Totals on the Mothers' March Tuesday evening are approximately $3,000. Mrs. J. Alfred Callahan announced Wednesday, Collections Theatre Collections, because of the cooperation of the manager, Merrill Joire, Charles Bovard and his team of volunteers added another $222.24 to the fight against Polio. Business houses in the town and civic organizations have also contributed generously.

Although some letters were sent out from the Chapter office, there was no Swarthmore Special Gifts Committee soliciting this year. It is hoped that individuals who were not at home when the Mothers' march will send their checks directly to the March of Dimes, Media, Pa., or telephone their block worker or captain (see The Swarthmorean for January 25) to call for the money. Meanwhile the Committee wishes to express its gratitude to the volunteer workers and to the donors for their help in the perhaps final effort to "wipe out Polio."

High School Garnet Plays Radnor Tonight

The Swarthmore High School Basketball team travels to Radnor tonight to play its second game of the second round in league competition and will be after its eighth victory in 10 league games. Last time out the Little Garnet beat the Raiders from Wayne by one point in a closely contested game. Radnor features 6'7" Jay Anglada, and 6'1" Hugh Detrick, a good driver and jump shot artist. Regardless of Radnor's record, which is not too impressive, Coach Ellis Dwyer's Raiders must be reckoned with and a team cannot let down, because if it does, it usually finds itself on the wrong side of the score.

Friday night the Little Garnet set a new school scoring record when it visited Upper Merion and won. It was a terrific team effort scoring 95 points to Upper Merion's 66. The team had 80 rebounds, 36 of which were supplied by center Andy Jones. Cal Coleman got 13, and Skip Skoglund, displaying greatly improved board work, got 14. In the scoring phase of the game co-captain Charlie Westz was brilliant while dropping in 29 points on jump shots and drive-ins. Andy Jones sunk 22, and Cal Coleman 17, and Skip Skoglund 10.

Swarthmore had little trouble from the beginning of the game. At half time the score was 53-30, and the locals out-scored the Upper Merion quintet 42-36 in the second half. The team shot a fine 51 percent; helping the percentage was Andy Jones' 82 percent and Whitey Wentz's 75 percent.

Next Tuesday afternoon at Swarthmore there will be one of the most important games of the campaign when powerful Yeadon comes into town. This game will be a crucial test for both teams. The varsity game will begin by 8:15.

HENRY L. McCORKLES ON WORLD TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. McCorkle of 226 Park avenue recently explained on a three-month business trip that will take them around the world. Taking off the morning of January 16 in snow and freezing weather, they arrived at sunset in Los Angeles where the temperature was in the 70's.

During their short visit with Mr. and Mrs. John C. Sells, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Hoot of Lafayette avenue, at their home in Inglewood, Cal., the McCorkles met by chance Clifford Bryant of Schenectady, N. Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Milton Bryant of South Chester road, who was in California on a business trip. Mr. Bryant, Mrs. McCorkle, and Mrs. Sells were classmates at Swarthmore High School.

Before the McCorkles boarded the plane for Hawaii, they dined with Hanna Nieboer of Holland, who had been their house guest last fall in Swarthmore.

Another chance meeting occurred at the airport where they encountered Mrs. Robert White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Khiskern of Riverview road. Mrs. White had been attending a Junior League Convention and was hurrying home to Honolulu. During their three-day stay in Honolulu the McCorkles witnessed one of the most concentrated rainfalls the Islands have ever received.

Mr. and Mrs. McCorkle plan to return home in March. Mr. McCorkle is an associate editor of Presbyterian Life magazine. During their absence Mrs. McCorkle's parents Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton M. Dickson are staying with their children Laura, Nina, and Maynard at the McCorkle residence.

North-South Expressway

The following statement on the position of Swarthmore College in regard to the proposed expressway has been sent to the editor by Courtney Smith with the request that it be published.

To The Editor:
 At a time when we are all troubled over the difficult problem of the location of a North-South expressway in Delaware County I would like to mention certain considerations which are perhaps best expressed by Swarthmore College in the first instance though they ultimately have direct bearing on the welfare of every citizen in this area of the state.

One hears from time to time that the Crum Creek Valley, running through the Swarthmore College grounds (it is important to realize that the College owns property on both sides of Crum Creek) would be a logical, at least a relatively innocuous, site for a North-South highway, the implication being that fewer individual homeowners would have to be compensated and moved to another location. I wish to make clear Swarthmore College's determined and, I am confident, unselfish opposition to this thesis.

Old Media Road, Springfield (North of State but. Street & Springfield Rd.)

I shall not here dwell on the legal and moral responsibility of the officers of Swarthmore College to provide not only for the present but for the future of the College as an educational institution, for I think that necessity is understood: we would be derelict if we permitted the long-term development and growth of a non-profit educational institution to be circumscribed by a short-sighted proposal to cure a present problem. Individuals can move, even if unhappily. A college cannot. And the state as well as the officers of the College will want to make certain that we take no step which will limit the opportunities of not just the present generation but of generations as yet unborn.

I want instead to stress that in an area which is one of the most rapidly growing in the United States a natural setting like the Crum Creek Valley running through the College property is its precious possession which it would be callous and inhumane to molest. This area on both sides of the Creek has been beautifully planted and generously cared for by the Arthur Hoyt Scott Horticultural Foundation of Swarthmore College. The public has always been welcomed to enjoy this park-like area, and many enjoy walking, skating, bird-watching, and even picnicking there. I think it is no exaggeration to say that the character of life in this area of Delaware County is largely established by the presence of the College and the particular nature of its grounds.

The tremendous complexities of increased mechanization make the need for a relief road persuasive. But these same complexities make these same mechanizations make even more urgent the protection, indeed the fostering, of the few remaining natural beauty spots in the area. Naturally once the need for such a road is established no one wants it through his own property or through his favorite haunts. But it would seem to me short-sighted planning to push a road through the kind of natural area that at other times and in other moods planning groups will be doing their best to establish. It would seem far wiser to preserve the grounds that nature gave us, and that our horticulturists have developed, rather than to be forced at a later date to recreate them in a makeshift way and at considerable expense.

An area of the state which is invited to use the College grounds as something like a park (without through the College property is its expense) will, I am sure, want to make special efforts to see unimpaired and unspoiled a beautiful natural area which contributes so positively to the welfare of adults and, perhaps even more especially, children in this part of Pennsylvania.

Attend Public Hearing

Monday Evening February 4th

The Swarthmore Property Owners' Association urges members and all nonmembers who are property owners to attend a public hearing called by Borough Council to be held in the auditorium of the Swarthmore High School, Monday evening, February 4, at 8 p.m.

The meeting is called for the purpose of discussing the proposed limited accessible highway to connect Eddystone with the Schuylkill Expressway.

If this highway follows the route laid out by the state, it will do irreparable damage to Springfield, cut Rutledge in half, and the proposed interchange at Baltimore Pike will eradicate many of Swarthmore's fine homes beginning at the upper end of Riverview Road and Baltimore Pike to Ogden Avenue.

PUBLIC HEARING
The Swarthmore Borough Council will hold a public hearing on the matter of the location of the proposed County Expressway to connect the Chester area with the West Conshohocken area, at 8:00 P.M. on Monday, February 4, 1957 in the Auditorium of the Swarthmore High School, College and N. Princeton Avenues. All residents of the Borough are invited to attend.

EXHIBITION OF OILS NOW ON VIEW

Helen McIlwain Wolff is now displaying her new annual "special" hanging of oil paintings at the Apple House, Sunny Brae Orchards in Lima. In this group, entitled; "The Vanishing Countryside," the artist is portraying the type of landscape which in a few years will be absent from our landscape—the covered bridge, the old mill, the deserted barn, which are fast becoming obsolete in the onrushing growth of a new type of community.
 Hot mulled cider will be served on the week ends at the Apple House which is located ¼ mile south of U. S. 1 on Route 452. This showing will continue to the end of February.

Services conducted in the Patriot Baptist Church, were followed by interment in the Patriot cemetery on January 15.

Mrs. William C. McDermott of Yale avenue entertained at luncheon last week Mrs. Harry Bleecher (whose husband is connected with Bartol Foundation) and Mrs. Julian Harper, both of Thornbury, and Mrs. John Davis of Rosemont. All four are engaged in a project to elucidate voting techniques ranging in scope from considerations of how the Election and Registration Commissions operate, to the part political parties play in elections.

Appreciates College

The following letter from Herbert W. Huse, was sent to The Swarthmorean for publication: Dr. Courtney Smith, President Swarthmore College Dear Dr. Smith,

When I and my family came to this part of the country some sixteen years ago we chose to live in Swarthmore because it was a college town. We had little time to look around but we reasoned that a college would provide something of "the good life" which beautiful shade trees alone cannot give. We have not been disappointed: indeed, we have found even more than we had expected. It has been our experience that Swarthmore College is more generous in sharing its facilities and special programs with the townspeople than our own Alma Mater were. We also appreciate the fact that your "public relations policy" is a matter of deeds as well as words. Your welcome is announced and also felt. May this serve as a belated "fan letter."

With respect to the controversy over the location of the expressway, we have no reason for special pleading. Our house happens to be midway between the "A" and "Blue" routes. We are sympathetic with those who may look around but we reasoned that a college would provide something of "the good life" which however, that I have complete respect for the reasons you have advanced against the "Blue" route. I feel that the action you have taken on this issue (and on the question of land for school construction) is above reproach. I cannot believe that anyone with your responsibilities would or could take any other. My support is not only the result of gratitude but of my thoughts on what is, in the long run, best for the college and the town. Their interests are indivisible.

Sincerely, HERBERT W. HUSE 218 Vassar Avenue

Winter weather puts extra hazards on highways. It calls for extra caution from every driver. To help meet this extra responsibility—use this tested information so as to prevent skid accidents. On roads covered with snow or ice, the degree of danger varies with the degree of temperature. It is surprising, but true, that the closer the temperature of ice is to the melting point, the more dangerous it is for motorists. At that time, tire friction is likely to melt sufficient ice to cause moisture to form and act as a lubricant—thus increasing skidding distances. At lower temperatures, such melting action is either not present or is less pronounced. Hence, skidding distances are decreased. Remember the degrees of greatest danger—from 15 above zero up to the melting point. But—above everything else—remember that all icy and snowy conditions call for GREATER CAUTION—SLOWER DRIVING! H. S. Boys Wrap Up Radnor and Yeadon Play Marple Tonight In Final Friday Home Game

Tonight the Swarthmore High School basketball team plays its last Friday night home game of the season when it hosts the scrappy team of Marple Newtown. Fresh from a resounding victory over powerful Yeadon on Tuesday, the Swarthmore team will attempt to make it seven in a row in league competition. At present there is a three way tie for first place with Swarthmore, Lansdowne, and Nether Providence, with 9 and 2 logs, while Yeadon is a half game out of first place with 8 and 3.

Friday night, despite weather conditions, the Little Garnet traveled to Radnor and downed the Wayne Raiders 66-47. Holding them to 8 points in the first period and 6 in the second period, the score was 34-14 at half time. During the third period, the stout Swarthmore defense continued, allowing Radnor no goals, but 8 points on fouls, while the locals ran up the score to 50-22.

Swarthmore employed its fast break to perfection with Andy Jones and Skip Skoglund starting it and Cal Coleman, Charlie Wentz, and Jim Pappas leading it on down the floor. Charlie Wentz led the team in scoring with a bristling 8 for 16 shooting percentage, Cal Coleman had 5 for 11, and Jim Pappas 3 for 6.

Beginning the fourth stanza Coach Bill Reese cleared the bench and all of Swarthmore's substitutes entered the scoring column. Barry Wright had 4, Dave Grogan 2, Rich Gurin 2, Jack Walter 4, and Jim Noyes 2. Although outscored by Radnor 25-16 in this period, it wasn't until the last three minutes that the Little Garnet boys began to loosen up and play well. Once again center Andy Jones led the team in rebounds with 11; he proved to be a fine match for Radnor's tall 6'7" center, who also pulled down 11.

Tuesday afternoon Swarthmore was an unkindly host to first place Yeadon, and not only won the game, but waffled them "but good." Swarthmore's defense was terrific, holding a high scorer "Wheaties" Parker to a mere 13 points until the game was won, and then it didn't matter. He finally scored 21. After a slip and tuck first quarter which saw the Little Garnet team in the lead, 15-14, Swarthmore broke out into a 10 point advantage by half-time. Then in the third period, because of a strong defense and a tremendous fast-break, Swarthmore increased its lead 10 more points. The fourth period saw them continue to outscore the Yeadon Eagles 27-22. The final score 67-62.

There were many things that made this victory possible. One, the ability of Barry Wright to come off the bench early in the game and fill in for center Andy Jones who was saddled with three personal fouls, and not only doing a tremendous job on the boards, but scoring 11 points. Andy got back in the game the last quarter to score 10 points and help sew up the victory.

Sophomore Dave Grogan accomplished the identical for Cal Coleman who found himself in personal foul trouble in the second period. Despite this Cal still managed to score 23 points. Captain Charlie Wentz played a terrific team game. He scored 19 points, and must have handed off an equal number.

Also, Skip Skoglund's timely rebounding and his ability to get in a free position to score from Charlie's hand-offs was an important factor; and by no means last, Jim Pappas' cat-like maneuvers, who because of this, was a constant thorn in the side of the Yeadon team. It was a real team victory.

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER Most glamorous car in a generation It makes 'em Stare-anywhere! You see it any place... and you want to look at it. There's a pride and a prance to it that gives you a lift, makes you feel alive and vital. But the real tingle is driving it! There it is... as long and low and purposeful as a gleaming jet, with its long rakish fenders streaming back and up like battle flags. This is the dynamic new look of 1957 motoring, and we can't help it if others aren't there yet. Give 'em time—we always have. The important thing to know is that every flowing "go" line in this 1957 Chrysler has a purpose. That low-slung body and upswapt tail were engineered for a new kind of road stability. They are the architectural results of Chrysler's Torsion-Air ride, the all-new suspension that gives you sports car cornering with the comfort of an ocean liner. Front coil springs have been completely eliminated. There's up to 56% more glass area to enhance its roomy feel. The wide, low grille features hooded dual headlights. And if you want to find out what "go" really is, wait till you boss its up-to-325 horsepower engine and pushbutton TorqueFlite transmission. The real tingle is waiting for you. Come in and see us... or just telephone. We'll gladly arrange a demonstration. PORTER H. WAITE, Inc. Chester Road and Yale Avenue Kingswood 3-1250

Borough Opposes Both Local Highway Routes, Presses for One West of Media

homes to compensate for loss of assessables here and in Rutledge) and "intrinsic" losses incurred by homeowners whose homes would have to make way for the Red Route, would bring the greater harm to the Borough. There seemed an equal amount of opinion that intrusion of a highway's unnatural barrier in the midst of Swarthmore College land would be the stronger penalty for present and future generations. Two opposing theories of the effect the proposed new road would have on Chester road traffic also pervaded the meeting—one strongly that such super highways always lessen traffic on smaller roads near them, and the other that Chester road would become a feeder route and require at least a doubling of its width with added property damage consequent.

Thus the meeting closed with unanimous passage of H. Weston Clarke's motion that Swarthmore join with the civic groups of Lower Merion, Gulph Mills, Radnor, Springfield, Ridley and Maple Townships in urging the State to adopt a route west of Media, and that the president of Council appoint a committee to act for the Borough in this direction. (The following morning it was learned that Nether Providence had just passed a resolution opposing the Blue Route.)

Council Not Taken Off Hook
Therefore if a choice of the lesser evil of the Red and the Blue Routes ever must be voiced, Council will still have to make up its own collective mind. However, President Hopper did state, in his opening remarks, that individual members of Council had their opinions and were prepared to vote in accordance with them. He said, "Council is naturally divided as to the greater harmfulness of A and B Routes." Many Swarthmoreans feel that even within Council there would be a nearly even split on that question.

Special Council Session
At a special meeting of Council Tuesday night, a resolution carrying official Borough opposition to both Red and Blue Routes and recommending the Green Route was passed and ordered sent to the State Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Roads.

At the same meeting Robert B. Miller of Bryn Mawr, representing the Combined Civic Associations backing the Green Route, cast doubt on State estimates and gave Council the following figures:

State Estimates: Route A—18.2 miles with 47 bridges, costing $28,000,000 for construction and $3,100,000 for property condemnation and damages. Blue Route—3 mile longer and $8,900,000 more expensive.

Combined Civic Association Estimates: Route A—$40,149,422 construction, $10,826,750 damages. Blue Route—$44,369,618 construction, $7,920,750 damages. Green Route—$26,768,024 (15.5 miles, four lanes, 36 bridges) construction, $4,061,200 damages.

Miller said the State was asking taxpayers to spend more money for a route (the Red), located where it would "form a circumferential loop for the City of Philadelphia and not for the convenience of Delaware County residents."

Fellow Councilmen recommended to President Hopper appointees for a committee to foster public pressure and other means of strengthening the battle for the Green Route. Hopper said he hoped to have the committee complete within a few days, as he sees a need for it to act quickly.

How They Felt
At Monday night's town meeting Council President Thomas Hopper said he was "embarrassed and a little ashamed we in Swarthmore can hear ourselves apart and not come to see alike. Council can sympathize with those who would be affected and lose their homes. It can also understand the position of the College after its years of planning. The College was here before the residents and largely determines the character of the Borough. I think we have been a little remiss in not doing more for the College and fighting its battles. Raise in our midst an evil thing and everyone says 'How can I protect myself by putting it elsewhere?' I hate to think people of Swarthmore can't find a common ground. It seems like a question of taking the hand off at the wrist on one hand or at the elbow on the other. The Borough is asking Council to take a stand, so Council asks the Borough to take a stand!

College Report
President Courtney Smith, speaking for the College, lauded the Green Route petition, saying "I see no reason why the community should be trapped into having to make a choice between two routes, both harmful to the Borough and conceivably both against the public interest."

"The College has never favored Route A but has a moral obligation to point out harm which Route B would do. In addition to its campus in Swarthmore the College owns 80 acres on the other side of Crum Creek and 88 acres above Baltimore Pike known as Crum Marsh, and rented to Smedley Park on a dollar-a-year basis."

Although it has been generally stated that even less sure location predictions were possible for the Blue Route than for the Red (since no detailed surveys had been made on the former) and Dr. Smith did not reveal the source of his information, he said the Blue route would be 132 yards from the spot where the College hoped to build a science building, 200 yards from the amphitheatre where commencements are held, 230 yards from Wharton Men's dormitory, and would wipe out the Meadow where all-College faculty and student picnics are held. It would also be 138 yards, at the farthest, from the faculty homes on Crum Lodge, would go right through the College's Scott Arboretum nurseries, and obliterate or otherwise harm the College's Dam Site House. Further, it would kill a greatly important and widely beneficial hydraulic research undertaking the College has been working to establish.

"The Blue Route would shut off the only direction in which the College can expand, to the west, since it is already hemmed in on the northeast and south." While listing contributions the College makes to the community, Smith mentioned it voluntarily pays taxes and that much of its $1,500,000 payroll is spent here. He also commented that in the 32 years the community has been invited to attend Cooper Foundation programs and has outnumbered College people in the audiences, only one "fan" letter has been received, and that from someone who was moving from town.

In closing, Smith decried the "lack of information, the misinformation, and the pocket-information" being circulated locally about the proposed highway. He declared, "The Number One need is not the traffic problem but how to keep this community, the first oasis south of Philadelphia, from being downgraded. Any route, anywhere will cause damage. Our first obligation is to get the facts, so that as the future looks back on the present moment it will not find that Swarthmore, which hasn't invited business or housing developments, has ironically allowed communities which have invited them, to Tolst this highway upon us."

Smith asked the Borough to have its engineers, Gus Houtman, "get the facts" and offered College support in the venture.

Property Association View
Following Dr. Smith, Allen C. Wood, president of the Swarthmore Property Owners' Association, read a letter sent by its board of directors to F. C. Turner, assistant to the commissioner of the United States Department of Public Roads, on January 30. The letter cited Mr. Turner's department was expected to pay 90% of the cost of the proposed expressway, and was responsible for seeing such funds were spent wisely, according to the Act of Congress, and did not involve needless hardship to citizens and municipalities resulting from arbitrary decisions. The letter said the proposed Route would end in the Schuylkill Expressway which the State admits is already overloaded.

The Association recommended the consideration of merits and costs of the so-called Green Route (extending from Federal Route 13 to a terminus at the junction of Routes 30 and 202, near the "Turnpike") or the use of the new Conchester Highway with a north east extension added.

Planning Commission
Horace Hopkins represented the Swarthmore Planning Commission which Sunday afternoon decided it was inadvisable for it to make a final recommendation on the highway situation to Borough Council at present, although a 3 to 2 vote for the Blue Route as the least harmful was taken. The commission noted: the latest thought of engineers indicates Route A would take all of the east side of Riverview avenue, from Baltimore Pike to below Ogdan avenue, for an interchange to be placed at this point. The Blue Route, less definitely planned at the moment, would also appear damaging since whatever affects the College would affect the community and vice versa. It is important to preserve park life but this is not paramount. Inviting additional traffic to Chester road would result from Route A. Damage from the Route might be reduced by use of a straight line from Thompson avenue, Springfield to Yale avenue on the south, with a depressed grade.

Dr. John H. Wigton, new president of the Swarthmore Swim Club, reported members at its annual meeting had voted 37 to 10 in protest of Route A "if the route would be injurious to Club property."

Bartol's Opinion
Dr. William F. G. Swann, director of the Franklin Institute's Bartol Research Foundation which has headquarters on the College campus and is internationally known as a nuclear physics research center, said Route A would take two-thirds of a ten-acre plot on Baltimore Pike, Springfield, where the Foundation operates a government owned atomic accelerator. The proposed clover leaf interchange would come within 85 feet of the accelerator and necessitate its rebuilding at a cost of $2,000,000. It would also destroy proposed additional buildings.

Citizens View
T. A. Bradshaw of Ogdan avenue agreed every effort to secure the Green Route should be made. However, he cautioned Council that if the Green Route couldn't be achieved, it is their duty, as elected representatives of the whole community, to weigh the other two routes. In light of tax losses from Route A working a hardship on the whole community, it must be recognized (though reluctantly), that the Blue Route is the less harmful, he said.

LaRue Hendrixson of North Chester road declared the State has ordered a more detailed survey of the Blue Route and indicated its agreeability to either Red or Blue. He felt that 25 per cent of Swarthmore properties would be affected adversely and the other 75 per cent would pay more taxes, if the Red was chosen. He said a tax investigation he had conducted, revealed the College paid 3.1 per cent of all Borough taxes, this was on income-producing properties it owned. Arthur Blinn, proprietor of the Dartmouth House apartments, describing himself as "the second largest taxpayer in Swarthmore, probably 2 per cent", hailed the Green Route as "an excellent device for the meeting and Council to get off the hot seat." He felt that Route had no chance of acceptance and Route A's chances were 9 to 1 over the Blue. "While we are all trying to be Christian", he thundered, "let us think of the other communities like Rutledge and Poleson which are affected. Route A would cut a swath of destruction in densely populated areas rarely equalled in the history of our country."

George Plowman of Harvard avenue warned that the State would make up its mind very soon. (Though unmentioned, an urgency to set the new highway route quickly so that it may be worked into plans for widening Baltimore Pike from Clifton to Media, now ready for bid advertisement), is considered logical.

Other residents, new and old, who expressed variations of the above themes during Monday night's two-and-a-half hour meeting include: Walter Douglass, Mrs. J. P. Elkinton, Robert van Riper, William Cleaves, John Seybold, Milan W. Garrett, Steven Spencer, Donald Piccard, Waldo Fishler, Morris Fussell, Raymond J. Littlefield, Mrs. B. Harrar, Alban Rogers, Wayne Hamilton, Clark Byse, Edward Miffin.

field, who early in 1952 came up with the Green Route which follows the Ridley Creek Valley from a point east of Chester to Valley Forge. It has been said the State dropped the Route from consideration because it would not serve the population areas as well as other Routes. Proponents of the Green Route feel it would cost less and give maximum service in the long run since a highway in that area has been mentioned for contemplation further in the future.

NEW COURSES

The economics department of Swarthmore College will offer a new course in the spring semester entitled "Urban Social Problems." It is a frank experiment to see if field experiences can be effectively utilized in the social science disciplines. The course will be centered around problems of large cities, using Philadelphia as a laboratory.

Under faculty supervision, students will spend six weeks in Philadelphia visiting agencies and officials dealing with these major problems: Urban social structure, mental health, industrial relations, housing and city planning, criminology, and local political activity.

Non-Credit Course
The department of economics in conjunction with the division of engineering announce a new non-credit course for students with economics and/or engineering background entitled "Human Relations in Industry." A series of six seminars concerning management's responsibilities and opportunities in the human relations field will be conducted by H. H. Carey, consultant in personal administration in Philadelphia.

Students will be expected to do fundamental and creative thinking as the top management group of a business enterprise and will develop basic policies and programs for such a company.

Reading Consultant

To Conduct Meeting

Dr. Ethel S. Maney, reading consultant for Delaware County, will conduct an evening meeting for parents of the kindergarten, first, second, and third grades of both the College and Rutgers avenue schools in the All Purpose Room at Rutgers avenue, Wednesday evening February 20 at 8 p.m. Dr. Maney plans to discuss reading as a dual responsibility of home and school, and explain things parents can be doing toward helping children read.

This meeting has been planned by the chairman, and program chairman of the kindergarten, first, second, third grades of both schools, with the cooperation of the education committee of Home and School. It is another meeting planned around the interests of certain grade levels and was set up in response to requests from these grades to further the understanding of the teaching of reading.

The quartet, which has made several Columbia recordings, will present a program including Mozart's Quartet in G major (K. 387), Beethoven's Quartet in F major (Opus 135), and Bartok's Quartet No. 5 (1934).

The quartet, composed of Robert Mann, and Robert Koff, violins, Raphael Hilmer, viola and Claus Adam, cello, was formed originally at the Juilliard School of Music in New York City.

Import of Schedule C
To the Self-Employed

Self-employed individuals should attach a special form, called Schedule C, to their income tax reports to obtain valuable social security credits which build protection for them and their families, according to joint announcement made today by Herbert W. Gruber, district manager, Chester Social Security Office, and Herbert F. Walker, Supervisor Chester Office, Internal Revenue Service.

Those who are self-employed and have net earnings of $400 or more during 1956, must report their self-employment earnings in their Federal income tax return and pay the 3 per cent social security tax on their net earnings up to $4,200, whether or not they are required to pay an income tax, Mr. Walker explained. Doctors of medicine are excluded by law from social security protection. Christian Science practitioners and ministers may elect coverage on an individual voluntary basis. With these exemptions only, all self-employed come under the system.

Mr. Gruber reminds the self-employed that some day they or their families will be on the receiving end of social security. To insure for that day they should be sure to complete and attach the Schedule C to their income tax returns, and make certain that they enter their social security account number in the block provided for it. The return and Schedule C should be sent to the District Director of Internal Revenue with payment of any tax owing.

Requests for tax return forms and tax information should be directed to the District Director of Internal Revenue, 9th and Welsh Streets, Chester. Questions regarding social security benefits including the need for a social security account number card should be sent to the social security office — Fidelity, Chester Blvd., 5th and Market Streets, Chester.

NEWS NOTE
Mr. and Mrs. William R. Huey of Dickinson avenue have as their guests their daughter Mrs. James F. Newman and her children Gail and Katherine of Poestenkill, N. Y., who will visit in Swarthmore for two weeks.

LEGAL NOTICES
IN RE: DELAWARE COUNTY EXPRESSWAY
At a special meeting of Swarthmore Borough Council held at Borough Hall, Swarthmore, Pennsylvania, at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, February 5, 1957, all members of Council being present, the following resolution was duly moved, seconded and carried:

- WHEREAS, pursuant to due notice, a public meeting, attended by approximately six hundred residents of the Borough of Swarthmore, was held in the high school auditorium Monday evening, February 4, 1957, at the conclusion of which a motion was unanimously passed that the said meeting go on record as being opposed to the so-called "A" or "B" route planned by the State Highway Department for construction from the vicinity of Chester, Pennsylvania, to the vicinity of West Conshohocken, Pennsylvania, which route would cross Baltimore Pike at a point at or near the easterly side of Riverview in the Borough of Swarthmore, and likewise opposed to a suggested alternative route identified by the said State Highway Department as the "D" or "E" route between said termini, which alternative route would pass through the valley of Crum Creek and lands of Swarthmore College at or near the westerly border of the Borough; and that this meeting strongly urge the State Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Roads to locate such proposed Expressway through undeveloped lands west of the Borough of Swarthmore such as the Ridley Creek valley, crossing Baltimore Pike at a point west of Media, Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, the Council in the light of information received at said public hearing endorses the said conclusions and the said recommendation;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the proper officers of the Borough inform the State Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Roads that the residents of this Borough and the municipal officers thereof are opposed to both the "A" or "B" Route and the "D" or "E" Route for the proposed Expressway and emphatically recommend that a suitable route be followed in constructing the said Expressway.

"Citizens of Swarthmore Opposing Route 'A,'" under the leadership of Chairman T. A. Bradshaw of Ogden avenue, began circulation of a petition last week and expressing "determined and unalterable opposition" to the "A" or Riverview Road Route for the proposed Expressway.

Reasons stated for the group's opposition include: Condemnation and downgrading of properties in the Borough; reduction of tax yield to the Swarthmore-Rutledge Union School District resulting from condemnation of Rutledge properties; the prospect of increased traffic on Chester Road throughout the Borough; and heavy economic and social impact on Swarthmore and neighboring communities.

In a statement explaining his group's stand, Mr. Bradshaw said, "We believe Swarthmoreans can unite on this basis in a common purpose to preserve the beauty and charm of the town in which we live."

Mr. Bradshaw's statement follows: "In view of continuing emphasis on Route 'A' by the State Highway Department, it has become increasingly clear that residents of Swarthmore opposing Route 'A' must find an effective method of expressing their stand to the responsible authorities. Therefore, we have chosen the time-honored and effective means of a citizens' petition. The demand for such a petition was spontaneous, far-reaching and insistent.

"A group of residents joined together as 'Citizens of Swarthmore Opposing Route 'A'' for the purpose of drafting and circulating such a petition. This petition states only one thing—firm opposition to Route 'A' because it would cause serious, unnecessary, and (Continued on Page 10)

College, School Land Background Given

Dr. Courtney Smith, president of Swarthmore College, talking of the College trustees' function to act in the interests of this non-profit educational institution, at the February 4th town meeting, digressed a bit from the highway question, to give a history of land transactions between the College and the local School District. Thus he explained the background of what he felt some residents might have interpreted as selfishness when the College recently refused to sell 300 feet along College avenue to the School District to keep an elementary school north of the railroad.

The College conveyed land to the School District in 1910 for the present College Avenue School, and more land (under protest) in 1920 at which time the School Board said it would never again approach the College for land. In 1952 when the School District again requested land from the College, the reply was that although the desired frontage could not be sold, a three-and-a-fifth acre strip to the rear might be purchased, and joint use of adjoining ground for recreation might be explored if the School desired.

Since what was offered was apparently inadequate for the School's purposes, his own youngest son will have to join in "the rat race of a car pool" to elementary classrooms at Rutgers Avenue, said Smith in demonstration that the College is not "unfeeling".

Hartman was made chief engineer.

At the annual meeting of the Swarthmore Fire and Protective Association Harry Hamby was re-elected president, Percival Armistage vice-president, Thomas Conway secretary, and Stacy Reeves treasurer.

College Announces $200 Tuition Rise

Dr. Courtney Smith, president of Swarthmore College, announced Tuesday that the Board of Managers of the college has voted a tuition raise of $200 to begin with the academic year 1957-58. The Board took this action to boost the tuition charge from $800 to $1000 a year at its meeting February 5. Charges for room and board, $725 a year, and a general fee of $125, covering costs of student health, library and laboratory fees, athletic fees, etc., will remain the same.

The primary factor in the decision is the pressing need to increase the salaries of faculty and non-academic staff. "We expect," said Dr. Smith, "to make appropriate increases in our scholarship budget so that no one will be prevented from attending Swarthmore merely because of the increase in costs."

The decision of the Swarthmore Board of Managers is similar to that made by many other colleges which have felt the need to announce tuition increases in order to maintain a quality education in the face of rising costs.

Medical Center Doesn't Council Granted Permission

Council granted permission for the use of the former Rumsey Garage at Yale and Rutgers avenue as a medical center, providing outside walls of the building were not changed. It was stated that the pending court suit brought by the towners when Council refused permission to convert the property into a modern automobile service station last fall would be dropped. However, on Wednesday The Swarthmorean learned the possibility of a medical center is now remote and the zoning hearing in the Media Court remains scheduled for Wednesday, March 13.
 Mrs. Thornton W. Price, the former Helen Farley, arrived in Swarthmore Monday of last week after a trip around the world of one year and four months duration and has settled in "Tuckaway," the garden cottage of 600 Harvard avenue. Mrs. Price had previously lived on a farm in Bucks County. Her grandson Robert, Jr. of Northampton, N. H., is residing with Mrs. Price and is enrolled as a junior at Swarthmore High School. Girl Scout Cookie Sales Have Increased Sharply

This week will be the final one on the month-long sales of Scout cookies, the proceeds of which will go toward helping defray the costs of Girl Scouting. Scouts are particularly anxious for a successful venture this year as they have recently purchased additional acreage at the Girl Scout campsite at Indian Orchards. Final payments for cookie sales must be turned in to Mrs. Silvers by February 21, and Scouts are redoubling their efforts to push the cookie sales even higher than the current total.
 Current total of boxes sold numbers 7,238. Mrs. Silvers reported. Final figure for last year's cookie sales was 5,471 boxes. Many Scout troops have gone over their quota, and have re-ordered boxes of cookies while one ambitious scout has sold well over 100 boxes. To date troops which have a particularly high number of sales are Troop 441, Mrs. Walter Douglass, leader; and troop 225, Mrs. Wells Forbes, leader.
 This year the senior scout troop, under the leadership of Mrs. Michael Yarrow, are manning a cookie booth Friday evenings at the bank and at the College theatre, with reported high sales.
 Mrs. Silvers has announced that she still has a supply of cookies in the cookie pantry, and those who have not yet been reached by scouts, or who wish to re-order may telephone her for their order.
 Mrs. Samuel D. Clyde of Swarthmore and Ogden avenues returned Tuesday afternoon from Lancaster where she spent several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Archer Mitchell. Mrs. Clyde was called to Lancaster when Mr. Mitchell was hospitalized.

Letters to the Editor

The opinions expressed below are those of the individual writers. All letters to The Swarthmorean must be signed. Pseudonyms may be used if the writer is known to the Editor. Letters will be published only at the discretion of the Editor.

Seeks Help To The Editor:

The other day, I received a letter from an old friend asking for help. Could I share part of that letter with readers of The Swarthmorean, for my help alone won't do much good. I think that many will be interested in the story of Julie and be willing to help.

"This letter being not only our Christmas greetings to you a month late but also the announcement of the arrival of our new daughter. Our Julie Boon Ee was born in Korea, March 9, 1954. She is a darling little girl with brown hair and large, rather anxious brown eyes.

"There are many thousand Eurasian children in Korea and Japan alone without homes. These children need homes and food and care; many of them are children of our own soldiers. The International Social Service warns prospective parents that 'Most of the orphans are very hungry and, never having had enough to eat, tend to hoard their food at first. Owing to lack of clothing supplies in the orphanages, a child will not wish to take off his clothes at night for fear of losing them.' Our Julie has begun to trust that we will feed her regularly, but clothes must still be in sight at all times. Our own boy and girl looked forward eagerly to Julie's arrival and are enjoying their new sister.

"But there is a serious problem connected with Julie's right to live with us. She has been admitted to the U. S. under an executive extension of the Refugee Relief Act of 1953. This act originally specified that 4000 overseas orphan children, adopted by U. S. citizens, might be admitted above the ordinary quota restrictions. The small proportion allocated to Korea was exhausted before Julie's adoption was completed. She had been permitted to come only by virtue of President Eisenhower's Order that adoption cases completed by December 31, 1956, might enter on Parole Visa. This parole visa must be ratified by Congress and the entry of our small Julie and others in the same situation legalized or Julie will have to return to the orphanage in Korea, still our daughter, to await re-entry on the small regular quota.

"For this reason, we are appealing to you to write letters or telegrams to your senators and congressmen asking them to support legalization of parole adoption cases. It would be wonderful and helpful if you would share this letter with your friends. Congressmen appreciate mail and their addresses are simple (Name, Senate or House Office Building, Washington, D. C.).

Julie's mother is the daughter of a dear friend, my closest friend at Radcliffe, who went to China with her husband, a medical missionary and teacher at Cheoloo University. The family were there all during the wars and know from tragic experience the plight of children in the aftermath of war.

The students at the High School have been contributing toward the support of the Mok-Po Orphanage in Korea.

Cordially yours,
ELIZABETH MCKIE

Mr. and Mrs. G. West Cochrane concluded a three day visit in New York last week, by meeting Miss Ursula Quell of Stade, Germany, who will be their house guest for a year. Miss Quell is daughter of Mr. Henry Quell, one of the State team members who visited Swarthmore during the fall of 1954 as the guest of the local Rotary Club.

3 Honored at Com. Boy Scout Sunday

The community Boy Scout Sunday worship service held in the Presbyterian Church was attended by Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts and their leaders from all of Swarthmore's Scout units.

A number of the scouts participated in the service. Sven Borei read the invocation and delivered the opening prayer, and Fred Kellerman led the congregation in the responsive reading. Bob Beckmann read a Scout Liturgy concerning the Scout Law in which Chip Shay and George Blessing responded with the Scout Laws. Jack Lewicki read the scriptural lesson.

J. Harry Beckmann, institutional representative for the Presbyterian Church to its scout units, explained the God and Country Award to the congregation before presenting Jack Lewicki, George Blessing, and Chip Shay to the Rev. Joseph P. Bishop, who awarded the God and Country Medals to the three scouts. The medal is given to a scout by his church upon completion of a year's meritorious service to the church.

Following the presentation of the awards, Mr. Bishop delivered the sermon in which he discussed with the scouts the need for expecting the best of oneself in facing the challenges of life. Helping in the church as ushers were Rich Kent, Alan Stamford, Doug Wrege, Chuck Rushton, John Bond, and Steve Edwards.

PROPOSED COUNTY EXPRESSWAY

It is clear to me . . .

1. THAT:
The highway must and should be built. We need it desperately. It is part of a great national program. We can no more stop it than we can sweep back the tide with a broom.

2. THAT:
The highway should be built wherever it will accomplish the needed ends—with the least damage to all the interests along its entire length.

3. THAT:
Only professionals can make the decisions as to where this route actually should be.

4. THAT:
As laymen, we cannot possibly make that decision, being of necessity without the facts.

5. THAT:
Our duty — as citizens — is to see to it that the professional engineers are free to make the decision without undue pressure — lobbies — of political influence.

6. THAT:
When — and if — a decision is made by the engineer calmly — without sentiment and emotion — then it is our duty to accept that decision with good sportsmanship.

7. THAT:
Citizens or institutions — who are unwilling to approach the consideration in this spirit — are in danger of putting selfish interest above public welfare.

I HOPE AND BELIEVE THERE ARE NONE SUCH IN THE SWARTHMORE AREA

ARTHUR W. BINNS

Critic Applauds Music Club Program

Mrs. Nothera Hubbell was in charge of a delightful program given at the meeting of the Swarthmore Music Club Monday evening, in Whittier House.

Mrs. Maydell Eksergian, cellist, played several classical numbers, among them Mozart's "Sonatina", Schumann's "Fantasy Pieces", and Schubert's "Allegretto Gracioso". Mrs. Eksergian is a cellist of exceptional merit and her playing was enthusiastically applauded. Her accompanist was Joseph Terranova of Philadelphia, also an excellent musician.

The second part of the program was a group of songs by Mrs. Eleanor Markham Smyers, soprano. Her selections included German, French, and English numbers and offered a wide range in which her beautiful tone quality was shown. "Adeleu, Forets" from Tschakowsky's "Jeanne d'Arc", "Die Forelle" by Schubert, and "Down in the Forest" from Landon Ronald's "Cycle of Life" were especially well done. Mrs. Helen Ventner was a perfect accompanist for Mrs. Smyers' singing.

A social hour, in charge of Mrs. E. R. Mullins and her committee, followed the program. An unusually large audience enjoyed the program. The next meeting of the Music Club will be held March 25.

30 School Children Receive Polio Shots

Swarthmore High School is participating in the county-wide administration of Salk polio shots. This program is set up in five general hospitals in Delaware County, and is sponsored by the County Medical Society in cooperation with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and State Nurses Association.

Tuesday, Mrs. Edith Kenney, school nurse, together with members of the Motor Corps took about 30 Swarthmore school children to have these immunization shots administered at the Clinic at Taylor Hospital beginning at 2:30 in the afternoon. Next Tuesday, another 20 children will probably be taken to the second session for the administration of these first shots at the same hospital.

The second shot will be administered to these same people on March 12 and 19 and a third shot is scheduled to be administered next fall, September 10 and 17. Other hospitals cooperating in this plan are the Crozer Hospital, Chester Hospital, Fitzgerald Mercy Hospital and the Delaware County Hospital. In addition to the shots administered at the immunization clinics, a number of parents are having their children receive the shots through their family physicians.

The great success of this immunization program is leading many families to have all their children properly immunized. In fact, the plan is so successful that the national organization is recommending that all people under 40 years of age have the program of shots as a precaution against paralyzing polio.

Swarthmore Hi Takes Section II 1st Place

The Swarthmore High School basketball team visits neighbor and rival Nether Providence tonight in a crucial contest in its attempt to hold on to first place in the Section II race. The last time the two teams met, Swarthmore was victorious 66-65 and rose to overcome a nine point deficit in the last two minutes, even after leading by 18 points in the third period.

The game tonight will see N-P out for revenge and probably at their best, using their pressing defense — the local team. The game means more than the effect it will have on league standings because both feel the keen rivalry and enjoy beating one another.

On Tuesday afternoon at Swarthmore, the locals moved into first place in the tough section II race when it downed Lansdowne 72-64. It was a nip and tuck ball game with neither team being able to produce a substantial lead of any account throughout, although the Little Garnet Team managed to hold the lead most of the time.

Swarthmore led at the end of the first quarter 19-15, but Lansdowne cut the lead to 1 point by half-time. By the end of the third period Swarthmore remained ahead 52-50. Then in the last quarter Swarthmore unleashed its potent fast breaking attack and out-scored the Lords 20-14 to come out on top of this all important contest 72-64. Co-captain Cal Coleman hit for 14 points, and Co-captain Charlie Wentz made 19 of which 12 came in the last period.

Although Andy Jones was again saddled with personals and had to be held out of the game for awhile, he managed to score 20 points, of which 10 was on fouls. He shot 100 per cent on the charity mark, making 10 for 10 foul attempts. Skip Skoglund came through with 10 points, all in the first-half, but contributed some timely assists in the last period. Jim Pappas added 6 and Barry Wright, while filling in for center Andy Jones, shot 1 foul and 1 field goal for 3.

Friday night the Little Garnet team rolled over Marple-Newtown, 30-53. Coach Bill Reese used center Andy Jones for only two quarters due to illness, but Andy proved his worth by grabbing off 22 rebounds in the short time he played and scored 12 points. Cal Coleman took up the slack in the rebounding department in addition to plunking in 24 points. Skip Skoglund contributed 14; Charlie Wentz scored 20, mainly on fast breaks and 8 points on fouls. Jim Pappas played his usual floor game and led the attack, in addition to scoring 3 goals and 2 fouls. Barry Wright filled in very capably for center Andy Jones. All the boys on the squad saw action.

After being behind 8-0 in the first quarter, Swarthmore scored 24 points to Marple-Newtown's 4, and that is the way it went for the remainder of the game. At the end of the 3rd period the score was Swarthmore 72, Marple-Newtown 45, but each team scored only 8 points in the last period to set the final score at 80-53.

H & S Gives $500 For School Needs

Modern Education Topic of Dr. H. Huus Feb. 5th

Just before Dr. Helen Huus testified to the importance of technical aids in today's learning at its February 5th meeting, the Swarthmore-Rutledge Home and School Association voted a $500 grant from its treasury to be used for extra school needs to be recommended by local principals.

Dr. Huus, who is associate professor of education at the University of Pennsylvania and recently spent a year in Norway and Sweden on a Fulbright Fellowship, said at the Tuesday evening session in the Rutgers Avenue School auditorium, "We should take advantage of technical aids, though some are expensive and heavy and must be made readily available if they are to be used."

Educators now know they must capitalize on the child's current interests as well as present him with new interests as he progresses through definite age levels at his own individual pace. They have learned to go along with nature instead of bucking it, so that learning which cannot be forced will take place because the child wants to learn.

In her talk on "Modern Methods of Teaching in Elementary Schools" Dr. Huus said, "We should move even faster to keep up with the rapid advances in the world around us."

Improved Reading Texts
Attending to the improved enrichment of present-day reading texts, and the practice of teaching library use in classrooms, she paid high tribute to the local Public Library's remarkable circulation figures for a town of Swarthmore's size—a jump from 41,000 adult and 12,000 children's volumes in 1946 to 73,000 adult and 30,000 children's in 1956.

Today's teachers try to see each child gets the meaning in every subject, content of words in reading, reality of numbers and reasons for processes in arithmetic. A thorough understanding of what is learned each year is the goal.

Although ground floors are laid in kindergarten and first grade for most subjects, some arithmetic and handwriting aspects have been postponed on the average of one year in order that they may be facilitated by advanced mental and physical abilities. Thus today's seventh grader does as well as better in arithmetic, Dr. Huus believes, although his "introduction" to multiplication came in third grade instead of second as in yesterday's system, and his tables are learned in fourth and fifth grade. Her perusal of old manuscripts convinces her the past's concentration on cursive writing did not make for better general legibility, while today's manuscript being easier for young pupils does enable them to put ideas on paper at an earlier age.

Functional Spelling
Functional spelling, stressing words the pupil will use most, when tied up with vocabulary improvement, is the current ideal. Simplified phonetic spelling is being strongly advocated by some authorities in the field.

Social studies have improved with the ideas of teaching effects of people on their environments and vice versa both in historic and modern times. Geography is getting short-changed though as history is emphasized and it becomes increasingly apparent there is greater need than ever for a knowledge of geography as the world grows smaller every day and it is necessary to know the countries we are dealing with. Dr. Huus likes social science courses which teach both historic and geographical facts.

In science today the most meager course is superior to the "nature study" of 20 years ago. Physics and chemistry actually begin in kindergarten when the teacher has the class look at varying matters. When third graders are using chemistry sets at home it is time we give more biology, zoology, geology and related sciences in school.

Planned Activities
Vastly improved and expanded media and trips to museums benefit art instruction.

Music appreciation through hearing and participating in vocal and instrumental demonstrations has advanced music courses.

Some schools have fallen by the wayside by relegating physical education activity to free recess exercise. Skills learned in planned activity programs aid development of children, enable them to grow gracefully and avoid much unnecessary awkwardness.

Character training exists today, not as a separate period but as an integral part of every day's teaching of respect for individual rights, achievement, aid and progress side by side with sufficient conformity to prevent chaos.

Varied Approaches
There are schools which offer actual camp and farm living experiences, others with exchange programs in which children in distant towns switch homes and classes for a time, and others which carry a year-round program with a month's vacation to provide a fuller employment of personnel as well as maximum opportunity for learning. In still other schools foreign languages are being learned conversationally along with early English. Parent cooperation is aiding more and more and everyone realizes that varying subject readinensses of pupils within single classrooms demands a great integration ability on the part of the modern teacher. "One size lesson can't be expected to fit every child in a given grade any more than one shoe size would," said Dr. Huus.

Connected problems are recognition of each child's ability so that neither too much or too little will be expected of him, and conveying teachers' impressions of children to their parents.

Teachers' Panel
A panel of teachers from the Rutgers and College Avenue Elementary Schools, including Mrs. Abbe Enders, Mrs. Janet Groff, Mrs. Mildred Brain, Myrtle McCallin, Mrs. Grace Witter and Mrs. Bess Seidel, received questions from parents during a discussion period between Dr. Huus' talk and refreshments served by the Fourth Grade Mothers Groups of the combined schools.

Miss McCallin replied to a parent who wondered if "functional spelling" was responsible for what he believed to be a limited vocabulary in modern children. Conversely, she believes concentration on spelling might limit a child's vocabulary. "We owe it to our children to give great facility in words used all the time, but they must know it isn't a sin if they misspell some others. I encourage them to get an idea down while it is hot, and then check spelling, although I admit one might skip writing an uncertain word if no dictionary was available for consultation."

David McIntire of Cresson Lane returned home Sunday from a four day convention of Labor and Management at Miami Beach, Fla.

Foreign Language Problems
One other query in line with the evening's subject asked whether there was time in elementary school for conversational foreign language to benefit children living in today's "small world."

Elementary Principal Thomas Boyle replied it was not as easy to include such subjects as one might think. First there are not enough teachers trained to do it at this level. Next, there is the matter of varying ideas on which language should be chosen. Finally, under today's arrangement much of a language beginning would be lost during the early years of junior high school which do not include language courses.

Difficulty in melting students with varying degrees of previous language study, Boyle said, "and personally I'd hope to be able to help my children if necessary, to bring them up to a college level education rather than see them digging ditches which might be another estimate of their 'doing as well as can be expected of them'."

"I feel that in a good school like Swarthmore if a parent knows his child is in the upper quarter of the class he can rest assured he is doing well. One shouldn't worry too much over ratings; class standings are the most indicative," he concluded.

Pupil Evaluation
"By whom and how are pupils evaluated?" asked two parents. Through achievement tests given by teachers and IQ tests, Boyle replied. Mrs. Witter spoke in favor of informal testing. Dr. Huus said, "We feel a parent has a right to know the relative ability or group into which his child falls, although educators believe he should not be quoted in IQ numbers. A parent should be able to judge his child's capabilities after living closely with the child. The teacher's only advantage is in having had comparative experiences with numerous children of one age."

One teacher said "only very rarely do we consider it best for pupil and parent that we avoid revealing the whole truth." A comparison to doctors who do not tell their patients everything, was made.

Closing Comment
A closing comment, "The inability of above-average parents to accept that they may have only average children frustrates some children," brought applause from a group of teachers and parents in the audience.

Home and School President
Maurice Webster appointed the following Association members to a committee for nomination of next year's officers:
Mrs. John Seybold, Mrs. Charles Martin, John Honnold, John Carroll, Arthur Kent.

David McIntire of Cresson Lane returned home Sunday from a four day convention of Labor and Management at Miami Beach, Fla.

College Man Ranks Top In Foul Shooting
Bill Hoot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry I. Hoot of Lafayette Avenue, was credited with being the "decisive factor" in Denison University's seizure of the Ohio Conference basketball lead from Capital University last month with his 18 points on foul shots. "Deadly shooting from the free throw line combined with the diminutive guard's uncanny ability to collect fouls have made Hoot the leading man in Big Red foul shooting over the past three years."

In Swarthmore High School Bill received eight letters in football, basketball, and baseball and as captain of his suburban championship basketball team, he was elected to the all-suburban team. He has played on State Championship teams in junior high and with the American Legion Little League.

Bill is captain of both the baseball and basketball teams at the university in Granville, O. He is vice president of Sigma Chi fraternity and is co-chairman of DCEP publicity, student-faculty sports relations representative, and fraternity representative to Men's Judicial Council. Bill is a speech major.

FRENCH SOCIAL WORKER ON VISIT HERE

YEARN'S FOR SWARTHMORE IN THE SPRING

Swarthmore in the spring rated just a little ahead of that lovely old charmer, Paris, by a handsome young Frenchwoman spending this week at the Strath Haven Inn during a visit to the United States on a U. N. Fellowship.

Or, at any rate, says Mile. Colette Hovasse, "Paris I have seen many times. But you'll live my life over again and go to college here! I would take my books down to the amphitheatre to study, and walk across the campus in the moonlight. And I would find out the name of every single tree, every one!"

Born outside Paris in the Ile-de-France, Mile. Hovasse is in charge of social work for the Courts of Justice at Casablanca, Morocco. In this country she visited social work agencies, private and public, with a view to taking back the methods of casework and applying them to her own work and to the teaching which she does in the school of Social work there.

After taking her university work in Paris she returned to Morocco where her father, a mining engineer, was employed by the French government and herself still went to work while France still held a protectorate over the North African country. Eighteen months ago the protectorate was dissolved, and a form of republic government set up under the Sultan of Morocco. She, like many other French citizens, remained on the government staffs to supply some skills which the struggling young country was attempting to teach its own people. The U. N. Fellowship came about in the search for wider and more efficient methods, especially in the handling of individual cases.

During the past week the chic young woman has been studying at first hand methods used in the Department of Public Assistance in Chester, the Juvenile Court techniques of Judge Henry G. Sweeney—for which she had the highest praise in her vocabulary—and the Juvenile Detention Home; and the Child Care Center, Children's Aid Society. This week she spent under the auspices of the Family Service Association at its offices in Upper Darby, Media and Chester. On Wednesday evening she was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Carroll of College Avenue. Mr. Carroll is the former president and still a board member of Family Service.

What impressed her most about the agencies was the high degree of efficiency of the casework method, but she was almost as surprised by the hardworking boards of directors.

"In my country we have boards which function once yearly, to sign checks, and otherwise confine themselves to their own business," she said. "But here... I find businessmen, lawyers, doctors, ministers working so hard at their agency's business, knowing so much and so clearly about what the problems are, understanding the needs of the executive and the professional workers on the staffs. You do not know how lucky you are to be able to work like this, drawing the community into the professional application of these skills."

She plans at the end of the week to go to Charleston and visit the gardens and then make a brief stop at New Orleans before returning home. She'll go back to Casablanca then, after spending April in Paris.

"But," she says, smiling and pointing her ever-present camera, "it would fulfill a dream for me if only I could remain here long enough to see Swarthmore dressed in its lilac and its forsythia!"

Teen-Agers Jailed

Rutledge Police Chief and Fire Company President Andrew Haigh conducting an investigation among teen-agers in this area Monday evening in an effort to discover who had stolen his loaded police pistol from the police car the previous Thursday night, apprehended five youths.

Due to crowded conditions there, authorities said, they were transferred to the County Prison, at Broadmeadows.

"General Intellectual sell-out is the constant temptation of one who works for mass media," said James Michener Sunday night in the first of a series of lectures on "Art and Mass Media" presented by the William J. Cooper Foundation of Swarthmore College.

He told an audience of approximately 1000 people that the three problems the artist faces are (1) to express honestly what his experience and insight have permitted him to perceive, (2) to reach the audience he seeks, and (3) to make from his work a decent living. The latter brings him into contact with mass media—motion pictures, television, magazines, etc.

Another Man's Opinion
about the
PROPOSED COUNTY EXPRESSWAY

In discussing the location of the proposed highway, we must give consideration to the long run needs of our community. In this connection the following statistics, obtained largely from the April, 1955 report of the Pennsylvania State Planning Board, will be interesting.

Delaware County had a population of 414,234 in 1950, ranking third in population out of 67 counties. Its population density per square mile was 2,169 persons, ranking second of all counties. Between 1940 and 1950 population increased by 33.3%, which was the second largest percentage increase in Pennsylvania counties during that decade. Our natural rate of population increase (considering birth rate vs. death rate, and not population migration) places us third among all counties. (Philadelphia county grew only 7% during this period!)

Delaware County ranks 65th of 67 counties in terms of the proportion of its land which is devoted to forests and 60th in terms of the proportion of its area devoted to farms. Of its 191 square miles, only 16.3% is classified as "forested." It ranks 65th in terms of the proportion of publicly-owned land. There are in Delaware County 120 acres owned by the State, 168 owned by the Federal Government, and 539 owned by Counties and Municipalities. Much of this acreage is devoted to institutional or governmental use and is not available for recreation. Moreover, such publicly-owned land comprises less than seven-tenths of one percent of our total land area! We rank second in terms of the amount of public roads per square mile of land, since there are 6.2 miles of roads in Delaware County for every square mile of land!

But what of the future? At what rate will Delaware County's population increase? Population experts (Illustrative Projections, U. S. Census, August 21, 1953) predict that the U. S. population will be over 200 million by 1970, (an increase of approximately 22% above present levels). But Delaware County population gained 14.5%. A conservative estimate would therefore suggest that our county's population will have increased by 50% above the 1950 level by 1970! There will be more than 630,000 persons living in Delaware County by that time!

The following conclusions seem inescapable:

1. Lack of foresight has created a shocking condition, since less than 1% of available land remains in the hands of the public. Even including privately held tracts, such as those owned by Swarthmore College, we stand virtually at the very bottom of all Pennsylvania counties in terms of the remaining forested land.
2. Population increases in Delaware County will result in the virtual elimination of all remaining forested areas, unless by planning we make arrangements to conserve them.
3. With half again as many people in Delaware County by 1970, the need for parks and recreation areas will be critical. At the same time more and better highways will be required to facilitate the movement of traffic within the county.
4. Such additional highways should not be permitted to intrude upon the remaining recreational areas.

Letters to the Editor

The opinions expressed below are those of the individual writers. All letters to the Swarthmorean must be signed. Pseudonyms may be used if the writer is known to the Editor. Letters will be published only at the discretion of the Editor.

Clarifies Statement
To the Editor:
No doubt many Swarthmoreans have read Mr. George R. Staab's by-lined article in The Sunday Bulletin, February 17, 1957, about the so-called "split" between Swarthmore residents and Swarthmore College.

Obviously newspapermen choose their own "angles" and methods of expression when writing their news stories—and this is as it should be. It is equally true, however, that persons who are quoted in news stories sometimes wish that a somewhat different mode of expression might have been chosen.

The article, at one point, refers to the "Bradshaw committee" as: "objecting to the Red route and supporting the Blue." The committee of which I am chairman, Swarthmore Citizens in Opposition to Route "A", has never advocated adoption of any specific route. We would favor the adoption of any route which would not affect the Borough at all, just as other groups in Swarthmore would. In fact, one of the members of our committee was quoted in this effect in the Bulletin article.

In the final analysis, all Swarthmoreans prefer the "Green" route, but if the choice must be narrowed to the "Blue" or the "Red", many Swarthmore residents (including myself) would oppose the "Red", just as the College—understandably—would oppose the "Blue." Our position is based on a sincere conviction that, if we have to make the unhappy choice between "Red" and "Blue", the "Red" route is the more damaging to the entire Swarthmore community and neighboring areas. I hope you will permit me to point out some observations, I made to the Bulletin reporter which I can quote in substance, but probably not with complete exactness because I do not now have a copy of the statement:

"It is clear that a road is needed. Obviously the final choice must rest on considerations of the relative engineering efficiencies and the relative impact on the lives of the people affected."

"Whatever the final decision may be, I hope and believe that it will be accepted by the whole community in a spirit of mutual good feeling and sportsmanship, and that no personal animosities will result."

Speaking only for myself, I would be "pleased less than somewhat" to use the Damon Runyan vernacular, by the "Red" route; but nevertheless if that route were chosen, I would accept the decision with no feeling of ill-will whatsoever toward my many good friends at Swarthmore College.

And to clarify my position further, I shall gladly join with others to renew the fight to urge a route west of Media, so long as the issue between the relative damage resulting from the "Blue" and "Red" routes is not obscured.

T. A. Bradshaw

Committee Studies Public Recreation

The Health and Welfare Council Study of Public Recreation in Delaware County has reached the halfway point according to Millard P. Robinson, chairman of the committee. Mr. Robinson, who is also coach at Swarthmore High School, reported to the Council recently, stating that his Citizens Committee has completed the first phase of its study which includes a review of all public recreation programs carried on in the county by the various townships, boroughs and the City of Chester.

The second phase of the committee's work, which involves the establishment of public recreation goals for Delaware County is now underway, he said. The committee's final report, which will include a blueprint for the development of adequate public recreation programs in Delaware County, is expected to be completed for public distribution by June 1.

Mr. Robinson stated that the findings of the first phase of the study showed that 19 of the 49 communities in Delaware County did not report any public summer recreation program.

Local members of the citizens Committee include: Amy Howland, Swarthmore; Frank Fitts and James Sands, Wallingford; and Samuel S. Start, Moylan.

6 Seniors Named NMSC Runners Up

Six seniors at Swarthmore High School have been commended by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation for distinguished performance in its nationwide search for students of unusual ability, according to Principal William M. Bush.

The students honored are: Frederick W. Browne, Richard W. Coles, George K. Garrett, Andrew D. Roxby, William A. Welsh, Jr. and Paul T. Willis.

They have also been named Pennsylvania state runners-up in the 1957 Merit Scholarship competition. As such the local students will be sent letters of recommendation by NMSC for use in applying to the colleges they wish to attend.

Red Cross Seeks Flood Relief Aid

Brig. Gen. Brenton G. Wallace, Chairman of the American Red Cross, has received an urgent telegram from General Alfred M. Gruenther requesting aid and assistance for the flood sufferers of Kentucky, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Gruenther, newly appointed Red Cross President, stated that present indications point towards a total Red Cross expenditure of five million dollars. Two million dollars have already been allocated for disaster relief in the mountainous coal-mining region. The new estimate is based on fresh reports received from 28 affected counties by 255 disaster-trained staff and volunteer officials. At least 25 more disaster workers are being recruited for duty in the three-state area.

24 Dealers Scheduled For 12th Antiques Fair

Several new features will be introduced this year at the 12th annual Antiques Fair, scheduled for March 5, 6, and 7, by the Woman's Club of Swarthmore, at the clubhouse, 118 Park Avenue.

The 24 dealers, all reputable dealers to antique lovers, will display more furniture than ever before. Pine and cherry will be in abundance, as well as many pieces of the Victorian period. There will be odd chairs, dry sinks, dough troughs, blanket chests, etc.; also many items in copper and brass.

This year a new booth, featuring books on antiques, will be manned by Mrs. Francis W. Pennell, of Swarthmore.

The club first started the Fair in 1943, in response to community and club interest in antiques of all kinds, and its popularity has grown from year to year.

According to Mrs. Robert A. Boyle, general chairman, as in the past, the entire proceeds will be used toward the repair and upkeep of the clubhouse, which, in addition to regular club meetings, is frequently used for programs and events of service clubs and other community groups.

Luncheon and tea will be served each day.

The tenth meeting of the Swarthmore Great Books Discussion Group will take place Tuesday evening, 8 p.m., in the council room at the Borough Hall.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested in solid discussion and especially those who are interested in the question of censorship as the topic of discussion will be Milton's "Areopagitica".

Something of an innovation was tried at the last meeting when, for want of a meeting room at the Borough Hall, the discussion was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Gilcrest of Vassar avenue. Among those present for the discussion on Macbeth were:

Mrs. A. Sheppard, Mrs. T. Morey, Mrs. G. V. Krenikoff, Alma Daniels, Mrs. J. T. Finkston, Mr. and Mrs. Gilcrest, Mr. and Mrs. J. Griffiths, Dr. Ross Sorenson, Dr. Seymour W. Klezian, and William Dalley.

Sven Borei To Receive Scout's Eagle Rank

(Continued From Page 1) many are specified, and most are quite difficult to earn. In addition, a minimum period of one year is required to elapse between the time a Scout becomes First Class and the time he reaches Eagle.

Perhaps more important are the requirements in Scout spirit and participation. An Eagle candidate must have served many hours for God, country and fellow man through Scout service projects and other church and community activities. He must serve his Scout unit as a leader. He must set an example to other Scouts as one who is doing his best to live up to the principles of Scouting in all the areas of his life.

Sven, now 15, was a Cub Scout in Stockholm, Sweden, from 1949-1952. There he served as permanent denner and earned the rank of Second Star, Sweden's highest Cub Scout rank. Sven's activity in Scouting then lapsed for a year as his family moved to the United States.

He became a Tenderfoot Scout in Swarthmore Troop 3 in April 1954. In November of 1954 Sven, now a member of Troop 2, became a Second Class Scout. He became First Class in April 1955, and in July 1955, and Life in November 1955.

Sven earned the God and Country Award in February 1956 after a year's service to his church. To hold both the Eagle Scout rank and the God and Country award is to achieve the highest Scouting honor to offer.

Sven's leadership responsibilities since he joined Troop 2 have included service as a Den Chief in Pack 1, and Patrol Leader in his troop. A trained junior leader who has assisted in training other junior leaders in district-wide programs, Sven is currently serving as Junior Assistant Scoutmaster and Troop Scribe for Troop 2.

At Camp Delmont in 1954 Sven was trained to be Troop Aquatics instructor. He became a Red Cross Junior Lifesaver in February 1956.

Sven studied in communicants' training class and became a member of the Swarthmore Presbyterian Church in March 1956. He belongs to his church's Senior High School choir. At Swarthmore High School he belongs to the band, orchestra, and chorus.

Sven has been in charge of designing window displays for Scouting for several years and has served others many times through such troop projects as clothing drives for Goodwill Industries and the Scout "Get Out the Vote" campaigns.

Sven has earned merit badges in first aid, world brotherhood, citizenship in the nation, citizenship in the home, personal fitness, scholarship, public health, swimming, life saving, forestry, safety, camping, firemanship, nature, cooking, home repairs, weather, reading, music, stamp collecting, and fishing.

Mrs. Franklin Gillespie of Harvard avenue entertained at a luncheon last Friday.

March Fashion Show To Aid Co. Children

Assistance for Delaware County children more unfortunate than their own will be offered by the Mothers Club of Swarthmore through its annual Spring Fashion Show, held this year Thursday evening, March 14, in the auditorium of the High school.

The largest fund-raising event of the year, the affair annually garners money which is distributed through selected welfare groups, named this year by the committee as Camp Sunshine, Camp Hope, Sunycreech School for Boys and the Community Nursing Service. The group will also continue its adoption of a Greek orphan, initiated last year, according to Mrs. John Francis, welfare chairman.

Mrs. Francis, discussing the distribution of funds, said that her committee regarded a healthy summer in the sun as one of the essentials for a strong and emotionally sound growth. Therefore the money will be divided to make it possible for the camps to carry out their program for providing camping experience for those unable to finance it. The Nursing Service provides camping scholarships for youths over 12, which is the age limit in Camps Sunshine and Hope.

Mrs. Francis is assisted on the welfare committee by Mrs. Charles Ridewood, Mrs. John Harvey, Mrs. Curtis Jones, Mrs. A. David Spiers, Mrs. Carl Colfiesh, Mrs. George Pagano, Mrs. Baron Criste, Mrs. Richard Eckenroth, and Mrs. Robert Wood.

Dr. Fussell Evaluates World Trouble Spots

The international affairs department of the Swarthmore Woman's Club presented February 12, one of its members Dr. Frances R. Fussell, in a program titled "The Changing World Scene."

Mrs. Gorton W. Brush, chairman, introduced Mrs. Fussell following the stated meeting. In her unemotional analytical evaluation of the World's trouble-spots, Dr. Fussell focused the attention of her large audience upon Suez, Algeria, Hungary and Poland. She traced the recent developments of the expanded U.N. and the shift in policies of the U.S.S.R. to fill the vacuum in the Middle East.

In sketching the trends in economic development, Dr. Fussell mentioned as milestones the guided missiles program, the Geophysical Year and recent technical advancement of the United States. "The revolution in rising expectations among the underdeveloped nations has increased economic tensions until now foreign aid is more strategic than military assistance," said Mrs. Fussell.

In answering her own question, "What can we do to help?" Dr. Fussell emphasized the great need for the United States to change attitudes, drop prejudices and strengthen their own moral values in concern for others. Her quotations from Lincoln's Gettysburg Address pin-pointed these admonitions.

Dr. Fussell was a panelist with the French Ambassador Herive Alphonse, and Senator William Fulbright of Arkansas, under Moderator Walter Cronkite, on the Bulletin Forum televised Sunday, February 10.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 3.
Tax Hints for Car and Home Owners

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants, and the Pennsylvania Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Your home and your car may be the source of deductions that will lower your federal income tax. It is important to check all possible deductions because of the savings involved. If you are in the lowest bracket—20%—each $5 you can find in deductions may mean a dollar in your pocket. For persons with higher incomes the possible savings are even greater.

The interest on a mortgage is deductible on your federal tax return. In most cases, payments to a bank include both interest and principal, as the mortgage is reduced. The interest is less and a larger portion is applied to the principal. Only the interest is deductible in the case of your residence.

Real Estate Taxes
Sometimes the monthly payment also includes an additional amount which the bank holds for the payment of taxes, insurance, etc. In this case the bank is acting as your agent in paying tax on your property. Real estate taxes paid by the bank for you are deductible as if you had paid them directly.

If your home had been damaged by fire, storm or flood, your loss not covered by insurance is deductible. The amount of the loss is calculated by comparing the fair market value of the property just before and just after the casualty. This loss, or the cost of the property, whichever is lower, is reduced by any insurance recovery to determine the loss for tax purposes.

When large amounts are involved it may be wise to have an expert appraisal made immediately after the casualty.

When You Sell a Home
You are not allowed to deduct any loss you may suffer on the sale of your personal residence. However, you may be required to pay tax on a gain resulting from selling the house at a profit.

If, however, you buy and occupy another home within one year, before or after the final sale of your former home, you are not taxed on the gain at the time of the sale. Alternatively, you can start construction of a home within a year, and occupy it within 18 months after the sale of your old home. The new home costs as much as you restored for your old one (with allowances for certain "fixing-up" expenses), you are not taxed on the gain. If your new home costs less, the gain is taxable to the extent of the difference. In any event, you are required to submit information concerning any sale of your home at a profit, whether or not the gain is taxable.

N.B.—Paragraph nine "Income Tax Facts" incorrectly lists state automobile inspection fees as a tax deduction for residents of Pennsylvania. Since this fee in Pennsylvania is collected primarily to cover costs of inspection, the fee is for regulation rather than revenue. Therefore, it is not a deductible item except as an ordinary and necessary business expense.

When you buy a home you generally agree with the previous owner on a schedule of adjustments for taxes, insurance, water rates and similar items. However, you and the previous owner can deduct this real estate tax in proportion to the number of days of the property tax year that each of you held the property—whether or not you have agreed to apportion the tax. You are considered to have paid your share of the tax when you bought the home. This applies to any real estate you may have purchased during 1956.

Deductible Auto Expenses
From the time you buy an automobile you begin to have other expenses which are deductible on your federal income tax return. Any state or local sales tax you paid on the car purchase is deductible. So is the cost of your license plates, state inspection fees and interest on an auto loan.

A common deduction in many taxpayers' returns is for state gasoline tax. It is best to keep a record of your gasoline purchases during the year, but if you don't have such a record you can still make a reasonable estimate.

If you had a collision, you may be able to deduct for the damage to your own car not covered by insurance. Although driving may have been faulty, you are entitled to the deduction if the accident was not due to your negligence.

Such a loss, or loss from fire, theft or other accidents is determined in the manner described above in connection with damage to a home.

The instruction book which comes with your tax forms gives further information. Help is also available by telephone or at offices of the Internal Revenue Service. The Revenue Service urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you decide to seek outside help.

Junior Club Show Reported Success

Members Grateful For Community Support

Members of the Swarthmore Junior Woman's Club are extremely grateful to the residents of Swarthmore and neighboring communities for their enthusiastic support of the benefit fashion show which the clubwomen sponsored last week at the Swarthmore High School auditorium. From all preliminary reports, the show seems to have been a great success.

Mrs. Roland Colt, president of the Juniors, welcomed those attending the show and introduced Mrs. Robert Scully, chairman of the fashion show, Mrs. Richard Reuther, co-chairman, and Mrs. F. H. Forsythe, Junior Club advisor. Mrs. Colt then introduced Mrs. Robert Berry, chairman of the education committee of the Delaware County Chapter of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children. Since the proceeds from the show went to the chapter, it was fitting that Mrs. Berry explain something of the work done at the Training Center in Lansdowne.

Models displayed innumerable stunning styles with the slim skirt predominating in the crepes, silks and woolsens. A few billowing hemlines were shown in cottons and chiffons. Gray and beige were emphasized in daytime wear, the two colors were even used together. This year the models walked out on a ramp, which enabled those away from the center aisle to see well. Mrs. Walter Black played background piano music, complimenting the fashions most effectively, while Leslie Pearson, fashion co-ordinator, introduced the styles.

Mrs. Randall Burr awarded several door prizes from the stage to lucky ticket holders. Several attractive hostesses, dressed as cigarette girls, carried boxes strapped around the neck from which they sold chances on door prizes.

A reception followed at the Clubhouse on Park avenue, with several hundred attending. Refreshments were served upstairs and bridge tables were set up downstairs.

Friendly Open House Hears Mrs. Bittle
Mrs. Mark Bittle presented a book review entitled "Miracle in the Mountains" by Harnett T. Kane to the Friendly Open House group, which met last week at the Swarthmore Presbyterian Church.

Serving on the hospitality committees from the health and welfare department of the Swarthmore Woman's Club were Mrs. James Daugherty, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Edward M. James, Mrs. Samuel Carpenter, and Mrs. Arthur Binns.

An afghan, made by the group, was displayed, and ready to be sent to Valley Forge Hospital. This is the eighth afghan made since October.

The next meeting of the group has been scheduled for February 25, when Mrs. Otto Kraus will show colored slides of Florida and the West.

Commonwealth Issues Dog License Warning

On or about February 15, 1957 a general check up will be started for owners of unlicensed dogs. All persons found owning or harboring unlicensed dogs will be prosecuted without exception.

The minimum fine is $5.00 and costs of prosecution and the maximum fine is $100.00 and costs of 30 days in jail or both.

It is not the wish of the Bureau of Animal Industry or your local enforcement officer to make these prosecutions and it is hoped that dog owners will take advantage of this warning and purchase their 1957 license at once.

The purpose of this check up is to license all dogs having homes and to distinguish them from the stray and homeless dog.

All dogs not bearing a current license tag are considered strays and may be disposed of by any officer on sight.

A fee of $2.00 is paid by the Commonwealth to officers for each stray dog disposed of. Forms for reporting same may be secured from your local Bureau of Animal Industry officer or from the Dog Law Division, Bureau of Animal Industry, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

The purchase of a license does not permit your dog to run at large unaccompanied and it may be picked up by any officer.

So protect your dog and respect your neighbor's property by keeping your dog confined to your own property.

Girl Scout Notes

A slate of delegates and alternates will be presented at the next meeting of the Girl Scout Neighborhood Association, Mrs. Robert W. Bernhardt, neighborhood chairman, has announced.

Next meeting of the association is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., March 18 and will be held in the hearth room of the Swarthmore Presbyterian Church.

At a recent meeting of the association Mrs. Roy McCorkel, Mrs. Maurice L. Webster Jr., and Mrs. Howard Jackson were nominated to serve on the permanent nominating committee for a one to three year period. The four delegates to be elected will represent the Neighborhood Association and the troops at the May 9 County Council meeting. Mrs. Samuel Seeman is chairman of the nominating committee.

Plans are being formed now for Swarthmore Scouts participating in National Girl Scout week March 10 to March 16. Mrs. Merrill B. Hayes and Mrs. Arthur Moscrip are co-chairmen for this event.

Troops represented at the recent meeting included 744, 741, 683, 657, 78, Brownies; 441, 225, 19, 95, 331, 16, 560, intermediate girl scouts.

Mrs. Jack McWilliams announced that the scouts this year were sponsoring a news sheet, while Mrs. William C. McDermott and Mrs. Joseph Storozz, conservation chairman, reported a full program of conservation activities is being planned.

Heads ASC Committee

Harry Oppenlander, curriculum director in the Swarthmore High School has recently been appointed chairman of the curriculum committee of the American Chemical Society, Philadelphia Chapter.

The committee, consisting of representatives from industry, institutions of higher education, and secondary schools will concern itself with school programs in science with particular emphasis on curriculum needs of pupils with marked aptitude in the field of science.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arnold of Wallingford will spend the week end in Kalamazoo, Mich., visiting Mr. Arnold's brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Arnold and family. They will then fly to Chicago, Ill. and Cleveland, O., on a business trip after return home next Friday.

Hammerstein Speaks Before Capacity Crowd

Novelist Budd Schulberg To Continue Series Sunday Night

Speaking before a capacity crowd of one thousand people Sunday night, Oscar Hammerstein II delivered the second lecture in the "Art and Mass Media" series being given on the Swarthmore College campus on successive Sunday evenings. Under the sponsorship of the William J. Cooper Foundation of the College, the series—through seven well-known figures in the fields of music, novel, theater, musical comedy, television, and motion pictures—is analyzing the limitations and restriction which mass media impose on the artist, the relation of popularity to artistic value, and the possible positive effects of working in the media.

The author of "Oklahoma," "Carousel," "The King and I" and "South Pacific," told the audience, "we are in the golden age of American musical comedy." Then he commented on what makes a good musical play. "You often hear the word 'commercial' used to describe hits. There is no such thing. The big hits are not those that are written according to formulas but those that have been tried blazers. There is no such thing as a play that is an artistic success but one which the audience don't like. Every unpopular play has something wrong with it as a work of art."

In response to a question from the audience asking whether an artist he ever wrote anything out of sheer artistic compulsion with no regard for whether it would sell, Mr. Hammerstein promptly answered: "I have never written anything out of sheer artistic compulsion. In fact, I don't know what that is."

Novelist Budd Schulberg will be the next speaker in the series on February 24, at 8:15 p.m. in Clothier Memorial on the Swarthmore College Campus. Mr. Schulberg is the author of "What Makes Sammy Run," "The Harnau They Fall," and "The Oscar-winning motion picture scenario 'On the Waterfront.'"

Another 7-Mill School Tax Jump Predicted

Jones Discusses New Elementary Cost at LWV

A 5½ to 7 mill increase in the tax rate of the Swarthmore-Rutledge School District is required to build needed elementary classrooms, Donald P. Jones, school board president, disclosed at the February 14 luncheon of the local February 14 luncheon meeting of the local League of Women Voters.

The lower figure would stand if the $500,000 to $600,000, estimated as the cost of a 10 to 12 room expansion, comes at 3¼ per cent interest and is amortized over a 30-year period. A 20-year amortization would add the other 1½ mills, Jones said.

The District jumped 7 mills from its former 35-mill limit last year after its union with Rutledge raised it to a third class district.

Doubting that anyone except a philosopher could predict school board decisions, Jones announced State approval of the Rutgers avenue site and of a proposed room schedule had been obtained and the local District is now in the third step (proving its financial responsibility), after which it will be ready for the final stage of applying for the State's O.K. on preliminary plans.

Jones said he believes 7 or 8 rooms are needed right away. He expects these to cost about $350,000. Another 3 to 4 rooms must follow within a year or two later, he added. The Board is pressing hard in an attempt to rush the first new facilities to completion by September 1958.

Foresees Authority

As soon as the elementary project is underway, the Board will be able to consider high school needs. Jones said he hoped the vacated College avenue elementary school could be readied for junior high school occupancy by the Fall following the one in which its younger pupils were transferred to their new quarters (this would be the 1959-60 school year).

Renovation of the high school building should take place by the next year (1960-61), he felt, although he hoped some improvements such as lighting might be undertaken before more major ones could be afforded.

Asked if the elementary room schedule included a kitchen, Jones replied "No, not in the proposed building which will be separate but probably quite near the present school on the Rutgers plot; but we have discussed putting a kitchen on the wing of the old school in order to confine eating to the area already established there."

To another question regarding class size he stated the Board has in mind a minimum of 25 pupils and maximum of 30. County Superintendent of Schools, G. Baker Thompson, a former principal of Swarthmore High School, who also spoke at the meeting reminded the audience, "today's State policy of dividing by 33 children in establishing room needs is rough on areas like Swarthmore whose philosophy calls for smaller classes. Larger rooms might have to be built, or if Swarthmore decides to build for smaller classes it will probably mean the State will not participate as greatly in financial aid".

Jones said, "Remember we are running public, NOT private, schools and I do not believe we are in a financial position here to plan for less than 25 pupils, though occasionally a class might fall below this mark."

Jones (whose opposition to authorities as involving tremendous red tape and at least 10 per cent higher cost, has been long standing) announced the elementary expansion would probably be done under a Municipal Authority since it is more than can be handled by direct School District bond issue and the current State Authority situation is so tied up that it would delay the project indefinitely, at least a year or two. "The municipal authority is the most logical as far as can be determined and you know it must be the last resort if I advocate it," he declared.

Thompson said Swarthmore was fortunate in being able to expedite its program by informing the State it was willing to proceed under its own financial power if necessary. Inability in this direction has held up plans of many districts.

Thompson Queried

Thompson said the State's current basic site standard is an original plot of 5 acres plus an acre for every 100 children, but lately it has been advising 18 to 20 acre plots or, for very small schools, 10 to 14 acres. He said the State has a real responsibility to see that sites which shut out future needs are not adopted and that taxpayers are not saddled by unnecessary frills. The State is giving schools more money so it has to assume more direction. The State has full authority, it only delegates it partially and temporarily to a local school board, he pointed out.

The newly established practice of sending inspection teams into the proposed school area is very wise, Thompson stated; it gives a better local picture to the governing State bureau.

School districts can build beyond State recommended minimums, he said, but all cost of extras do and should fall on the district. The State does not require cafeterias although it does like to see them in rural areas where children must remain at school for lunch.

"People can view the State as a Big Bad Wolf that denies them the right to do what they want, or they can see it as a guide which helps a district prevent mistakes", Thompson declared.

Asked whether equalization of assessments, which county schools are seeking, would tend to increase taxes, Thompson replied, "I can't predict whether Swarthmore's tax rate would be lower or higher but reassessment would cause more direct bond issues and less authority financing if it raised assessments to a higher rate of real value. (It is for this reason, increased borrowing capacity, that the Swarthmore School Board is backing the move. Reassessment often discovers some formerly unassessed properties and others which had very, very low assessments. It is said that it often doesn't change properties which have not been unfairly below their own share for years."

College Announces New Faculty Members

3 to Join Staff for 2nd Semester Here

Chadwick Alger, Manuel Ascencio, and Michael Scriven, new professors of political science, Spanish, and philosophy, have joined the Swarthmore College faculty for the spring semester.

Mr. Scriven comes to Swarthmore after work as a research associate at the Minnesota Center for the Philosophy of Science. His courses at Swarthmore include symbolic logic, philosophy of science and an introductory class.

Well-trained both in science and in philosophy, Mr. Scriven holds a B.A. in mathematics and physics and an M.A. in mathematics and philosophy from the University of Melbourne. He received a Ph.D. in philosophy from Oxford University.

Born in England, though now an Australian citizen, Mr. Scriven acts as American correspondent for an English periodical "The Motorist" in his less academic moments.

A doctoral study on the role of private scholars in making foreign policy and four years of work with the Office of Naval Intelligence has helped prepare Mr. Alger to teach American Foreign Policy and International Politics.

Most recently he has taught at Princeton University. He was an undergraduate at Ursinus College and did graduate work at the Johns Hopkins School of Advance International Studies.

Mr. Ascencio replaces James Sorber of the Spanish department, who is at present on a leave of absence in Spain. In addition to teaching several seminars in Spanish literature here, Mr. Ascencio is an associate professor of romance languages at Haverford College. He and his wife, Mrs. Elisa Ascencio, assistant professor of Spanish, keep the Spanish department "in the family" since the two Ascencios are the only members of that department at Swarthmore this semester.

Election Petitions Start Circulating Monday

two six-year terms. No one has declared for the second year term at the time of this writing.

The office of Justice of the Peace, another six year term is also open this year, and Peter E. Told, incumbent, will file for reelection. As yet, there are no announced candidates for the two vacancies existing for auditors, one for the school, and one for the borough, each six year terms.

With very few departures, it has been the custom in this borough for many years, to renominate and elect those persons who have held any of these offices, since all serve without salary (with the exception of tax collector and auditors, and Justice of the Peace who receives fees for special services).

This factor has been paramount in keeping the borough out of politics.

One outstanding example of this policy is that of former Burgess John A. Pitman, a Democrat, who was elected in an overwhelming Republican borough, four times.

Citizens are reminded that no signatures can be obtained before next Monday, and that all petitions must be filed by the 18th of March.
