SWARTHMORE A. S. 12; GIMBEL'S S. T. 7

The Swarthmore All Stars defeated Gimbel's Score Team on Saturday in a heavy hitting game, 12 to 7.

For the first five innings the game was very close, the Gimbel infield giving Kate fine support. In the sixth and seventh innings Captain Mercer's men broke loose and by heavy hitting piled up runs, which took all the life out of their opponents and put the game safely on ice.

Murphy at second base for the visitors furnished the crowd much amusement by his antics, and received their applause for his daring base running.

Next Saturday the Argo Field Club's nine will entertain the All Stars. Everybody out.

PEACE ESSAY

The Woman's Peace Party offered prizes to the school children last May for the best essay on Peace.

The grammar school prize was awarded to Dorothy Tomlinson, aged 13, of the Swarthmore Preparatory School, for the following:

The Brotherhood of Nations

The great European War that is now raging across the waters, killing millions of the noblest and best men, women and children of some fifteen nations, is the largest, fiercest, and most terrible war the world has ever witnessed. Thousands of brave men are struggling daily against a hundred different deaths, not only those of war itself, but starvation and exhaustion. Hundreds of helpless women, children and men, crippled or infirm from age, are daily killed, murdered, you may call it, in the very houses where they seek refuge. Sweethearts are driven to voluntary deaths when their lovers are killed. Fond mothers are deprived of their sons, wives of their husbands, and children of their fathers.

And what is the cause of it all? These human lives are being taken so

WELL KNOWN RESIDENTS DEPART

The News regrets to announce the departure from town tomorrow of Dr. and Mrs. Carl W. Gay, who have been so active in the social, club, and church life of the town. Dr. Gay has been offered and has accepted the position of Professor of Animal Husbandry in the College of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, in Minneapolis. The place filled by Dr. and Mrs. Gay in this borough has been so large and their work in every capacity has been so efficient that it will be difficult to replace them.

We have lately lost by removal to other sections of the country an unusual number of prominent residents, whose departure we are sorry to note. Among the latest of these is Dr. and Mrs. Ferguson, who, as announced in a previous issue, will soon be located in Baltimore, Md., and Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Downey and Miss Isabel Downey have located in the West.

THE HORSE'S APPEAL

My master, whenever you may be,
Hearken to a poor creature like me!
I'll serve you faithfully every day,
And never ask for a cent of pay.
I will be on time in rain or shine,
Carry your burdens without a whine.
I will go whichever way you say,
And never presume to say you may!
With the food and shelter you provide,
Do not forget there's something beside.
Without which life would be cold and drear,
And utterly lacking of all cheer.
To make me happy and run the faster—
Kind words from you, I ask, my master!

FIVE PEOPLE BROUGHT FLOWERS

The average number who bring flowers to the station on Wednesdays and Fridays for Flower Mission does not often exceed this. As only all the Swarthmoreans who are interested, made this to cheer the work of poor in the hot city in the way:

OPERA AT STRATH HAVEN INN

Limosines and touring cars rolling in constant procession through the winding, apple tree lined driveway to the porte-cochere of the Strath Haven Inn, on Tuesday night, July 25, there to deposit their brilliantly arrayed passengers, gave the impression of an opera night at the Metropolitan, and with reason, for it was really an opera night. It was opera that went to the audience, contrary to the usual custom of the audience going to the opera. It was at once of the numerous attractive novelties provided by J. M. Sheilley, the proprietor, for his summer guests at this popular hotel.

The entertainment was provided by the Bohemian Opera Club, of Philadelphia, which was represented by forty members of its chorus, five of its soloists and several of its officers, and the attraction was a performance in concert form of Mascagni's ever popular grand opera, "Cavalleria Rusticana." The opera, together with Delibes' lovely ballet, in two acts, "Coppelia," will be presented next fall by the club at the Metropolitan Opera House, Philadelphia, with the same cast that sang on Tuesday night, a chorus of more than one hundred, and a ballet of fifty, accompanied by an orchestra of fifty of Philadelphia's leading musicians.

That the performance was appreciated, was shown by the frequent and enthusiastic applause with which it was punctuated by the imposing audience which filled the spacious hall of the hotel, and overflowed upon the broad porches. The artistry shown by the company was a revelation, and bore

MISSIONARY PORCH MEETINGS

The meetings planned for each Tuesday afternoon in August will be the most interesting of the series, and all the women of the borough are invited. They will be held at the home of Mrs. Ferguson, 212 Nassau Avenue, at 3 o'clock.

August 8—Missionary Heroes. Presented by fifteen young women.

August 15—The Work of the Methodist Deaconess Home of Philadelphia. Presented by Miss Zella Linn.

August 22—Work Among Young Women. Miss Bertha Schultz, Philadelphia.

August 29—Missionary Play. Mothers in Council.

COLLEGE LIBRARY CLOCK DISABLED

On last Monday morning a weight of the college clock fell to the floor of the entry corridor of the library building. No one was in the building at the time. The damage caused was very slight.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Sunday morning, August 6, will be the bi-monthly administration of the Sacrament of Communion. Those desiring to join the church will be received at this service. The pastor will preach at both services.

On Sunday morning last the subject of the sermon was: Walking in the old ways—not because they are old, but because they are good. God makes the way before us plain, but because it is straight and narrow and hard, few there are that find it. Only by constant communion with the Father and companionship with the Son is the way made easy. Christianity is not belief or life, but both. God puts a Why and a Wherefore in each life. We must learn to take each present moment with all of joy it contains. Finally there is rest for him who walks steadfastly. And not only eternal rest but resting places apart along the way. "Thus saith the Lord: Stand ye in the ways and see, ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls."

On Sunday morning, August 13, Rev. Dr. L. W. Munhall will preach. In the evening Rev. George H. McClelland will be with us. Both these speakers are known to Swarthmore. One by national reputation, the other because of his work here during the pastor's absence last year. Come and hear them.

Don't forget the evening service is at seven o'clock during these hot days.

GAMBLING DEN RAIDED

Early Friday morning last five colored men were arrested and later convicted before Justice of Peace Voelker for gambling. This is the first result of a determined effort being made by the authorities to rid the borough of an undesirable element now living or visiting among us. It is also a public answer to many complaints lately registered against the rowdyism so prevalent in a certain section of our town. The drinking and gambling reported so common in that portion of the borough will be stopped by extreme measures if necessary.

The respectable, law-abiding citizens of both races are glad to know that such action is being taken, and will cooperate with the authorities to rid the borough of these law breakers.

FEDERATION OF NEGRO WOMEN'S CLUBS

The State Federation of Negro Women's Clubs held its annual convention in the Calvary Baptist Church, corner of Second and Central Avenue, in Chester, Pa., on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th of August. The program was an interesting one. In the evening session of the first day, the Hon. W. S. McDowell, Mayor of Chester, delivered a Welcome on behalf of the city. Mrs. Leanna Green followed with a Welcome on behalf of the club, and Mrs. Lena Harris responded to these addresses. Other speakers of note were Mrs. Addie Dickerson, the well known lawyer; Mrs. M. C. Lawton, of Washington, and Mrs. B. Aiken.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOTES

Rev. J. B. Rendall, D. D., president of Lincoln University, will occupy the pulpit on next Sabbath. Rev. Charles S. Davies, of Fairbury, Illinois, will preach on Sunday, August 14.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society will be omitted for the month of August. Due notice of the September meeting will be given.

News Notes

Dorothy Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Webster, formerly of Swarthmore, was taken suddenly ill on Wednesday of last week and operated upon at the New Rochelle Hospital for appendicitis. Dorothy's many friends in Swarthmore will be pleased to hear that the operation was very successful.

Mr. E. A. Stockton and family will leave for Ocean City tomorrow.

Many of our residents enjoy the delicious dinners served every Sunday at the tea rooms. Swarthmore is indeed fortunate in having such first class dining places.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sim have rented the house of Dr. Carl W. Gay. Mr. Sim is the manager of the Sun Shipbuilding Company, lately formed in Chester.

Mrs. Louis Seaber and children are enjoying sea breezes at Atlantic City.

Newspapers are increasing rates all over the country, due to the shortage of paper. The war is responsible for this. Munition factories are buying up all the available stock of rags for manufacturing ammunition.

Keep cool, take your vacation now, while the weather is steaming and brewing.

THE ORIGIN OF THE PEACH

R. H. Nassau

The verses quoted below were written by the well known author and missionary, Rev. R. H. Nassau, almost sixty years ago. His history is an interesting one. While tending medicine after his graduation from Princeton University, he fell, not one of the pupils attending the seminar conducted by his father, Dr. Nassau presented one of these attractive little Philadelphia girls, with some fine fruit accompanying the gift with this story of its origin:

The girl was sick and tired of ammonia and of wine. And so they set their wits to make a fruit just less divine.

Down from their cloudy home they came.

To where Ephraim came, And guided by the muses' wine, Their earthly task began.

First, a Cotus made old Terra give A slender branching tree, And there, downed its boughs with leaves, An emerald drapery.

Then, over the whole, Queen Juno cast Her robe of purple line, Immediate, from the tender twigs, The tinted blossom-bine.

Pomona, raptured with the sight, Drew near, the flowers to view; The petals drooped beneath her breath, While forth the young fruit grew.

From Graces' anthem 'round the tree, Outlines of fruit fell, And soon the undeveloped fruit 'Enlarged with curving swell.

Fair Aphrodite traced it then, As if its grace to slip, Straightway its soft form became As perfect as her lip.

Gay Iris, dressed a sun can down, Then, on the fruit with random brush, Dashed brightest lines about.

Diana, Pallas, and their train, In flow'rs to complete, Infused all earth's commingled tastes, In one harmonious sweetness.

Pan, having caught of grace to give, Said now the fruit should crown, So over the outside smooth he spread A soft protecting down.

This fruit, thus made for goddesses, Bright, fairy, take from me, For if a goddess you are not, You surely ought to be.

Septem, 1859.

THE NEW PREPAREDNESS OF SUFFRAGISTS

Harrisburg, Pa., July 21.—Suffragists throughout the entire State have been enlisted under the banner of "The New Preparedness."

Called to the new colors by their State president, Mrs. George H. Duffy, the army of women has been accepted and will be mustered in by Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, Commissioner of Health.

"The enemy of the new force is disease in every form, and the end to be obtained is the passage by every borough of new model health regulations," just compiled by Dr. Dixon. Offering their organization to their State Health Department as part of the national suffrage organization, plan to assist in combating infantile paralysis, the Pennsylvania suffragists were asked to do more by Commissioner Dixon, who requested assistance in having all boroughs adopt uniform health regulations to "improve the health and general well-being of all against disease in general."

"The suffragists accepted and are sending throughout the State a special leaflet, just completed by Dr. Dixon which deals with rules to be observed by those nursing and caring for persons suffering from 'antier polio-myelitis' or infantile paralysis. In a few days the suffragists will forward to all their members and affiliated organizations the new health regulations. These are said to be the broadest in scope and the most comprehensive issued in any State. They were recently completed and are now being printed. Throughout the fall and winter the suffragists will endeavor to have them adopted in their various localities.

Adoption of the new regulations, according to Dr. Dixon, will "mean adding months to the happiness and preparedness of our people than any other one thing."

Relative to the offer of the suffragists, Dr. Dixon said: "This offer of co-operation by the large numbers of women identified with the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association to assist the State Health Department is one of the most valuable we ever have received. We are already directly interested in the health of children and others exposed to the State valuable assistance by working with the State Health Department and under its direction."

Mrs. Orally in her notice to suffrage workers described the offer as "the underpinning as 'the contribution to the general welfare of the State. We will throw all the strength of our organization with its thousands of members into the fight to secure model health regulations and disseminate special information" issued by the State Health Department."

OPERA AT STRATH HAVEN INN

(Continued from Page One.) evidence of careful preparation and expert training. The chorus sang in splendid voice, with remarkable precision of attack and delicacy of expression, and none of the intensity of passion or dramatic fire which Mascagni wove into his score was lost by either chorus or principals. The opera was sung under the inspiring direction of John Curtis, Jr., director of music at the Strath Haven Inn, conductor of the Junior Symphony Orchestra, of Philadelphia, and one of the conductors of the Behrens Opera Club, under whose patron the opera was studied by the club. He held his singers under the perfect control of the long-experienced operatic director, and brought out all the exquisite tonal coloring of the music. Miss Zipporah Rosenberg was the Santuzza, and proved to be a young soprano of true grand opera quality.

singing in a voice rich in quality and big in volume, and with such mastery of insight as to lose her personality wholly in that of the role, voicing all the bitterness and anguish in poor Santuzza's heart in a manner that fairly thrilled her hearers.

In Bernard W. Poland the club presented a young tenor whose success was little short of sensational. He sang in pure, flexible tone, and a power such as is seldom heard outside the great opera houses. In the "Siciliana," which is part of the overture, he electrified everyone by taking high C with an ease, grace and richness, which promise to make him, in a few years, one of America's foremost tenors. In the great duet between Turrida and Santuzza, Mr. Poland and Miss Rosenberg fairly "carried the audience away."

Russell Spruance, a young baritone of sweet but robust and sympathetic voice, sang the part of Alfio understandingly, his skillfully changing intonation being superbly expressive of the deceived carter's changing moods, marking the various steps from the calmness of his everyday life, through the revelation of his wife's perfidy, Turrida's rants, the challenge and the final tragedy. Mrs. Ethel Stone Fox brought to the part of Mamma Lucia a contralto voice rich and strong, which she used with musicianly skill. The few measures allotted to Lola were prettily sung by Miss Beatrice Carr, one of the club's rising young sopranos.

The entire performance was accompanied by Miss Louise deGinter, who is not only recognized as one of Philadelphia's leading pianists and accompanists, but who is a writer and composer of note. Her support of the singers was perfection itself. The overture and intermezzo were impressively played by Miss deGinter and Edward A. Brill, violinist.

In the audience was Miss Bianca Saroya, prima donna soprano last season of the Boston Grand Opera Company. Miss Saroya was one of the most enthusiastic in her praise of the performance. She studied the opera last summer in Rome under the personal tutelage of the composer, Pietro Mascagni, and with the expert knowledge of the work thus gained, she said that the tempo and interpretation of Conductor Curtis and the singers was absolutely perfect.

The Behrens Opera Club is the latest development of a movement started early in 1906 by John Curtis, Sr., to develop American singers and exploit their talents in English, for the purpose of overcoming the old prejudices against singers of grand opera other than those who come to us with the foreign trademark. In this "America First" propaganda, Mr. Curtis had for his associate as musical director for

SCOTT NEARING ON WAR PSYCHOLOGY

We cultivate a war psychology. From the time the war broke out we have had little lead soldiers, and the war has a real gun and military. It is strange as much time in teaching war, and we do not grow up with a different psychology in this matter. Whereas we have a national history, we have a war psychology.

PEERMONT BY-THA-SEA

Those who are in search of quiet and rest by the sea-side may find it at the picturesque little place of Peermont, New Jersey.

The largest sand dunes on the Jersey coast are located at this point. These dunes with their dark back ground of fir trees afford a good subject for the artist's brush. There are few buildings and to be sure to mar the beauties of nature. Here may be seen to fullest advantage the glories of the rising and setting sun, and the beautiful moon as it melts its pathway across the water shimmering every wave it touches. Peermont is truly an ideal place for rest and relaxation.

Every Friday night at the Casino in Peermont there is what is called "Peermont Stone Night." The entertainment is opened with motion pictures. After a few reels are shown about 300 prizes of vegetables, clothing and household goods are distributed. It is the custom of the Casino to give away a ticket of admission to the Casino to the winners of the prizes. The winners are called off from the stage by the holders of the same good fortune and select a paper from a basket, on which is written the name of the prize-winning thing from a squash to a pig and a real gun and military. It is strange as much time in teaching war, and we do not grow up with a different psychology in this matter. Whereas we have a national history, we have a war psychology.

THE THREATENED STRIKE

This is a time of general unrest, of wars and rumors of wars. Individuals as well as companies, countries and whole continents are infected with the germ of confusion and every man is ready to knock the chip from the shoulder of his fellow. Philadelphia has had a trolley strike which was a laughable failure, but the threatened country-wide strike of railway employees is of a more serious nature, and if not averted will bring disaster in its train. It is impossible to estimate the losses involved in a movement that would stop all traffic, block all industries, cut off the supplies of towns and cities and bring deprivation and suffering to uncounted numbers. It is stated on good authority that these men who lightly contemplate this railway strike are already better paid than any other class of employees. That higher wages would mean higher rates of travel for an already over-laden public. Arbitration and mediation have been rejected, as well as the good offices of President Wilson, yet it seems that this strike will really come to pass.

It seems incredible that without just cause any man, or company of men, can force into existence such an intolerable state of affairs. The strikers, apparently, have all the "rights" that belong to them; has the public at large no rights to be considered? Does the comfort and convenience, the necessities and even the imperilled lives of thousands weigh nothing in the balance? If the arm of the law is not long enough or strong enough to interfere in such cases as this, it should be so strengthened that labor leaders and labor unions would be forced to listen to the voice of reason, and the loud demands of justice and mercy be things forever of the past.

A number of parents have shown much interest in this opportunity to give their small girls these advantages, and some girls are already enrolled for next year.

SYMPATHETIC ILLNESS

If a thoroughly scientific examination were made of every case reported as infantile paralysis, the well developed germ would undoubtedly be found lacking in some cases.

It is a well known fact that when terrible diseases such as cholera are epidemic, many of those exhibiting symptoms of the disease, upon close examination, failed to show any traces of the germ.

Frigit is the cause of many so-called illnesses, the patients suffer just as much from these imaginary diseases as they do from the genuine and in many cases they are just as fatal. One's state of mind can so affect a sensitive little child as to produce the very symptoms an excited imagination has conjured up. For this reason if for no other, we should control our fears. To observe the simple rules of health and care to fill our minds with terror-stricken thoughts of the epidemic is the best way to escape the contagion.
In this enlightened age we should not so easily fall a prey to such evils of the imagination.

PERSONALITY

Much has been said and written about personality and yet there remains much more to be said on the subject. Personality is the outward reflection of the character or mental quality of an individual. It is something which cannot be disguised.

A pleasing personality, like the scent
of a rose, will permeate the atmosphere around it. The one whose mind is filled with good, wholesome, optimistic thoughts and who is always looking for the best side of individuals and things in general, will eventually acquire this estimable quality. The good side of the average normal person will readily respond to the one who approaches him in a kindly manner. If any thoughts of despondency or trickery have been entertained they will invariably be dispelled by contact with that which calls forth only what is truest and best.

Wise men's hearts are ever on the alert
to employ those who possess this valuable quality, as it is one of the finest of business assets. Besides, it is something which cannot be faked or acquired at a moment's notice—it is the result of well formed habits of kindness and sincerity.

One who is select in character reading can detect the imitation at a glance,
in fact, the average person is not long deceived, in-motives they feel the difference between the genuine and the spurious.

JUSTICE VS. INJUSTICE

To stand up bravely in the face of injustice and proclaim it as such is to invite the displeasure of the perpetrators
of the same.

To be censured for upholding truth and justice, and deeming that which is inimicable is surely the greatest compliment one can receive. It brings to mind
these inspiring lines by Lowell:

They are slaves who fear to speak
For the fallen and the weak
They are slaves who will not choose
Hate, scorn and abuse
Rather than in silence shrink
From the truth they needs must think
They are slaves who dare not be
In the right with two or three.

HEAT TREATMENT IMPORTANT IN AUTOMOBILE MAKING

Dodge Brothers Plant Has Wonderful System of Testing Metals

A prominent scientist, in a paper dealing with steel used in the manufacture of motor cars, made the following statement recently:

"The heat treatment of steel in a way is the most important operation to which it is subjected. There can be no important details. It is essential that the work be done by skillful men, supplied with accurate pyrometers and well designed and constructed furnaces capable of maintaining a uniform heat and
of being properly regulated."

Which seems to have expressed precisely the opinion of Dodge Brothers.
Not only do they insist upon expertness
in every branch of the heat treating department, but they see that scientific research precedes the actual heating, so that there may be no error in determining in advance the exact degree of heat to which a bar of steel should be subjected, to give it the proper wearing qualities.

Every different kind of steel, for every different part of the car must be put through the research test to determine what degree of heat is best adapted to its quality and to its function in service. To determine that degree, hundreds of samples specimens of steel are heated at different temperatures in small electric furnaces. The results of tests on these specimens, as made by various types of special instruments, are used in determining the exact treatment to be used in regular production. For instance, one of the first tests which a piece of steel undergoes after emerging from the electric furnace is the Brinell test, for hardness.

Electric furnaces are used because electricity, more so than other fuels, may be regulated to a final point of exactness. The heat is confined within a drum or shell, heavily insulated. The pyrometer attachment will record as high as 1700 degrees Fahrenheit. After
it is heated, the steel is cooled, either
fast or slow, in one of the numerous
different solutions standing nearby.

Every step of the long and careful
pyrometer attachment will record as
high as 1700 degrees Fahrenheit. After
it is heated, the steel is cooled, either
fast or slow, in one of the numerous
different solutions standing nearby.

The exceptional durability that has given the Dodge Brothers motor car its high standing among motor car buyers.

POISONING FROM BITES

The chief annoyance from the mosquitoes of inland regions comes from the itching sensation produced by the bite. This is not necessarily a sign of some disease being transmitted, but merely a form of poisoning caused by the injection of saliva to prevent clotting of the blood while the mosquito feeds. The amount of this poisoning varies more or less with the individual person and also with the species of the biter.

The poison formed from the bites is not harmful in itself and causes but a slight bother to a healthy adult. To a sick person, however, attempting to recover from a fever, it may be a source of considerable danger. Two or three in the room will keep the sick awake for several hours just at a critical moment. These few may not have come from without, but may have found their way from the ceiling, where they have hidden for months. The screening and fumigating of the ceiling to get rid of these mosquitoes is of great importance.

PEACE ESSAY

The following essay was written by Ambrose Arnold, a Junior at the Swarthmore Preparatory School, for the contest last May.

The Brotherhood of Nations

"The brotherhood of nations" is an ideal state of mankind's mutual relations, which has not yet, by any means,
been fully realized, but which is,
nevertheless, at present in the making.

The long, broad pathway of history is strewn with the lives of many noble souls who have heroically sacrificed their all for the attainment of this international perfection. Blind sentiment has even at times driven our enthusiastic advocates to assert that the much desired millennium had practically arrived. But when the great military nations of Europe were red-dly precipitated in this gigantic and colossal death struggle, one was reluctantly forced to acknowledge that the fraternal spirit of international brotherhood was again barbarously shoved aside. The lamb was not able to lie down with the lion in perfect safety. The ancient animal instinct in man's nature was again aroused and then asserted itself in this atrocious crime against humanity. The slowly growing idealists, with their splendid plan of world co-operation, received a severe setback. This, fortunately, however, should only be momentarily, because past events of a similar nature were never wholly able to hold this idealized dream of brotherly love, but on the other hand, the aroused greater catin-

In looking over the ads, I wrote, as naturally I would, I made two things most prominent, and these were Coal and Wood. For fear some of my readers will think they're all I sell, just give me your attention, with other things I sell. This time some things I'll mention, won't sell this time of year, but when you are in need of them, you'll find I have them here. The stock of Lumber that I have is always quite complete, we sell it by the single board or by the thousand feet. The Terra Lotta business has grown a lot of late, we keep a large assortment, so you'll not have to walk a mile to get a board. Baled "Fibre", it's used instead of plaster, and makes a room look slick. Baled shavings from another thing you'll find we always keep, they make a bed more comfortable for horses, when they sleep. The red Bricks that I handle you'll find I often sell to those who lay a pavement, or want to wall a well. To those who need another brick to stanch tremendous heat, I keep a lot of Fire Bricks, with these such wants I meet. (Continued next week.)

SANDY'S TEST

News Notes

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jessup will return home next Monday from their month's absence.

Mr. Alfred McNaughton, from Canada, spent the last week-end with his sister, Mrs. Annie McX. Booth.

Dr. John W. Adams and family are visiting the mother of Mrs. Adams in Warsaw, N. Y.

Mrs. Jane H. Dickey is spending several weeks with her sister, Mrs. E. F. Hitchcock.

Mr. Edward E. Pyle and family are spending the month of August at Ocean City.

Schools of drum fish visited Peermont last week. Ten fish weighing about 40 to 50 pounds were caught in one day.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Morrison and family have returned from Island Heights.

Mr. Thomas Shirer, of Scranton, is visiting his brother, Mr. V. D. Shirer.

A large prize cake is attracting much attention in Booth's window. The cake was made for the firemen of Collingdale, who will hold a fair at that place on next Saturday. There will be a guessing contest, and the lucky guesser gets the cake.

Mr. Arthur Collins, Jr., started last Tuesday for the civilians cruise of six weeks on the battleship Rhode Island. The Rhode Island is the flag ship of the group of nine war vessels bearing young civilians from all over the United States. It is under the command of Admiral Helms. The little fleet will first go to Newport, where the boys will attend lectures at the War College there. Afterwards they will cruise up and down the coast having drills and practice in all the different branches of modern naval warfare. Mr. Earl Gatchell, of Rutledge, also accompanied Mr. Collins.

Owing to the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Annie McX. Booth was unable to leave for Canada until today. Mrs. Booth will visit her brother at Camp Swarthmore on Ward's Island, Ontario, Canada.

On next Saturday, the 26th, Mrs. George Walker will sail from New York on board the St. Paul for England, where she will visit her sister and aunts for the next three months. Mrs. Walker will be located in Petersfield, in Hampshire in the midst of the naval and military zone. As Portsmouth is on one side of Petersfield and Aldershot on the other, it is a common thing for the German Zeppelins to sail over it in their efforts to reach either of these two places.

Dr. Benjamin Battin, who has been abroad all summer on Peace work, expects to arrive in this country next week for a short stay. Dr. Battin will spend the time in Stockton with his wife, and after a few weeks will return to Holland, where he is stationed for the whole of next winter.

Booth's fresh peach ice cream is delicious. Order some today.

Dr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Holmes arrived in Swarthmore on Thursday and are spending a week with Mrs. Paul M. Pearson. Dr. Holmes has a week's vacation from his Chautauqua work, as the Chautauqua was given up in a certain Jersey town on account of the quarantine. Dr. and Mrs. Holmes will attend the rest of the summer touring in Virginia.

Dr. and Mrs. Norman Plass expect to move into their new house on Park Avenue about the first of September.

Mr. and Mrs. William Walter and their family motored to Peermont, New Jersey, yesterday to spend the weekend.

LITTLE TALKS ON HEALTH AND HYGIENE

Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, State Health Commissioner

THE FLY AND EPIDEMICS

Reins have been printed about the danger from the house fly. Despite all that has been said, it is a self evident fact that people do not understand how real is the danger from these pests. If they did, a single season would be sufficient to wipe out the dangerous nuisances. Let people once understand the part that the fly plays in the transmission of disease and they will look upon anyone who maintains a condition which breeds them as a public enemy to be summarily dealt with.

There is much wasted advice about swatting the fly and trapping the fly. What we must learn to do is to exterminate it by doing away with all breeding places.

Stables with manure piles that are left for weeks, garbage dumps and unscreened and carelessly constructed out-houses are the sources of the fly pest. Unpleasant as this may be to consider, it is true. Any community which will be able to free itself from flies will eliminate these offensive features.

While it has not been definitely proven what the fly has to do with infantile paralysis, we have good reason to believe that it takes a part in the spread of the disease. That they can and do carry the germs of typhoid fever and other diseases we know. It is a wise mother who screens the baby's crib.

Thousands of children under one year of age die annually who would be saved if the fly were eliminated.

HELEN KELLER'S DEFENSE

The Selma, Ala., Times publishes this reply of Helen Keller to attacks upon her on account of a letter in the Crisis, the organ of the colored race.

"I have gone through my letter to Mr. Oswald Garrison Villard, of New York, printed as a paid advertisement in the Selma Journal, sentence by sentence, and I do not find a phrase that justifies the editor's assertion that I advocate the social equality of white people and negroes, so repugnant to all.

"The equality I advocated in my letter is the equality of all men before the law, which the Constitution of the United States is supposed to guarantee to every American citizen. I believe we should never do unto a son or daughter of God what one would not have done unto his own son or daughter. That is my idea of the teachings of Christ.

"In my spoken and written words I try always to be faithful to the truth as I understand it. If my words written in this spirit result in the loss of engagements in any part of the country, I shall regard that loss as an offering to the cause of honest thought, and the sacrifice will afford me true happiness.

"The editor of the Selma Journal printed for a consideration words he described editorially as 'full of untruths, full of fawning and boot-licking phrases.' There are times when we are honored by the enemies we make. The insult which the 'Alabamian' flings at the woman who has been my teacher and faithful helper for twenty-nine years deserves the contempt which I am sure it will receive from every right thinking man and woman in the South.

"HELEN KELLER."

A writer in the Times says: "This girl, noble in character, superb in intellect, marvelous in attainment, came not into our midst to inflict nor promulgate any views she may have relegated to herself the right to possess, but came to tell the simple story of a life, the marvel of the world today. She was brought as a guest to whom we might do homage, having attained the highest pinnacle of fame, a life unscathed, unspotted, without blemish, pure, undefiled. Yet, now upon Selma's boasted escutcheon must needs lie the dark blot of having offended by gross injustice this world-famed, world-beloved daughter, the marvel of all nations, and with it all the beloved daughter of our own State. (Helen Keller is a native of Alabama.)

"She fled the city in the bleak darkness of a cold night, shaking, as it were, the very dust from her feet, yet doubtless throwing over it all the mantle of charity from the depths of her broad, sympathetic, trained heart and mind."

An attractive excursion has been planned for this day. In the morning we will drive to Valley Forge (25 miles) by automobile. A session for the presentation of papers may be held there. We will have luncheon at the old Washington Inn or on the picnic grounds. Starting immediately thereafter the return trip will be made by way of Bryn Mawr College and Haverford College. At about four o'clock the party will reach the Flower Observatory at Upper Darby. The University of Pennsylvania

Songs of reaping and of haying,
Stems of golden harvests gleaming;
Sun-browned childhood gaily playing,
Woods and meadows drowsing,
drowsing.

From afar the sound is streaming
Of the reaping and the mowing,
And a fragrant air is blowing,
Scents of Araby are straying.
