CHAUTAQUA GIVES SWARTHMORE RARE MUSICAL TREAT

The big Chautauqua tent on the college farm has been a centre of delight for music-lovers this week. From it has emanated melody in infinite variety, covering, it would seem, the whole range of musical possibilities of voice and instrument. And the little tent-crowded around have echoed tantalizing stretches of solos and symphonies, that have caused the uninitiated wayfarer to pick up his ears and wonder what was going on in quiet Swarthmore.

Well, it wasn't a "try-out" as many supposed, of the various companies and individual entertainers that are to appear on both "A" and "B" circuits of Chautauqua this summer. These were all tried out and selected many months ago, and because Chautauqua believes in change and variety, most of the attractions are new to Chautauqua and to the circuits over which they travel. No, the purpose of this unique gathering was rather typical of that hearty spirit of cooperation without which no organization can achieve highest efficiency. And incidentally several desirable ends have been gained. For one thing a well-balanced program, free from repetitions, was made possible; and for another, as

GRADUATION DAY AT DOWNTOWN

The tenth anniversary exercises of the Industrial and Agricultural School at Downingtown took place on May 25th. There were eleven girls and one young man graduated. Four veterans of the Civil War—bearing a flag—preceded the march of the graduates and pupils to the music of the Boys' Band, playing "Nearer My God to Thee."

The third floor of Pennsylvania Hall—generally used as a boys' dormitory—has been cleared for an auditorium. William A. Credit, president, said: "Poverty was no disgrace, but was sometimes very inconvenient." The themes of the addresses were the work and aims of the school—for character and efficiency. "The Downingtown Boy" in carpentry, mattress and chair making, shoe making, plumbing and farming. "The Downingtown Girl" in cooking and food values and economy, dress making, millinery, bread making and laundry, also in the commercial department, shorthand and typewriting. W. W. MacElree made the address to the graduates, and complimented them on their good work and the excellence of their speeches, in both choice of language and delivery. The girls made the dresses they wore, and one girl graduate said the self-dependent girl is the protected girl, and seemed to feel deeply what she said. There were one hundred and fifty-two pupils the past year. The exhibits showed good work done in sewing, cooking, carpentry and dress-making, etc.

The farm looks well, but the buildings show the wear and tear of the last few years. We admire the work of the Peace and Hampton, but this school of colored youth is near home and calls loudly for our help. At last the leading citizens of West Chester and Downingtown are taking a live interest in it. Swarthmore makes a close second!

SPECIAL NOTICE CONCERNING COMMENCEMENT AND CLASS DAY EXERCISES AT SWARTHMORE HIGH SCHOOL

Because of the serious over-crowding in recent years at the exercises of Commencement week at the Swarthmore High School, it has been decided to limit the admission to these exercises this year to the seating capacity of the High School auditorium.

The graduating class will have in their hands the tickets for admission to the Class Day exercises on Thursday evening, June 10th.

As usual, the graduating class will have a certain number of reserved seats each for Commencement Night. They are enclosing in their invitation application cards for tickets of admission to be applied for by those who receive invitations and are positive that they will be able to be present. In addition to this, each member of the other High School classes will receive one or two tickets of admission to be used in his or her family. Application may be made to either the president of the School Board or the Principal of Schools for any tickets of admission remaining after the above distribution has been made. These will be allotted as long as they last in the order in which they have been applied for.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT TO DELIVER ADDRESS AT SWARTHMORE COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT

The program for Commencement Week at Swarthmore College presents many interesting features this year.

On Friday, June 4th, the faculty received the Seniors and their parents in the Library. The occasion was a very pleasant beginning of the events which follow in rapid succession.

On Friday, June 11th, the Senior Class will hold their banquet at Strathaven Inn. A dance will follow the banquet.

Saturday, June 12th, at one o'clock, President and Mrs. Swain and Dean Meeteer will entertain the Seniors at luncheon. This is an informal gathering where speeches may be made or not, as the spirit moves those present.

On Sunday, June 13th, President Joseph Swain will deliver the baccalaureate address.

A BABY'S LOVE

As pure as a drop of dew that rests
Within the heart of a rose;
As warm as a beam from the golden crest of the sun in the east that glows;
As near to God as the sunlit stars
In the vault of blue above;
The sweetest and purest thing on earth
Is a little baby's love.

W. A. HOTDEK.

THE INTRUDER

He is so little to be so loved!
He came unbooted, ungarded, unglowed,
Naked and shameless,
Beggared and blameless,
And, for all he could tell us, even nameless.
Yet every one in the house bows down
As if the mendicant wore a crown.

He is so little to be so loud,
O, I own I would be wondrous proud
If I had a tongue
All swiveled and swung
With a double-back action twin-screw lung.
Which brought me victual and keep and care.

Whenever I shook the surrounding air,
He is so little to be so large,
Why, a train of cars or a whaleback barge

Couldn't carry the freight
Of the monstrous weight
Of all his qualities good and great,
And, though one view is as good as another,

Don't take my word for it, Ask his mother.

EDMUND VANCE COOK.

AN APPRECIATION

We wish to thank our friends for the many good articles contributed to the columns of this paper during the past year. The editor appreciates the help given along this line also the kind words of encouragement which are a compensation for much of the time and effort expended upon this civic work, effort that helps to keep alive the public spirit of the community. In cooperation there lies success.

THE WEEKLY PAPER

Byram L. Winters has suspended publication of the Waverly Free Press, which has been his property for a few years, and of which he has grown tired. This leads one of our friends of the daily press to remark that: "A weekly paper is pretty slow in these days when people want the news hot and when the events of a week past are often times almost forgotten before a weekly paper can get an opportunity to tell about them." Weekly newspapers, most of them, are local papers, handling the news of their immediate localities, and making no pretense of giving the news of the world, which is the field of the daily. And in its field the country weekly is serving its patrons—readers and advertisers—more efficiently than is the small-city daily.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Mr. Ketel will deliver the lecture-labor sermon at the Commencement exercises of the A. M. Cheshbrough Theological Seminary, North Chili, New York, on June 6. Thereafter he will be in attendance at the General Conference, Chicago, Ill.

RECEPTION TO MISS COCHRANE

A reception was given to Miss Cochran, of Canada Indian School, in Arizona, on last Friday. This pleasant affair was held at the home of Mrs. Ferguson. After the "guests" had refreshingly rendered, solo by Miss Ruth Potter, Miss Cochran was then introduced, and in simple, earnest fashion told of the far-off school, located in an arid, almost desert, country, of its pupils, and of the great needs of the inhabitants on this immense reservation for Gospel preaching and teaching. The Catholics, supported by the Drexel millions, are at work in some portions of the State, but there are thousands of the real men who are living and dying with little of hope and joy here, and no promise of it hereafter. The limitations of the school are painfully felt, when children are brought to its very doors by their parents, and entrance must be refused because of the lack of room.

The Ruud and the All-Gas Kitchen

When you come to think of it, about the only reason you keep your coal range in operation, especially in the summer time, is to furnish a hot water supply to the house. The all-gas kitchen is a luxury enjoyed principally in apartment houses, yet it is just as possible for you to have an all-gas kitchen in your house and still enjoy an unlimited hot water supply. THE RUUD AUTOMATIC GAS WATER HEATER furnishes hot water at every hot water faucet in the house without the slightest bit of attention. You don't have to light it on nor to get up in the middle of the night, nor to heat it from one year's end to the other. All you do when you want hot water is to turn the faucet and it will be hot as long as it runs, even if you should let it run all day.

This sounds wonderful—it is wonderful. If you are from Missouri and want to know how the RUUD accomplishes this miracle, call at our sales office and see the RUUD in actual operation.

SWARTHMORE'S OLD POWDER MILL

(Continued from Last Issue.) Philadelphia, January 17, 1776. Each person as are willing to erect powder mills in this Province within five miles distance of this city, are desired to send their names to the Committee of Safety, who will lend them money on security, if required, for that purpose, and give them other encouragement. A committee of four, was appointed by this major committee to select suitable sites and oversee the erection of mills.

It is proposed that the United States from a league of all the great nations, binding the signatories to agree to certain definite lines of international action, the most important of which is that the Powers joining the league use their joint military forces to prevent any one of their number going to war precipitately.

The movement had its origin in a series of private meetings, held at the Century Club in New York. It is interesting to note that President Swain, of Swarthmore College, is one of the signers.

SUFFRAGE LUNCHEONS CHEERED THOUSANDS OF WORKERS ON GOOD ROADS DAY

The best proof that the women of Pennsylvania take a practical interest in public affairs and are well qualified to take part in them was the manner in which suffragists all over the State took charge of the tremendous task of feeding the army of 8000 men that worked on the roads on Good Roads Day. The women's share of the Good Roads Day work was done in a thoroughly business-like manner. Following the instructions of Mrs. Hannah J. Patterson, State chairman of the Woman Suffrage Party, leaders of the local suffrage organizations got in touch with the local officials in their communities and learned from them just how many men were expected to work and where it would be most convenient to serve them lunch. They then made arrangements to provide lunches and cooling drinks for them.

WM. H. TAFT TO DELIVER ADDRESS AT SWARTHMORE

(Continued from Page One.) Swarthmore, Pa., June 4, 1915. On the evening of the same day, the exercises will be held. An old tradition at Swarthmore is wrapped up in these exercises, which is a bit of history, marked by a tone bearing the class ministerial.

Monday, June 14th, will be Class Day. The exercises will begin at 2:30 and will be held out of doors. At 4:30 the Seniors will give a play, "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Alumni Day occurs on Tuesday, June 15th. The reunion of the classes of 1887, 1888, 1889, 1895, 1899, 1900, 1901, 1902 will take place that day. A luncheon will be served at noon in the College dining rooms and a supper in the evening in the men's gymnasium. It is expected that Hon. William Howard Taft, who is to deliver the Commencement address next day, will arrive at Swarthmore about 9:30 P. M. If so, he has consented to address the alumni briefly before the end of their day's program.

If the weather permits, the commencement exercises will be held in the out-door auditorium at 11:00 A. M. The academic procession will start from Somerville Hall and will include members of the Board of Managers, faculty and the Senior Class.

Hon. William Howard Taft, ex-President of the United States, will deliver the Commencement address. After the address the conferring of degrees will take place.

FOR MOTORISTS

In consequence of the general disregard of motorists of speed and warning signs, the authorities of Radnor Township will hereafter strictly enforce the provisions of the motor vehicle law regarding the blowing of horns and running slow at times erected for warning purposes.

Motorists are also warned of police activity on the pike between Darby and Lansdowne. An official of the Automobile Club said: "The policemen on duty at this trap seem to have had eyesight. Cars that go through rapidly do not bring their numbers taken, but those going slowly are reported for speed."

Do You Remember

when the barn was burned down on Jones farm last summer? It was struck by lightning about a o'clock in the afternoon. Just a little flame appeared on the roof and if it could only have been reached at once, with a little water, there would have been no loss. But there was no ladder. The hired man boosted Jones up to the shed roof, adjoining the barn and then handed him a bucket of water. A good fire of the water spilled out on the lit wood's back, where there was no fire. Jones scrambled up the roof a little way, upset the bucket, stepped, rolled off the roof and fell on Mrs. Jones. Hot words ensued but the fire was better. The barn burned down. I have both straight and extension ladders for sale, running from 12 to 40 feet in length.

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT: Commencement exercises at Swarthmore College were marked by a noteworthy feature this year. The graduating class, which consisted of 127 members, was the largest in the history of the college. Two advanced degrees were conferred, making in all 27 degrees given. Members of the Board of Managers, faculty and senior class met in Somerset Hall and went in a body to the auditorium, where the exercises were held. After a period of silence, Robert M. Jamney, President of the Board, read the Scriptures, Honorable William Howard Taft, ex-President of the United States, who delivered the Commencement address, was introduced by President Jamney. In this world crisis, there are two great men in the United States, to whom the people of this country will listen with profound attention. One was formerly a professor in a well known institution of higher learning, and now is President of the United States. The other was formerly President of the United States, and is now a professor in a well known institution of higher learning. It is our good fortune to have the latter as our honored guest today. He will deliver the oration of the occasion. His topic is "Church, Civilization and War." Fellow Swarthmoreans and friends, William Howard Taft.

SWARTHMORE HIGH SCHOOL: The annual commencement of the Swarthmore High School was held on Thursday evening June 10. The exercises were unusually good. The Salutatory was delivered by Walter Halley Abell, and the Valedictory by Melanick Nicholson. The Salutatory was delivered by Walter Halley Abell, and the Valedictory by Melanick Nicholson. BACCAULAUREATE ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT SWAIN: The Ideals of Napoleon or Jesus Christ. Which Shall Prevail? "Corsica has conquered Galilee. These are the words of Professor J. A. Crabbe, who died before the beginning of the present European War. Fifteen months before its beginning, he believed the war was inevitable. He said, 'In France, this conflict between Christ and Napoleon for the mastery over the minds of men is the most significant spiritual phenomenon of the twentieth century.' Before I read this statement of Professor Crabbe, the conviction had been growing on me that some such situation exists not merely in Germany, but in more or less in all countries. It is not my present purpose to try to fix the blame for the war on Germany, or any other country, but briefly to examine the ideals of Napoleon and of Jesus Christ, especially with reference to war; and to ask the question, whether war is justifiable under the teachings of Christ, and consider whether it is true that any nation that submits its cause to the arbitrament of the sword has not in a degree submitted itself to the creed of Napoleon.

SWARTHMORE PREPARATORY SCHOOL: The Swarthmore Preparatory School held its annual commencement on June 10th, and with these fine exercises closed the best year in the history of the school in almost every respect; in its studies, in its sports, in the spirit pervading the classes, in leadership, in all. It furnishes a record of which any school might well be proud. Following is the program list of graduates and honors conferred: Scripture Reading. Class Song. Oration—Child Labor. Oration—The Spirit of Discovery. Oration—The Salmon Must Go. Oration—Why Go to College? Oration—Why Go to College? Oration—Why Go to College? Oration—Why Go to College?

NEWS NOTES: Now is the leafy time of June. Her roses cast our walls. Life plays a graduation time. In all our college halls. June's roses, sweet and smiling, stand. Biplanes in each fair white hand. The length and breadth of our dear land. "Every dog has his day," this rainy season is the gala time for frogs and ducks, mackinches, rubber boots and umbrellas. The names of the following residents of Swarthmore are found in the list of college graduates this season: Reba Mahan Camp, Kamagahid, Garabed Boyajian, Hilda Howe, Rebecca Webb Holmes, John Joseph Matthews, Jennie Haines Hayes, Elizabeth Williams Oliver and Helen Elmore. Rev. Burton Alva Kunkle, who is one of Swarthmore's literary lights, addressed members of the Delaware Historical Society, recently, and told of a valuable document he had discovered among the archives of the Pennsylvania Historical Society. This paper was an unsigned charter giving the right to maintain a government by assembly. Miss Margaret Henry is one of the graduates of State College. Mrs. Charlotte Smith is home for the holidays. Mrs. E. A. Stockton is progressing favorably as can be expected. Mr. and Mrs. Erskine have returned from a stay in Atlantic City. On last Friday afternoon at a little tea at the home of Mrs. Arthur Collins, the engagement was announced of Miss Jean Hamilton Walker to Dr. Henry Jermain M. Creighton, assistant professor of chemistry at Swarthmore College. Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hull have been spending this week in the Yosemite Valley. They expect to return East on the tenth of July, when they will go direct to Jamestown, Rhode Island. Mr. William Walter returned from his Western trip last Tuesday. FOURTH OF JULY CONTRIBUTIONS: The Fourth of July is again drawing near, and plans are being formulated for a fitting celebration of the day by the Borough of Swarthmore. A contribution is desired from each resident in order that a program suitable to the occasion may be observed. By sending yours in as soon as you have read this, you will materially aid the committee in their preparations. Remittance may be made to Chairman Kennedy, of the Finance Committee, or to E. H. McBrinn, Treasurer, at Lafayette Avenue.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC: The Swarthmore Presbyterian Sunday School will hold their annual picnic on Wednesday, June 23, at Chester Park.

ANNIVERSARY WEEK: This week is Anniversary Week at Faraday Hall, and especially fine programs are being offered both Wednesday and Saturday. This Saturday's attraction is Edmund Breese in "The Walls of Jericho." Peace at any price will not insure tranquility, but righteousness at any price is a surety of peace. (Continued on page Three)

THE CHURCH, CIVILIZATION AND WAR: The history of religious liberty and tolerance must be one which the members of the Society of Friends study with pride. Erasmus, of the few in the sixteenth century, believed in it, and resented the restrictions upon him, a priest of the church, which a different view entailed. The persecution of one church instead of being a lesson to its victim stirred them and the followers of their creed to counter-persecutions when power came into their hands. The English, and the Puritans conceded the logic of each other by the same intolerance, and the Puritans of New England who sought her rocky shores for freedom to worship God, declined to permit others to exercise the same freedom and banished Roger Williams. The dissenters from the tenets of Puritan theology and practices. Almost among the schismatics, the Friends, the followers of George Fox, were consistent, and as they resented the persecution of themselves by others, they granted the benefits of tolerance to others when they came to establish a State in Pennsylvania and New Jersey; and now, for more than 250 years, they are firm in their religious convictions and life, have defended and maintained religious liberty, and have lived in the stiff, rigid Puritanism of New England, through the very strength and force of the individual responsibility, and that Puritan theology came to the same view of the necessity for independence of religious thought and toleration of differences in religious creed.

AN IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

The congregational meeting on last Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian Church was well attended. The Rev. Donald D. D. President of the Synod presided. The meeting was called to receive the resignation of the Rev. Wm. M. Woodfin, who has been pastor of this church for the past seven years. After a few well-chosen remarks by Dr. Donald, the purpose of the meeting was explained and Mr. Woodfin made the following address:

"I have been seven and eight years ago, at the Presbyterian Church in Swarthmore. I have been called to the Swarthmore Presbyterian Church to become its pastor, and that call I accepted as a call from God to minister with and for you."

"I can hardly realize that it has been so long since I came to you from the Seminary at Princeton and took up my labors with you. The time has passed quickly because it was spent in a faithful service. You have made my pathway easy by helpful cooperation. If I have brought to you messages of helpfulness, it has been because I have gotten those messages from God and you."

"I have rejoiced my heart to note the prosperity which has attended our labors in the Lord. The congregation has grown from a membership of 176 to one of over 400 in that time, the equipment has been enlarged and the ordinary challenge accepted in obedience to our Lord's command. The last year closing with January has been one of the best in the history of the church in point of gain of membership, benevolent contributions and attendance upon the public worship. All these organizations assuming their responsibility for service. We are not leaving a declining work but one which is moving forward."

"But tonight I have come to ask that you join with me in requesting Presbytery to dissolve the pastoral relation which has existed for these many years. On the seventh anniversary of my ministry at the close of the service I announced that some time this year I would bring to a close my labors in Swarthmore. This announcement I made without consulting my official board. I have come therefore to ask that you cooperate with me in severing the relationship that I may have the summer months free for rest, recreation and travel and thus regain my strength that I may be refreshed for my labors in the fall."

"There are two reasons why I make this request: The first reason is because I feel that I have practically accomplished my best work here. I have had plenty of faith with your assistance, seen things that I have had dreams and prayed that they have become realities. One of my ambitions was to see this church supported by its own missionary society and this has been done. It has been my desire to stand for positive evangelism and I feel that the church has made its influence felt upon the resident citizens but especially the transient students who work here."

"I am making this request of you and I present the petition to Presbytery with your permission, out of a sense of having discharged the duty imposed upon me by the Presbytery which instructed me as pastor of this church."

"During my pastorate a number of invitations have come to me to labor in other fields, some offering much larger remuneration than you were able to pay, but feeling that my work was not done, I have steadfastly turned a deaf ear to them and that without so much as a word of refusal."

"I am making this request of you and I present the petition to Presbytery with your permission, out of a sense of having discharged the duty imposed upon me by the Presbytery which instructed me as pastor of this church."

COMMENCEMENT OF EMPORIA COLLEGE

It is, presumably, graduation time this week end over. Among other fine affairs, we note the 27th annual Commencement of the College of Emporia, Kansas, at which one of the well known residents of Swarthmore was honored. Rev. Wm. Hiram Foulkes delivered the address on this occasion, taking as his theme, "The Master Passion." Following this, degrees were conferred on 21 students by Rev. Mr. Foulkes, who is President of the College Board of Trustees. Honorary degrees were then conferred upon several gentlemen by President Culbertson, who recounted the services rendered by each of the recipients. The degree of Doctor of Laws was given to Rev. Wm. Hiram Foulkes, a presentation which will be of interest to many in this borough. Honors are not lightly bestowed by the College of Emporia, in whose graduates the Puritan inheritance for which Kansas stands has been distinctly cultivated and most gloriously fruited.

IVY EXERCISES

The Ivy exercises took place at seven o'clock on Sunday evening. The class stone had been placed in the walls of the Observatory and at the appointed time the senior class went in a body to plant the ivy beneath the stone. After a few preliminary remarks by the President of the Class, Laurie Seaman, of Glen Cove, New York, he introduced Miss Margaret Mine, of New York City, who had been chosen the class orator. After the Ivy Oration was delivered, the class spade was handed to the President of the class, of 1916.

Following the Ivy exercises the student body assembled in the College Chapel for the last chapel exercise of the year. Members of the faculty spoke briefly giving words of advice to the students about to go out forth their alma mater. The exercises closed by the singing of Alma Mater.

Among the lecturers engaged are: Dr. Edwin D. Starbuck, Dr. William R. Foulsh, Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer, Dr. Jesse H. Holmes, Dr. Elin Grant, Mrs. Martha P. Falconer, Mr. Frank Steubens and Dr. O. Edward Jannet. President Joseph Swain will deliver the opening address.

A course ticket for all the morning and evening lectures may be had for four dollars. For further particulars see advertisement in this issue of SWARTHMORE NEWS.

In accordance with their biennial custom, the Society of Friends ("Hicksite") will hold a Summer School for religious and social study. The school this year will be held at Swarthmore College, beginning the afternoon of June 22nd, and closing two weeks from that date. The charge for board and tuition for the full two weeks will be $20. The mornings will be devoted to lectures and Round Table discussions. Each evening there will be a lecture, followed by some form of entertainment. The afternoons will generally be left free for rest and recreation.

much as calling the attention of my officials to such invitations. The work which I shall perhaps take up was offered me just a year ago. The monthly compensation has not been the inducement for me to remain, nor has it been the drawing power to go. If I did not feel that my best work had been accomplished, if I did not feel that I could now do more efficient work elsewhere, I should not make the request of you and of Presbytery.

There is a second reason why I make this request. I feel that some one else can take up the work and do a better work than I could possibly do were I to continue with you. A new voice in the pulpit with a new way of putting truths, a new presence in the home with a different pastoral touch, a new spirit with new ideas will be able to secure a more complete cooperation and a more perfect service. My ministry has placed the emphasis upon certain truths and now another can place the emphasis upon other truths, ours has been a vigorous proclamation and now another can make a gentle entry, and each have their place in the building up of the kingdom of Christ. All men are not alike and all ministers are not alike and I am sure that when you have exercised your judgment and have relied upon the leadership of the Holy Spirit for guidance in the matter, you will be led to select the man who will lead you in to still greater prosperity and into a more perfect consecration of life and heart to God.

Let no one think for a moment that it means nothing to me to make this request of you or of Presbytery. It means more than I can express in words. The heart often speaks most when the lips are silent. It is a relationship that can be felt in the heart rather than expressed in words. I came to you with practically no experience in handling church affairs and I shall go away with knowledge from the school of experience in the leadership of the church. I came to you with all of the traditions and prejudices of the south, but you made me soon forget that I was any one else than your minister and in a short time I felt completely at home with you. I am leaving some of the truest friends in all of the world and I shall always think of Swarthmore and this church in terms of that friendship which death alone can dissolve.

I have tried to do what I felt was my duty fearlessly, and without for a moment weighing the personal consequences. No man can be a true minister of Christ, in my judgment, and do less. I have preached my honest convictions from the pulpit and stood for those things which I believed to be for the best interest of the kingdom of our Lord and his church. I felt the burden of the call to lead the forces against the saloon this county and even at the sacrifice of my health and perhaps some of the pastoral duties, we struck a blow which the liquor people felt. We were able to do this because you as a church rose up and gave to me the backing that was necessary to sustain me. What ever of credit is due for that work is shared with you.

Then too I have come into very tender relationship with many of you in these many years. Many of you have been led to confess Christ and to come to the Communion table for the first time thro our pastoral ministrations. During these years practically every boy and girl who has come into this church has done so thro that study door where the communicant class was conducted. I have had a personal touch with all of those in their betrothal to Christ and his church.

Then too I have been with some of you in sickness and sorrow and have attempted in my feeble way to be in Gods hands a comfort to the broken hearted. With some of you I have walked down the valley of silence and stood with you as loved ones were crossing the bar. I have buried your husbands, sisters, brothers, parents and children, and shall never forget the sweet and tender feelings which only a pastor can have. It is in this relation that what some call the cold heart of the minister becomes the warm tender heart of the pastor.

My ministry to you and for you I shall perhaps forget in time. The sermons I have preached to you I have forgotten already and so have you, and the only assurance of their surviving is the fact they have all been written out in full and are now in book form; but there is one thing that I will never forget, and that is your ministry to me. As many of you know, I have not been in the best of health for the last two years. I have not been able to be at my best many times, but your words of cheer in the face of my consciousness of mediocre service have been an inspiration to me. One year ago this week I had my first experience as a patient in a hospital and while I had not a relative within a thousand miles, I never for one moment felt the need of them, for you were, as parents, sisters and brothers to me. You filled my mail with loving messages and my room with fragrant flowers. The flowers, long since have withered but their fragrance abides, being embalmed in a memory that cannot be forgotten. I never turn to that ordeal without scenting the fragrance of your love and kindness and sympathy.

Then when I did what most people do, went back to work too soon and worked too hard and exhausted all my reserve force and felt for the first time the distressing effect of snapping nerves and went away to a sanitarium for rest, your love and loyalty made itself felt upon my heart in a way that I shall never forget. Among the most priceless and sacred treasures that I shall leave away from this place will be the letters of appreciation and tender sympathy which poured in upon me at that time while I was suffering as only one can suffer whose nervous reserve has been exhausted. I shall always think of my life here as one of enrichment for I have taken in far more than I have given out to you.

When I shall close my labors here I shall do it with the consciousness of having followed the path of duty as I saw it, of having labored for the interest of the church rather than my own and of having attempted, in a small way at least, to glorify my Master. Who bought me with his blood, called me by his grace, commissioned me by His church to preach His Gospel, and to Him and Him alone I shall hold myself accountable at the last great day when all of our works shall be tried by fire. I shall pray that God's richest blessings may ever rest upon you and your labors and that peace and love and service may bind you into one body, with one spirit and that you may strive earnestly to accomplish one end—the glorifying of God and the enjoyment of Him forever.
