

Trinity Holiday Fair November 17, 18

'Holiday Decorations' to Highlight Annual Fund-raiser

With "Holiday Decorations" as its theme, the annual Holiday Fair, sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of Trinity Church, North Chester road, will be held on Wednesday, November 17, from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. and Thursday, November 18, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. This fair not only provides the answers to Christmas shopping prayers but the proceeds further the work of the auxiliary in the church, diocese, and missions.

Many original and gaily decorated booths will await perusal through amusing gifts for adults and small fry. There will be dolls with wardrobes, boys, baked goods, infant wearable, handsewn aprons, books, and holiday decor. While adults check off the Christmas list, children can amuse themselves at the candy table, fish pond, or movies.

The noted author and lecturer, Anne Wertsner Wood, will talk on Holiday Decorations Thursday, November 18, at 10:30 a.m. in the Cleaves Room of the church.

Mrs. Valentine L. Fine and Mrs. Walker Penfield are serving as co-chairmen of the fair. Mrs. William W. Watkins is president of the Woman's Auxiliary.

The following committees and chairmen have been combining their energies for pre-holiday enjoyment:

Dog Obedience Drill Aids Blind

A mass demonstration of precision drill and group obedience will feature the Dog Obedience Exhibition at the Swarthmore High School Gym on Saturday evening, November 13, at 8:30 p.m. Sponsored by the Swarthmore Lions Club for the benefit of the Blind Fund, the intricacies of group obedience as well as individual performance will be demonstrated by members of the Philadelphia Dog Training Club, who are donating their time and services for this worthy cause.

The Philadelphia club is one of many similar organizations in the United States whose objective is to train dogs and teach their owners how dogs are trained to obey commands either while on leash or without leash. Such dogs are not a nuisance to the neighborhood and do not create traffic hazards; consequently, they have a longer and happier life.

The immediate beneficiaries of the Lions' Blind Fund are members and trainees of the Delaware County Branch of the Pennsylvania Association For The Blind, totaling over 1000 men, women, and children with impaired sight or totally blind who live in the county. One outstanding service of the Association is its home-teaching program, including preparation in school subjects. Children receiving such instruction are prepared for regular classroom participation which enables them to earn high school diplomas and take advanced training at technical schools and college.

Not From Mars

Residents are forewarned by Borough Secretary Elliott Richardson that if a loud and unusual sound is heard coming from the direction of the College Power House, it is nothing to be alarmed about.

The new air horn to be used as a fire alarm is about to undergo some tests.

deFuria, Pugh to Direct 'Stalag 17'

True War Suspense Drama To Open at Players Club Monday

"Stalag 17" will be the November production by the Players Club of Swarthmore, beginning November 8 through Saturday, November 13, 1954. A large and capable cast has been assembled to enact this true life masterpiece under the direction of Joseph W. deFuria, assisted by Donald H. Pugh.

The play was written by Donald Joseph Bevan and Edmund Trzcinsky, who were prisoners of war in the real Stalag 17. The story's framework accurately relates an event that took place there and the original draft of the play was written in that prison camp where the authors experienced the material, lived the plot, and knew the characters.

"Stalag 17" has drama, suspense, intrigue and comedy in ample measure to catch and hold keen audience interest and revolves around a group of American-Air Corps sergeants, who are prisoners of war in a German World War Two detention camp, whose security has been breached by an informer.

The detection of the secret German agent becomes the main "business" of the play, but there is much more—tense and harrowing moments are interspersed with bursts of humor and "horseplay." A PW's life is at best a course, dirty, terrifying existence, but even in the midst of danger, gloom and treachery, the characteristic American bounce flares up again and again.

CHOIRS IN CHORAL CONCERT TONIGHT

The Chancel and High School Choirs of the Swarthmore Presbyterian Church invite community friends to hear their concert tonight at 8 p.m. in McCahan Hall of the Church.

Secular numbers will include "You'll Never Walk Alone" from Crousel, and Fred Waring's arrangement of "Hit the Road to Dreamland." Bettejo Goodall, director of music at the High School, will lead the High School Choir in the "Woodchuck Song," and the Chancel Choir in a French composition "Madame Jeanette."

Sacred numbers will include "For All the Saints", Vaughan Williams; Cesar Franck's "O Lord Most Holy"; "Jesus Wept" from Three Fuguing Tunes by early American composer Billings; "Once to Every Man and Nation" by York; and the Negro Spiritual "I Want Jesus to Walk With Me," arranged by Lynn.

Carol Roan, wife of Eugene Roan Church organist, will be presented as guest soloist in two secular numbers.

The combined 80 voice Choir will sing the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Donald Mathis, minister of music, will direct. Some numbers will be given rhythmic interpretations; some will have scenic background. Admission is free.

Mrs. MacBride, a resident of Philadelphia, studied at Temple University and the University of Pennsylvania. Before losing her sight she was a teacher and accompanist.

Mrs. MacBride has given many recitals in Philadelphia, New York, Atlantic City, and other cities in Pennsylvania, Delaware, and adjacent states. Currently she is giving special programs for children of the Philadelphia public schools in addition to programs in out-of-town schools.

Mrs. MacBride says that her avocations are verse writing and music composition. She has had publication awards for her poetry and is included in a Texas anthology.

Pupils Sell Magazines. For School This Week

Income Will Purchase Needed Elementary Items

Third through sixth grade pupils of the College Avenue and Rutgers Avenue Elementary Schools last Friday launched a ten-day magazine subscription drive which continues through this week-end. Pupils have been gratified by the success of their efforts to help provide extras, needed at both schools but not possible under the limited funds of the local School District.

Elementary Principal Thomas A. Boyle on Tuesday remarked the success of the first two days' returns and expressed appreciation to the community for its cooperation in the project, which although used widely by schools, had not been tried previously by Swarthmore.

The combined schools brought in $550 in sales on Monday and $485 on Tuesday. The schools' share, ranging from 30 to 50 per cent depending upon the publication sold averages about one-third.

Margaret Yeatman's sixth graders were responsible for the highest amount sold at the College Avenue School on Monday and Philip Swayne's sixth grade followed suit on Tuesday. Mrs. Bess Seidel's fourth grade at Rutgers took the honors on both days at that school.

Need Gray Ladies At Valley Forge

With hundreds of Christmas parties and other special events being arranged for the Yuletide season for servicemen patients at the Valley Forge Army Hospital, Phoenixville, the local Red Cross chapter has issued an appeal for 30 gray ladies to help fill the ranks of volunteers now on duty at the institution.

Mrs. George Plowman, chairman for gray lady service for the Swarthmore branch said today that women between the ages of 21 and 55 are needed to work one day or evening each week. The hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and 6:30 to 10 p.m.

In addition to helping with party arrangements, and ward decorations, they will distribute gifts to patients, shop for them, and wrap the presents to be sent home. They also read to the patients, write letters and perform many other non-technical duties which allow the nurses to devote their entire time to giving medical attention to the patients, Mrs. Plowman said.

Applicants can sign up by calling any Red Cross office in the city or four surrounding counties, or headquarters at Broad and Vine streets. They can arrange for their initial interview with Mrs. Plowman, SWarthmore 6-0885.

Final interviews will be held at the hospital on Thursday, November 18, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and from 7 to 9 p.m., and on Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Their duties will be outlined in lectures to be given by doctors and Red Cross leaders, on Tuesday, November 23, and Tuesday, November 30, at the hospital.

"This service provides an opportunity for women to do something wonderful for those men who won't be home for Christmas," said Mrs. Plowman. "Many of them, wounded or stricken with illness while fighting in foreign lands, haven't been with their families at Christmas for several years; others won't get home for a long time to come.

sight in adult life, but has enriched her already brilliant pianistic ability with that mastery and deep understanding which comes with the development of a truly artistic nature.

Her custom of perfacng each composition with a few words as to its background and significance always pleases her hearers. A delightful novelty for women's clubs, church, school, and college audiences is furnished by her improvised-on-the-spot "piano portraits" of prominent or favorite members.

Hostesses for the meeting will be: Mrs. Gordon W. Brush, Mrs. F. W. Melpolder, Mrs. Raymond W. Perkins, and Mrs. Robert H. Reed. At the tea table Mrs. Edward W. Furst and Mrs. William A. Willard will preside.

LWW Meet Nov. 15
"How To Achieve Constitutional Revision" will be the topic of the November meeting of the Swarthmore League of Women Voters to be held Monday evening, November 15 at 8:15 p.m. at Whittier House on the Swarthmore College campus.
Feature speaker of the evening will be Professor Lawrence N. Park, professor of Constitutional Law at the Law School of Temple University. Dr. Park is one of the framers of the New Jersey Constitution of 1947.
One of the highlights of the evening will be the presentation of a humorous skit illustrating the awkwardness of the 1873 state constitution which is in use today. The skit, which was originally presented by the Maryland League of Women Voters, has been adapted for presentation by the local LWW. Mrs. Stephen Whicher will appear as Mrs. Pennsylvania while Mrs. John Hampton will be Mary, her daughter.
Coffee will be served after the meeting. All members of the community are invited to attend. Mrs. Phillip Allen will introduce the speaker, Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Carl Barus are co-chairmen of the State Constitution committee, which is in charge of the meeting.

Nearly 100 Winners In Halloween Parade
Twin Events Staged Thursday and Saturday
Spooks and sprites, characters from fact and fancy, strung along in clever and colorful array as last Thursday evening's annual community Halloween Parade stalked up Rutgers Avenue from Yale, along Chester road and into Borough Hall Square for selection of ribbon awardees.
Sponsored by the Swarthmore Business Association, headed by the Swarthmore College and High School Bands, and strutting marshaled by John E. Michael, the parade was judged by Mr. and Mrs. Avery Blake, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Keenan, Dr. Peter C. Coste, whose selection of the following winners was announced by L. C. Hastings:
Fancy Dress, Karen Schlosser, Lynn and Don Hartman, first; Charlotte Brodhead and Ellen Mondale, second; Barbara Snape, Barbara Allison and Holly Bishop, third; Lois McLaughlin and Cecile d'Angelo, honorable mention.
Comic, Georgia and Margie Detweiler, Calli MacNair, Barrie and Bettie Bovard, and Sally McCawley, first; Nancy Thelan, June Roxby, Caroline, Jimmy and Teta Clifford, second; Eddie Harris, Louise and Richard Howe, third; Randy Pace, Eddie Shute, Billy Ryanerson, Grace McDemott, and Bianca Storazzi, honorable mention.
I-Made-It-Myself, Elizabeth Leach, Janice and Susanne Carroll, first; Christy Decker, second; Allen Stamford and Steven Bancroft, third; Steven Jacob, honorable mention.
Group, Peggy Robinson, Barbara Stewart, Carol Davis, Marian Hemenway, Judy and Gail Lincoln and Ann Stauffer, first; Karen, Eric and Kristin Peterson, second; Betsy Bennett, Susan Hayward, Susan Campbell and Barbara McLarin, third; Parky Smith, Ann and Jim Gerhart, Connie Diamond and Dorie Kroon, honorable mention.
Floats, Bunny, LesAnn, Chucker, Sally and Ruth Kurlthal and Charles, Jody, Nita, Jean, Anne, and Juanita Paul, first; Sara and Laura Enlon, Joanne and Carol Lee, John Espenchade, Susan and Carol Morgan, Betsy Kamp, Jody and Julie Brooks, Mark Good and Andy MacNair, second; Sarah and Jeannette Grier and Sharon Bowerman, third; Heide Honhold, Suzanne Bower, Antonica Fairbanks and Margaret Quist, honorable mention.
Adult, Philip Swayne (first prize by popular acclaim).
The Lions Club and Civil Defense unit assisted with traffic control and other services incidental to the parade.
Many youngest-bracket paraders waited for the "up-through-third grade" parade held Saturday evening inside the College field house. The Business Association also contributed toward this event which was sponsored by the Swarthmore Mothers Club. 'Tis said the separately dated events gave some parade-happy small fry a double strut while spectators too made the most of the two unconflicting opportunities not afforded during recent years when the two similar events were staged simultaneously. Treat bags for all replaced awards Saturday night.
1954 Spirits Well Behaved
Either Hurricane Hazel's havoc left worldly damage-doers feeling a mite unnecessary or the wide spread of community activities succeeded in setting Halloween a-urges this year. For in Swarthmore, as in the entire Philadelphia area, destruction and inconvenience wrought by mischievous celebrants happily seems to have been practically non-existent.
Get Your Ribbon?
A shortage of ribbons on Thursday night resulted in some great winners being set home with an I.O.U. Those who did not receive ribbons then, may now call for them at the Camera and Hobby

Volunteers Aid Fourth Annual C. P. Telethon

Although it's one month away, volunteers from this area are busy now planning the details of the Fourth Annual Cerebral Palsy Telethon on Channel 8, November 27 and 28, to be held in Convention Hall. Funds gathered into the television show will begin at 10 o'clock Saturday evening and will continue until 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. An all-star cast of entertainers and celebrities is expected to appear in this annual benefit performance.

More than 500 volunteers from the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania will be on-stage to accept phone call pledges made to the telethon. Henry G. Weaver, Jr., Regional Vice-President of the United Cerebral Palsy Association, stressed the fact that all donations made to the telethon will be so distributed that they will be made available to the local amputees in the area where they are pledged.

Volunteers from the area will also be used in many other behind-the-scenes phases of the television operation. Special caterers will be provided in Convention Hall to serve entertainers, crew members, technicians, and volunteers, with meals and refreshments while the program is in progress. Plans also call for serving many of the television show personnel at their posts throughout the sixteen hour event. Relays of messengers who have volunteered their services will also be used to communicate between the various telethon centers while the show is on the air.

200 Salute New Nursing Agency
McCullough Addresses Oct. 28 Dinner Meeting

Consolidation of two Red Feather health services, the former Community Health Society, Central Delaware County, and the Public Health Nursing Service, Delaware County, into the Community Nursing Service, Delaware County, was compared to big business enterprise by W. T. McCullough, director of the Agency Operations Department of the Community Chest of Philadelphia and Vicinity.

"Two autonomous organizations voluntarily combined to do a bigger job for slightly more money," said McCullough who addressed about 200 professional and lay persons attending the dinner on October 28 that marked establishment of the new agency at the Lansdowne Presbyterian Church.

He cited the consolidation as an example of how private enterprise in community welfare can seek solutions to total community needs and give leadership to develop new services.

"In the current Red Feather and United Fund campaigns each one of us has an opportunity to put his own price tag on community services being 'sold' through these campaigns, and each of us has an obligation to carry his fair share of costs for such services as health, rehabilitation of the physically handicapped, care of the mentally ill, etc., just as we do for police and fire protection and public education," McCullough stated.

"The Chest is in business to provide as adequate financing as possible for its member agencies and thus contribute as much as possible toward the total community service program. Choices as to what private agencies should do must be made in relation to changing community needs and in the light of work that will have the most impact on the immediate future of community well-being," he said, stating also that there are still tremendous resources for private philanthropy that are not being tapped.

The new Community Nursing Service maintains administrative offices and its Eastern branch office at 60 South Lansdowne avenue, Lansdowne with a Western branch office in Borough Hall Swarthmore. The Community Chest has allocated $54,000 for maintenance of the new service from October 1954 to May 1955 when the current fiscal year ends and allocations for the next year will be made.

Officers elected to serve on the board of directors of the new agency were introduced at the dinner. They include: Samuel Evans, Jr., 646 Edmonds avenue, Drexel Hill, president; Mrs. Carl H. Schmitt, 90 South Rolling road, Springfield, first vice-president; Harold Ogram, 533 Riverview road, Swarthmore, second vice-president; Mrs. Harry J. Jakob, 108 Walsh road, Lansdowne, third vice-president; Mrs. Francis Forsythe, 410 Thayer road, Swarthmore, recording secretary; Mrs. Laurence M. Ustick, 185 Owen avenue, Lansdowne, corresponding secretary, and James L. Holstein, Jr., 127 Madison road, Lansdowne, treasurer.

Violin-Piano Duo In Clothier Sunday

Lily Dumont, pianist, and Wolfe Wolfsohn, violinist, will appear in a program of the classical period, Sunday at 8:15 p.m. in Clothier Memorial Hall at Swarthmore College. The William J. Cooper Foundation and the Swarthmore College Music Department sponsor the concert.

Mme. Dumont, a native of Berlin, gave her first concert at the age of 10 before an audience of 800. Receiving her early training under Leonid Kreutzer and Georg Bertram, she has since appeared throughout Germany, Italy, and France, as recitalist and soloist with orchestras directed by Blech, Rosenstock, Steinberg, Abendroth, and other internationally-known conductors.

In this country she has appeared frequently on the radio and has made recordings for the Concert Hall Society. She has made successful concert appearances at Town Hall, New York, as soloist with the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra, in Boston and other eastern cities. Mme. Dumont has recently been appointed to the Faculty of the Longy School in Cambridge, Mass.

Wolfe Wolfsohn, born in Cape Town, South Africa, graduated from the Royal Academy of Music in London where he is an Associate and Fellow.

He has performed with the Lenox Quartet and has appeared in Europe, Canada, and throughout the United States.

In 1939 the London Stradivarius Quartet, of which Mr. Wolfsohn was first violinist, came to Harvard University under a three-year plan to include a weekly course in the history of the string quartet and concerts for the student body. Mr. Wolfsohn remained in Cambridge where he is now head of the violin department at the Longy School and professor at the College of Music of Boston Univ.

Hazel's Visit Costly To Borough Coffer

Borough Council, taking account of Hurricane Hazel at its session Monday evening, learned that October's big blow has already cost the Borough $1856 in overtime for its regular employees and in extra help needed to remove trees and branches downed in the storm. The work is still not finished completely.

Council expressed its utmost gratitude to Horace Reeves, local builder, who contributed free of charge, a generator and manpower to operate it for two days following the storm in order that Borough Hall and police and fire department functions might be maintained during the interruption of regular electric power.

Council accepted the $120 bid of A. Wayne Mosteller for a battery lighting unit to supply two hall lights and a light in the police station for use during a short term current failure. The public safety committee was authorized to purchase a 3000 watt generator to furnish power for light, heating and police radio to have on hand for emergency of longer duration. Cost of the generator is not to exceed $700.

Council also ordered, at a cost of $286, an iron ladder to the roof of the College power house which houses the new air horn for fire alarms. A platform around the horn is included in the requisition. Fire Chief John Rumsey requested permission to test the air horn at 6 o'clock every evening.

Robert Hopkins and Al Carney of the Business Association requested increased lighting in the business section during the pre-Christmas season. Council decided to have the wattage stepped up on four lights in that area, and on two in front of the Dartmouth avenue apartment house just constructed by Arthur Binns as well as placing two new street lights at the Dartmouth site. The business section request was refused Tuesday by the Philadelphia Electric Company due to the temporary basis Dartmouth increases. It is estimated the Dartmouth increases, together with nine lights ordered for the Swarthmore Gardens development will raise local street lighting outlay by $278. The temporary increase which was turned down would have cost another $15 or so.

Charles B. Howland, chairman of the Citizens Safety Committee, gave a preliminary report of hazards studied and Council approved the committee's plan to have the Keystone Automobile Club check on several local hazards and make traffic counts.

A letter from George Ewing of Columbia avenue set forth the proposed off-street parking area in front of the Binns apartment house as a potential hazard. Council discussed the matter with Mr. Binns who was present at the meeting and it was agreed to place a straight curbline and abandon the former plan of indentation for parking area.

A letter from the Swarthmore Property Owners Association requested reflectors on trees along South Chester road between Harvard and Fairview avenues. The matter, along with the possibility of placing "Thru" signs at the south end of the underpass and similar aids to traffic direction at the north end, will be discussed with the State Highway Department.

CADBURY TO LECTURE

The second of a series of four lectures on the Gospels will be given by Henry J. Cadbury, Emeritus Professor of Divinity at Harvard University on Sunday, November 14, at 9:45 a.m. Sponsored by the Committee on Ministry and Counsel of the Friends Meeting, this lecture will be given in the Martin lecture room on the main floor of the college building which lies directly between the football field and the old Hall gymnasium.

Dr. Cadbury will speak on "Matthew," and requests his audience to read the book prior to his talk. Last Sunday he discussed "Mark," which he said was the oldest book in the New Testament, and from which Matthew and Luke borrowed heavily in writing their versions. "Mark" contains less of the teachings of Jesus than the other books, but many more specific details with respect to various episodes in Jesus' life. It also contains one of the most moving accounts of the crucifixion.

Musician Delights Club Audience

The joint meeting of the Woman's Club of Swarthmore and the Swarthmore Branch of the Needlework Guild held at the club house November 9 featured the ingathering of Needlework Guild articles. Mrs. Frank G. Keenen, club president, introduced Mrs. A. Sidney Johnson, Jr., president of the Guild. Mrs. Johnson announced that the Guild now has over 1000 members and that about 3400 articles had been brought in which will be distributed to nineteen beneficiaries.

Mrs. Francis H. Forsythe, program chairman of the Woman's Club, presented Estelle Mayer MacBride in "Music and Poetry from the Standpoint of the Blind Artist."

Mrs. MacBride gave a program of great variety, including a Mozart pastorella, Schumann's "Aufschwung," Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in G Minor," which she called a tone picture in light and shade, and Liszt's "Liebestraum," a favorite of the artist. Her improvisations on the telephone numbers of Mrs. Keenen, Mrs. Johnson, and Mrs. Forsythe furnished a very clever innovation.

The pianist was outstanding in interpretation of the composers and very fluent in her technique. But she gave far more than a wonderful performance of great compositions. She carried her audience with her and made them sense the intangible beauty of the music and the message in the heart of the composer.

To lose one's sight in adult life entails a great adjustment in ordinary living, but a far greater adjustment in continuing the career of an artist. That Mrs. MacBride has been extremely successful in doing this was evident to all. Not only was her playing an inspiration but her heart warming personality and rare understanding of both music and people made a deep impression on her audience.

Kruse to Speak Sunday on U.N.

In the opinion of one veteran worker for better international understanding, there are signs of a less frigid atmosphere between Russia and the Western powers in the current session of the United Nations Assembly. This is the forecast that Cornelius Kruse will make when he speaks on "The United Nations Climate—Fair and Warmer?" in the Swarthmore Friends Meeting House, Sunday, November 14, at 8 p.m.

Cornelius Kruse has carried out a belief that the best way to improve international relations is by personal acquaintance with people of other countries. While he was a graduate student at Yale, he joined the American Friends Service Committee in 1918 to help victims of the First World War in France.

At present he is leading the Quaker team at the United Nations. All who are interested are invited to hear his first-hand account of the session that is still going on in New York.

10 Good Reasons WHY YOU SHOULD HEAT YOUR HOME WITH GAS

Here's why over 60,000 customers in Suburban Philadelphia prefer this Superior Fuel

OFFERS YOU
THE MOST BENEFITS

DEPENDABLE, QUIET—Your modern automatic gas house heating system is completely dependable and carefree... quiet, too. Can even be installed in living areas within the home.

FULLY AUTOMATIC—Yes, gas house heating is fully automatic. Set your thermostat for the warmth you want, then forget it. No tinkering, no worrying. Gas takes care of itself!

NO FUEL ORDERING—A gas furnace orders its own fuel. And only as it is needed. There's nothing for you to remember, nothing to forget.

FUEL DELIVERY—No icy roads or heavy snows can delay the delivery of your dependable gas fuel. High noon or midnight, there's a steady supply when it's needed. You can rest assured of even, comfortable, effortless warmth when you rely on automatic gas heat.

NO FUEL STORAGE—When you heat with modern gas fuel, no storage space is required. You have valuable basement space for recreation, or other useful purposes.

CLEANLINESS—No soot or greasy vapors with automatic gas heat. Walls, draperies, woodwork and furniture stay clean longer.

COSTS LESS THAN MOST PEOPLE THINK

INSTALLATION COSTS—The cost of equipment and its installation for gas house heating is lower than the cost of comparable automatic heating equipment using other fuels.

OPERATING COSTS—The thousands of people who change to gas house heating each year expect to pay something more for the many exclusive benefits gas offers. Yet, its cost is favorable when compared with all of the costs of any other automatic heating.

NO HIDDEN COSTS—There are no "hidden costs" with gas heating! No costly service contract needed. There is no electric power cost for burner operation. Gas heating equipment has fewer moving parts to wear out or fail than any other type of automatic heating equipment. This means less wear... longer life and less maintenance cost. Depreciation is less!

OVER-ALL COSTS—Taking all the hidden extras of other types of automatic heating into consideration, gas heating is economical... compares favorably with any automatic heating. That's why the number of Suburban Philadelphia homes heated with gas supplied by Philadelphia Electric Company is four times that of five years ago.

When Buying a New Home Insist on Automatic GAS Heat

BUDGET YOUR HEATING COST—

Thousands of Philadelphia Electric Company customers use our simple Budget Plan. This Plan costs you nothing extra, yet spreads your gas payments evenly over a 10-month period. Visit or phone any P.E. office to arrange easy budgeting of your gas house heating payments.

Yeadon Defeated By Swarthmore, 20-13

Garnet Eleven Seeks Eighth Win Today

Coming from behind 13-7, the high school football team gained its seventh victory of the season in one of the most thrilling games ever seen on Rutgers Field. A once beaten Yeadon high school squad displayed a first half performance that appeared to assure them of eventual victory, but again the homesters overcame a first half deficit for the second time this season. In the last quarter they played with a spirit and determination that was an inspiration to all spectators.

Yeadon received the opening kick-off and with speedsters French and Boyd chewing up gobs of yardage had moved to the Swarthmore 32, at which point Swarthmore recovered the opponent's fumble. Swarthmore set its first drive in motion and scored when Coleman dashed through a Bowie-Stephani hole for eight yards and the touchdown. Fullback Hummer and Coleman spearheaded this initial drive. Pete Kroon converted, and Swarthmore led 7-0 at the quarter. This was not to last long as Yeadon got rolling in quick order. Mixing passes with running, flashy Boyd just seemed unstoppable. It was only four minutes till the second quarter when Yeadon had their first touchdown. Missing an extra point, Swarthmore still led 7-6.

Yeadon's changing defense held Swarthmore and the Eagles took over at midfield from where they started their touchdown drive. After two plays in the line, a screen pass to Bob French scored from 35 yards out and when the extra point was added, Yeadon had an impressive 13-7 lead and exhibited every indication of increasing it after the intermission as the first half ended.

The second canto kick-off by Yeadon was deep over the goal line, forcing the Garnet to take possession on their own 20. Forced to run deep into their own territory, the Garnet found difficulty in moving out from the shadow of their own goal post. Throughout the third quarter Yeadon had the upper hand and was always in position to score. Probably the turning point of the game took place when the Garnet held the Eagles for downs on the one yard line. From here they kicked out and the increasing spirit and courage of the Swarthmore boys was evident as they began to stop Yeadon at every turn.

Another big break in the game came when Yeadon waited until the fourth down to kick, and a bad pass from center gave the team the ball. At this point the third period ended and Swarthmore started to play as never before. After their first attempts were thwarted an out-of-bounds kick by Dick Snyder put Yeadon on their own 25. Three plays at their line gained nothing for the Eagles, and this set the stage for one of the most thrilling plays seen on Rutgers Field. Dick Snyder received the Yeadon punt and reversed to Cal Coleman, who steamed through the sideline at midfield, picking up three blocks by Malln, Pappas and Stephani on the way. At the 45 he was headed goalward and was never to be stopped although tackled by four opponents on the way. Most of the way he was less than a foot from the sideline, and in one of the most sensational runs of the year brought the Garnet up to 13-13 with their opponents.

Kroon's extra point was wide, and the team now must hold, he satisfied with a tie, or go out and win. They chose the latter. Immediately it appeared the Yeadon team was now confused and upset by the spirited play of the homesters. On the third down, George Pappas recovered another fumble on the 35 yard line. The locals started a touchdown drive that was never to stop until that last stripe was crossed. Hummer and Coleman did most of the tugging in short driving thrusts throughout the Eagle line. For the first time the line started to look like its old self as holes began to show in the opponent's defense. It was Charlie Hummer behind Zensen, Bowie and Hurd. Lanky Pete made good on a "whistler" for the extra point and Swarthmore stood out in front 20-13 with four minutes to go.

Was Yeadon a better team? Here was their chance and four golden minutes to prove it. They tried one running play and then threw that hoped for long pass which was promptly intercepted by Cal Coleman backed up by Randy Malln on the Swarthmore 30 yard line. Three and a half minutes remained and possession of the ball was all that was needed now. On the third play Hummer broke through a first down. A 15 yard penalty for roughness placed the ball on the Yeadon 40. Two more plays and Swarthmore was knocking on the touchdown door as the game ended.

Other boys who did a fine job were Allen Bowen, Preston Hollander, John Lewis, Ed Noyes and, as usual, steady-head Randy Malln at quarterback.

Constantly improving, winless Prospect-Park visits Rutgers Field today at 2:45. Regardless of past records, Prospect Park has always given the Garnet a busy afternoon up to the very last whistle.

Overheard at the Needlework Guild Ingathering was this inquiry: "Do you suppose the Players Club 'Stalag' exhausted all the suits of long under wear in these parts? We're noticeably short this year."

CONVERGÉ ON LIBRARY

Tomorrow morning at 9:30 the Swarthmore Public Library will be the objective of the Borough's younger readers when the new books exhibited during Children's Book Week will go into circulation. Librarians Bettina Hunter and Mrs. Ross Thomson report a busy week with above normal circulation of books and visitors to the Book Week exhibit. Tuesday was the busiest day when morning visits to the Library, by the College Avenue Kindergarten, the fourth grade and a Brownie Troop preceded the usual afternoon hours and the evening Book Week Open House.

Parents, teachers took advantage of the evening to browse through the new titles at leisure and to receive from Mrs. Ann Pennell of Bookways a list of suggested books for a child's home library and from Miss Hunter a list for library reading separated into age groups. Mrs. Pennell urged parents to read aloud to children. She quoted Dr. Frank Aydell's statement to the American Association for the Advancement of Science that "children of homes where there were plenty of books to read and used over and over were the most likely college material." On display in complete repair for the first time since the Library fire were the Library's original illustrations of the Macrae-Smith edition of Heidi. Mrs. Howard Sipler repaired the pictures, as a contribution to the Library.

Union Wheels Grind Toward Realization

Swarthmore - Rutledge Schools Soon Plan Together

A. David M. Speers, legal counsel for the Swarthmore School Board, told the Board Wednesday evening that final County and State approval of the union of Swarthmore and Rutledge school districts passed by voters on November 2, is expected by early next year.

Members of the Rutledge Board are invited to attend an informal meeting of the Swarthmore Board at the home of the president, Donald P. Jones, at 7:30 Wednesday evening, December 1, when four Swarthmore elementary teachers will discuss various areas of teaching reading.

The Board approved final payment of $1,625 to J. S. Cornell and Son, the general contract on the Rutgers avenue school wing having been fully completed.

A schedule for use of the Rutgers building was reviewed. The policy for the present will permit free use of the building to school parent groups up until 10 P.M., the same as at the High School although it will necessitate some extra expenditure by the Board to cover janitorial services not normally retained at the Rutgers building after daytime hours.

Tomorrow morning at 9:30 the Swarthmore Public Library will be the objective of the Borough's younger readers when the new books exhibited during Children's Book Week will go into circulation.

Parents, teachers took advantage of the evening to browse through the new titles at leisure and to receive from Mrs. Ann Pennell of Bookways a list of suggested books for a child's home library and from Miss Hunter a list for library reading, separated into age groups.

On display in complete repair for the first time since the Library fire were the Library's original illustrations for the Macrae-Smith edition of Heidi. Mrs. Howard Sipler repaired the pictures, as a contribution to the Library.

Counsels Mothers

On Reading Methods
Members of the Mother's Club were told that sixth graders are far better readers than adults in a talk given by Mrs. Mildred Brain at the monthly meeting of the club Thursday, November 4, in McCahan Hall.

Mrs. Brain, of the Spring Hill Country Day School in Wallingford, claims that modern educational methods are far superior to old teaching methods by which adults have learned "The First R." Current methods of teaching reading require the recognition of entire words rather than the individual syllables making up each word. More rapid reading and much greater understanding are significant advantages of this new method.

The ability to read well at the first grade level forms an important base for future study, Mrs. Brain stated as an example that success in college algebra depends on reading habits acquired in the first grade.

Primary reading instruction depends on the readiness of the child to assimilate this modern method. Not all children are ready to read at the age of six and instruction should not be started until a child gives evidence of reading readiness, Mrs. Brain believes.

An important factor of the development of the ability to read is a parent's faith in the child. Express confidence in your child's ability, said Mrs. Brain and your child will progress more rapidly.

Mrs. Richard Farrington, chairman of the bridge classes, announced that classes will begin in January.

Mrs. Biester retired as president of the Woman's Republican Club of Delaware County when she received from President Dwight D. Eisenhower the appointment as superintendent of the mint in Philadelphia. She began her new duties on July 1, 1953, and has the distinction of being the first woman ever to hold this office.

College Gets $15,000 From Ford Foundation

President Courtney Smith of Swarthmore College has announced that a $15,000 two-year grant had been received from the Ford Foundation Fund for the Advancement of Education. This grant is to be used in part to establish summer scholarships for those students who are participating in a program leading to teacher certification in addition to regular liberal arts training and who in consequence must fulfill practice teaching requirements during the summer months.

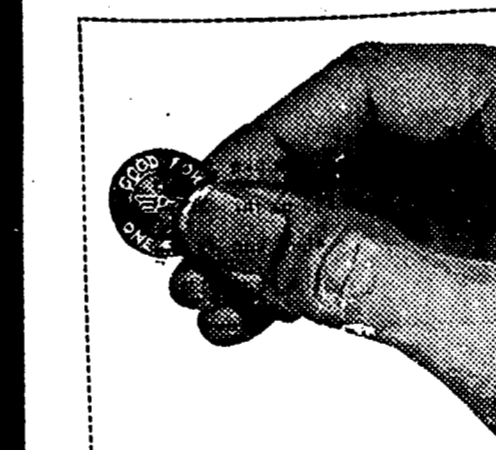

Many students who ordinarily must earn money during the summer to provide funds for their regular college program will thus be enabled to take this time to meet one of the major requirements for secondary school teaching as outlined by the State Department of Public Instruction.

Swarthmore College does not offer a major or minor in Education and the student wishing to prepare for secondary school teaching will still choose his major and minor fields from one of the four divisions—Humanities, Social Sciences, Natural Sciences, or Engineering. However, by taking a limited number of specially designed elective courses and by devoting a summer vacation to practice teaching, he can upon graduation as a Bachelor of Arts or Science be certified for secondary school teaching in Pennsylvania.

The Fund for the Advancement of Education grant will enable the Department of Psychology and Education, under whose administration the program will operate, to experiment with these elective courses and to develop those which prove most useful to the student going into teaching and which at the same time fit into and contribute to his fundamental program in the liberal arts and sciences.

Arrangements have been made with Swarthmore High School so that the Swarthmore College students who receive their scholarships may do their practice teaching during the summer school session there.

President Smith stated further, "We believe that public education is in a period of re-examination and transition, and that it is important for liberally educated teachers to be available in large numbers during the coming years. The Fund for the Advancement of Education's grant will enable Swarthmore College to make an added contribution toward the achieving of this goal."

BURGESS BACKS DRIVE

Joseph Reynolds, Burgess of Swarthmore, has signed the annual Christmas Seal Proclamation, launching the annual campaign for the prevention and control of tuberculosis which will open Monday, November 22, throughout the United States.

In his proclamation Mr. Reynolds mentioned that approximately 350 people in Delaware County will be afflicted with TB during 1955, and he called for support of the TB Association's efforts to check the spread of the disease.

The Association urges every citizen to inform himself about tuberculosis and protect himself and his family against it by taking advantage of the chest x-ray surveys. The Christmas Seal drive is the only financial means of maintaining this program as well as rehabilitation, emergency assistance to victims' families, and health education.

The proclamation states: "Whereas, tuberculosis, a disease which can be prevented and can be cured, costs our nation approximately $600,000,000 annually. Whereas, a new case of tuberculosis is reported every fifth minute, and every 22nd minute one life is taken by this insidious killer.

Whereas, in this community at this moment the shadow of tuberculosis lies across some 1,200 homes, and

Whereas, the Delaware County Tuberculosis Association, a voluntary organization, supported by the sale of Christmas Seals, cooperates closely with your Health Department and other agencies in the fight against tuberculosis,

Therefore, I, Joseph Reynolds, Burgess of Swarthmore, urge every citizen to inform himself about TB and what he can do to help protect himself and his family against it. I hereby call for your support of all community efforts to check the spread of this disease. Every one of us can buy and use Christmas Seals generously for the benefit of all."

The matter of hazard to school children and the bicycles they leave near the coal yard and railroad right of way on South Princeton avenue, was discussed. No feasible way of improving the situation being apparent, the Board decided to ask the Citizens Safety Committee for suggestions.

The attendance of High School Principal William Bush at the Atlantic City, February 19 to 23, was authorized with expenses up to $40 paid by the school district.

The meeting closed with a vote on a question submitted by the Delaware County Superintendent's office "Is the Swarthmore Board interested in being included in the County Study of Technical Education?"

Teachers' Salaries Report Given at H & S

(Continued from Page 1) ness in avoiding future inadequacies and pointed out that nationwide median salaries for teachers, $3600 to $3200, are considerably lower than the approximate estimated $11,000 for doctors, $7500 for lawyers and $7100 for dentists. He said that in 1951 Americans devoted only 1.8 per cent of the national income to public education while about three times that much went for cigarettes and twice the amount for alcoholic beverages.

One of the survey's six tables shows that Swarthmore teachers earned an average of $2141 in 1939 (computed on a 10 month basis) as compared to $1241 in manufacturing (12 month basis). This superiority has continued but with a lower differential so that today the local teacher average is $4942 and manufacturing stands at $3654, the first having gained 102.8 per cent in the 15 years and the latter 298.9.

Other tables and charts repeat in detail how Swarthmore salaries for comparable years of experience exceed those of Bucks, Chester, Delaware and Montgomery Counties both in 1933-34 and in 1939-40, although this does not hold true for individual subclassifications of teachers for all years of experience.

In 1933-34 Swarthmore is almost identical to others in its suburban group like Abington, Cheltenham, Haverford, Lower Merion, Radnor and Upper Darby both in starting salary and annual increment. Yet it has significantly improved over its 1939-40 position with respect to the four counties and the six suburban districts studied.

As John Carroll, Home and School president and a member of the survey committee, said, the committee did an exhaustive job in its eight months of collecting and assembling material so that local discussions of teachers' salaries could be based on fact rather than fancy. Questionnaires were issued to 72 districts. Almost three-quarters were returned, with information on 4600 teachers for the current school year and 1700 for 1939-40. It is not possible to be absolutely conclusive in an analysis of so complex a subject with so many variables involved. It was also stated that the report was for presentation of fact only, and did not aim to give answers or advice.

Audience questions as to Swarthmore's teacher per pupil ration, plant expenditure and such, compared with other areas, were answered by members of the committee including High School Principal William Bush, School Board President Donald P. Jones. Two members of the faculty who served on the committee, Myrtle McCallin and Harry Oppenander were absent from the platform.

Henry Hofmann on behalf of the Teachers Association thanked the committee for its commendable accomplishment, thanked the School Board for the consideration it has given the salary question in the past and expressed assurance of a continuation of a congenial working out of the problem.

Ask to impart the national aspect of the problem. Dr. William E. Arnold, director of the University of Pennsylvania's Educational Service Bureau, congratulated Swarthmore on its leading with a union district which he hopes will be a forerunner of many more such combinations of smaller school districts. He said, "The salary survey is fine but when it is all over the teachers are not much better off than otherwise. This is not a problem facing Swarthmore alone, but one which has reached a state of seriousness attracting national concern. The number of freshmen entering teaching courses at University of Pennsylvania is the lowest in ten years. Youth finds it can make more money to start by driving trucks, it rates livelihoods by the top, not by the median salaries.

Dr. Arnold said that while the median teachers salary compared favorably now it was not sufficient for recruiting. However, graduate of the survey committee, said, the indicated teachers in service remained interested in improving themselves. He stated it was not entirely a case of ability to pay, claiming tax structures, especially when based on low realty assessments make it difficult to run anything better than 100 years ago when the public school was permitted rather than encouraged by the State. He cautioned that America was spending the smallest percentage of national income on education, of all the western nations. Russia's rate was estimated at 11 per cent. With 1,000,000 additional pupils each year 35,000 additional teachers will be needed. A very serious shortage is due in the next ten years. Since many who have prepared for teaching are entering other fields for better remuneration, competition should not be between districts but between fields of endeavor to attract the needed personnel.

Industrial leaders, labor unions, and foreign governments.

Mr. Smith was trained as an economist. He graduated from the University of Illinois, University of Chicago, Foreign Service School of Georgetown University, and the London School of Economics. His travels as a journalist have taken him to many lands and given him opportunity for interviews with great minds all over the world, among them Winston Churchill, Nehru, Albert Einstein, Trygve Lie, Albert Schweitzer, the late Queen Mary of England, Sibelius, Laurence Olivier, G. B. Shaw, and John Dewey.

Before the war Carleton Smith spent three summers in the same house with Hitler. He has twice interviewed the late Soviet dictator, whom he told that it is impossible to budget inspiration on a Five Year Plan. His extensive travels, some 42,000 miles recording folk songs in the Soviet Union, and his personal acquaintance with leading artists everywhere make Mr. Smith particularly well qualified to speak on various phases of the arts.

Swarthmore Market Looted

William Shriley, manager of the Swarthmore Co-op Market shows Patrolman William Weidner the store's cash box from which burglars took more than $200. The manager, who lives in Media, discovered the theft on Sunday morning. A cigarette machine also was robbed. A safe containing about $1,000 was untouched.

Mr. Fred L. Scott, Jr., son of Mr. Fred L. Scott of Swarthmore, received a Master of Arts degree with a major in Education at the annual Fall Convocation exercises of the George Washington University held November 11, in the Lisner Auditorium of the University. Mr. Scott also holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Education from State Teachers College in West Chester. He is currently employed at Wakefield High School, Arlington, Va.

MOTHERS CLUB HEARS EXPERT

European and American modes of life were discussed by a panel of experts in "Meet the Press" at a recent meeting sponsored by the Swarthmore Mother's Club. The board consisted of Kimberly Roberts, head of the department of modern languages at Cedarcrest College, Allentown, who has traveled extensively in France and recently in Portugal; Henry Hornik, instructor at Haverford College who recently returned from Europe where he had a Fulbright Scholarship for a year's study at the Sorbonne in Paris; Mrs. Alfred Boyd, Dickinson avenue, who was born and educated in England. The press was represented by Mrs. Daniel C. Johnson, commercial manager of a Chester radio station; Mrs. Knut Krieger, head of the speech department of the Upper Darby Schools who previously taught at the University of Pennsylvania; and Mrs. John Seybold, a resident active in community affairs.

Education in Europe varies greatly from education here; more stress is laid on studies and less on the personality of the student, Mrs. Boyd stated. Children in England begin school at five. Students can read English by seven and are then ready to start French and shortly afterwards Latin. With this method the transition from grammar school to junior high is less difficult for the English student than for United States children, who spend less time on studies in the elementary grades. English boys may start boarding school at 8 (girls go at an older age). This, she feels, gives the child greater independence and earlier maturity.

The public schools in England are for those who cannot pay for education. The average middle class send their children to private schools. Only children above average ability go to the private schools.

In discussing current events, Mr. Hornik thought that Mendes-France has gained the respect of the French parliament and the French people. They feel he represents the peaceful revolution against lethargy. Mr. Hornik stated that the French people are tired of receiving help from the United States and feel that they could stand on their own feet if tariffs are lowered.

Dr. Roberts discussed the political situation in Portugal where the president is a figurehead and the country is run by a dictator.

Portugal has a rather large overseas colonial empire and unlike many countries has not lost much of it by colonies gaining their independence.

The three experts felt that the nutritional level of the people was comparable to Americans. Refreshments carrying out the European theme were served by Mrs. Edward Cornelius and Mrs. Roland Coit.

Swarthmore Market Looted

William Shirley, manager of the Swarthmore Co-op Market shows Patrolman William Weidner the store's cash box from which burglars took more than $200. The manager, who lives in Media, discovered the theft on Sunday morning. A cigarette machine also was robbed. A safe containing about $1,000 was untouched.

Mr. Fred L. Scott, Jr., son of Mr. Fred L. Scott of Swarthmore, received a Master of Arts degree with a major in Education at the annual Fall Convocation exercises of the George Washington University held November 11, in the Lisner Auditorium of the University. Mr. Scott also holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Education from State Teachers College in West Chester. He is currently employed at Wakefield High School, Arlington, Va.

Kenneth Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy F. Wright of Kenyon avenue; Bill H. Hoot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoot of Lafayette avenue; and John R. Maschal, son of Mrs. Charles E. Maschal of Riverview road are enrolled in the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps this year at Denison University in Granville, Ohio.

MOTHERS CLUB HEARS EXPERT

European and American modes of life were discussed by a panel of experts in "Meet the Press" at a recent meeting sponsored by the Swarthmore Mother's Club. The board consisted of Kimberly Roberts, head of the department of modern languages at Cedarcrest College, Allentown, who has traveled extensively in France and recently in Portugal; Henry Hornik, instructor at Haverford College who recently returned from Europe where he had a Fulbright Scholarship for a year's study at the Sorbonne in Paris; Mrs. Alfred Boyd, Dickinson avenue, who was born and educated in England. The press was represented by Mrs. Daniel C. Johnson, commercial manager of a Chester radio station; Mrs. Knut Krieger, head of the speech department of the Upper Darby Schools who previously taught at the University of Pennsylvania; and Mrs. John Seybold, a resident active in community affairs.

Education in Europe varies greatly from education here; more stress is laid on studies and less on the personality of the student, Mrs. Boyd stated. Children in England begin school at five. Students can read English by seven and are then ready to start French and shortly afterwards Latin. With this method the transition from grammar school to junior high is less difficult for the English student than for United States children, who spend less time on studies in the elementary grades. English boys may start boarding school at 8 (girls go at 10).

an older age). This, she feels, gives the child greater independence and earlier maturity.

The public schools in England are for those who cannot pay for education. The average middle class send their children to private schools. Only children above average ability go to the private schools.

In discussing current events, Mr. Hornik thought that Mendefrance has gained the respect of the French parliament and the French people. They feel he represents the peaceful revolution against lethargy. Mr. Hornik stated that the French people are tired of receiving help from the United States and feel that they could stand on their own feet if tariffs are lowered.

Dr. Roberts discussed the political situation in Portugal where the president is a figurehead and the country is run by a dictator.

Portugal has a rather large overseas colonial empire and unlike many countries has not lost much of it by colonies gaining their independence.

The three experts felt that the nutritional level of the people was comparable to Americans. Refreshments carrying out the European theme were served by Mrs. Edward Cornelius and Mrs. Roland Coit.

Sea Scouts Fog Bound Five members of the Swarthmore Sea Explorer Ship, Leo Maris, spent last week-end aboard a U. S. Navy Patrol Craft (P.C.E.C. 873). Arriving at the Navy Yard at 0810 they boarded the ship. After being issued bunks, they were given an anchor demonstration and gunnery demonstration. At 1200 mess was served. Immediately after mess the fog, which had kept all ships in port all morning, lifted. Casting off, they headed down river, but again at 1430 fog came in and the ship had to anchor. At 1800 evening mess was served, and afterwards the Sea Explorers watched TV. All were in their bunks when at 2230 "All Hands" was sounded, waking everyone aboard. The fog had lifted and the ship got underway again. The Swarthmore Explorers, at this time, were lucky enough to be on the Flying Bridge and watch the captain command the ship.

PHILADELPHIA ELECTRIC COMPANY

Mock Fire Conquered Despite Inaudible Horn

Sixth District Drill Held Tuesday Night at Shirer Building

Residents, shopkeepers and customers of the Shirer Building on South Chester road north or Rutgers avenue were given a preview Tuesday night of the prompt and thorough action they might expect from local fire companies should need ever arise.

Designed for two purposes, the periodic mass drill of the fire companies comprising the Sixth District of Delaware County was pronounced a fine success on the first count, that of getting quick cooperative action on a conflagration involving a large building. In the second purpose, the testing of Swarthmore's new air horn in its first actual call to firemen, the staged "fire" failed—except as a means of determining that the new signal requires further adjustments if it is to work better or even as well as the former siren.

Although the air horn has been tested frequently during the two weeks since it was installed in the College power house, no occasion had arisen for actual use. Tuesday night when the drill alarm went out at 6:40 atmospheric or other conditions apparently weakened the signal blasts, as only four firemen heard and responded to the horn. Residents who had found previous blasts audible also report hearing nothing on Tuesday night prior to the old siren's shriek which was resorted to several minutes after the horn.

Morton and Rutledge fire companies arrived at the Shirer Building shortly after the Swarthmore Company. Operations were directed by Assistant Fire Chiefs Eugene Finnegan and George Humphries of Swarthmore as alarms continued to go out at five minute intervals to other adjacent companies. Springfield arrived third, and Media, South Media, Garden City, Brookhaven companies and Parkside's ambulance were all on hand before 7:20. Aerial trucks and ladders to the roof were set up on all four sides of the building as firemen clambered to the top and thoroughly washed the area with streams from many hoses. Occupants of the building had been notified of the intended drill, to prevent their becoming over alarmed. Maneuvers were ended by 7:30.

Chief Thomas Bateman of the Swarthmore Police Department coordinated local police and auxiliary police, and Springfield, Media and Rutledge fire police in traffic duty in the fire area.

Sixth District Marshal Thomas Alcott and Assistant Marshal Charles Getz were in attendance along with Delaware County Marshal Frank Dolan. Other companies of the Sixth District stayed at home to cover fires which might occur in the communities of the companies aiding Swarthmore. Folsom arrived to cover

Plan April Production Of Alice in Wonderland

The Children's Theatre of the Community Arts Center in Wallingford is already making plans for its seventh annual production on April 23, 1955. Last week, the Adult Theatre Staff met at the home of Mrs. Stuart Graves, Moylan, director of the Theatre, to organize the committees which work in cooperation with the children on the play.

Mrs. Graves announced that the play next spring will be "Alice In Wonderland," with a cast of 51 boys and girls, who are already receiving training in dramatics and speech in classes at the Community Arts Center under Mrs. Graves. The choice of the play is in accordance with the policy of alternating with classics and original scripts each year.

Members of the staff expressed the hope that this year's production would reach an even wider audience than it ever has before. They agreed upon giving two performances at the Nether Providence High School auditorium in Wallingford on Saturday afternoon and evening.

Those attending the meeting were Fred Decker, Mrs. Peter Kroon, Ada Kroon, Mrs. Harry Stauffer, Patricia Henry, Mrs. Edward Gratsley, all of Swarthmore; Mrs. Wilbur Startzman, Mr. and Mrs. Julian J. Barrett, Stuart Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. William Turner, Mrs. Grier Essick, Mrs. Chalmer Sweeney, Mrs. H. R. Woodall, Mrs. John McGovern, Mrs. Thomas Johnston, Mrs. E. S. McCausland, Mrs. Samuel Sklar, Mrs. Carl Anderson, Mrs. John Schmidt.

Also on the staff are Mrs. Richard Willis, Fred Calvert, Mrs. J. M. Kirchgasser, Mrs. John G. Boyd, Mrs. Donald Rowe; John McGovern, Peggy Jenkins, and Ted and Dick Graves.

Swarthmore, Morton and Rutledge. Rose Tree and Lima took over Media, South Media and Garden City. Parkside covered Brookhaven in addition to its own area.

Yule Seal Campaign Launched This Week

With a minimum of $105,000 required to fight tuberculosis in Delaware County, the 1954 Christmas Seal campaign is being launched this week by the local Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Commemorating the 50th anniversary of the first Christmas Seal, this year's campaign, with an increased goal of $5,000 over last year, has as its objective the inauguration of a new hospital survey x-ray plan to increase the Association's services. Chester Hospital will begin this new screening schedule next month, which is part of the local Association's program for increasing chest survey x-rays throughout the community to approximately 100,000 a year.

Dr. Courtney Smith, President of Swarthmore College, lauded the general theme of the 1954 Christmas Seal — happy, healthy children in Delaware County, and around the world.

As part of the opening week's events, Mrs. Kenneth Ammerman of Collingdale, a recovered TB victim, was heard in a special television program, and Mrs. H. Wyman Hitchcock, of Broomall, a volunteer Christmas Seal Chairman, introduced the send-off radio program over WPWA in Chester.

Churches and synagogues through the County will observe Christmas Seal Sunday this weekend as clergymen of all denominations will call attention to the tuberculosis control program of the local Association.
