At Eight in SHS Humanities Studies To Continue Next Year

Loss of the District's two German teachers and an art teacher taking a sabbatical next year (coupled with previouslyannounced vacancies created by death, retirement, and leave) bring the faculty turnover on the high school level to a total of eight, said Dr. Harry Kingham at Monday night's meeting of the School B oard.

Faculty Turnover

This is double the number of replacements anticipated in the elementary school. Usually the reverse-ratio-exists reported Dr. Kingham, district superintendent.

Announcement of the resigna tion of Hans Meurer to become associate professor of German at Shippensburg State College and of the retirement of Russell L. Snyder after a teaching career of 38 years, was made at the meeting. James R. Gainor's request for sabbatical was also honored at the session. Resignations of kindergarten teacher Mrs. Marjorie Emmer and fourth grade teacher Mrs. Kathleen Gilmore were also received. Mrs. Barbara J. nue, a graduate of Hillsdale College who has been teaching at the Presbyterian Nursery School for the past six years. was elected to replace Mrs. Emmer. Mrs. Joseph E. Spafford of 9 College avenue, is serving for the balance of this school year in place of Mrs. Gilmore who has already left. Mrs. Spafford is a graduate of Washington University.

The Board went through the formalities of passing nine resolutions enabling the County Board of School Directors to proceed with necessary arrangements to build area vocational-technical schools in Aston, Marple and Upper Darby townships and in Folcroft. It agreed to waive tuition for two foreign students under the sponsorship of the American Field Service next year. Members of the Board and

Administration expressed a sense of deep loss in the sudden death of Walter Brinsfield, superintendent of buildings and New Library Books grounds, last Friday. High tribute was paid to Mr. Brinsfield as a "man of great personal integrity and an exceptionally skilled worker."

Dr. Kingham said the sixweek experimental periods of humanities studies in 10th, 11th and 12th grades this year were | ton. Lionheart. Noel B. Dr. Kingham revealed a plan to have fourth grade teachers remain a month this summer to develop a curriculum guide for this level. He said teachers of special subjects would lend part time assistance and the project would be supervised by Elementary Principal Melvin Druken, Mrs. Wilma Lewis of the high school faculty and him self. He anticipated the cost would be about $2500 and that the guide would greatly aid new teachers as well as provide a framework for the programs of cup. Richard Hardwick, The present ones.

The superintendent also expressed hope that a third guidance counselor could be added to the high school staff. He said it might be possible to make adjustments when filling the staff requirements for next year, so that the extra guidance person could be secured without an actual increase in the overall number of persons on the faculty.

POLICE & FIRE NEWS

Police assisted the Media ambulance when it came to the high school at 11:30 a.m. Friday to take Walter Brinsfield of the staff to Riddle Hospital following a heart attack which proved fatal.

Firemen responded to a field fire on Blackrock road, Ridley Township at 4:40 p.m. Sunday.

Players Promise April Gaiety J. Wm. Simmons To Direct 'Mellerdramer

This month the Players Club Swarthmore offers its members and guests a good chance to laugh just for the fun of it. The recipe for galety is an old time kind of "mellerdrama" like the plays of the late 1800's. dramatically entitled "Pure As

ing Girl's Secret." The play was written by Paul Loomis in the conviction that the surest way to plunge present day audiences into gales of riotous laughter and evoke prolonged and thunderous applause is to show them the pure and down-trodden heroine being pursued by the black-héarted villain and, when she has fallen into the rascal's clutches, bring on the manly-bosomed hero to foil the villain and rescue the Trip Takes Streeters eroine in the nick of time.

There, in a nutshell, is the To Southeast Asia play, directed by J. William Simmons, Players Club director and member of the Board of Governors for many years. It will be presented at the Players Club on Fairview road and Saturday, April 14, 15, and April 21, 22, and 23. Twentyfour years ago last February this same play was presented with Mr. Simmons as the director and it played to audiences of well over 1000.

Assisting Mr. Simmons with this production are Cheryl Ten Cate as prompter, Florence Shields, costumes, Sally Mc-Fadden and Flora Melrath. properties, and Inez Chapman at the piano with some of those good old songs from the late 1800's and early 1900's.

Never has there been a more Dean, played by Sue Bell, a more fiercely moustached rogue than Mortimer Frothingor a nobler hero than Leander Longfellow (tall Stanley Hadley) who follows the romantic calling of working in a pickle factory. The following complete the cast:

Rita Lothrop, Frank Grugan, Chucky Seymour, Elizabeth Hiddeman, Edpa Claire, Linda J. Sheldon Turner. Mr. Turner, Fromer, Sally McFadden, Janine Claire and Bill Watkins. It promises to be a robust performance every night, with plenty of hissing, booing, and

The Swarthmore-Wade House Spring Work Day will be held on Saturday afternoon, April 16. A swarm of eager college students will take on a variety of spring chores for village residents.

The Work Day, a biannual event, has in the past been successful in raising money to help send young people of the Wade House in Chester to summer camp.

Some of the older Wade House youth, anxious to help earn their own way to camp, will assist the college students. For the former, both the day in Swarthmore and the hoped-for summer camp experience are horizon-broadening. The attractions of trees and grass, open spaces and fresh air are obvious.

go places in Pennsylvania

Harrisburg is to Pennsylvania as Washington is to the United States; each has the tone and pace of a small American town.

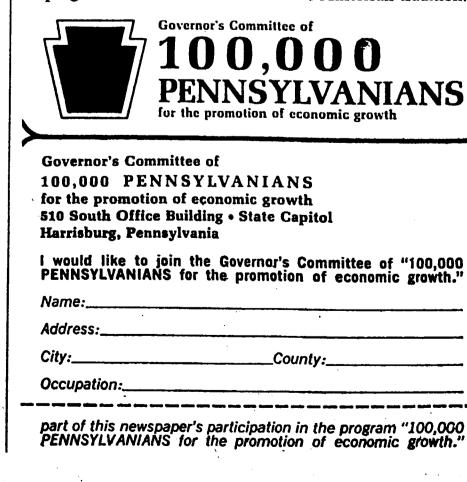

And yet, behind the cement, brick and glass of the buildings, underneath the polite cacaphony of soundtypewriters, high-heeled shoes, mimeograph machines, quiet conversations in elevators, and gracious hellos and nice to see you's, echoing off the walls of long corridors -Harrisburg exists as a dynamic forum for state government. For many years, the city has drawn the top men and women of 67 counties to consider, develop, and guide the destiny of Pennsylvania.

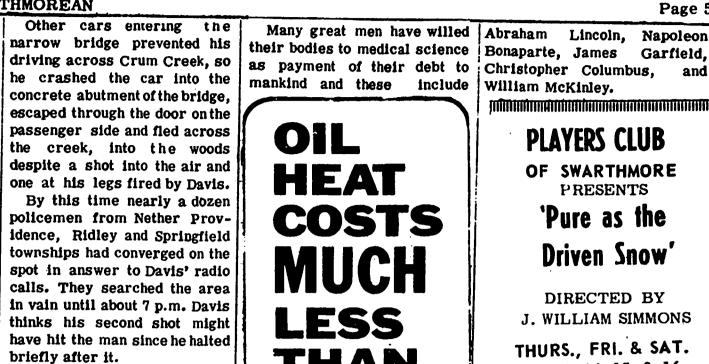

Diversity is the only constant factor of Harrisburg. Located on the eastern bank of the Susquehanna River. which cuts through the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, the sophisticated State Capitol exists sideby-side with the Pennsylvania Dutch, America's 'plain people,' who have chosen to retain a standard of living over one hundred years old.

However, Harrisburg is more than a center of state government; it is a thriving commercial center. A total of 34,000 employees in 469 plants produce products ranging from steel to leather goods. It is a culturally active city as well, and accommodations for travelers and visitors are modern and charming.

A visit to the city offers a curious and lasting memory of incongruity in balance; there, you are witness to prerevolutionary sites, within view of the magnificent new William Penn Memorial Museum and Archives Tower.

Harrisburg is a dramatic example of ever-increasing progress founded on the bedrock of American tradition.

> Mrs. Leroy Peterson presented statements delineating points on which the League of Women in general with the goals of the plan but opposed the development of the wooded area at the elementary school into a formalized recreation area and the landscaping of the two small triangular borough parks. They felt the plan did not sufficiently come to grips with problems of onversions of old homes into apartments, internal traffic and parking.

William Stanton, speaking for Swarthmore College, agreed to the proposed reclassification of the Mary Lyon buildings on Harvard avenue from "apartment" to "college facilities" but said the college wished to retain the "business-residential" status of its property on Chester road between the raiload and Harvard avenue. Borough Solicitor Clarence Myers pointed out several areas in which Borough Council members did not seem in absolute agreement with the plan. He said there seemed to be preferance for retaining "nonconforming use" classification for medical centers, tea room and commercial garages now existing in residential areas, rather than rezoning them "commercial."

Numerous individuals expressed concern about the outcome of increasing densities on several residential streets near the business area. County Planner Davis said this would not permit any more subdivision than was possible at present since the borough had never had any specified minimum lo size.

Hopper said the local comnission was "not married to the plan but sort of formally engaged to it and trying it out on members of the family.' He did not feel that fears that it would "downgrade" the community were justified. Councilman Edward Cratsley

Swarthmore Commission nember Horace Hopkins suggested that residents consider that a probable ten per cent cost-of-living rise by 1970 would face them with such high taxes that they would not be able to grant borough and school employees needed salary raises unless the local tax base was increased by measures such as additional apartment houses.

LEADERS CAMP IS

ROTARY TOPIC

Applications for Rotary's "Tomorrow's Leaders Camp" will be accepted until Monday, April 18, for high school junior boys who want to attend this year's camp, James Murray, chairman, announces. Applications should be sent to Coach Millard Robinson at the high school.

Tomorrow's Leaders Camp s an annual project of District 745 of which the Rotary Club of Swarthmore is a part. This camp was founded in 1950 as the idea of the late Joseph Neidig, then Superintendent of Schools of Quakertown and Governor of Rotary District 265 which later split into two Districts. 743 and 745.

The purpose of the camp was to give carefully selected High School students an opportunity to develop their leadership potentials under the guidance of Rotary. A group of 50 boys participated in the first Camp at Camp Delmont and as the enrollment increased in succeeding years it was moved to the Philadelphia YMCA Camp Hilltop at Downingtown.

In 1961, with an enrollment of about 200 boys from the two districts, it was decided that at Camp Hilltop and the other going to the Reading YMCA camp near Wernersville.

The Rotary Club of Swarthmore has been sending three boys to this camp for a number of years and selections will be funds and approval of plans made during April from this | and hoped to have the work done year's Junior Class at the High | this year. GIRLS' VARSITY OPENS SEASON

The opening games of the Girls' Varsity and Junior Varsity High School Lacrosse season proved to be successful considering the newness of the teams and the keen competition they met.

The squad, which had practiced as teams only three days before the first game, met a strong, friendly, and highly skilled Springside group on Friday, April 1, on the home field.

In the Varsity game, tension grew as each team alternately scored. At the final whistle the Garnet girls were behind by one goal and lost the game by a 5-4 score. The Junior Varsity, a very new, and almost completely inexperienced team played hard but lost to a strong Springside twelve, 7-2.

Coach Alice Willetts was extremely pleased by the performance of this squad in their first game.

LEADERS CAMP IS ROTARY TOPIC

Applications for Rotary' "Tomorrow's Leaders Camp" will be accepted until Monday, April 18, for high school junior boys who want to attend this year's camp, James Murray, chairman, announces. Applications should be sent to Coach Millard Robinson at the high school.

Tomorrow's Leaders Camp is an annual project of District 745 of which the Rotary Club of Swarthmore is a part. This camp was founded in 1950 as the idea of the late Joseph Neidig, then Superintendent of Schools of Quakertown and Governor of Rotary District 265 which later split into two Districts, 743 and 745.

The purpose of the camp was to give carefully selected High School students an opportunity to develop their leadership potentials under the guidance of Rotary. A group of 50 boys participated in the first Camp at Camp Delmont and as the enrollment increased in succeeding years it was moved to the Philadelphia YMCA Camp Hilltop at Downingtown.

In the Varsity game, tension grew as each team alternately scored. At the final whistle the Garnet girls were behind by one goal and lost the game by a 5-4 score. The Junior Varsity, a very new, and almost completely inexperienced team played hard but lost to a strong Springside twelve, 7-2. Coach Alice Willetts was extremely pleased by the performance of this squad in their first game.

Its proprietors, Miss Leslie Osgood (who became Mrs. Kurtzhalz in 1920) and Miss Mabel Elms (who became Mrs. Gerald Effing in 1918 and now resides in Lancaster) moved to Swarthmore April 7th. "Stunt-y Sunday Night Suppers," "Afternoon Tea served every afternoon" (oh, those chocolate 'blisses!') "College parties chaperoned." The last brought an indignant visit from Miss Henrietta Josephine Meeteer, dean of women at Swarthmore College 1906 to 1913, and then Assistant Professor of Greek, who felt it brash and questionable of two strangers to feel qualified to chaperon College students. The visit began a long friendship between Miss Osgood and Miss Meeteer.

ELWYN SCHOOL GETS U.S. HEALTH GRANT

Elwyn School, in Media, has been awarded a grant of $11,768 by the U.S. Public Health Service. The funds will be used to employ 18 college students as "child care workers" this summer. The students will work with mentally retard. ed and emotionally disturbed children in educational recreational programs, summer day camps, swimming and arts and crafts.

The college students will work for the 10-week period from June 27 through September 2. During the first week. one half of each day will be devoted to orientation to the special needs of retarded and emotionally disturbed children. Throughout the period, group and individual conferences will be held with professional personnel at Elwyn.

It is felt that the experience of working with mentally handicapped children and exposure to professionals in the disciplines of medicine, psychiatry, psychology, social work, special education and recreation may interest the college students in future careers in these fields.

Student workers will be reruited from 15 colleges in the Metropolitan Philadelphia area. Many of the institutions are already affiliated with Elwyn through various undergraduate and graduate training programs.

Elwyn School is the oldest and largest voluntary nonprofit facility of its kind in the United States. As a residential and day care treatment enter, it serves over 1150 children and young adults who have learning difficulties and problems of social and emoional adjustment.

Nothing But Fun Tonight, Sat. Last Call for Melodrama

Dig 'out those tickets, tank up the car, fergit the babysitter or bring her along with the brood, for it's nothing but fun at the Players Club, winding up this weekend with "Pure as the Driven Snow, or a Working Girl's Secret."

J. William Simmons directs this comedy, a "mellow drammer" of the first water, written goodness knows when by Paul Loomis, and produced once before on the same stage, by the same director, in 1942. No matter how you add it, it's a thrice happy return.

If the serious student of drama would guarrel with this period piece as perhaps undeserving of a place in the Great Literature of the World, he would have no complaint with the cast, mostly veterans or those who are sure to be soon: they are charming and talented, and create an evening of sheer entertainment that is hard to beat.

Selected and guided by the sure hand of longtime director Simmons, this able cast in-

Suanne Bell as Purity, the heroine and working girl with the secret; Stanton T. Hadley, as Leander Longfellow. the brave handsome hero; Marcy F. Roderick as the villain, that wolf in any sort of clothing;" Rita Lothrop as Zamah Logan who runs the inn, and Frank Grugan as her husband; Edna Clare as the "widow on the alert;" Linda Anne Frommer 'as her daughter (and also "on the alert"); Charles F. Seymour, Jr., as E. Z. Pickens, son of the "Pickens Pickles" owner, and Elizabeth Hiddemen as Imogene, his man-hunting sister; William W. Watkins as the villain's Unwilling tool; Sally McFadden as the Welcomed Guest at the Inn, and Janean Clare as her Nervous Maid; and last but not least Isabel R. Seymour as A Woman of Mystery. Not a sour apple in this Vermont barrel!

Donna Boller, Nancy Anne Rhodes, Nanci Tillet and Tom Roark appear pleasingly as guests at the birthday party, and with the audience, lift their voices in song.

Players Offer Nothing But Fun Tonight, Sat. Last

Call for Melodrama Dig out those tickets, tank up the car, fergit the babysitter or bring her along with the brood, for it's nothing but fun at the Players Club, winding up this weekend with "Pure as the Driven Snow, or a Working Girl's Secret." J. William Simmons directs this comedy, a "mellow drammer" of the first water, written goodness knows when by Paul Loomis, and produced once before on the same stage, by the same director, in 1942. No matter how you add it, it's a thrice happy return.

If the serious student of drama would quarrel with this period piece as perhaps undeserving of a place in the Great Literature of the World, he would have no complaint with the cast, mostly veterans or those who are sure to be soon: they are charming and talented, and create an evening of sheer entertainment that is hard to beat.

Selected and guided by the sure hand of longtime director Simmons, this able cast includes:

Suanne Bell as Purity, the heroine and working girl with the secret; Stanton T. Hadley, as Leander Longfellow, the brave handsome hero; Marcy F. Roderick as the villain, that wolf in any sort of clothing:" Rita Lothrop as Zamah Logan who runs the inn, and Frank Grugan as her husband; Edna Clare as the "widow on the alert;" Linda Anne Frommer 'as her daughter (and also "on the alert"); Charles F. Seymour, Jr., as E. Z. Pickens, son of the "Pickens Pickles" owner, and Elizabeth Hiddemen as Imogene, his man-hunting sister; William W. Watkins as the villain's Unwilling tool; Sally McFadden as the Welcomed Guest at the Inn, and Janean Clare as her Nervous Maid; and last but not least Isabel R. Seymour as A Woman of Mystery. Not a sour apple in this Vermont barrel!

Donna Boller, Nancy Anne Rhodes, Nanci Tillet and Tom Roark appear pleasingly guests at the birthday party, and with the audience, lift their voices in song.

STUDENT EXHIBITION

TO OPEN SUNDAY

School Board was presented with a tentative budget totaling $1,473.973 and calling for a five-mill increase in realty taxes Monday night.

Dr. Harry Kingham, district superintendent, explained that the jump in millage from 81 to 86 would bring in an additional $45.600 and it is also planned to retain per capita levies amounting to $15 and realty transfer tax of one per cent. said that the 1966-67 budget, which will be open for public inspection at the high school office beginning May 1, includes increases in instruction cost, administration, health services, plant operation, and a new item of $10,000 as the district's share in building and operating an area vocational - technical high school.

These increases more than offset a $187,000 drop in capital outlay due to completion of the elementary school library, so that a tax increase is necessary even though the new budget actually totals nearly $105.000 less than the 1965-66 budget.

Board President John Spencer said, "This is not a loose budget. It has already been trimmed drastically. It does not represent all we would desire or maybe all that we need. We just might have to increase the millage further, though I would hope not. We first thought a 15-mill increase would be necessary to meet the needs."

The Board also approved the overall budget for the vocational high school. The County requires such certification of all participating districts. The total of that budget is $128,670. A letter was received from Nether Providence Township notifying Swarthmore it would soon receive a bill for onethird of the cost of the recent professional study of the two districts, sponsored jointly in preparation for a possible court-decreed merger. The complete cost of the study is expected to be $4500; Swarth more's share would be about $1500.

Elections included Barbara Wenger, Elizabethtown, as German teacher in the high school. James Phillips as seventh grade science teacher, and Mrs. Nancy Hulme as primary grade teacher for next year.

Miss Wenger is a graduate of Juniata College, has done work toward a master's degree at University of Delaware and taught in Elizabethtown. Mr. Phillips was a member of the faculty two years ago but took time out to complete his masters degree. Mrs. Hulme is currently a kindergarten aide. Charles P. Edwards of Media and Leon A. Roye of Lima were added to the custodial staff. Announcement of receipt of $116,165 final state approprition payment for this fiscal year, was made.

The resignation of Theodore Hesser, sixth grade science teacher, was accepted with hope that he might again be a member of the local faculty at some time in the future. Although Hesser said he expected to return to teaching after a period of working with a visual instruction aid firm, and that he would like to return to Swarthmore, his inability to state his absence would be of no more than a year's duration prevented the Board from granting a formal leave of absence.

Because of the enthusiasm this program created, the Junior Leadership of the troop urged a program to visit all of our shrines of freedom. New Knee-Hi Players Future Teachers Conduct Program S-R Students Join In Creative Writing Plan

This is the fourth year Swarthmore High School has had a Future Teachers of America Club. This year's FTA officers - president Sally James, vice president Sally Ross, treasurer Ann Shugarts, and secretary Nancy Field, with the guidance of the club's adviser, Miss Leora Raynor are concluding an exciting year's program by inviting the entire student body to take part in creative writing on topics for the observance of April -Teaching Career Month. The titles suggested to the students were:

Kindergarten through Grade 3 - I Like My Teacher; My Teacher Helps Everyone.

Grades 4 - 6 - My Teacher Understands Me; Lessons Grow Exciting in Grade 4-5-6.

Grades 7 - 9 - My Teacher Encourages Me; My Teacher Has Good Ideas.

Grades 10 - 12 - I Appreciate a Good Teacher; If I Were a Teacher, I Would Want to be Like My (subj.) Teacher.

1st Grader Ideas A Swarthmore first grade class compiled these ideas from oral discussion:

"Our Teacher Helps Everyone - To think; to rhyme words; to figure out the words by correcting our papers and workbooks; and to climb down the monkey bars.
