Rejoice

Christ is arisen!

Out of corruption's womb

Burst ye the prison,

Break from your gloom!

Praising and pleading him,

Lovingly needing him,

Brotherly feeding him,

Preaching and speeding him,

Blessing, succeeding him,

Thus is the Master near,

and the president of the Philadelphia Congress of Councils. She founded the Greater Northeast Council of Republican Women (Phila.) and was a delegate to the National Republican Convention in 1968. For the past 10 years she has been the vice-chairman of the Philadelphia Republican City Committee and in 1963 and 1967 was chairman of the Philadelphia Platform Committee.

With her husband, Mrs. Knauer established a foundation for the purpose of restoring two 18th Century houses in Philadelphia, the "Man Full of Trouble" tavern built in 1759 and the adjoining "Paschall House", furnishing them with period antiques and opening them to the public as a museum of the decorative arts. She has lectured widely on antique furniture, ceramics and the restoration of historic houses. The Governor appointed her a member of the committee which collected the antiques and directed the interior decorating of the new Executive Mansion in Harrisburg.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by telephoning Mrs. Charles Brooks at KI 3-7883.

ALERT CITIZENS ON ZONING PROPOSAL

Borough Council's Committee on Building Regulations urges Swarthmore citizens to acquaint themselves with the proposed amendment to the Swarthmore Borough Zoning Ordinance of 1928.

Twelve copies of this document known as "Plan Implementation Phase III" are now available at the Swarthmore Public Library. There are also six copies available for study at the Borough Office.

The Amendment to the Zoning Code is the result of six years of work by the Swarthmore Planning Commission, based on independent research and on County and State recommendations and legislation.

Borough Council will soon announce dates for public hearings on the proposed Zoning Ordinance. "Zoning is a complicated subject," a spokesman said this week. "However, it should be of interest to all, for when the ordinance is enacted, it will be the law by which the future of Swarthmore is shaped."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The opinions expressed below are those of the individual writers. All letters to The Swarthmorean must be signed. Pseudonyms may be used if the writer is known to the Editor. Letters will be published only at the discretion of the Editor.

Merger and Purpose

Most of us in this community have now been exposed to the controversy of merger versus autonomy. Let us examine the proposed school merger in the context of the society in which we live.

Consider the potential advantages and disadvantages of the proposed merger. Mr. Gray, in last week's Swarthmorean, assumed that the merger would provide us with a multi-track system, with college preparatory, commercial and vocational courses offered on a single campus. This would indeed be a gain for our children. In fact, however, Nether Providence High School currently provides only a college preparatory track, just as the Swarthmore-Rutledge school does. Nothing indicates that this single track will be changed with merger.

Many of us believe children benefit from experiencing a diversified community. Does anyone believe a Swarthmore-Rutledge merger would provide us with a more diverse environment than that available in Swarthmore-Rutledge?

Some feel that in a merger the college preparatory program will be expanded to offer our children a greater variety of courses. Even assuming this to be true, is this an adequate substitute for the loss of close and continuing interpersonal relationships which must inevitably suffer from a large, impersonal, overly-structured school? Will Spanish and extended science programs be available -- compensating for the inescapable fragmentation of home-town, school-town activities?

Will any such broadening of the curriculum compensate for the denial of extra-curricular programs to those students who must provide their own transportation for other than established bus schedules. As in other consolidated schools in Pennsylvania, buses will leave school at rigid hours -- sports, music, art, drama, student government, chess, debating, newspaper and literary magazine participants along with all the other students who do not choose to participate.

KINDERGARTEN REGISTRATION THURS., MAY 1

The Swarthmore-Rutledge Union School District will register kindergarten students for the 1969-70 school year in the kindergarten wing of the elementary school on Thursday, May 1 from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m.

Parents with children who will be five years of age on or before September 1, 1969 may obtain registration forms at the parking-lot entrance, under the library, on April 23, 24 and 25, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. These forms are to be completed at home and returned with the child's birth certificate, records of immunization, and certificate of successful vaccination at the time of registration.

Baby-sitting service will be provided by the Safety Patrol during the hours of registration for any mother wishing it. There will be no kindergarten classes in session this day, May 1.

A copy of the ruling on kindergarten entrance age adopted by the Board of School Directors in May 1966 may be obtained on April 23, 24 or 25, or will be mailed upon request by calling the elementary school office KA-3040.

College Concert

The Cooper Foundation of Swarthmore College will present the New York Chamber Soloists in a production of "Alcis and Galatea," a serenade, by George Frederick Handel, with a "Concerto for Harpsichord" by the same composer. The performance will be in Clothier Memorial on the Swarthmore campus on Friday, April 11 at 8:15 p.m.

This group will present the Concerto No. 4 in F major for Harpsichord, with two oboes, strings and continuo, between the two parts of Alcis and Galatea.

The concert will be free and open to the public.

Riddle Aux. To Meet

The Swarthmore Auxiliary of Riddle Memorial Hospital will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Inks, 406 River-view road. The meeting will be held at 10 a.m. on Tuesday.

Library To Mark 40th Anniversary

Formal plans for the observance of the Swarthmore Public Library's 40th anniversary on Saturday, May 17th, were completed at the quarterly meeting of the Library Board on Monday evening in Borough Hall.

At 3:30 p.m. Letta Shatz, author of nine children's books, will talk informally in the library about writing for young readers. Her most recent books "Bola and the Oba's Drummers", "Never-Empty" and "The Extraordinary Tug-of-War" (an elephant story) are the result of four recent years spent in Nigeria.

An exhibit will be original illustrations by Emily Arnold McCully, Harvard Avenue resident and wife of George McCully, Swarthmore College professor, now on sabbatical leave in Europe. Among other books Mrs. McCully illustrated Melendy DeJong's "Journey from Peppermint Street" which received the National Book Award in March.

Following the program the Friends of the Library and the Library will jointly honor members of the original board which opened the Swarthmore Public Library on Saturday, May 17, 1928 and Library Association presidents during the intervening years with a reception from 5 to 6:30 o'clock in the Borough Hall lobby and the Library to which the entire community is most cordially invited.

Other features of the observance will be announced.

Librarian Leonore Perkins listed the January, February, March circulation at 23,959 and acknowledged the gift of a library of books from which fresh copies were substituted for those worn by circulation and enough others put up for sale to earn $264.75. The Woman's Club Antiques exhibit in the Library was the stimulus for a display of Library books on antiques.

Miss Perkins announced that the Library will observe National Library Week with a display of over 200 juvenile books (new to the Library) and the opening of the new Young Adult section, an anticipated development.

Also present at the meeting were Directors Charles H. Topping, Birney K. Morse, Francis S. Chambers, Mrs. William R. Jeavons, Mrs. Robert Boulter, Mrs. Peter Told, Board President Mrs. David M. Field, presided.

Students in Blindfolds For New Perceptions

Blindfolds of blue denim and 18 white cans borrowed from the Delaware County Branch, Pennsylvania Association for the Blind have hopefully given new perception and certainly new experiences for members of Mrs. Holley Webster's fourth period English class at the high school.

Because the sophomores, described by their teacher as healthy, spirited, vigorous, had seemed to have sports and cars more on their minds than the ideas of the literary giants they are studying, and more interested in the flights of fancy produced by television than in creative imagination of their own, the class put on their blindfolds Tuesday and Wednesday of this week and from 8:15 to 2:45 they walked in a new world of darkness.

A good many people were nervous, "involved" in the experiment. The school administration, for instance, gave its approval; parents sent their permission slips. Mrs. Grace Padlasky, home economics teacher, was consulted over the material for the blindfolds - something firm, smooth, non-irritating and not too hot. The class's other teachers were duly advised (and kindly consented). More as safety measure than hats, fellow students also participated as guardian angels, one for each class member.

And Mrs. Webster, who proposed the project, not only made these arrangements but the blindfolds as well, all 18 of them.

And so, for 13 hours this week, the Fourth Period English Class, during the heart of two beautiful spring days, joined the ranks of the unsighted. They navigated by hand, feet and cane, they learned geography by description, were ready to social studies, jogged around gym class guided by the voice of the classmate in front, and at lunch got their fingers in the ketchup.

Tuesday night, with blinders off, they attended the Players Club dress rehearsal of "Walt until Dark", a drama centered on a blind woman who uses her handicap for survival. Wednesday they discussed their experiences in their own class, blinded, and yesterday, sighted once more, they wrote of their adventure. From those essays, Mrs. Webster will herself choose just how well the experiment succeeded.

TRASH REMINDER

Large trash items will be picked up from residents south of the railroad beginning April 21. Citizens desiring this service must call the Borough Secretary, KI 4-599, at least 48 hours before that date.

BRONZE STAR TO SGT. P. LAYTON

SAIGON, South Vietnam--Sergeant Philip D. Layton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Layton, Thayer road, from the 1099th Transportation Company recently was presented the Bronze Star for valor for his actions in support of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade.

Brigadier General Fredric E. Davidson, commanding general, 199th Light Infantry Brigade, presented the decoration. Sergeant Layton is a helmsman with the 1099th.

Sergeant Layton was aboard his mechanized landing craft (LCM) transporting infantrymen of the 199th up a small canal off the Yam Co Dong River west of Saigon when it was ambushed by an unknown size enemy force.

The enemy unleashed a barrage of rocket and automatic weapons fire. "The first rocket struck the LCM on the port bow," Sergeant Layton remembered "by turning the craft the next two rockets missed the LCM."

Sergeant Layton ran to the wheelhouse where a .50 caliber machine gun was mounted. With the help of suppressive fire by Sergeant Layton and another crewman the vessel cleared the kill zone of the enemy ambush. Helicopter gunships were called in and supported the action.

This award ceremony marked one more occasion of combat support by the 1099th. "These men will go any place we go," exclaimed one man from the 199th.

Ele. School Library Adopts New Program

The Elementary school library, under the direction of Mrs. Hennig Cohen, has recently adopted a new individualized flexible library program. The traditional approach centered on library periods for home-rooms or reading classes has been changed to an instructional materials center plan which caters to the immediate needs of individual students. All children are free to use the library at all times during the school day and are encouraged to learn to use library materials without constant teacher supervision.

The library was recently observed by Mrs. Alice Bartz of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction, and Rosemary Weber of the School Library Division of the Drexel Library School, and they commented most favorably on the good learning climate created by this flexible program. Students select their library materials independently and do their own checking out with the aid of a charge-a-plate type machine. They operate the audio visual machines and assist in shelving books.

Mrs. Cohen, the elementary librarian, is aided by a group of Swarthmore mothers which includes:

Mrs. Frederick Hargadon, Mrs. Harrison Wright, Mrs. Ezra Krendel, Mrs. David Ng, Mrs. Clifford Lester, Mrs. Arthur Wilbraham, Mrs. James Brodsky, Mrs. Allen Davis, Mrs. Edgar Rosenthal, Mrs. Maurice Johnson, Mrs. Richard Stigelman, Mrs. Marlin Nelson, and Mrs. Michael Eisler.

Mrs. Eric Buhayer serves as library clerk for the elementary library.

NEWS NOTE

Miss Catharine Stahl returned Thursday of last week to her home in the Swarthmore Apartments after vacationing in Florida. Her three-week trip included visits in Tallahassee and Daytona Beach and a tour of the East and West Coasts.

Dr. Moore, who has his D.V.M. and Ph.D., is associated with Johnson Research Foundation University of Pennsylvania. His project title is "Electrophysiology of Cardiac Erythemas."

The local researchers whose fellowships total $145,600, are among 132 individual scientists in the United States, Britain and other countries named in this first announcement.

Heart Fund contributions from the five-county area residents have helped make the awards possible.

Mental Attitudes Imprison Tyc Says

Not all prisoners are behind bars, a Christian Science lecturer said here Monday, and defined imprisonment as any kind of unwholesome limitation or restriction.

"Whether we realize it or not, we're all to some degree in prison," Eugene D. Tyc, of San Diego, Calif., told an audience in Springfield Monday night.

Age, sickness, unemployment—lack of education, companionship, money—alcoholism, drug addiction, lawlessness—fear, hatred, pride—these were some of the "prisons" he named.

"Even our astronauts—and perhaps you've never thought of them as prisoners—even our astronauts are trying to get out of the gravitational field of earth to reach the wonders of the universe," Mr. Tyc noted. His lecture was titled, "Claim Your Freedom," and his appearance here was sponsored by First Church of Christ, Scientist, Swarthmore.

Our own mental attitudes are what keep us imprisoned, the speaker noted. "We can never be completely free until we overcome in ourselves the restricting mental condition that is the cause of imprisonment."

"We have been falsely educated to believe that our main sources of supply are bank accounts, investments, salaries, a pay envelope, or a pension."

"The real education we need is to understand that God can and does provide all that's needed, and provides in ways we never thought of, if we trust and look to Him. This education will ensure not only abundance, but also a wise economy and prudence in spending."

"The truth about man's real nature," Mr. Tyc concluded "...will open the door of every prison, not eventually, but right now."

Self Protection

The American Cancer Society urges all adult women to practice breast self-examination for life-saving protection.

Receives New Members

Five new members were welcomed into the fellowship of the Presbyterian Church at the Holy Communion service held Monday Thursday.

The new members are Mr. and Mrs. Merle Zimmer of Yale Avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wolf of Haverford Place and Mrs. James C. Bryan of Media.

DEDICATE DOSSAL

A new dossal, in memory of Richard G. Haig of Riverview Road, was dedicated Easter morning at the 11:15 service at Trinity Church.

The dossal is the gift of Mrs. A. M. Haig Sheldon, Mr. Haig's sister. The new cloth, eight by nine feet, is hand-woven in an off white with gold thread.

WABBLE REVEALS EXTRA SOLAR B-2

New Barnard's Star Has 2nd Companion

Man, through the photographic eyes of his telescope has discovered one more planet-like object outside of his own solar system. This achievement was announced Monday by Professor Peter van de Kamp, chairman of the department of astronomy and director of the Sproul Observatory at the college.

The announcement was part of a lecture which Dr. van de Kamp made at Duke University under the auspices of the Society of Sigma Xi, honorary scientific society, and its industrial affiliate, the Scientific Research Society of America.

Confirmation of the existence of this planet-like object, only the fourth such object to have been discovered outside of our solar system, comes just six years after van de Kamp deduced from evidence gathered over 25 years that Barnard's Star, the second nearest known stellar object, had an unseen companion. He called this first companion Barnard's Star B.

Evidence he has gathered since 1963 now indicates that instead of one companion, Barnard's Star has two companions, now designated B1 and B2. The existence of these unseen planets was suggested by a "wobble," or perturbation in the path of Barnard's Star. Professor van de Kamp briefly describes his research thus:

"Barnard's Star is a ninth magnitude star, six light years distant from the earth. It was discovered in 1916, by E. E. Barnard, because of its large proper motion, 10".3 per year. Over 3100 photographic plates have been taken of this object, mostly since 1938, with the Sproul 24-inch refractor at Swarthmore College. Measurements of the position of Barnard's Star on these photographs have revealed a perturbation from uniform rectilinear motion which, in 1963, we explained by the gravitational attraction of an unseen object revolving around Barnard's Star in a cycle of 24 years.

"Observations made since 1963 have confirmed the existence of the perturbation, and indicated a very elongated orbit for the companion. This fact, plus earlier indications of a small secondary perturbation, have now led us to present an alternate interpretation, namely, that the observed perturbation is the resultant of two perturbations caused by two unseen companions of Barnard's Star. These two objects appear to be co-revolving in approximate co-planar circular orbits with periods of 26 and 12 years, respectively.

"Assuming the mass of Barnard's Star to be 15 percent of the sun's mass, Kepler's third law of planetary motion requires the orbit of the unseen companion relative to the visible star to have radii of 4.7 and 2.8 times the distance of the earth to the sun.

"The radii of the observed perturbations are 0.034 and 0.014 times the distance of the earth to the sun, leading to masses of 1.1 and 0.8 times the mass of Jupiter for the companions B1 and B2, respectively. These objects, therefore, may be considered to be planets; the sizes of their orbits around Barnard's Star are closely comparable to those of Jupiter and of an average asteroid in our solar system. As I remarked in 1963, such planet-like companions are too faint to be seen with existing instruments.

"From a mathematical analytical point of view, the alternate description involving two circular orbits is no more precise than the one highly elliptical orbit hypothesis. But since the two-planet interpretation does entirely satisfy the observations, and permits circular orbits, it should be considered a likely alternative to the one highly elliptical orbit hypothesis."

In conclusion, Dr. van de Kamp points out "the striking analogy to the one planetary system that we know so well, namely, our own."

The only other two discoveries of planet-like objects outside of our solar system were also made at Sproul Observatory on the campus by the same general method: the unseen companion in the 61 Cygni system by Strand in 1943, and that of LAL.21185, measured by Sarah Lee Lippincott, research associate at Swarthmore in 1960.

Professor van de Kamp's lecture at Duke University is one of a series of four public lectures which he is giving at southern colleges and universities as a Sigma Xi-RESA National Lecturer this week. His other speaking engagements included North Carolina State University, April 15; Virginia Polytechnic Institute, April 16, and Lithium Corporation of America, RESA Branch at Belmont Abbey College, April 17.

ARC Blood Program Marks 20th Today

The Philadelphia Regional Red Cross Blood Program, fourth largest in the U.S., celebrates its 20th year of community service today.

The region's first bloodmobile collection for civilian hospitals was made in the 69th Street area of Upper Darby April 18, 1949. This visit marked the resumption of blood collections in the Delaware Valley following the end of the Red Cross military blood donor program in 1945.

Since 1949, the region's five mobile units have visited donors in offices, factories, schools, community centers and other locations. In an area stretching from Allentown to Cape May, Donors also give blood at the regional center, 1710 Spruce Street, Philadelphia.

Last year, 121,000 pints of blood were collected for 131 hospitals in the region, filling more than 55 percent of their whole blood needs.

COUNCIL

Council unanimously passed a resolution backing the School Board in its opposition to enforced merger with Nether Providence. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the State Board of Education which heard testimony Monday on Swarthmore's appeal and is expected to render decision early in May. As reasons for opposing the merger the resolution cites consequent traffic congestion from bussing, increased accident hazards, impairment of adhesive atmosphere and integrity of Swarthmore community, likelihood of disproportionately heavier school taxes, and belief that Nether Providence citizens do not want the merger either.

Council applied to U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for a grant toward defraying expense of acquiring the Titus-Runkle park. A letter from Delaware County Planning Commission congratulated Council on its "quick and decisive action to acquire the tract" because it will expand the borough's meager recreational space and protect the adjoining Little Crum Creek.

SWARTHMORE PUBLIC LIBRARY RECEIVES FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY GIFT

The Swarthmore Public Library has received a 40th Anniversary birthday gift, prior to the scheduled observance of the Library's opening to which the community is cordially invited by the Library Directors and by the Friends of the Library on Saturday afternoon, May 19, presented the original records and complete history of the Children's Library which predated the Swarthmore Public Library and turned over its 1140 books to help form the Public Library in May, 1929.

The Children's Library was organized by a group of local women called together by Mrs. Lingle on June 7th, 1928. In a tremendous spurt of energy they set to work. The following letter was distributed to all children in the Swarthmore Public Schools:

"Dear Parent, Would you like to see a Children's Library opened in Swarthmore? If you are interested in helping to establish a public library where your children may be assisted in selecting the best possible books, suitable to their age and interest, please read the following:

1. The High School Library is always closed through the summer months. 2. That is the only library available to school children. 3. It has been suggested therefore, that now is an opportune time to establish a public library for children between second grade and high school ages.

To make this enterprise possible and to open the library at once a certain amount of interest and cooperation is required of the children themselves and their parents. If you, as a parent, want a Public Library for your children in Swarthmore, will you please sign the enclosed card and see that your child returns the card to his teacher.

Note: The two dollar subscription entitles every family to the use of the library. A small annual fee for each child will be decided upon later."

On June 10 the Children's Library was opened with stories by William Price the drawing card. It was manned by busy volunteer help throughout its existence. Its quarters were at 319 Dartmouth avenue loaned rent free by the owner, P.M. Barrow.

By October 100 members were enrolled, each paying $2 and agreeing to pay $1 annual dues thereafter. That same month, in response to a letter from Mrs. Lingle to the Superintendent of Education, Harrisburg, a representative from Harrisburg came to meet with the Children's Library Committee, among them Mrs. R.C. Disque, Mrs. Eliot Richardson, Mrs. Henry I. Hoot, Mrs. Phelps Soule, Mrs. Roy Delaplaine, in reference to the establishment of a free library in the Borough.

At the Library's 40th Anniversary on Saturday, May 10, several of the earliest books accessioned by the present Li-

Join the Library Association for the Childrens Sake!

The earliest of the Public Library movements in Swarthmore to take concrete form was the organization of the Childrens Library. From a small beginning this institution was developed by the energy and devotion of a group of women under the leadership of Mrs. R. P. Lingle. It grew because a library was a vital need in the community. On the establishment of the Free Public Library the leaders of the Childrens Library in a most public spirited way offered to consolidate with the Public Library. The acquisition of the 1000 books then owned by the Childrens Library was of prime importance to the development of the Public Library in its first days. Last year the children of Swarthmore borrowed more than 2700 books from this department!

The following citizens were the members of the Childrens Library and their memberships were transferred to the Public Library upon the consolidation of the two institutions:

Police & Fire News

A 47-year-old Morton man was arrested for disorderly conduct after he lost control of his eastbound car and struck a tree in front of 128 Yale Avenue at 8:10 p.m. Thursday. He was taken by ambulance to Taylor Hospital, Ridley Park for treatment of facial cuts.

Police took him to Haverford State Hospital where it was later determined that he was a former Syracuse University student who had been studying on another Delaware County campus since April 1.

An 18-year-old Rutledge boy, already under bail for burglary of a Forest Lane home in March and a 16-year-old Morton boy who was cited to Juvenile Court in the same burglary, were picked up by local police for prowling around the girls' dormitory on Chester road at 8:50 p.m. Tuesday. They were turned over to Marple-Newtown police after a search of their car revealed nine house numbers and name signs taken from homes in that township.

A Swarthmore High School student was cited to Juvenile Court Tuesday for taking the keys and car of a fellow student. The car belonging to Francis Plozman, 425 North Swarthmore Avenue, was parked near the school. Police said the keys were taken from a desk.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The opinions expressed below are those of the individual writers. All letters to The Swarthmorean must be signed. Pseudonyms may be used if the writer is known to the Editor. Letters will be published only at the discretion of the Editor.

Thanks Parents

To the Editor: I am taking this opportunity to thank all the tenth grade parents who so willingly offered to help with the party Saturday night. Thanks to their cooperation everything ran smoothly and no problems were encountered.

We hope the students, who came, found the party as enjoyable as we who were behind the scenes.

Thank you again, parents. Sincerely yours, Eleanor Smyers Chairman

Bikes and the Law

To the Editor: I would like to add to Dr. J. Alfred Calhoun's plea to Borough Council for enforcement of laws on bicycle operation, BEFORE rather than after a tragedy might occur.

The State Vehicle Code requires cyclists observe the same traffic regulations as motor-driven vehicles. Technically juvenile offenders could insist on being handled by the County Juvenile Court. But shouldn't they be apprehended anyway and their parents be given the option of paying fines under the borough's disorderly conduct ordinance (or bicycle order)?

Reading these two ordinances (649 and 656) should convince anyone that we have ample machinery available, and the only thing needed to secure improvement in the condition is enforcement.

Section 2 (c) of the Disorderly Conduct Ordinance makes it illegal to obstruct any public street, or portion thereof, personally or by vehicle where a voidable and unnecessary. (Surely center and wrong-side of street riding of bicycles obstructs the motorist from legitimate use of the street). Section 3 directs police, and empowers other observers by affidavit, to enforce the ordinance. Sections 5 and 6 place the responsibility for communicating with parents (to obtain remedial action after police apprehension of children of tender age) on the Mayor, the President of Borough Council or the police; and set forth the penalty (to be paid by parent) in case of post-warning offense.

The Bicycle Ordinance is even stronger. Section 2 directs police to enforce the State Vehicle Code on bicycles just as they do on motor-driven vehicles. Section 7 clearly states that bicycles "shall not be operated in a manner which disregards the rights or safety of others, or that endangers the cyclist or any other person or persons."

Section 8 not only says that violators of the Vehicle Code applicable to bicycles shall be subject to the penalties in that code, but goes on to provide penalties for violating the borough ordinance on operation of bicycles and states -- "The parent or guardian of a child violator shall be responsible for payment of such penalty, and in addition, for damages to person or property caused to persons as a result of such violation."

Is there any justification for spending time, effort and money to draft, pass, and advertise ordinances and then not enforce them?

Wouldn't it be better to just remove ones that we cannot or will not enforce, from the burling borough files?

Does permitting youngsters to blatantly disregard rules of the road and rights of others while cycling, contribute anything toward the healthy attitude they should have when they suddenly become 16 and get behind the wheel of an even more dangerous vehicle?

Another Concerned Citizen

In Memory of Roy McCorkel

To the Editor: Because there are many friends of the late Roy McCorkel who will be interested in the scholarship being established in his name, we would like to ask your permission to have the following letter printed in your Letters To The Editor column, on the grounds that this is the fastest way to reach the largest number of people likely to share ours - and his - concern.

Dear Friends: At our annual meeting last August, members of the Spruce Creek Recreation Association voted unanimously to establish a memorial scholarship in honor of Roy J. McCorkel - to whom we were all indebted for the pleasure of Tree Farm life each summer (and winter weekends, to boot). Having made ourselves overwhelming comfortable, with a sauna, a swimming pool, electricity, hot water, gleaming plumbing and good roads - luxuries undreamed of in our early days - we felt about to see what "Roy would have done" - and we came as Roy came always, to people.

The core of his philosophy was people, as was the heart of his action. We felt that a memorial to him would inevitably involve assistance to someone, who needed it. Therefore we talked with people, and came up with a Memorial Scholarship to be given to a student at Chester High School who may in this way be enabled to go on to college. Not just any student--and not just any college. We are, with expert assistance, setting out to find an "average" student; perhaps a C student; perhaps one who is borderline or even falling in some subject; but who is judged to have some potential which may die forever on graduation unless he is helped to at least make a stab at changing his pattern and going on in pursuit of an education.

There is no dearth of such students; only a lack of opportunity. Delaware County Community College is able, anxious and open to such scholarship and promises remedial help in any area the student needs it.

We are asking you, in Roy's name, to make such a contribution as you feel able, to do something which Roy, were he living, would be setting in motion himself. This amounts to an investment in a Human Being--and we thought of calling it that, and of issuing "stock"; right now we are simply anxious to get the money together and to begin in earnest the search for the right person. Roy is never far from our thoughts as we do this--and we hope that you, who were close to Roy, will want to memorialize him to the fullest extent you feel able. The Roy J. McCorkel Memorial Scholarship will be announced in the late spring. May we hear from you too--to make this dream a reality?

Yours sincerely, Ruth Malone, Chairman Kathleen Henderson Betty McCorkel

MS Honors Volunteers

Mrs. Edwin Layton of Park Avenue, Mrs. William Gabel of Morton, Mrs. Charles Swann and Mrs. Dorothy Kleinmuth of Wallingford were recently honored for five or more years of service to the "MS Hope Chest" appeal. They were among 163 volunteers from the county to receive pins from Thatcher Lantreth, chairman of the Eastern Pennsylvania Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Most of these workers will participate again when the Hope Chest effort begins this year in May. The funds are used to aid patients in need and to support research on this progressive crippling of young adults.

Philo. Art Schools Sponsor Kite Festival

Kites will be flying high in Fairmount on Sunday, April 27, when children, art and college students, and adults in the Philadelphia area participate in the Second Kite Festival sponsored by the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts and Philadelphia College of Art. George's Hill, off of 52nd Street is the place, and the time is 1 p.m. extending to 4 p.m. Judging of the kites will be done by a professional jury composed of four instructors from each of the two sponsoring art schools.

To enter, all that is needed is an original kite built with a little imagination and some simple materials. Many prizes will be offered.

Over 1000 people attended last year's festival, this year a much larger attendance is expected with many more people participating, so contestants are urged to come early and practice flying their kites before the judging at 2:30 p.m. Directions from center city: take Market Street west to Lancaster avenue, continue on Lancaster until 52nd street, take a right on 52nd and continue straight ahead to George's Hill.

Girls' Lacrosse Record at 3 - 0

The Girls' Varsity and Junior Varsity Lacrosse teams traveled to Bryn Mawr Friday to play the Shipley School. The games began as superb demonstrations of Lacrosse at its best, with both teams playing a fast and determined game. Some beautiful interceptions were made high in the air on the part of the defense, and the attacks, marked tightly, found scoring difficult.

However the elements proved too strong, and heavy rain made safe play impossible. The games were called, with the Varsity well into the second half and winning 7-5; while the J.V. with only one half completed, were behind 3-2.

The Varsity record stands at 3-0, the J.V. at 2 and one incomplete.

The third and fourth teams were confronted with the same weather conditions on the home field. The third team completed their game, 7-0. The fourth team game was called at half time with Shipley leading 2-0.

Members of the 1969 Squads are:

Girls' Lacrosse Record at 3 - 0

The Girls' Varsity and Junior Varsity Lacrosse teams traveled to Bryn Mawr Friday to play the Shipley School. The games began as superb demonstrations of Lacrosse at its best, with both teams playing a fast and determined game. Some beautiful interceptions were made high in the air on the part of the defense, and the attacks, marked tightly, found scoring difficult.

However the elements proved too strong, and heavy rain made safe play impossible. The games were called, with the Varsity well into the second half and winning 7-5; while the J.V. with only one half completed, were behind 3-2.

The Varsity record stands at 3-0, the J.V. at 2 and one incomplete.

The third and fourth teams were confronted with the same weather conditions on the home field. The third team completed their game, 7-0. The fourth team game was called at half time with Shipley leading 2-0.
