Luman Gesford, sixth grade teacher, who is chairman of the teachers committee on reporting, said he expected returns would be complete within a couple of weeks and the results would then be discussed with all teachers. Other members of the committee are: Monday, Oct. 10, 1960 Mrs. Janet Groff, Miss Lois Green, Miss Nell Wiseman, Mrs. Grace Witter, and Mrs Abbe Enders.

Dr. Harry Kingham, new superintendent of the District, said he understood the teachers had made their evaluation. He did not disclose its outcome. He said the questionnaire was to see if any minor adjustments were desirable this year. If any radical change from the present system were desired, it of course could not be worked out for the present year,

The present system is a parenteacher conference early in the school year, followed by a written report a couple of months later, a conference in the early spring, and a written report at the end of the term. Symbols S (strong achievement), N (normal or average achievement), I (improving), and W (weakness) are used in kindergarten through third grade. Academic achievement in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades is described by A (superior achievement for grade,) B (above average for grade), C (average for grade), D (passing, but below average), E (unsatisfactory, very little work accomplished). These are similar to the letter marks received by students in junior and senior high school. First through sixth grade reports also have O (for outstanding) and a check mark for improvement needed in music, physical education and personal and

The Friends Historical Library also possesses many unpublished papers of Edward Hicks, including the original manuscript of his "Memoirs". In this autobiography the Quaker preacher recorded his struggles to overcome his "excessive fondness for painting." If the Christian world shared in "the real spirit of Christ," he wrote, "I do not think there would be such a thing as a fine painter in Christendom." Painting appeared to him "one of those trifling, insignificant arts, which has never been of any substantial advantage to the

Yet he loved to paint and orders kept coming in. In an undated letter (also at Swarthmore) written near the end of his life he thanks his correspondent, a Philadelphia Quaker merchant, for "two bottles of thy good wine" --- probably in payment for a painting, and remarks that he has more canvases "bespoke already than I shall ever get done." Then he proceeds to describe a landscape he had just completed-William Penn's grave at Jordans Meetinghouse in England "with the likeness of a famous English bull" and, "to enhance its value," a portrait of the well-known English Quaker Joseph John Gurney "with his chariott and friends."

SWARTHMORE HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Bucks Needed for More Uniforms

TOMORROW, October 8 — the Swarthmore High School Band will tour the town. A Majorette will call at your door for your contribution to the Band. (9:00 A.M. to 12 Noon)

THE BAND

This year we have the largest band in Swarthmore High's history. Next year it will be larger. The band consists of 100 Junior and Senior High School musicians, supported by 15 drum majorettes. They achieve an astonishing degree of artistic skill under the dedicated guidance of their Band Director, Mr. Robert M. Holm.

THE UNIFORMS

Uniforms are provided and cared for through contributions. A new uniform costs over $50.00. In recent years your generosity has made possible the replacement of nearly 75 worn-out uniforms. This year at least 20 new uniforms must be obtained.

THE INSTRUMENTS

Instruments are furnished and cared for by the Swarthmore-Rutledge School District or by band members.

The band members give us much enjoyment. ... Here's your chance to say "Thanks!" Have your folding money and checks ready when the Band Solicitor calls on you. If you prefer, make out a check to the Swarthmore-Rutledge Band Parents Association and mail it to the Treasurer, Mrs. E. W. Jackson, 20 Rutledge Avenue, Rutledge. Thank you for your past support and your contributions in this campaign.

Following the kick-off by Colthe goal-line to set up their first touchdown near the end of the third quarter. This initial score was made by Billy Alston. At this point quarterback and kicking specialist Dick Jackson returned to the game after having been shaken up by a hard Collingdale tackle on a tremendous pass interception play by the alert safety man. The cool trio, Fellows, Decker, and Jackson, went into action and, true as an arrow.

Dick kicked the ball through the center of the uprights for the PAT. The fourth quarter was a repeat of the third quarter; Nick Reynolds, as quarterback, continued to send Alston and Anthony into the line on short five and six yard spurts. As the Coll defense closed up, a fake dive and pitch-out play by Mark Detweiler for 20 yards put the ball down on the two, from where he plunged over for the second TD. Repeat: Fellows, Decker, Jackson—PAT. This finished the scoring for the day as Swarthmore substituted freely to give many boys a chance to play.

The first half was a defensive game and if anything Collingdale had the upper hand, threatening on two occasions. It was determined and heady defensive play that kept the Garnet goal uncrossed. John Bond worked at left end and Jim Foley's appearance as defensive tackle got stronger as the game progressed; much is expected of these performers throughout the season. Al Bullard's return to full time action contributed to the team's improvement. Ralph Kletzien and Eddie Harris have proven to be heads-up "play-me-anywhere, Coach" players on the team and provide a lot of spark when needed. The whole team can be proud of their condition as again their fitness to do the job in the last quarter was very much in evidence. Other boys who saw action were Rick Filler, Bob Frost, Jim Myers, Graig Young, Ronnie Hoge, Chuck Kurtzhalz, Dick Comerford, Freddie Braund, Eddie Eckenhoff, George Hamilton, Steve Hansell, Doc Grey, and Jerry Liddell.

A very healthy situation exists at several positions on the squad as there are two and sometimes three candidates for the starting assignment. It is hoped that this will help bring out the best in all of them. At fullback it is virtually a toss-up on offense between Braund, Hoge, and Eckenhoff and Jackson and Reynolds, at quarteback. Graig Young is another boy who can play two positions and is barking at the heels of both Harris and Bullard.

Tomorrow afternoon Swarthmore will travel to Clifton Heights for a 2 p.m. game. The Rams, champions of their section last year, sport an undefeated record for '60 and '61.

Program Is Scheduled for 7:50 P.M. Tuesday

Back to School Night for the parents of Nether-Providence Junior and Senior High students will be held Monday at 7:50 p.m. at the high school. Parents will meet in the auditorium for directions before going to their children's home rooms and receiving their daily schedules.

Classes will be held for seven minutes while the teacher presents his aims and plan of work. There will be four minutes between classes.

"The purpose of the evening's program," Mrs. George Mateyo president of the P.T.A., stated, "is to promote better understanding by the parents of the school situation. Following the classes, refreshments will be served in the cafeteria by Mrs. Alexander M. Lyon, hospitality chairman, and her committee-Mrs. Charles Webber, Mrs. Tyler Peabody, Mrs. Clarence A. Redden, Mrs. John B. Allen, Mrs. Edward Morgan, Mrs. Roy Taylor, Mrs. J. T. Gormally, and Mrs. Robert Masters.

5th Grade Group Votes Down Canopy

Mrs. John Magee of Yale square presided over a meeting of the mothers' group of Martha Shaw's fifth grade, in the school room on October 4. The group voted unanimously that it did not consider it necessary to add to the canopy between Rutgers avenue elementary buildings for weather protection of children who travel from one building to another for art classes or cafeteria use.

The group felt that if the children put on their coats they should be adequately protected, and that any available funds should be put directly to educational purposes. The Parents' Council had asked each group for an expression of opinion after the question of adding to the canopy from Book Fair funds came up in its recent meeting. Other officers of Miss Shaw's mothers' group for this year are: Mrs. Bager Middelton, vice-chairman; Mrs. Daniel Goldwater, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Robert Browne and Mrs. Harold Sessions, telephone chairmen; Mrs. Frank Holden and Mrs. Samuel Hynes, hospitality chairmen. The group also voted to spend part of its dues to provide a book club membership for the benefit of the classroom.

Fighting fires is only part of the tremendous responsibility assumed by the hundreds of public-spirited volunteers who protect the lives and properties of suburbanites every day on a 'roundthe-clock basis. More and more of their time is being devoted to fire prevention—an objective which demands full public cooperation if it is to succeed in reducing losses and keeping insurance rates low. Here a group of volunteers prepares to conduct a thorough inspection of the interior and exterior fire protection system of a large apartment house. We are happy to work in close relationship with these outstanding citizens.

> This year's schedule calls for gardens which will suggest a manner in which a small suburban property might be developed to provide a comfortable and attractive outdoor living space. Special emphasis is being placed on trees and shrubs which provide year round interest and are easy to maintain. Chrysanthemums, of course, will be featured in all gardens. It is expected that the schedule of arrangements will test the skill and imagination of some of the best arrangers on the Eastern Seaboard.

> Competition is intense in the amateur horticultural section of the show, as the Class 46 (cuttings of an unnamed variety, grown as a disbudded bush plant) now has some entrants with two first prizes in this class. The David Leslie Poe Memorial Award is given to the contestant winning first prize in this class three times.

Set for This Weekend Amateurs, Professionals To Compete In Annual Event

Chrysanthemum Show

Amateurs and professionals will again exhibit and compete in the p.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday 10 a.m.

This year's schedule calls for gardens which will suggest a manner in which a small suburban property might be developed to provide a comfortable and attractive outdoor living space. Special emphasis is being placed on trees and shrubs which provide year round interest and are easy to maintain. Chrysanthemums, of course, will be featured in all gardens. It is expected that the schedule of arrangements will test the skill and imagination of some of the best arrangers on the Eastern Sea-

Competition is intense in the amateur horticultural section of the show, as the Class 46 (cuttings of an unnamed variety, grown as a disbudded bush plant) now has some entrants with two first prizes in this class. Because of an unfortunate conflict with the ninth and 10th grade Junior Assemblies which will be held the same night, the enrolled Junior Assembly Members will not be welcome at Canteen until after their Assembly. However, in order to take care of both groups, the Junior Assembly will have the 10th grade join with the ninth from 7:45 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. for their record hop party to make it possible for everyone to go on to Canteen, which will then be in full swing and should top off a big evening for all. The dress standards will be coats and ties for boys and date dresses for girls for the winter season, except on a few occasions when the program might allow more casual clothes.

Listed below are some of the committees with some of their members (others will be listed as they are formed):

Music-George Herschel, chairman, Loomis Mayer, Bill Gill with Alan Stamford acting as a senior technical advisor; admissions -Bill Glaser with student assistance alternating with each other; refreshments - Dorothy Gatewood as organizer of committee; treasurer - Diane Reynolds.

The parent-board members have been selected to oversee each one of these jobs in order to perfect the performances, widen their own interests in the problems of Canteen and to simplify the position of an in-coming Adult Chairman.

The board members are: Mrs. Arthur Moscrip and Mrs. Louis Dennett representing the 12th grade; Mrs. Paul Gay and Mrs. Charles Innis of the 11th grade, Mrs. Jack Hunter, Mrs. J. The students of Swarthmore and Neth er Providence High Schools, Swarthmore residents and mem bers of the Swarthmore churches belonging to this age group are invited. Alumni are always wel-

Because of an unfortunate conflict with the ninth and 10th grade Junior Assemblies which will be held the same night, the enrolled Junior Assembly Members will not be welcome at Canteen until after their Assembly. However, in order to take care of both groups, the Junior Assembly will have the 10th grade join with the ninth from 7:45 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. for their record hop party to make it possible for everyone to go on to Canteen, which will then be in full swing and should top off a big evening for all. The dress standards will be coats and ties for boys and date dresses for girls for the winter season, except on a few occasions when the program might allow more casual clothes.

Listed below are some of the committees with some of their members (others will be listed as they are formed):

Music-George Herschel, chairman, Loomis Mayer, Bill Gill with Alan Stamford acting as a senior technical advisor; admissions Bill Glaser with student assistance alternating with each other; refreshments - Dorothy Gatewood as organizer of committee; treasurer - Diane Reynolds.

The parent-board members have been selected to oversee each one of these jobs in order to perfect the performances, widen their own interests in the problems of Canteen and to simplify the position of an in-coming Adult Chairman. The board members are:

Mrs. Arthur Moscrip and Mrs. Louis Dennett representing the 12th grade; Mrs. Paul Gay and Mrs. Charles Innis of the 11th grade, Mrs. Jack Hunter, Mrs. J. Why a cut in telephone rates

in the public interest

The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission has announced the institution of formal proceedings to investigate the reasonableness of this company's telephone rates in Pennsylvania. While no specific reductions have been mentioned, the Commission is reported to believe that our earnings are too high because the rate of return on the value of our property is 2/10 or 3/10 of 1% more than was contemplated by the Commission when it established present telephone rates in 1956. Proper reflection of increased costs of construction, wages and borrowed money since 1956 would, of course, reduce the rate of return. We do not believe that a reduction is in the public interest.

The cost of telephone service has increased only 81% during the past 20 years, while the cost of living has increased 110%.

Our average monthly business and residence telephone rates are lower in Pennsylvania than in our neighboring states of New York, New Jersey, Maryland and West Virginia, Our local revenue per telephone in Pennsylvania is the lowest in the Bell System.

Our toll rates for calls within Pennsylvania are lower than those of any other Bell System Company except one whose rates are the same as ours.

These rates have not produced excessive earnings.

> Our average earnings for the past 14 years, in fact, have been below the level of earnings defined as "reasonable" by the Commission's decisions on our previous rate applications.

The telephone industry must compete with other industries for borrowed money, for people and for materials and supplies. Our costs for these necessities have risen as they have for other businesses. The critical difference is that, in the postwar years, our earnings position relative to that of other industries has become worse.

And consider this: Our earnings must be adequate if our growth if our earnings are what they should be.

is to keep up with the growth of Pennsylvania. To meet the state's growing communications needs we will need to spend over a half billion dollars in the next five years. Most of this money must come from outside sources. It will, too . . .

Make no mistake about one thing: Good earnings are important not only to us but also to the economy of Pennsylvania and

Our yearly purchases from some 15,000 Pennsylvania firms and citizens total more than $98

million. An additional $175 million in annual payroll finds its way into the state's business communities through purchases by our employees and their families. This is the equivalent of 273 separate businesses, each paying out a million dollars a year for wages and supplies.

Our earnings must be adequate if we are to maintain the quality of service you have every right to demand and the continual improvements you have every right to expect.

The high quality of our service and its low cost are the result of constant effort by our entire organization. When our efforts are penalized by cutting earnings that result from efficient operation, the incentive to give service which is high in quality and low in cost is undermined.

Our earnings are as big a part of our incentive as your earnings are of yours.

Incentive can work wonders for any business. It's worked wonders for us. By hard work, by aggressive selling and by bringing into the business the most up-to-date technical improvements to keep costs down, we've managed to inch our way ahead despite mounting costs up and down the line.

Where does incentive come from if we are arbitrarily penalized for efficiency?

Our views are shared by members of many regulatory bodies.

The chairman of one state's utility commission, for example, said in a recent speech:

"A regulatory body which cuts rates to the bare minimum makes the utilities that much less attractive to the investor and imposes a burden on them in competing for investment funds, with the result that they must pay constantly more for their capital . . .

"Since the increased cost of capital must ultimately be paid for by the customer, such a shortsighted regulatory policy will ultimately hurt the customer not only in respect to the quality of service but to the long-range cost he will have to pay . . .

"The public can reap a shortsighted and immediate gain with rock bottom utility rates, but the end result would be the stifling of progress and inadequate service, all leading to the road of insolvency, public discontent, and eventual public demand of government ownership. Therefore, we feel that regulation, after establishing the fair value of the used and useful property of the utility, must allow a rate which will encourage investment and in turn ever-improving utility

We submit these facts in the public interest.

Local Gardeners Capture ...

Prizes in 'Mum Show The Swarthmore Garden Club captured two ribbons at the Chry santhemum Show which was held last weekend at the College Field House.

A line arrangement, scheduled to "feature a piece of sculpture" was executed in the feeling of the times with a happily prancing elephant as the center of attraction This design took the blue ribbon in its class with the Award of Distinction. Mrs. Raymond Gemmill. Mrs. Brodie Crawford, Mrs. Hilton Duling, Mrs. Valentine Fine and Mrs. John McQuade created the arrangement.

Also winning a first was the Junior Providence Garden Club for a tea table using a chartreuse green table cloth; and Mrs. W. Charles Hogg of Wallingford for an arrangement using no more than three spider mums, and Mrs. Elliott Deland, also of Wallingford for the "three plants of an unknown variety grown by the exhibiter from rooted cuttings supplied by the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society" (more than 30 competed in this class).

A second prize went to Mrs. Harry W. Wood of Swarthmore for "a colorful composition to suggest a stained glass window".

Another second went to the Swarthmore Garden Club for a table with brown net over a pink cloth using copper accessories, bronze chrysanthemums and tawny fruits. This committee included Arts Center Staffs Mrs. Thomas Hopper, Mrs. William Gill, Mrs. Edward Cratsley, Mrs. Hugh Peters, and Mrs. Neil Thurman.
