED

Lt. Col. Frederick Streicher of North Chester road was decorated November 15 by the French government with the Croix de Guerre for his part in the liberation of France. He is an executive officer with the G-1 Section U.S. Forces European Theatre (Rear) in Paris. In a few weeks Col. Streicher expects to go to Frankfurt, Germany.

BLOOD DONATIONS TOTALLED 5,042

3-Year Achievement Pays Chairmen For Work

Swarthmore blood donors will be interested in figures compiled by the Blood Donor Chairman of the Red Cross, Mrs. Phelps Soule, for permanent record.

From April, 1942, when the first meet was held to March, 1945, when the final meet occurred 5,042 pints of blood were collected here. Five meets in '42 yielded 520 pints. The same number of meets in '43 produced 1835 pints and the five final meets in '44 through March, '45 garnered 2937.

Mrs. A. L. Clayden was the first Blood Donor Chairman serving throughout the first year of the vital wartime activity. Mrs. Soule carried on from there while Mrs. Clayden continued as chairman of Surgical Dressings. The tasks were hard, nerve-racking, and often unpopular, but always faithfully performed, and the record speaks to the community of a job well done.

PLAYERS CLUB IN BARRIE CLASSIC

Tryouts for Post- Holiday Casts Dec. 17

The Players Club brings a change of fare to its audiences this month. After presenting three farces, it now essays Sir James M. Barrie's classic, "Dear Brutus". Performances begin on Tuesday, December 11, and run through Saturday.

Though well known to most lovers of the theatre, the play has a refreshing charm and offers ample opportunity for good characterization by every player in the cast.

The play is directed by J. William Simmons, whose cast includes such familiar players as Barbara M. Graves, Martha Keighton, Nancy G. Savelli, Beth Allyn, Robert W. Graham and Lewis E. Goodenough. New players are Joyce Harvey, Albert R. Warrington and David Kaigler, Jr. Joseph H. Collins returns to Players Club after several years absence in the Army, and Patricia Gallagher makes her first appearance with an adult cast.

Stage manager for this production is Sam Mitchell. Other backstage assistants are J. Roy Snape, Joanne Dunbar, Samuel Bigger, Donald Swan and Irma Keighton. Mrs. John M. Broomall, Mrs. Charles W. Lukens, Mrs. Lewis E. Goodenough and Mrs. Lee C. Bennett are in charge of properties.

Tryouts to aid in the selection of casts for the remaining plays are to be held at the Club house on Monday, December 17, at 8 p.m. Members and friends of the Club are invited to attend and take part. It is believed this is a real opportunity for those who have been overlooked in the casting because their talents or desire to play are not known to the directors.

After the tryouts, the Club will close until February, when John Dolman, Jr., is scheduled to direct.

OUT OF SERVICE

Cpl. Elinor Burgett, WAC, arrived in the States November 18 after serving overseas in New Guinea and in the Philippines 16 months.

She received her discharge at Ft. Des Moines, Iowa, after three years of service, and is now visiting in Swarthmore prior to entering college.

Will You Play Santa

Opportunity is given Swarthmoreans to remember the hospitalized veterans at Christmas time. The demand is greater than ever before as the boys return in ever increasing numbers for hospitalization. The war is over but disabled veterans are still paying—some will continue to pay for the rest of their lives.

Mrs. Roy C. Comley, chairman of Camp and Hospital will gladly supply information as how best you can bring Holiday Cheer to these boys. Call her at Swarthmore 1192.

Exchange Pulpits

At the invitation of the Rector of Trinity Church the Reverend David Braun, pastor of the Swarthmore Presbyterian Church, will conduct the service according to the Episcopal Liturgy on Sunday at 11 o'clock in Trinity Episcopal Church, Swarthmore.

At the same time, the Reverend George C. Anderson, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, will conduct the service according to the Presbyterian form in the Presbyterian Church. Both pastors will preach on the topic, "Presbyterian-Episcopal Unity."

Several years ago the General Convention of the Episcopal Church authorized a Commission to enter into negotiations with the Presbyterian Church to examine the possibilities of a union between the two churches. The negotiations have been continuing since that time, and other denominations are watching the developments with great interest.

No definite plans have been formulated for the union as the preliminary stages merely include the discussion of the various bases upon which a union could be established.

SEAL BOOTH OPEN

Mrs. Harry L. Miller, Chairman of Health and Welfare Committee of Swarthmore Women's Club announces the opening of the booth sale of Christmas Seals this week Christmas Seals, which finance the year round work of the Delaware County Tuberculosis and Health Association will be sold by local women who have volunteered to assist the association during the campaign. Booths will be located in the Bank.

"The booth sale," according to Mrs. Griffith G. Levering, Christmas Seal Education Director, "is for the convenience of any residents who may not have received Seals by mail or who may wish to purchase additional Seals." The Seal campaign opened November 19th and will continue until Christmas. "Funds raised," continued Mrs. Levering, "will be used to support such projects of the association as the county mass chest x-ray surveys, rehabilitation and social service work and assistance to the tuberculous veterans. The annual sale of Christmas Seals is the sole support of this work."

Mrs. Albert Eavanson and her committee will be in the booth.

Kappas Meet

The Kappa Kappa Gammas will hold an annual Christmas tea at the home of Mrs. John M. Broomall Saturday, December 8, at 2:30.

Guest Speaker

The luncheon-meeting speaker for the League of Women Voters on Wednesday, December 12, will be James A. Perkins, newly appointed Vice President of Swarthmore College.

His subject will be "United States Foreign Policy in Europe." Mr. Perkins is particularly well qualified to speak on this topic, as he has just served for nearly two war years in the Enemy Branch of the Foreign Economic Administration as Deputy Director.

In the year 1945 alone he made three trips to Europe, spending most of the time in Germany, and the rest of it with the F.E.A. in Washington.

"Visual education got a great boost during the war," said Dr. Hoban. It is sad, he went on, that we need a war to help us progress, but it often happens that way. For 15 or 20 years, our educators have been dabbling with the idea of showing films in the schools but not doing a great deal with it. It took a war to show their value as a medium of education. In the past five years, the use of films in the Philadelphia schools has increased 130 per cent.

Educational films, Dr. Hoban went on, should not be patterned after text books which are too often cold, impersonal and highly condensed. Educational films should be interesting, dramatic, full of detail and should carry personal appeal. Young children, for example, love pictures of other young children of other countries and of other times, like the Colonial children or the Navajos. They also like pictures showing the common animals of the woods.

For older children, films can be a bit more impersonal. Such shorts from the theaters as "Give Me Liberty" and "The Declaration of Independence," all drama and significance to history courses, and high school science is made far more vivid through films showing the molecular theory, the digestive processes of human beings or the circulatory systems of the frog and the sunfish.

Dr. Hoban left his audience with the feeling that the use of films in the schools had made a promising beginning but only a beginning.

With the full approval of the board expenditures for services and maintenance outstripped the book fund, 59 per cent to 41.

Expenses totalling $5,458 were balanced to the last penny with anticipated income. President Charles Shaw commented that this budget was the most carefully thought out one to be presented in the last three years. Harold Ogram as treasurer was chairman of the finance committee.

The librarian's report for the three months ending November 3 credited the daily opening of the Library with the increase in circulation and membership. Mrs. H. I. Hoot secretary brought out the fact that the current epidemic of grippe had increased feeding time.

ON THE SHELF

Hip Hurray! and Hip Horray! Put the ration book away. Hide it in a deep, dark den. So it can't creep out again. Cover it up and close the door. We don't want it anymore. Chops of lamb, and knuckle joints. Can be purchased without points. Fill the basket and be gay. All you have to do is pay. How those merciless ration books ruled the stomachs and the cooks. Many a luscious roast went by just because the points were high. Even butter was roped in. Had to spread it very thin. We have really skimped of late. Now, lookout, don't take on weight. E. C. W.

Letter to the Editor

In the Spirit of Christmas

Dear Editor:

Swarthmore never has lacked initiative in starting and carrying through worth while projects. Can we add another that, if projected here might spread over the entire country? This Christmas is a good time to start. We are told that more persons will starve and freeze throughout the world in the next few months than ever before in history. Why not start an economy on luxury gifts exchanged and form a plan to alleviate real suffering? We recognize that many are giving through agencies already established for that purpose. We feel that many could and would like to send articles of food and new clothing to families in need. Plans are being made to cover transportation, packing and delivery of food packages at cost by a non-profit philanthropic association headed by Donald Nelson.

To alleviate suffering by our talents and gifts does seem an appropriate observation of the birthday of the truest humanitarian the world has yet seen.

Twelve names of French families in dire need are before us now. Hundreds more can be obtained and vouched for.

The following tentative committee asks for those who are interested to join this group, to contact one of the following:

Adeline Strouse (school) 4567, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Harper 0151-W, Mr. and Mrs. J. Herman Holmes 0805, Myrtle McCallin 0531-M, Mrs. Ida P. Stabler 0855, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Russell 1290, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. S. Bishop 0627-J, Mrs. J. V. S. Bishop.

REBERAVED Captain Charles E. Hess of Park Avenue who is now stationed at Fort Devens, Mass., was called home 10 days ago by the death of his father Mr. A. Frank Hess of Lancaster, Pa. One week later the death of his mother occurred, recalling him to Lancaster for services and burial.

The Troop has been working hard all fall on the Foot Traveller's badge which requires 100 miles of hiking. Of these they have completed 25. At present they are following Crum Creek to its head and have reached West Chester Pike in their weekly hikes.

Mrs. Zimmerman followed her and remained Troop 16's leader for 14 years. Mrs. Charles Israel assisted her for several years and then continued as leader until this Girl Scouting in Delaware County, Mrs. Evelyn Hodge, now head of Girl Scouting in Delaware County, was once assistant leader of Troop 16.

Margaret, the little girl who might have been, is played by Patricia Gallagher with lightness, simplicity, tenderness—all those gentle qualities which are a part of youth. The scene between father and daughter is, of course, one of the best.

Second chances are fun to speculate about. The impact of watching people experience their hits harder in middle age than in youth.

Chief Bateman also offered this advice to persons who receive Government or other types of checks by mail: 1. Be sure your name is plainly visible on your mailbox; that the box is protected with a good lock. 2. At the time of delivery of your check, arrange, if possible, to be at home. Ask your mail carrier to notify you by some signal that he has your check. 3. If you cash your check at the same place each month you will have less difficulty in identifying yourself.

Patrons having such deposits at the office are requested by Postmaster A. P. Smallley to call for their deposits at once.

Services were held Thursday, December 6. Interment was made in Eastlawn Cemetery, Swarthmore.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank G. Keenen of Harvard Avenue entertained at dinner Friday evening in honor of Dr. and Mrs. James Gay.

Lt. Erskine plans to enter the University of Pennsylvania Law School in the near future.

The earliest of the Madonnas illustrated was taken from the walls of the catacombs in Rome. The star, shown in this picture over the mother's head, became in time the symbol of the Virgin, and is found throughout the centuries in connection with her portrait, Mrs. Morris said. Various other symbols arose, and early traditional backgrounds include such characteristic elements as 12 stars in a crown to indicate the 12 apostles, Cedars of Lebanon to indicate steadfastness, an apple in the hand to represent the Madonna as a second Eve, or an apple in the corner of the picture to represent the fall of man.

Madonnas of the fifth century showed stiff figures of mother and child, always fully clothed and always as roomers of a group.

"Flight into Egypt," Raphael's "Madonna of the Goldfinch," Da Vinci's "Madonna of the Rocks," works of Titian, Bellini, El Greco, and many others, Mrs. Morris traced the decreasing rigidity of the figures, the growing realism, the new emphasis on the child, the gradual wane of the religious content of the pictures, and the increasing emphasis on the emotional feeling of mother and child. A Renoir portrait of mother and child epitomized this last stage.

Dr. W. F. G. Swann and David Tudor will give a recital comprising the two Brahms Sonatas for cello and piano in Whittier House, on the College Campus, on Monday, Dec. 17, at 8:15 p.m.

This recital will be followed during the winter months, at dates to be announced, by three others, in which Dr. Swann and Sylvia Swann collaborate in playing the five cello and piano Sonatas of Beethoven, together with the Thirty-one Variations.

Writes of Life In Manila

The Swarthmorean is indebted to Mrs. Walter H. Robinson of Wallingford for her permission to use excerpts from the letters of L. Robinson, USNR, who is in Manila with the Judge Advocate Section, War Crimes Branch, assigned to legal research for the prosecution of war criminals.

"Every part of this city above the level of an oriental slum has been either burned out or utterly demolished. Army officers generally and some Navy officers are living in the burned out hulks of ruined, windowless office buildings, which have been blasted and fought over as well. They have no screens, no cleanliness, and frequently no water.

"Except for marvellously persistent native life in the ruins and the ceaseless military activity, this is a dead and partly lifeless city. There is no electric power outside of military buildings lit by portable generators, so the city is without light. At night there is no entertainment, no social life above a pig-sty level, nothing.

"There is a lot of inflation here. Goods are very scarce and expensive. The Filipinos have lots of money, more than we have, but no goods. It is the same with everything not produced in quantity locally. A $10 U. S. cotton dress will bring $60 to $80 here. Whiskey worth $3.95 a quart in the states sells here for $30. It has been as high as $60.

"The destruction here is appalling. 362 ships are sunk in the bay, many showing superstructures above the water. Public buildings and hotels are all ghostly wrecks. On a main business street, every single building for blocks was wiped out or gutted, utterly useless.

"The Japs retreated (to one of Manila's main streets) they blew up some of the important buildings and burned everything. All the residential area is burned down; the steel and concrete hulks of the biggest and best buildings still stand, but large quantities of gasoline were burned in them, as well as all partitions, floors, trim, and also inflammable files of banks. Elevators won't run, doors are charred. In one steel and concrete building the steel girders in the roof buckled and twisted into a terrible mess.

WARNS MERCHANTS

Chief of Police Thomas V. Bateman, Sr. warns merchants that it is starting the race of the holiday season when the check thief and the forger enjoy their greatest success. Chief Bateman referred to the educational campaign conducted by the U. S. Secret Service, and said: "Now is the time for merchants to talk these matters over with their employees. Caution them to be more careful in accepting either government or commercial checks, especially from strangers. Have them initial any check they accept, and jot down some identification. This identification should be used to identify the person who forges or recovers money." Unless the answer to that one is "yes"—well, it's their money.

Chief Bateman also offered this advice to persons who receive Government or other types of checks by mail: 1. Be sure your name is plainly visible on your mailbox; that the box is protected with a good lock. 2. At the time of delivery of your check, arrange, if possible, to be at home. Ask your mail carrier to notify you by some signal that he has your check. 3. If you cash your check at the state place each month you will have less difficulty in identifying it. 4. TOWARD THE CHRISTMAS IDEAL Without benefit of Christmas Carol or symbol there was last Sunday abroad in the borough the spirit of goodwill. It was short lived. It was not general enough.

Moreover, for once, we were trying to learn the right path for ourselves, rather than deciding glibly what Europe has done in error and what it must do to right it.

Surely, there is nothing so very revolutionary about a simple exchange of pulpits. Certainly there should not be, not among Christians. But to exchange them in order to discuss uniting them, that is revolutionary in essence.

Yet the Rev. George Christian Anderson addressing the Presbyterian congregation on the subject of Presbyterian-Episcopal unity Sunday morning said that his "loyalty to the teachings of Jesus concerning brotherhood and fellowship" made his presence in that pulpit inevitable and imperative.

Rev. Anderson listed the union of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church with the Presbyterian Church in 1906; the uniting of the Free Baptist with the Northern Baptist in 1911; the merging of three Lutheran Churches into the Norwegian Church of America in 1917 and the union of three others into the United Lutheran Church in 1918.

Rev. Anderson cited also the tenth anniversary recently marked by the United Church of Canada which was formed by the union of the Congregational, Methodist, and Presbyterian Churches; and the South India Plan, a proposal to unite the same three churches in southern India with the Church of England.

Sunday night another exchange of pulpits occurred in Swarthmore when the Ukrainian Liturgy was sung by the Lisanko Choir of St. Mary's Ukrainian Orthodox Church of Chester and its Father Mycyk spoke with sorrow of the persecution of Christians by Christians through the history of his people.

Now the Christmas season is a time of blessed miracles. Wouldn't it be a miraculous, Christlike wonder if Swarthmore minds could stay stretched and generous through the holiday? Then we might someday hope to understand the fanatical obsession of the Norwegian pastor of whom the Rev. David Braun told Trinity members Sunday morning.

Only men of goodwill can hope to achieve that, for that is peace, and brotherly love.

ing the basketball game with Springfield. It was also decided to limit the foster parent assembly to only 10 or 15 minutes.

GERMAN DINNER

After a dinner consisting of the usual knuckwurst, sauerkraut, potatoes, cider, and so forth, served by the first year girls, there will be entertainment and songs in German. Usually this dinner is held at noon, but this year it will take place in the evening to allow more time for entertainment.

HARK! THE WHOLE HIGH SCHOOL SINGS

Some of the happiest assembly programs in school are spent singing the traditional Christmas carols just before the holiday season. This year that special assembly which comes for the Junior High School on Thursday, December 12, will be especially much fun because of the variety of accompanists. The Junior High orchestra will be the first to lead the singing. Soon after, however, the singing will be accompanied by pianist Alice Hornaday followed by Helen Ware who will play the accordion. Allen Enders the very special and added attraction of the assembly, Sunday evening, December 23, will play a flute solo, "Dance of the Toy Flutes" from the Nut Cracker Suite, accompanied by Mary Marshall at the piano.

In the Senior High Assembly Wednesday, December 19, there will also be gay Christmas singing to waken the yuletide spirit. At this time our famous high-school musical trio Choral Director Alice E. Blodgett, Band Director John Jenny and Orchestra leader Charles Lum, will lead the caroling.

The students will also sing several carols with a brass choir from the band, and with the Senior High Orchestra. For its special surprise, the assembly will hear the orchestra play "Entrance and March of the Peers" from Gilbert and Sullivan.

Plans Caroling

Chorus members have begun to survey their singing schedule for the holiday season, and have found it to be full of singing, and full of fun. Their first appearance will be before the Christmas play "Why the Chimes Rang" to be given in the final assembly on Friday, December 21, but they will be heard again during the play as the musical background. The whole chorus is eagerly looking forward to the evening of December 21, when they will sing carol vespers for the men of the Naval annex. Though the vespers will be short, they will be made especially delightful by the vocal solos of Edith Maher and Ann Mogonigal, and the flute solo by Allen Enders.

will be another big occasion for chorus members, for it will be their second year of caroling throughout the village. They are hoping to establish a caroling tradition for the chorus of future years. So Swarthmore—keep listening.

Plan Commencement

A group of six students, representing the three senior high schools, met Thursday, December 7 to discuss plans for commencement ment next June. January 14 was selected as the deadline for the submission of music or lyrics for the class song. The committee, under the chairmanship of Dick Shelley, will meet intermittently throughout the remainder of the school year. Other members of the committee are John Foster, Ann deFuria, Delphine Murphy, Marjorie Harrison and Donald Swan.

RAILROADING IS

People

Nothing in this world is as interesting as—people! Nothing is as important as people... people who live and grow, love and get married... people with their habits and manners, their likes and dislikes. Nothing really matters but—people. The city? We think of it as people. The countryside is people. And so is the railroad... just folks—all of them!

Locomotives, cars, equipment... all these have been thought out, designed, engineered, developed and built by people for people. They are of value only as they serve people.

We of the Pennsylvania Railroad try to keep in mind always: everything we do is measured by how we help people, how we get along with people, how we treat people. Our greatest reward is in having people think well of us... because we have served them well!

DEADLINE—WEDNESDAY NOON

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1945

THE PATTERN OF CHRISTMAS

In the miscellany which passes across the desk of the editor of even a village newspaper many items are found that compel thought. Just the other day came the following fragment of evidently modern verse, without title and without credit.

"Only the children clasp His hand;
His voice speaks low to them,
And still for them the shining band
Wings over Bethlehem.

The ultimate laws alone we know,
The ledger and the sword—
So far away, so long ago
We lost the infant Lord."

On the same day that bit of verse floated to us, the daily papers and the radio were telling of President Truman's warning and appeal to the police officers of the land concerning juvenile delinquency. (Swarthmore has its own problems with adolescent delinquents.) Now no two things could seem more widely unrelated than that bit of verse and that appeal, yet we found them being woven into figures in a pattern in the loom of our mind.

The background of the pattern was the Christmas observances of yesteryears. Then Christmas was a high religious festival. O, there was much gaiety and mirth, there were merry shouts and happy salutations, there were carols—carols of praise and of worship. They were happy days, those Christmases; and in the heart of them was the Christ—the infant Lord, adored. That infant Lord was more than a symbol, He was very real. And that reality set the tone and the tempo of our observance.

At the heart of today's Christmas we still have the symbol of a child, but it is always the infant Lord? Do some of us, we oldersters—forget the Christ of Christmas? Is it true that "only the children clasp His hand?"

Recently a gentleman was heard to remark "No, we will not be celebrating Christmas this year. You see, our children are all grown up." Is this, then, Christmas only for children? Has it no meaning for maturity? Have the Christ of Christmas and the mature thought of men gone separate paths?

It has been said that "youth is the time for hailing the vision and coming to love the light; the religious task of the great middle years is to live and act in the light that has been seen."

Without Christ Christmas is a misnomer, an empty form without a heart. It ceases to be a high and holy observance just another holiday. Without Christ the Christmas images and pageantries lose their meaning and become bizarre make-believe.

Here is where meditations became woven into a pattern. If Christ and human maturity have a lessening affinity may not that be an explanation of the increasing tide of juvenile delinquency? The Christmas story is not a myth. It is fact. No other single event has so profoundly affected human history as did the birth of the infant Lord. If we treat that story as a myth; if we allow our children to think of it as a beautiful folktale and nothing more, then humanity has lost a quickening and an elevating force of mightiest potency.

Leaving Christ out of Christmas may be the first step in such a loss. A rampant commercialism and a high-pressure campaign of advertising have well-nigh made a tradesman's holiday of Christmas. We become almost evangelistic when we plead—for the sake of the children of the land, let's keep Christ in Christmas—and in our lives.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

☆ TO ONE AND ALL ☆

Unselfish interest in others is the keynote of happiness at Christmastime.

May each gift you receive breathe love and devotion and bind the ties of home and friendship more securely.

As for ourselves, we desire to express our appreciation for your loyalty to us in 1945, and wish you a Merry Christmas.

BUCHNER'S

AS the light of Christmas again brightens our faces and lightens our hearts, we turn our thoughts from ourselves to help others. For this is the spirit that first saw the light of day in a stable at Bethlehem, two thousand years ago, and which has endured ever since.

May God bless and protect you and your dear ones and bring happiness to your home this Christmas season.

23 S. CHESTER ROAD SWARTHMORE

NEWS NOTES

David Gilcrest arrived home Thursday from Colorado Springs to spend the holidays. It is his first Christmas home for five years.

Santa Claus would never get down the chimney with our load of good wishes for a Merry Christmas to the people of this community, because he just couldn't squeeze through.

You've been mighty good to us and we appreciate it beyond words. We want you to enjoy Christmas this season of 1945 as never before.

VICTOR D. SHIRER

So. Chester Rd.

Findings of Joy

This is the season of good will, and, looking down the long list of names of those who have shown their good will towards us in 1945, we come to yours. We want to thank you for this good will on your part, and to send just the friendliest of wishes for your happiness and cheer at Christmastime.

W. S. Bittle and Son

"Keep Christmas with all of its beauty
As Never you've kept it before,
Keep it with pride and rejoicing,
With garlands of green on your door —
Keep it with loving remembrance,
Keep it with songs — and a prayer
That the world will find kindness and comfort
And Peace will bring Joy — Everywhere!"

Our entire personnel joins in wishing Christmas joy to those whom we have served, and to others as well. Accept our sincere thanks for the privilege of being of help in making this Christmas of 1945 truly merry.

Light after Darkness This is our brightest Christmas in a long, dark time. Every light on every tree—every window that greets night with cheerful challenge—is a shining symbol of the passing of war's shadow. There is radiant happiness in family gatherings this year. Men are coming home from war. And those who hear their Christmas carols under strange skies are closer, nearer to home than they have been in a great while. For many, this will be a wistful Christmas—but a Christmas brave and strong in the knowledge that those who bought victory so dearly will make tomorrow's world a brighter place for us all.

HELP THE FIRE COMPANY PROTECT YOUR FAMILY AND HOME

During the next few days you will receive the annual notice of dues of the Swarthmore Fire and Protective Association. The Swarthmore Fire and Protective Association is a volunteer organization working for the benefit of our community. Support of the Fire Company is an investment in low Fire Insurance rates. It takes the cooperation of the entire community to maintain these low rates.

If the volunteer firemen are willing to pay $2.00 dues and give their time, day or night, and risk life and limb protecting your property, are you not willing to give $5.00 a year as an associate member in your own interest?

If you do not receive a notice and care to join and contribute, leave your membership fee at the Swarthmorean office or mail your check to the

Letter to the Editor

THANKS TO SANTA

Dear Editor:
It was a tired and weary Santa Claus who arrived at our house 4.30 Christmas morning to treat our children to such delight as only he can bring, and tho' he must have been exhausted there was no sign of it in his admirable handling of himself and perfect interpretation of what Santa should be to little ones.

So for the third year, I felt a rush of gratitude to this man whom we don't know, and tried to express an appreciation that no words or small tokens can say.

There must be hundreds of other parents like ourselves who feel helpless before this ultimate in Christmas giving, and it occurs to me that if we band together, each contributing our bit, we could find something for Santa that would remind him that we are grateful more than words can express, and proud that we have among us someone who really lives the Christmas Spirit.

Sincerely,
Jean Simmons Bass
